Russian Astronaut 'Feels Fine' After Pioneer Trip In Space

World Hails Feat; Moscow Jubilant

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet air force Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin, a big grin on his face, said today he felt fine and suffered no injuries on the historic orbit around earth that made him the world's first spaceman.

Russians danced for joy in the streets at the feat of Soviet rocketry and the flight of the stocky, 27-year-old cosmonaut in his silvery space suit. From all over the world came praise that compared the son of a carpenter to Columbus, Magellan and Lindbergh. Automatically, he became not only the first man in space but also the world's fastest man—traveling at speeds in excess of 25,000 m.p.h.

Stepping from his space cabin somewhere in the Soviet Union, Gagarin reported the earth looked light blue to him during his flight and the skies around him were very dark.

"I feel well," he said. "I have no injuries or bruises."

Scientists and physicians took him off for intensive examination.

On the basis of their findings will come the next step. Russian delegates to a space convention in Florence, Italy, said the goal now is to send a man to the moon.

"The battle of space is half won," said a jubilant Soviet scientist.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, vacationing in Sochi on the Black Sea, talked to Gagarin by phone and sent him a cable saying, "I hug you. See you soon in Moscow."

Sources indicated there had been a Soviet attempt last Friday to launch a spaceman but that it failed. There were no other details, although it was reported in Moscow Monday that a man-in-space attempt had been made Friday.

Tens of thousands of Muscovites snaked through the streets cheering Gagarin's name. There has not been such excitement in the Soviet capital since V-E day.

The five-ton space ship named Vostov (east) blasted off at 9:07 a.m. Moscow time today.

A multi-stage rocket such as the ones used to launch and return Soviet animals from orbit hurled it out of the earth's atmosphere and into egg-shaped orbit.

Maximum altitude (apogee) was 187¾ miles. Minimum altitude (perigee) was 109½ miles. The ship passed over South America and South Africa.

Total time in orbit was 89.1 minutes, time for approximately one revolution of earth cruising at speeds in excess of 17,000 m.p.h.

Best estimate was that Gagarin spent another 19 minutes approaching orbit and returning to earth from orbit for a total time off the ground of about one hour, 48 minutes.

The spaceship was under control of scientists on the ground. Retro-rockets were fired and at 10:55 a.m., the spaceship was back on earth with Gagarin apparently safe and sound.

By radio he described the sensation of weightlessness as he hurtled through the void of space.

"I withstand well the state of weightlessness," he reported.

One of the first messages Gagarin was said to have sent on landing was:

"Please report to the (Communist) party and the

No Atonement, Lawyer Tells Israel Court

Prosecutor Gives Nine-Hour Speech In Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Chief Israeli prosecutor Gideon Hausner told an impassive Adolf Eichmann today there can be no atonement, no forgiveness and no forgetting the man who tried to exterminate the Jewish people.

Hausner, in a nine-hour speech, rejected a plea by Eichmann's German lawyer Robert Servatius that Israel has no right to try the one-time S.S. colonel because the court is biased and its operations illegal.

MORAL, LEGAL

The trial is both moral and legal, Hausner said, adding that if Israel did not try Eichmann the greatest mass murderer in history might go scott free.

"I request that this court decide its authority to sit in judgment for these crimes," he said.

Eichmann peered through his horn-rimmed glasses from the bullet-proof glass prisoner's dock as Hausner unleashed his legal arguments designed to prove the Israeli court's right to hear the case against a man accused of murdering six million Jews.

NO COURT TOMORROW

The court does not sit tomorrow. Tomorrow is the day when Israel commemorates the slaughter of those six million Jews by the Nazis. It is "holocaust day," inaugurated by a two-minute silence at 8 a.m.

When the court adjourned until tomorrow, Hausner said he would require another hour to complete his arguments to prove Israel's right to try Eichmann.

Servatius, the German lawyer who defended Nazi war criminals at Nuernberg, said he would require about half on hours to give his answer. The court then is expected to retire to weigh a decision on Servatius' demands Eichmann be tried by an international court.

SAME SUIT

Eichmann betrayed no signs of emotion today as he heard the chief prosecutor denounce him as a mass murderer and warn that there can be no forgiveness and no forgetting the mass slaughter of Jews.

Wearing the same dark grey suit he had worn on the opening day yesterday, Eichmann sat most of the day slumped in his chair with head phones clamped on his ears, listening to the German translation. Most of the time his eyes were on Judge Moshe Landau, president of the court.

The attorney general droned on hour after hour in a high-pitched monotonous voice that seemed at times to bore even the judges.

'THE FIRST TO DARE'

Spaceman's Portrait: 'Kind, Russian Face'

LONDON (AP)—Moscow television presented a picture of the Soviet Union's first spaceman today, describing him as a man with "a good, honest smile."

"For those who did not see this picture we should like to give a description of this splendid man.

"On the screen appears the image of a man aged about 25-28 with a kind, Russian face, eyes set well apart, fine bushy brows and high forehead.

"He wears a flying helmet, a light overall suit. He smiles a good, honest smile. And is there any need to add that this man who has been the first to dare to fly to space, to reach for the stars, to look down on our earth, is a man of very great and very real character. This is evident in his smile, in the intelligent, fine eyes."

Gagarin was 27 just a month ago.

He is married to Valentina Gagarina, 26, a medical school graduate.

They have two daughters, Yelena, 2, and Galya, a month old.

Gagarin was born March 9, 1934, in the Gzhatsk district of the Smolensk area. When he was 7, he and his family experienced the Nazi invasion and fled into the hinterlands.

At the end of the war the family returned to Gzhatsk to a collective farm. Gagarin resumed his schooling and in 1951 was graduated with distinction from a vocational school.

He qualified as a moulder. Simultaneously, he attended evening classes for working youths and then was sent to an industrial college at Saratov on the Volga.

At Saratov, Gagarin took training in aviation and after graduation attended an air school at Orenburg. He has been a Soviet airman since 1957, a member of the Communist Party since last year.

G.M. Charged By U.S. With Diesel Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Motors Corp. was charged in a criminal indictment today with using its vast economic power illegally to monopolize the production and sale of diesel locomotives.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the indictment, voted by a federal grand jury at New York City after more than two years of investigation of GM, the world's largest single industrial enterprise.

The indictment said that as a result of policies pursued by G.M. it has captured 84.1 per cent of the railroad locomotive zusiness, two "substantial competitors" have been driven out of the market and others have been reduced to small percentages of the railroads' business.

The violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act charged by the grand jury carries a maximum penalty of a $50,000 fine.

Kennedy, Adenauer Discuss How To Strengthen NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy and West Gerhany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today discussed ways of achieving greater unity in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The president and Adenauer conferred for 90 minutes at the White House. Also at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano.

After the session, the first of what is to be a series of conferences, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen:

"The chancellor and the president had a personal discussion for about an hour and a half's duration on the problems of NATO and on ways to achieve greater unity in NATO.

"The talks this morning were in general a continuation of discussions held between the chancellor and Dean Acheson in Germany."

Adenauer arrived here last night.

Rainy Skies Clear, But They'll Return

Marin's rainy skies were expected to clear tomorrow morning, but return later in the day and continue through Sunday, the Weather Bureau said today.

Small amounts of rain fell in the county. San Rafael had .01 of an inch; Foodacre, .08; Tamalpais Valley, .07; Belvedere, a trace, and Sausalito, .02.

Tonight's low temperature will be 44 to 49, with west to northwest winds.

Mishaps Snarl Traffic At Commute Rush

Two cars overturned without injury to anybody, several others were involved in a series of crashes, and Highway 101 southbound traffic was jammed up from the Waldo Grade back to the Alto interchange around the 8 a.m. rush hour today.

Misty rain was blamed, although the California Highway Patrol said human nature played a big part. The accidents were in the northbound lanes but the traffic bottleneck was due to "rubbernecking" of San Francisco-bound commuters.

The first accident was at 7:45 a.m., when a car driven by 3/C Richard M. Flower of Hamilton Air Force Base went into a skid and overturned 500 feet north of Sausalito's Monte Mar Drive.

Patrolman J. J. Flynn hastened to set out warning flares, but traffic refused to slow until drivers could see the accident. This caused a succession of unscheduled braking maneuvers on wet pavement.

An unidentified woman driver put her car into a broadside near Spencer Avenue, south of the first upset, at 8 a.m.

Close behind her, William Arthur Johnson, San Francisco fireman, braked sharply because of the excitement ahead. His car also broadsided and struck the divider at the left, overturning partly onto the divider area. Patrolman James Dukes went into action in an effort to keep other traffic away from the second wreck and normal flow was soon restored.

Russian Astronaut Turns A Momentous Page In History

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — In an awesome, daring and thrilling ride, a Soviet astronaut has just turned a momentous page in human history.

For, says Moscow, he has realized the ancient human dream of vaulting into space and safely back home again.

Still ahead, but closer now, lies the goals of leaping to the moon or Mars, or beyond, in the space ocean of so many tantalizing mysteries.

Human exploration of space may well reap untold and surprising new benefits for all people. Or space could become, perhaps, just an extended arena for the political-military testings of men since history began.

The Soviet Union is first, apparently as the result of a careful five-year-plan calculated to seize this prize.

It is another triumph in rapid-fire reachings which have skimmed much of the glory of firsts in the young space age.

This is the first toe-step, by a doughty pioneer. But space beckons many more Russian, American and other space astronauts, to till a fertile new field which now lies open.

The world will read with interest Maj. Yuri Gagarin's eyewitness account of what he felt, what he may have seen of the earth rolling beneath him, or perhaps stars in diamond brilliance in the blackness of space.

Upon his experience depends, partly, the question how soon other men go up, and how far. Is space perhaps too hazardous—are there dangers which had not been foreseen?

The Soviets gave clear notice of their push for manned flight in November, 1957, with Sputnik II. It carried up the dog, Laika. She perished, with no attempt made to recover her.

But this was the first testing whether a living body could withstand the unknowns of crushing, increased weight of rocket takeoff, and the weightlessness of floating in space. And whether life truly could be supported against the hazards of radiation and streaking meteors.

To these questions, Laika answered "yes."

Some space experts think the Soviet Union had started a good two years earlier in preparing the way for man into space, and other exploits.

All give her unquestionably the advantage of tremendously powerful booster rockets to lift heavy, and roomy, satellites.

Some say the Soviet Union was quicker to realize the potential for war—and space—of rockets developed by the Germans in World War II.

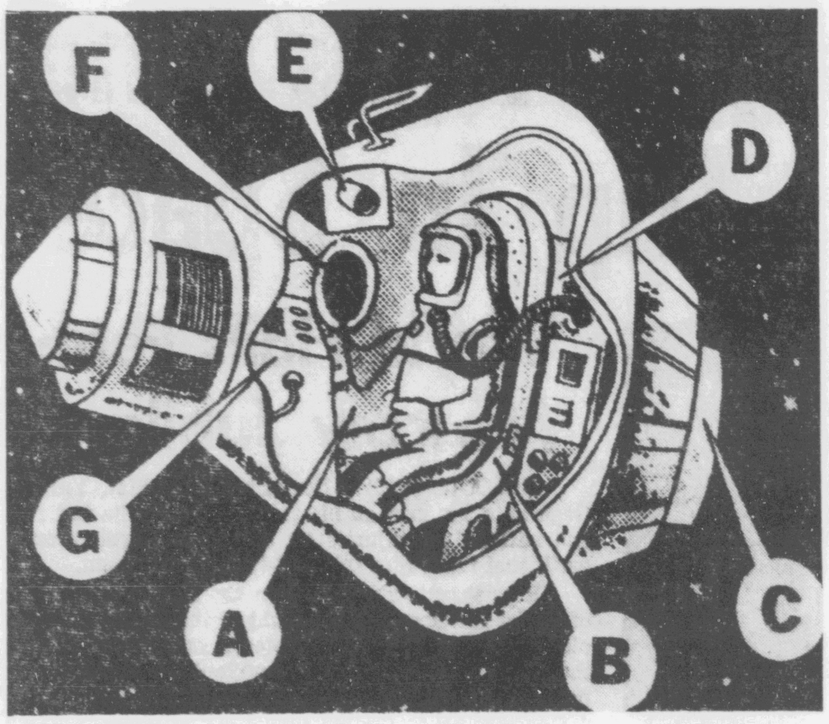
Others credit the Soviets' rapid advances also to faster development of excellent guidance systems, and to concentration upon a few main goals.

The first three Sputniks circled near the earth—testing the problems of near-earth space. Then, abruptly, the Soviets shot for the moon, hitting it, photographing its backside. Then they sent a rocket into orbit around the sun.

Then, starting last year, came the launching of huge five-ton and seven-ton spacecraft around the earth. These carried dogs and other life, preparatory to man.

A hitch developed, apparently, last December when a mistake caused the spacecraft to go amiss and burn up in the atmosphere.

It was a rare admission of any failure.



SPACE CAPSULE — This is a drawing that appeared in the London Daily Worker. It is a Daily Worker artist's sketch of the Soviet capsule that carried a man into space. The paper identified the parts as: A—pressurized cabin; B—foam-padded seat to relieve pressure on takeoff; C—parachutes to slow speed of capsule on descent; D—air supply; E—television cameras, microphone for relaying back to earth; F—porthole; G—instrument panel. Russ Rocket Payloads Are Bigger

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's success in putting a man into earth orbit has given it a running lead in the race to control space.

Before 1961 is over the Soviet may give the United States additional cause to feel a sense of angry frustration.

There is not much doubt anymore that the Soviets have developed far more powerful rockets than the United States and hence have a greater capability in space activities.

TIMETABLE

Indeed the Soviets appear to be working to a space timetable and solving the problems encountered along the way on schedule.

But even if the Soviets are not in position to gain control of space uncontested, the facts remains that a successful man orbit will damage the image of the United States once more as the world's most advanced nation technologically.

Measured by the reported Soviet astronaut shot, the first U. S. effort to send a man on a ballistic trajectory will be scientifically primitive.

The first blow to U. S. scientific pride came on Oct. 4, 1957, when the Soviet Union became the first nation to put an artificial earth satellite into orbit.

38 IN ORBIT

While the United States has since put 38 satellites into orbit (22 are still there), the Soviets have had but 13 successful launchings. But the Soviet payloads have been larger, indicating their rocket boosters are far more advanced than those of the United States.

On Feb. 4, for example, the Soviets put seven tons of animal-carrying satellite into orbit and reported that the capsule had been returned to earth safely.

On Jan. 31, the United States hurled a 2,400-pound space capsule containing a chimpanzee 420 miles.

The United States has never been able to match the Soviet payloads pound for pound.

Space Leader Lauds Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's success in putting a man into earth orbit was praised today as a "splendid achievement" by James E. Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Webb said the feat "is a significant event in terms of the Soviets' own timetable."

He expressed the hope the Soviets will make available to the scientific community the information gained from the experiment.

Salvation Army Plans Salvage Week

The annual spring salvage week of the Salvation Army at 1323 Third Street, San Rafael, will be observed Monday through Saturday next week.

U.S. SPACEMEN SLEEP THROUGH RUSSIAN FEAT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. Col. John Powers, press officer for the U. S. astronauts, was unimpressed when a reporter told him today that Russia had a man in space.

"It's 3 a.m. in the morning, you jerk," Powers shouted into the telephone from Langley Air Force Base, Va.

The reporter suggested that Russia didn't put a man in space as a regular thing and wondered whether Powers might be able to get the views of the American astronauts on the Russian success.

"If you're wanting something from us, the answer is we are all asleep," the press officer snapped.

Soviets Get Praise Of President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today congratulated Soviet scientists and engineers for their feat in putting a man in space and returning him safely.

"The exploration of our solar system," Kennedy said, "is an ambition which we and all mankind share with the Soviet Union and this is an important step toward that goal."

The president, in a statement issued by the White House, said that America's mercury man-in-space program "is directed toward that same end."

Kennedy said "the achievement by the USSR in orbiting a man and returning him safely to ground is an outstanding technical accomplishment."

"We congratulate the Soviet scientists and engineers who made this feat possible," he said.

Moscow Denies Any Russians Died In Space

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

No, Soviet officials insist.

But some Western sources say they believe one or a few Russians did perish in unsuccessful attempts. Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger, head of the medical section of the U.S. Air Force astronaut selection and training program, says he thinks so.

"Utter fabrication," is the Soviet reply.

Closest Date For America Is April 28

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Redstone rocket which the United States had hoped would boost the first man into space stands on a launching pad here. The Soviet Union beat its firing date by at least two weeks.

"So close, yet so far," commented a technician who is helping groom the Redstone to send one of America's astronauts on a short suborbital flight, hopefully late this month or early in May.

HAD TROUBLES

"If we hadn't had those troubles last fall and on the chimp and Little Joe shots this year, we might have made it," the technician said.

"But you have to give the Russian scientists credit. They have accomplished a remarkable break-through."

Project Mercury officials had hoped to achieve a manned Redstone flight last December or January. A series of launch mishaps necessitated additional launchings to qualify the system.

On Nov. 8, a space capsule failed to separate from a Little Joe rocket fired from Wallops Island, Va., in a test of the escape system.

FAULTY CONNECTION

Two weeks later, a Redstone fizzled because of a faulty connection which caused the escape tower to fire, leaving the rocket and capsule on the pad. This test had to be repeated before Ham the space chimpanzee was sent up on a short trip Jan. 31.

An engine thrust regulator stuck on the chimp shot, creating excessive thrust which lofted the chimp, Ham, higher and farther than intended. Another Redstone was fired to prove out corrections made in the regulator, again delaying the manned trip.

TEST FIZZLES

Another setback occurred March 18 when a repeat of the Little Joe escape test fizzled. Another try is set for about April 20 and must succeed before the Redstone now on the pad hurls aloft an astronaut.

Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee in Washington yesterday that the earliest possible date for the manned launching is about April 28.

Young Violinist To Give Concert

Violinist Michael Gerling will present a recital sponsored by the Tamalpais High School music club at Ruby Scott Auditorium on Monday at 8:15 p.m.

Young Gerling, who was graduated from Tam in 1958, was winner of a Marin Music Chest scholarship and received a national music award at graduation. He is a member of the Oakland and Marin symphonies.

The program will include Sonata in F Major by Beethoven, Sonata in D Major by Prokofieff, Elegie by Stravinsky, Poeme by Chausson and six Roumanian folk dances by Bartok. There will be no admission charge.

Birch Leader Asserts U.S. Leaders Duped

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Robert Welch, head of the controversial John Birch Society, said last night the American people and government leaders have been duped into thinking they were fighting communism, when actually they were playing into the hands of Soviet Russia.

ROBERT WELCH
'Down the road'

Welch, 61, a retired Belmont, Mass., candy maker, spoke for an hour and a half before an enthusiastic capacity crowd of 6,000 persons who paid a dollar apiece to get into Shrine Auditorium to hear him.

"For years," he said, "we have been taken steadily down the road to communism by steps supposedly designed, and presented to the American people, as ways of fighting communism. The whole foreign aid program is an excellent example."

Welch outlined what he described as the Communist "principle or reversal" as their main weapon.

"By the 'liberation' of a country, for instance, such as Cuba," he said, "the Communists mean the imposing on Cuba of a tyrannical Communist dictatorship."

Pickets from the local Socialist Party paraded in front of the auditorium before Welch spoke. He did not see them because he entered the auditorium through the stage door around the corner.

In his dessertation on the Communist principle of reversal, Welch mentioned the name of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and drew prolonged applause.

After his formal address Welch stood on the stage for half an hour answering questions from the audience. But he banned any questions from newsmen and refused to hold a press conference.

'MISUNDERSTANDING'
Powers' Wife Has No Word For His Release

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—The wife of imprisoned U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers said today that reports of her husband's impending release and decision to remain in the Soviet Union "were all a misunderstanding."

"I have heard nothing officially. I haven't heard one word that would lead me to believe such a thing," said Mrs. Powers in a telephone interview from her mother's home here.

The London Daily Mail said yesterday that Powers would be freed from a Soviet prison May 1—exactly a year after his reconnaissance plane was shot down over the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Powers conceded that she had talked with a reporter from the Mail, but denied telling him that her husband was to be released.

"I have read that in some instances a prisoner in Russia is permitted to have his family join him when he is transferred from prison to a work camp," she said. "As you know Gary's original sentence was three years in prison and seven years in a work camp.

"Neither my husband nor I have ever been notified whether he is in the classification eligible for the work camp. And even if he were, he would still have to serve two more years in prison before I could join him."

Terra Linda Bond Seminar Scheduled

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said yesterday Rocketdyne's F-1 liquid propellant rocket engine fired at that level for 13 seconds on April 6.

The engine is designed to operate at a thrust level of 1.5 million pounds. This is the same thrust developed by the eight-engine cluster rocket being developed for the Saturn space vehicle.

KEEP LIBRARY PROCEDURE

Hub City To Silence Noisy Street Sweeper

San Anselmo is taking pains to silence its noisy street sweeper so residents won't be roused out of bed each morning.

However, the city council last night decided not to interfere with the city library card procedure, another point that has raised the wrath of some citizens.

San Anselmo is the only city in the county which requires that a property owner have another property owner as guarantor before a library card is issued.

Administrator Douglas Flautt said he took this matter up with the library board, which voted 3-to-2 to retain the present policy. Flautt said the library board feels there is not enough of a problem to change a policy that has been in effect for years.

Councilman William Franchini reported the librarian told him 17 books were lost last year, and if a co-signer is required, the book borrower will be extra careful in returning books because he does not want to embarrass the co-signer.

The council voted 4-to-1 to uphold the library board's policy. Mayor Carleton G. E. Little said he would like to support the library board, but in this case he would have to vote "no."

Criticism of the library board procedure came to the council's attention two weeks ago, with a complaint from Richard Steinheimer of 8 Sunny Drive. Last night, Bill Stevens of 60 Tamalpais Avenue added his complaint. He said he has owned property for two years, and no one in his family has a library card.

Stevens said he may be "cutting off my nose to spite my face" but he will not go to the extent of asking for a neighboring property owner to sign his library card.

Councilmen suggested that he appear before the library board to discuss the matter. The next meeting of the library board is May 8.

The city administrator reported that the problem of the noisy street sweeper is being licked. The city mechanic has changed oil, checked hydraulic parts, and changed the fan blade. If these do not cut down the noise, the mechanic feels he can try several other things.

Fire Chief Nello Marcucci reported that yesterday morning was the first time he had not heard the street sweeper, and the change in fan blade seems to be working.

Little Named Mayor Of San Anselmo

Little, who has been on the city council for three years, was nominated by Franchini and elected by a 3-to-1 vote. Councilman Arthur W. Smith opposed Little, and Little himself abstained from voting.

Smith explained his ideas have been "poles apart" from those of Councilman Little and therefore "I couldn't support him." Smith nominated Councilman John M. Reichmuth for mayor. Reichmuth thanked Smith for the nomination but declined the honor and seconded the nomination of Little.

On motion of Smith, Reichmuth was then elected vice mayor by unanimous vote.

The election was in accordance with the city council's announced practice of rotating the mayoralty among the five councilmen.

The council last night also passed an ordinance providing two regular meeting each month instead of one. The meetings are set for the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

HUB COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS DISMISSALS

San Anselmo's new mayor, Carleton G. E. Little, announced last night that an executive session of the council will be held next Tuesday night to discuss possible dismissal of a city employee or employees.

The meeting, closed to the public, is set for 8 p.m. at the city hall.

For several months, city fathers have expressed dissatisfaction over confusion in the city's bookkeeping. Two weeks ago, they hired an auditing firm from San Francisco to go over the entire fiscal procedure of the city. The results of that survey have not been announced as yet.

Harrisburg, Pa., was laid out in 1785 by John Harris Jr., whose father first opened a trading post on the site in 1710.

Parking Is Restricted On Narrow Hub Street

No parking will be permitted hereafter on the south of Florence Avenue in San Anselmo, the city council decided last night on recommendation of the city administrator and chief of police.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported that when cars are parked on both sides of the street, traffic cannot go through the narrow street.

The city council also voted to replace existing lights on San Anselmo Avenue between Center Boulevard and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with new 2,500-lumen lights. Existing lights are 1,000 lumens. The electric bill will go up from $1.90 per month per light at present to $2.95 per month for each new light.

City Administrator Douglas Flautt reported that a new light pole will be erected temporarily in front of the city hall to try out a new ball-type light on top of a 30-foot pole. The city council is trying to decide whether to buy these new lights or the conventional type for use in re-lighting the downtown area.

Sausalito Planners To Meet Tonight

The Sausalito Planning Commission tonight will hear requests by Douglas Lange Corp. for three variances to permit construction of a 49-room hotel with restaurant on Bridgeway near the Village Fair.

A request by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) for a variance to permit a directional sign (already erected) also will be heard at the 8 p.m. meeting in the Sausalito City Hall.

Honorable Mention

A water color by Belvedere artist Dale Conrad, entitled "Nude Study," won honorable mention at a Society of Western Artists exhibit at M. H. deYoung Musem in Golden Park, San Francisco. Conrad's work is among 122 exhibits which will be on public display from April 19 through May 21.

San Anselmo Awards Contract For Ball Park

A new ball park behind Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo will be built for $1,960 by San Anselmo contractor John Komo Jr.

He was the only bidder on the project as deadline for bids arrived last night. San Anselmo city councilmen said the bid is about $200 more than the engineer's estimate, but since the baseball field will be needed right away, they awarded the job to Komo.

The contract calls for construction of a baseball diamond, including backstop and dugout. Work should be completed in 25 days.

In other actions last night, the San Anselmo council:

1. Approved rezoning of 23 and 29 Belle Avenue from one-family residential to multiple residential. Owners are Anselm Ferrero and Gertrude McKnew.
2. Approved hiring two firemen for vacation relief for May and June at a cost of $1,660. Vacation relief for July and August will be considered in the new budget.
3. Asked Administrator Douglas Flautt to study the salaries of the fire chief and police chief and their assistants and present recommendations on April 25. The chiefs now get $676 per month, and their assistants $55 less. Fire Chief Nello Marcucci has been getting $75 additional in his role as superintendent of streets. However, with the hiring of the city public works director, this question arises: Should the fire chief continue to get the $75 additional?
4. Authorized payment of $9,912 to buy parcel five of Donald Perry's property, which is the old railroad right of way between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Anselmo Avenue. Three more parcels of Perry's land remain to be purchased for eventual widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.
5. Asked the administrator to look around for an inexpensive car that can be purchased as surplus property for the use of the city mechanic, who is now using his own pickup truck.
6. Paid $42,019 in monthly claims, plus $8,316 as progress payment on the library addition.

Boy, 8, On Bike Is Struck Down

An 8-year-old boy on a bicycle suffered minor injuries when struck by a slowly moving car on Beach Drive near San Pedro Road, East San Rafael, yesterday afternoon.

David Lewis Baker, 17-year-old College of Marin student of 6 Beach Drive, told the California Highway Patrol he had just crested a hill after turning off San Pedro Road and it was difficult to see close to the ground when little Charles Walter Tobener of 26 Beach Drive suddenly pedaled into the middle of the road and was struck by Baker's car. Marin General Hospital treated him for a cut over the left eye and a hip bruise.

Baker was not cited.

Fort Mason Employees Given Honor Rating

Two Marin women employed by the Army at Fort Mason have been cited for achieving an "outstanding employee" rating.

Special citations were presented to Miss Cornelia L. Clearihue, 20 Vine Street, San Anselmo, administrative assistant to Brig. Gen. Robert C. Tripp, anl Mrs. Josephine M. Aiston, 12 Venus Court, Tiburon, secretary to the Pacific Terminal Command director of operations.

Marin City Rides Offered In Vote

A door-to-door campaign started today in Marin City to get out the vote for the Tamalpais Union High School District three million dollar bond issue.

Rides will be arranged for persons who cannot get to the polls for the Tuesday election, said committee chairman Mrs. Thurman Barnes. Persons wishing rides may notify Mrs. Barnes at House 102.

Miller Seeks Board's View On Seashore

Views of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, already on record as opposed to a large-area Point Reyes National Seashore, nevertheless have been requested by Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) on the apparent assumption that it's bound to happen.

A letter read to the board yesterday said Miller feels that House committee hearings indicate establishment of the seashore "will have a beneficial effect on the economy of the county" but would like the supervisors' ideas about possible federal payment in lieu of taxes immediately lost if the government takes the area.

Any thoughts advanced by the board on this, Miller promised, will be put before the chairman of the interior committee.

Miller said he believed the federal government should insure that the county's ad valorem taxpayers "do not carry any additional burden, even temporarily, because of establishment" of a seashore.

He noted an estimate by Marin Assessor Bert W. Broemmel of $60,000 tax loss if the 53,000-acre project materializes and said there is precedent for asking some sort of temporary compensation.

Miller also wanted an expression on the zoning of approaches and adjacent areas to prevent "honky-tonk development" near park entrances.

He closed on a wistful note, expressing "hope that the majority of the board and I will be in closer agreement." But the board had no comment.

School Attendance Pact Is Delayed

The San Rafael Board of Education deferred action last night on a proposal to let present San Jose School District eighth graders attend Novato High School next year—if they want to—under an inter-district attendance agreement.

The San Jose district is now part of the San Rafael High School District. A movement is under way to merge San Jose and the Novato Unified School District into a new unified district.

San Rafael Supt. Frank L. Lucas told the board that an election on the proposed merger could not be held until late August or September. If approved, the merger could not become effective until 1962.

Proponents of the merger have asked the Novato and San Rafael boards to consider granting inter-district attendance agreements to allow eighth graders to choose whether want to attend Novato or San Rafael High their freshman year.

Such an agreement would be made with the understanding that all would go to Novato the following year if the merger is approved, or all would return to San Rafael if it fails.

A survey of the San Jose eighth graders indicates about 75 would like to start at Novato next fall, Lucas said.

The superintendent said that from a financial standpoint, it would be of little consequence to San Rafael. It would cost the district less to send the students to Novato than educate them here, he said.

He noted, however, that any decision on the freshmen must be reached by the end of the month, to avoid hiring more staff than will be needed in San Rafael.

Lucas reported a "considerable amount of enthusiasm" in the San Jose district for the merger—enthusiasm that was not present in two previous elections when the proposal failed to pass.

Board member Willard Vernon said approving the inter-district agreements was "just asking for trouble." Member Rex Silvernale said that it was "making children a pawn in something we have no control over here."

Silvernale added that after the trustee election Tuesday he would like to know the position of the new San Jose board.

FINALLY MADE IT

New School Building Scheduled To Start

By ELLEN BRY

With luck, construction is expected to start this week on a seventh and eighth grade school for the San Jose School District.

Rains and red tape have already delayed construction for more than two months. Trustees of the district have faced so many delays that they now just ruefully shake their heads in a "what next?" attitude when talking about the school.

The problems began in November, when site work started. Piombo Brothers of San Rafael had the contract for grading the 17½ acre site.

In a calculated gamble, grading was started before the district had received a state loan for construction and before construction contracts had been awarded. The gamble was aimed at having the 14-classroom school, designed by Reid, Rockwell, Banwell and Taries of San Francisco, ready for occupancy next September, to house the burgeoning school population which last September numbered 1,851 students and now stands at 2,234. About 2,250 students are expected by next fall.

Piombo Brothers started grading the acreage at San Jose Boulevard and Sunset Parkway. School officials went to the state allocations board for the funds for the school.

Funds are allocated according to district need. San Jose officials found other districts had even greater need for funds. They tried again and again to reach the top of the money list with enough "priority points."

Finally they made it. Then the state "ran out of money" for school construction. Gov. Edmund G. Brown in February signed special legislation making nearly 30 million dollars in state funds available for school construction loans. San Jose picked up a maximum of $583,300 for the building.

Construction bids were opened in February. Low bid was $455,717 by Reynolds Construction Co., Santa Rosa. But trustees were happy that there was a minor snafu in the bid, later cleared up after a slight delay. School officials were no longer in a rush to begin the construction.

"The rains came," Supt. Philip Schneider says succinctly. They washed at the grading site so that Piombo Brothers could not get the required amount of compaction of earth. No compaction, no construction.

The state slightly lowered its requirements on compaction. The rains stopped for a few days, started again, stopped, started.

Then the graders hit underground water.

Springs flowed on the site with springtime abandon. Soil engineers from Woodward-Clyde-Sherard and Associates in Oakland conferred with district trustees. Provisions probably will have to be made for added drainage facilities which may cost an additional $3,000 to $4,000.

Schneider said that when soil tests were made prior to grading, there was no water running in underground springs and that such springs are almost impossible to detect.

Contractor Ray Piombo could make no definite estimate of how much his company has lost by having men and equipment sidelined at the site, waiting for rains and springs to cease, but remarked wryly, "it's not doing us any good."

It is not a unique problem in the district. Pacheco School still has a "nice" spring which sprouts each spring, Schneider says. Two springs at the Loma Verde School are diverted underground and the school is built on pilings, the deepest about 35 feet because of unstable soil.

Construction contractors and school officials are to meet this week, with the district hoping to work out a crash program which just maybe ("put it in capital letters," Schneider said) will get the 14 classrooms up by September. Administration offices and library-material center would be left until last.

If the school is completed, the district can make it next term without double session classes, Schneider said.

One other thing worries Schneider: the district, in seven construction projects since 1953, has never completed one without having had it delayed by strike.

U.S. Grant III Drubbed At War Fete

New Jersey delegates called for removal of the chairman, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III (ret.), for sponsoring a Southern speaker "who grossly insulted us."

The threat to try to depose the 80-year-old grandson of the famed Union general came at the height of the three-day round of centennial luncheons, banquets, receptions and ceremonies.

FIRST BATTLE

The firing on Fort Sumter, first battle of the Civil War 100 years ago, will be re-enacted tonight.

The first oratorical bomb in the verbal civil war was exploded unexpectedly by Charleston-born Ashley Halsey, an associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

Halsey's claim that New Jersey practices racial discrimination led to a New Jersey protest at the national commission's banquet last night.

Vice chairman Joseph Dempsey of the New Jersey Centennial Commission said he wanted to ask the national commission "to determine who is responsible for this pathetic mismanagement and ask the president of the United States to remove him."

WINS APPLAUSE

Grant won applause when he adjourned the banquet without yielding the floor to the New Jersey chairman, Donald Flamm. Dempsey said the protest would be put in a formal resolution to the commission's business session today.

The New Jersey delegation, whose Negro member caused President John F. Kennedy to order national sessions held at the integrated Charleston naval base, charged earlier "there is ample evidence" that Grant should not be running the program of the congressionally created national commission.

Jaycees Win Waiver On License Fees

The Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce won city council approval last night of a waiver of business license fees for two commercial shows during its annual Western Weekend celebration June 16-18.

A financial statement from the Jaycees showed $2,711 was grossed at last year's celebration and that there was $2,221 in expenses.

Of the $490 surplus, $200 went to a student scholarship, the remainder for jaycee projects, President David G. Douglass reported.

This year, the chamber plans a carnival June 14-18 from which the chamber would receive $1,000 or 20 per cent of the gross, whichever is greater.

The junior chamber must guarantee $2,000 for a group of Indian dancers who also will set up an Indian "village" in the city.

Councilmen shook their heads over the business aspects of the $2,000 guarantee. "That $2,000 worries me," Mayor Wayne Womack said.

"It worries us, too," Douglass replied.

"How's your rain insurance," asked Councilman Everett Pozzi.

Felon Admitted For Execution

Robert Green Hughes, 27, will be the 34th inmate now in the prison awaiting execution. There are 32 cells in Death Row and all are full.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the isolation cells across from the Death Row cells are now being used to house condemned men.

California farmers annually use more than two million tons of plant foods and agricultural minerals.

Driver Gets Drive-In Service At Firehouse

A San Rafael housewife drove up to the rear of San Rafael's Firehouse 2 yesterday with the back seat of her car aflame.

Mrs. Merryn L. Cohn of 309 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, jumped out of the car while firemen put out the fire with a garden hose. Firemen estimated the damage at about $30.

HAZARDS CITED

No Action Is Taken On Highway Overpass

A pedestrian overpass from Coleman School to Lincoln Avenue over Highway 101 would reduce the physical hazards for children going to the school and save about 60 youngsters a half mile walk, Supt. Frank L. Lucas told the San Rafael Board of Education last night.

Lucas said about 180 pupils attending Coleman live west of the highway, and about 60 of these are in the area immediately across from the school.

The California Division of Highways has reported the overpass will cost about $100,000, Lucas said. The school district can submit a report and evidence to substantiate a request for the overpass, he noted.

The City of San Rafael has asked for immediate consideration of the overpass, Lucas said.

The board took no action.

The board deferred until the next regular meeting, when the two board members elected yesterday take office, a proposal that the elementary district again take service of KQED, the educational television station, next year.

Lucas said grades 4-6 now use the programs on mathematics and Spanish. Some other classes also use the Spanish and French programs. Grades 6-8 use the social science and science programs, and the primary grades have a language arts program available, the superintendent said.

The cost for district membership is 60 cents per child.

The board also postponed action on a proposal to give extra compensation above the salary schedule to the two elementary district librarians. Lucas said the district's salary schedule does not permit granting credit for work done before the California credential is received.

Both librarians, who have had previous experience in private school and public libraries, are planning to leave the district because they get no credit for such work, Lucas said.

He pointed out that the elementary librarians serve more than one school, and also have the duty of conducting training programs for teachers and parents who help in the libraries.

The superintendent said he would like the board to consider extra compensation for all employees who have the job of training teachers.

The board, in other business:

1. Approved appointment of Mrs. Carol A. Thompson as social studies teacher at Terra Linda High School.
2. Noted the resignation of Mrs. Aileen Hansen, secretary to the assistant superintendent for elementary instruction, effective April 30.
3. Received a letter from the Marin County Labor Council urging the board to consider adequate compensation for classroom teachers.
4. Received a report that construction of the addition to Terra Linda High School started officially April 3.
5. Noted that the sixth grade student involved in a drinking incident reported at the last meeting has been transferred to another school.
6. Voted to oppose an Assembly bill which grants tenure to all teachers in all districts, and is specifically aimed at teachers in districts with under 900 average daily attendance, who are now granted tenure.
7. Comended San Rafael High students and faculty for their work in beautifying the school grounds during Easter vacation.
8. Expressed appreciation to members Harold Fulkerson and Willard Vernon attending their final meeting for their work on the board.
9. Adjourned to 5:30 p.m. Friday to open bids for Laurel Dell Intermediate School.

Education Board Adopts Calendar

Classes for pupils in San Rafael city schools will begin Sept. 5 for the 1961-62 year.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night adopted a 182-day calendar, running through June 15, 1962.

Administrators' meetings are scheduled Aug. 28 and 29, and new teachers' orientation Aug. 30. Faculty meetings or workshops are planned Sept. 1.

Christmas holidays extend from Dec. 18 through Jan. 2. Easter vacation will be April 16-20, 1962.

Fifer Park Zoning Is Approved

Over the objection of Lawrence Livingston Jr., Corte Madera planning consultant, the town planning commission Monday night approved rezoning of eight lots in Fifer Industrial Park from highway commercial to shopping center commercial.

Commissioner Harold B. Wagstaff voted against the change. Chairman Walter Ehlers did not vote. Final action on the matter will be taken at a public hearing of the town council on April 17 at 8:30 p.m.

In his recommendation to deny the appeal by Edward H. and May Marion Fifer, Livingston noted that he was in favor of the original industrial zoning of the entire park and had opposed periodic zoning changes during the past few years.

Representing the Fifers was Frank Deimel. There was no opposition to the change from the floor. The new zoning would permit a shopping center.

Dixie Candidates Stress Higher Training Level

Better classroom training for the children was stressed by four of the six candidates for the Dixie Elementary School District board last night at a candidates' night at Santa Margarita School, attended by about 45 residents.

Six candidates are running for three positions on the board in next Tuesday's election.

The two incumbents called for better transfer of information from the board to the parents for better understanding.

The candidates were introduced in alphabetical order by Mrs. Elaine Koel, president of the Santa Margarita Teacher-Parent Assn.

Mrs. Dorothy C. Brown, incumbent completing four years on the board, saw "a need for the transfer of information from the board to the parents." She said the board has been holding extra sessions to evaluate the curriculum.

She said that Dixie was one of the first districts in the county to offer summer school. Dixie district was also a leader in hiring an extra teacher for each school to assist in remedial and advanced student teaching. "Another first for Dixie is the six-week summer workshop for teachers," Mrs. Brown said.

John R. Christofferson stated that with his background as a civil engineer he would be very helpful to the district in its building program.

He called for a greater stress on study in the schools. "With the great strides Russia is making ahead of us," Christofferson said, "we must emphasize mathematics and science in the elementary grades."

Lawrence L. Kramer Jr., said he takes special interest in the area of curriculum development.

"The elementary schools lay the foundation stone for all the children's education," he said, but emphasis has been placed on the buildings. Kramer wants to place "emphasis on the study in the buildings."

"The Dixie District has a big resource of human knowledge in its residents," Kramer stated, "and I would like to see that resource used, without charge, to help the teachers in the schools."

Charles H. Roach declared the school board has three responsibilities: "Equipping a plant, staffing it with teachers, and setting up a curriculum that challenges students."

"The board had built a fine physical plant, Roach said, "but I am not sure whether they have equipped it with adequately trained teachers. The board has done a poor job on the curriculum . . . The State of California minimum requirement for teaching basic subjects is 200 minutes per day, and Dixie just barely meets the minimum with 205 minutes per day in the second grade where I have a child." He called for a lengthening the school day and strengthening teacher qualifications. He asked for approval of borrowing four million dollars from the state —a proposal that will be on next Tuesday's ballot.

John A. Starkweather said he feels that the Dixie District must meet "the individual needs of the children."

Robert S. Winniford who was appointed to the board last September said he is running for re-election on a platform of two planks: "the best possible job in the classrooms for all of the students" and "improved communications between the community and the schools."

Video Profile On Park Slated

Conservation for the Bay Area in general and the Point Reyes Peninsula in particular will be the subject of tomorrow's "Profile: Bay Area" program at 9:30 p.m. on television station KQED.

Representing the conservationists in the debate will be David Brower, executive secretary of the Sierra Club, and Sigurd F. Olson, former president of the National Parks Assn.

Opposing them will be George A. Craig, secretary-manager of the Western Lumber Manufacturers Inc., and Norman Livermore Jr., treasurer of the Pacific Lumber Co.

Caspar W. Weinberger, San Francisco attorney and former assemblyman, is the moderator for the show.

Recreation Plan Protested In Belvedere

Belvedere recreation commissmissioners last night heard a contingent of San Rafael Avenue residents led by Ralph Elliott, protest the commission's request for city funds for study of recreational development of a proposed marina on San Rafael Avenue.

The request is now before the city council, but was tabled at the last meeting until a full council could be present.

Commissioners "endorsed the aims of the Belvedere-Tiburon conservation league" and appointed commissioner David D. Ross as liaison. Dr. Albertine Nash, league member asked the commission for "cooperation in keeping Belvedere and Tiburon waterfront areas open.

Commissioner Beverly Bastian recommended that the Northwestern Pacific railroad yards, when vacated, be the site of the Tiburon peninsula high school. Commissioners took no action.

Mrs. Bastian gave as some of her reasons: Access to public transportation and main thoroughfares, preservation of "the heart of the peninsula" for public use, ideal climatic conditions, use as a public and civic center for adult education, etc, and its contribution as a buffer zone and parking facilities.

Council To Meet On Harbor Plan

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall to attempt to clarify the city's position regarding acquisition of a small craft harbor.

Owners of property bordering the Saucelito Canal, which must be dredged before the city can qualify for a $300,000 loan, are expected to attend the meeting, as well as city and county officials.

Negotiations are going on between the city and property owners to try to get the channel dredged, to retain a $300,000 state allocation which may be reconsidered at a meeting of the State Small Craft Harbors Commission Monday in Berkeley.

Plans Approved

The Tiburon Sanitary District board of directors last night approved engineering plans for the upland Tiburon area sewer assessment district, according to Robert A. Sterling, secretary.

Reed District Hoping For School Completion

Trustees of Reed Union School District hope to learn on April 25 whether there will be a chance to complete the Del Mar School in time for opening of the fall school semester.

On that date, trustees will open the second set of bids on the eight-classroom school, they decided at last night's meeting. The first set had to be rejected as too costly.

The second bids will include alternates which trustees hope will bring the total construction price down to that approved for state aid. If one is acceptable, it will be "within the range of possibility, but very doubtful and difficult" for the school to be opened in September, acting chairman David D. Ring said.

Trustees heard a report by curriculum director George C. Gregg, recommending a four-week summer in-service teacher workshop in arithmetic. He suggested that three units of college credit be given for the 60 hours of work. Trustees deferred action but agreed informally that it was a good idea.

Trustees approved the preliminary plan for a summer school, June 26 - July 21, at Reed School. Leland Spencer is to be principal. Total cost was estimated at $6,143.

Approval of a $4,700 estimate for remodeling Belvedere school during the summer was given. Resignations were accepted from teachers Mrs. Lois Malone, Patricia Murphy and Mrs. Frances C. Dougherty.

The subject of re-employment of 35 teachers, 11 with tenure, was taken up in executive session following the board meeting. Ring said decisions woudl be announced before Friday.

Trustees employed Teresa King to teach Bel Aire second grade; Jane Ledden, Del Mar second grade; Mrs. Joanne Wyley, Tiburon kindergarten; Patricia Foley, Bel Aire kindergarten, and Jane Groniger, Bel Aire sixth grade.

The board authorized Supt. Paul R. Stouffer to order the vacating of the arts and crafts house on the Reed School property by Aug. 1 for its renovation for use in September.

A discussion of maternity leave policy was deferred for further study.

TOUR MIXUP

Thundering Herd Greets Housewife

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Robert Murch, in a burst of patriotism, hoisted his American flag before he went to work yesterday.

By coincidence, the St. Louis Priory Mother's Club had scheduled a house tour in St. Louis County and marked each house to be visited with an American flag. About 1,000 tickets were sold. Two houses on the tour appeared to be only a few blocks from the Murch home.

Mrs. Murch isn't a club member but she likes house tours. She bought 60 tickets, sold them and chartered a bus for the group. Each person brought a lunch and her group planned to eat lunch at the Murch home during the tour.

Much to Mrs. Murch's chagrin, swarms of women began trooping through her house. Each time she opened the door in poured more guests, some invited, most not.

Mrs. Murch finally got matters straightened out. Murch promised that from now on, he will check out the neighborhood program before he raises the flag.

POPULATION CENTER — If you're vacationing in Illinois and want to boast that you've visited the nation's center of population, here's where to go: Centralia, marked A on the map. The 1960 census reveals the center has shifted since 1950 from Olney, marked B.

Recital Scheduled At Baptist School

Mrs. Jerry Casey, soprano, will give a recital presented by the church music department of Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Broadus Hall at the seminary, Strawberry Point.

Mrs. George Suffern of Mill Valley will be the accompanist. Mrs. Casey is a student of Dr. Carlyle Bennett of Belvedere. She has degrees from Texas State College for Women and Golden Gate Seminary.

Juvenile Hall Work 90 Per Cent Completed

Architect Rolland B. Hammond told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that construction work on juvenile hall additions was 90 per cent complete on April 1, the contract completion date, and that it should be "substantially completed about May 1."

Zollner Construction Co. of Ross, the contractor, received an extension of 30 calendar days because of "unforeseen conditions and inclement weather."

Hammond took occasion to sum up that instead of his original 5 per cent estimate for possible changes these had been kept within three per cent for a total of $7,128.80, bringing the all-over total cost of the work to $298,859.80.

Clerk George S. Jones told the board he had information the grand jury was well started on a requested investigation of juvenile hall as well as of space allocation at the civic center.

Meanwhile the board ran into problems of juvenile hall in considering appointments and promotions, discovering that its finance committee had refused to recommend some for the hall.

"They don't give us any information," complained Supervisor J. Walter Blair, finance committee chairman. But after discussion, his committee colleague, George Ludy, said the juvenile hall names should go through. And everybody, including Blair, voted for all the appointments:

Beverly Lucas as deputy clerk of court at $335, Miriam Horn as branch library assistant at $50 part-time, and Frederic Letty and James Catrina both in first-step positions as group counselor at juvenile hall at $420.

David Fogel, hall superintendent, was granted an annual boost raising him from $638 to $669.

Two group counsellors at the hall — Charles Moore and Lucinda Michel—were up for six-month increases. These were held up pending further investigation in keeping with the board's recent feeling that too many county employees are being advanced too rapidly.

Man, 21, Charged With Indecency

A 21-year-old unemployed Manteca man was arrested at 5 a.m. today in Sausalito on a charge of indecent exposure in the presence of two airline hostesses in front of their apartment at 15 Second Street.

Foser Lewis Wright was also charged with vagrancy. He was placed in the county jail.

Senior Recital Is Scheduled At Dominican

Dominican College's department of music will present a senior recital next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

Three music majors, Joan McDonald of Vallejo, Lucia Schwedhelm of Stockton and Patricia Slayton of San Rafael, wil join in a varied program which is given in partial fulfillment of the seniors' comprehensive examination.

Joan McDonald, student body president, will open the program with a group of pieces for the organ. Lucia Schwedhelm, pianist. will play Beethoven's sonata in E major, Op. 14, No. 1, and selections by Debussy and Chopin.

The program will be concluded with Bach's double concerto in C minor, with Misses McDonald and Schwedhelm at the two pianos accompanied by the Dominican College String Orchestra with Philip Ienni conducting.

The three graduates plan to follow the teaching profession. Miss Schwedhelm will receive her general elementary credential this spring and plans to teach in Marin County. Miss McDonald plans to go to Stanford for the general secondary credential, and Miss Slayton will return to Dominican College for her general elementary credential with plans to marry in January.

12 Teachers Approved In Larkspur

Twelve new teachers were approved last night by Larkspur School District trustees for employment next school year.

They are Kathleen Bales of Corte Madera, Wilmut Fitch of Corte Madera, Claire Mosconi of Larkspur, Darla Nuckolls of Mill Valley, Elizabeth Richmond of Greenbrae, Marsha Hanscom of Long Beach, Diane Marquis of San Mateo, Walter Matthews of Turlock, Mary Ann Minenna, Joanne Mitchell, Xenia Rotter and Wilma House of San Francisco.

With the exception of Miss Bales, who will teach vocal music throughout the district, no classroom assignments were given.

Re-employment of 13 probationary teachers and five who are eligible for tenure next year will be discussed April 25.

Resignations were accepted from Judy Davis, second grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School, and from Jewell Trimble, fourth grade teacher at Neil Cummins School.

The board was told by Burton L. Rockwell, architect of the new San Clemente School, that the school plans would be submitted to the State Department of Architecture by next week.

THERE'S LIMIT TO POWERS OF A JUDGE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A judge who has removed many an evil doer from society denies that he also has power to remove warts.

An unidentified elementary school principal called the office of Criminal Court Judge L. A. Grayson yesterday. She said a boy in her school had warts all over him and that two nurses at Tampa General Hospital had informed her Grayson had occult powers—that all he had to do was look at the warts and they would disappear.

The judge sent word to the principal that if he had such powers "I wouldn't be doing what I am now — I'd be out removing warts."

Church Plans Forum On School Bonds

The Methodist Church of Mill Valley will hold an open forum Sunday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss issues in the Mill Valley and Tamalpais Union High School districts bond elections Tuesday.

Speakers for and against the bonds have been invited to present their sides and answer questions. Cliff Badger, representing the Mill Valley committee on classrooms, and Dr. John C. Siemens, representing the citizens committee for bonds in the Tamalpais district, will speak in favor of the bonds. P. J. Rowland of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. will speak against both bond issues.

The program is sponsored by the commission on social concerns of the Methodist Church. Richard E. Stephens is chairman.

The public meeting will be held in fellowship hall of the church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue.

Novato Agrees To Explore Merger Idea

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night agreed to explore all forms of merger possibilities with the San Jose district but took no stand on unification of the two districts.

The second study meeting of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization on the merger proposed is set for 8 o'clock tonight at Meadow Park School in the San Jose district. The school is inside the main gate at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Novato trustees generally agreed that the unification move, favored by the San Jose board, was moving too fast for full consideration of all aspects of unification.

They noted that unification would put the two districts out of business and cause formation of a new district with a newly elected board of trustees.

As proposed, in tentative form, the new district would have seven trustees elected from trustee districts. Novato board members said this might limit the number of persons running for the board. They also noted financial, curriculum and personnel problems in combining the districts.

As to interdistrict permits for San Jose students who prefer Novato High School to San Rafael High School, board members generally agreed there would not be a satisfactory long-range solution if the districts do not merge.

'Fair Condition'

Owen H. Dittmore of 36 Glenaire Drive, San Rafael, remained "fair condition" at Franklin Hospital, San Francisco, with injuries suffered in a 30-foot fall Monday from a scaffold on the Golden Gate Bridge. He is a bridge painter.

AT NOVATO HIGH

Plans Are Approved For Expanded Library

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night gave the go-ahead to plans for expansion of the night school library and addition of a second gymnasium.

They also heard long-range plans for more than doubling the school capacity.

The immediate additions would mean more than doubling the size of the library and an additional gym, showers and exercise rooms. Contracts already have been let on a six-classroom addition to the school which may be completed by fall.

Architect Richard Banwell outlined plans for an 1,800-student high school. That attendance figure is expected to be reached by 1966. Present capacity is 875 students, with about 820 in actual attendance. The six-room addition will up the capacity to 1,055.

The long-range plans call for an addition of 63,808 square feet of floor space to the present 84,769 square feet. Major construction would be a hall for lectures, music and theater seating up to 250 persons. A separate building would be constructed for arts, crafts and publications center. Seventeen classrooms would be added to the present 19 classrooms.

Other proposals were for two more additional arts rooms in addition to the present four; conversion of an existing classroom to a mechanical drawing room; expansion and possible change in location of the language laboratory; addition of one or two science laboratories to the present five; conversion of a room to business education use, in addition to the present four rooms.

The growth figures projected to 1966 do not include growth which would result if the Novato district and San Jose district were unified, Supt. W. J. J. Smith pointed out.

Terra Linda Group Names Police Aide

A police commissioner and his assistant were appointed last night by Terra Linda Community Services District directors, meeting for the first time in the Community Building.

William N. Cothran of 720 Montecillo Road, was named police commissioner. Donovan McClure of 640 Bamboo Terrace was made his assistant.

Cothran is news director of KRON-TV in San Francisco. McClure is a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle.

The directors also voted to add another commissioner to the district setup. The new commissioner will be a legislative coordinator, according to Robert Brownne, director. He will have charge of reporting on other meetings, such as those of school boards and other districts, which affect the Terra Linda district. No one was appointed to the new position last night.

The board voted to support the Dixie School District's request for a four million dollar state loan for school construction, which will be up to the voters next Tuesday.

Two English surveyors, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, worked from 1763 to 1767 to set up the Mason-Dixon Line, which ended a boundary dispute between the Calverts of Maryland and the Penns of Pennsylvania.

WANTS CORRECTIVE ACTION

Councilman Presses Drive Against 'Trash' Reading

Mill Valley City Councilman George D. Monardo, apparently stymied in an effort to legislate against what he terms "trash" magazines, today expressed hope the operator of the newsstand in the city-owned bus depot will herself remove such journals from its shelves.

Declared Monardo in a written statement:

"Mill Valley, a city which does so much for its children through library facilities, recreational programs and the like should be equally vigorous in discouraging the sale of books and magazines of less than acceptable standards."

He expressed confidence that Maggie Grant, the bus depot newsstand operator, "will take the necessary action to correct the situation which may well have occurred through inadvertentness (sic)."

Meanwhile, the State Assembly in Sacramento yesterday unanimously passed and sent to the Senate a bill designed to prevent magazine distributors from forcing "smut" on newsstand operators.

The measure, by Assemblyman Tom Bane (D-Tujunga) outlaws "tie-in-sales" in which a dealer must buy certain books or magazines to get others. It would make such a sale a misdemeanor.

"This eliminates the possibility of a retailer saying he had to buy pornography to get other magazine," Bane said.

Group Meeting In Sacramento On Fair Funds

A Marin group was making an effort in Sacramento this afternoon for a workable way of financing county fairgrounds construction at the civic center.

The state tentatively has committeed itself to providing more than $100,000 a year for a five-year period. The delegation seeks a half-million dollars at once.

Theory behind this move, which has been discussed several times by the board of supervisors, is that construction of this sort can't be done efficiently or economically on a piecemeal basis.

Host for the party was state finance director John F. Carr. With him at his office was to be Marin's Sen. John F. McCarthy, who set up the meeting.

Burner Firm Up For Sale

Land, buildings and equipment of the H. C. Little Burner Co. at Woodland Avenue and Du Bois Street, San Rafael went up for auction today, commencing at 10:30 a.m.

By 10:30 a.m. about 300 bidders had gathered, many from out of town. Some came from as far away as Seattle.

The land and buildings were listed to go up for sale at 1 p.m. Upon completion of sale of the real estate and improvements, auctioneer Max Rouse said he would return to auctioning off stock and equipment until everything was sold. Successful bidders will be allowed to remove their purchases commencing tomorrow.

Garety To Speak

Marin Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety will be principal speaker at graduation exercises for the San Francisco Police Academy at 8 p.m. tomorrow at A. P. Giannini Junior High School in San Francisco.

Street Widening Plan In Fairfax Told Residents

Charles M. Thornton, Fairfax street superintendent, last night told about 50 Fairfax residents that a portion of Willow Avenue will be widened by seven feet.

The area of Willow Avenue which will be improved, Thornton said, is from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard 200 feet up Willow. He did not state when the widening would be done, however.

Many of the residents of Willow Avenue asked that the entire block of Willow Avenue from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Maple Avenue be widened but were told the City of Fairfax would not pay for it. Thornton said that if the entire street were to be widened, the property owners would have to pay.

Thornton pointed out the drainage problem is the largest of those which present themselves. Other problems, he said, are curbing and the replacing of utility poles.

Clyde McKinney, Fairfax street commissioner, was also present at the meeting of the Ridgeway Park Improvement Club.

Thornton said which side of Willow Avenue will be widened will be determined by City Engineer Albert H. Siemer.

Subdivision Maps Passed In Larkspur

There was no opposition to approval of the Greenbrae unit, consisting of 43 lots and requested by Niels Schultz Jr. About 10 residents of the Piedmont Terrace area opposed the eight-lot subdivision sought by Russel Lauterwasser. The lots are south of Piedmont Avenue off Ridge View.

Planners said they were approving the Piedmont Terrace map inasmuch as all subdivision requirements were met. Commissioner S. W. (Bub) Eason was absent. The matter will come before the city council May 3.

Also approved was a variance for a Bon Air Subdivision, requested by Schultz, which would allow construction of apartments to a greater density than permitted under the zoning ordinance.

Planners said that Schultz compensated for the density by leaving ample open space within the remainder of the subdivision which would not be built on.

Planner To Quit In Mill Valley

Lew Tyrrell, who has served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission since 1958, submitted his resignation last night, pleading pressure of business.

Tyrrell said the commission has received greater and greater amounts of work and that meeting often run to 2 a.m. This, on top of his regular work as partner in Tyrrell's at 124 Throckmorton Avenue and his photography work, has made him decide to resign. His resignation will become effective upon his replacement, he said.

Tyrrell's term was to have ended in December, 1962.

The City and County of San Francisco uses about 91 million gallons of water per day.

New Moisturizing Colonaid Stops

CONSTIPATION DUE TO DEHYDRATION

without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital-proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation overnight. So, for positive relief from constipation, get amazing, moisturizing new COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

SUZANNE BATY
Seeks school board spot

Four Seeking West Marin School Posts

(This is the 12th in a series of stories introducing candidates for school boards in next Tuesday's election.)

Four candidates seek three positions on the West Marin School District board in next Tuesday's voting.

Two are incumbents seeking re-election; two are after their first terms on the board. One is a woman. If elected, she will be the only woman member of the board which governs schools in Inverness and Point Reyes Station.

Here is a rundown on the candidates:

GUS KOVATS, 45, of Point Reyes Station, is a radio technician at the RCA Communications overseas station at Bolinas. He is active in 4-H Club and amateur radio circles and is a member of the West Marin Lions Club and of the Druids. He served in Europe in World War II in a civilian capacity.

Kovats and his wife, Adele, have a son and daughter in school.

JOHN DUNCAN GRAY, 40, of Sea Haven, Inverness, is also an RCA radio technician at Bolinas. He has served on the West Marin School District board since 1953.

Gray was born in Sydney, Australia and grew up in New Mexico and Texas, completing his education at Amarillo College. He was an ensign in the Maritime Service during World War II, serving as radio operator aboard merchant ships. He and his wife, Enid, have two sons in school.

SUZANNE BATY, 30, is the wife of David R. Baty of Point Reyes Station, who is judge of the Northwest Marin Judicial District and has a law office in San Rafael. They have two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Baty is active in the YMCA and a member of the San Francisco Junior League. She was born in New York City, holds a B.A. degree from Mount Holyoke College at South Hadley, Mass., and took post-graduate work at Stanford University. She has taught at Dominican Upper and Lower Schools in San Rafael and at Katharine Branson School in Ross.

Dixie Schools Concert Slated

Appointment of a principal for Don Timoteo School is scheduled at the Dixie School District board meeting at 8 p.m. today at the district office at 4775 Redwood Highway.

The board will also accept resignations of five teachers and will contract with 12 teachers for the coming school year.

An agreement with the Marinwood Boys Club for work to be done by the club on the Mary E. Silveira School will come up for discussion. The board will hear reports on the summer school, team teaching, multi-graded classes and ungraded classes.

UNIFORM SUGGESTION

Air Force Blue-Pencils Idea Of White Shirts

Reserve Maj. Philip Hiaring of San Anselmo is determined that Air Force officers and non-commissioned officers should wear white shirts for "heightened status."

Air Force headquarters has replied that it likes its blue shirts which make all men equal, saying that the white shirt would "set apart one class from another."

Hiaring came up with his suggestion during an active duty stint earlier this year at Hamilton Air Force Base. He is assigned to the 9081st Reserve Squadron at Fort Miley.

Hiaring wrote Air Force headquarters that white shirts would be a "morale builder" for non-commissioned officers and officers and result in "more motivation" for enlisted men to work toward NCO rank. He noted that the present blue shirt varies in shade from manufacturer to manufacturer and wash to wash and that the Air Force man is surrounded by blue.

Air Defense Headquarters at Colorado Springs passed on the suggestion. But Hiaring said today he has received a "not accepted", report from headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Not blue over the turndown, Hiaring plans to resubmit his "white paper," changing it to provide that all Air Force personnel could wear white shirts.

Panel To Discuss Tam Bond Issue

The much-discussed three-million-dollar bond issue sought by Tamalpais Union High School District will be discussed again on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Speaking in favor of the issue will be Dr. Joseph A. Guthrie, chairman of precinct workers on behalf of the bond issue, and Edward W. Colthurst, chairman of the citizen bond committee. Opposing it will be Leonard Bjorklund, Mill Valley attorney, and Mrs. Evelyn McDougall of Mill Valley.

Questions telephoned by listeners will be directed to the panel members by moderator Kitty Oppenheimer. A taped recording of the program will be broadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Novato Sanitary District Annexes

There are approximately 20 homes in the area.

Annexation of about an acre of land owned by Stephen Bruff will be considered at the May 8 meeting.

Historical Society To Fete Longtime Twin Cities Folk

Longtime residents of Larkspur and Corte Madera will be honored at the 8 o'clock meeting of Marin County Historical Society tomorrow at E Street School, San Rafael.

Accompanying Mrs. Raymond Robson, who will be a member of the speakers' panel on the background of the Twin Cities, will be Edward Dell Mahood and Lulu Horne. The former was a telegrapher for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and later station agent. He was one of the first merchants in the area and the early postoffice was in his store. Mrs. Horne was a caretaker of the beautiful estate, "Owlswood," owned by Frank Pixley, grand-uncle of Mrs. Robson.

Also invited are other pioneers of Larkspur and Corte Madera as well as those interested in its history. In addition to Mrs. Robson, on the panel will be Dan Allen, member of Larkspur City Council; Mrs. Helen Wilson, Larkspur librarian, and Roy Graves, an authority on early Marin transportation.

government and personally to Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev that the landing was normal."

Gagarin apparently had duties to perform while in space flight, although scientists said there were ground-controlled automatic devices aboard to guide and operate the spaceship and "take care of the man himself."

But for the first time, an earth-bound man had left the enveloping atmosphere of his planet and soared beyond it into the still only lightly probed unknown.

Planners Delete Sentence From Proposed Ordinance

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night deleted from a proposed architectural control ordinance a sentence to which the city council last week objected.

The amended ordinance will go back to the council. No change was made except to eliminate the single sentence, which read: "Any sturcture or building plans coming under the provision of this section shall be considered by the planning commission only and by no other body.'

The ordinance would extend architectural control to apartment buildings throughout San Rafael. Such control now exists for apartments in East San Rafael and on Nova Albion Way.

The "planning commission only" sentence was inserted at an earlier meeting on suggestion of Commissioner Orlando Conti, who objected to a proposal that the city create an architectural advisory commission.

The city council last week refused the ordinance as written, pointing out that the provision would remove the right of appeal to the council in case of planning commission rejection of a building's design.

Pack Of Dogs Injures Sheep

The sheep is not expected to live, reported Mrs. Thomas Keena af 1012 Second Street, Novato. The McClay Road ranch is owned jointly by the McNern and Keena families.

Early Saturday, another sheep on the ranch was so badly mauled by dogs that it had to be shot, Mrs. Keena reported.

Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou went to the McNern home about 5:30 a.m. today and found the sheep with wool and flesh torn from the throat and shoulder area. McNern told the officer he and his brothers saw the dogs and fired some shots as the marauders ran up the hill.

Salesman Says He Dumped Clothes

The mystery of the "floating clothing" that washed ashore at Santa Venetia yesterday was explained today with a report from a salesman that he had disposed of old items by dumping them in the bay.

Joseph Kenny of 311 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, told sheriff's deputies he dumped several cartons of old clothing samples which he uses in his job as salesman. When the items get old, soiled or discolored from the sun, Kenny said, his company does not allow him to give them away.

Kenny admitted he should not have dumped them in the bay.

Early yesterday morning, Joe Nerviani of Joe's Landing called the sheriff in alarm when children's clothing and lingerie began floating ashore. Sheriff's deputies recovered several cartons full of water-soaked items, thinking they stolen goods.

U.S. Aides Deny Spaceship Contact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space agency officials reported today they have no information that any U.S. tracking station ever made contact with the spaceship in which Moscow says a man orbited the earth, but the White House relayed different word from another source.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that since this morning they had been tracking an object in the approximate path of that vehicle but it presumably was the burned-out rocket casing.

But Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said he had a report of contact at a time just after the space vehicle had passed over the Asian land mass.

Dixie School Loan Approval Has A String

The State Department of Education yesterday granted Dixie School District a building loan with an important string attached.

The string, said Dixie Supt. Dennie B. Willis, is that the district can't get the loan unless voters next Tuesday vote "yes" on a ballot proposal to allow the district to borrow up to four million dollars from the state. Two-thirds approval is required for passage.

The loan authorized yesterday is for $141,361 to add a multi-use room at Mary E. Silveira School. But Willis said the district has only $20,000 remaining in a $3,250,000 state loan authorization approved by voters a few years ago. So, if Tuesday's measure fails passage, the $141,361 allocation will be withdrawn.

Arrow Is Found In Clothing

Mrs. Genevieve Sorich of 500 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, went out to her clothes line this morning and for one fleeting moment had visions of the old wild West.

Imbedded in the clothes line post was a hunting arrow. She called the sheriff's office at 9:05 a.m. for fear that some careless bowman might hurt someone.

In Tamalpais Valley, Mrs. Mary Eskes of 538 Northern Avenue reported that vandals had mangled her mail box sometime last night.

In Kentfield, a dog attacked Russell Zerbe, 21, of 2323 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, biting him behind the knee yesterday afternoon, he told sheriff's deputies. Officers notified the Marin County Humane Society.

'Soldier Of Month'

SP/4c Thomas James Rawlins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rawlins of 9 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo, has been selected as "soldier of the month" of the Ninth Logistical Command, stationed at Okinawa, for March. He is a graduate of Drake High School.

Action Is Postponed On Apartments Plan

Second public hearing on rezoning of the area between Bayo Vista Way and Scenic Avenue, as requested by Spero Spiliotis, was held by the San Rafael planning commission last night, but action on it was postponed until April 25 for a complete final map of the area.

Spiliotis seeks rezoning of portions of the area from single-family dwelling to duplex and garden apartments.

The commission granted the request of Joanne Wing to hold a real estate school in a cottage at the rear of 1420 Lincoln Avenue. The commission put six conditions on the permit. They are that the upper floor be sealed off, that two means of egress be provided to each classroom, the maximum occupancy load be posted by the fire and building inspector; off-street parking for 15 cars be provided and only one sign should be erected.

The planners tentatively approved rezoning from single family to duplex on Irwin Street near Hazel Court, requested by Henry Ghilotti, with the restrictions that the lot be 10,000 square feet with 75-foot frontage. The first public hearing on it was held last night with the second scheduled for April 25.

The commission granted J. B. Williams permission for a two-lot subdivision on Jewell Street subject to decision by commissioners Gene O'Connor and Nicholas Dollwet on width of sidewalks necessary.

The commissioners learned that Pyramid Homes had erected signs and flags at the entrance to a development in Glenwood, without a permit.

The planners postponed for 30 days a request by Robert Chang for a boat sales business at Francisco Boulevard at Irwin Street. They approved request by D. H. Hudelson for six boat berths at 19 Third Street on the San Rafael Canal; granted Mission Quary Co. permission to use property on Francisco Boulevard for storage of equipment.

May 9 and 23 were set as the dates for the public hearings on precise zoning of the area east of Highway 101 and north of Terra Linda interchange, including the Marin Professional Center and Commonwealth Light Industrial Subdivision. Some of the area has not been zoned since annexation to the city.

Parking Plan Is Approved In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night approved a resubdivision and parking plan request of E. L. Egger and Herbert Shapiro for the construction of a shopping center at Miller and La Gohma Avenues on property adjacent to Egger and Son Nurseries and the Jolly Market.

Also approved was a use permit for Shapiro to locate a service station over the creek, to have an entrance at 395 Miller Avenue.

The commission recommended approval to the city council of a portion of the Mill Valley general drainage plan in the marshland area.

Commissioners approved plans for a new sales building to be built by Larry Brink at 447 Miller Avenue, denied Manuel Gomez a variance to permit construction of a four-unit apartment house at Miller Avenue and Gomez Way, and approved plans for addition of classrooms to the First Methodist Church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue.

Review Requested On Belvedere Plan Of Annexation

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided to ask the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council to review the Belvedere annexation study at its public meeting Friday which was scheduled for discussion only of the study of Tiburon incorporation.

Chamber members were warned by Secretary Fred C. Hannahs of the "threat of Belvedere taking in the business district, which would effectively block forever self-government in this area.

Chamber President William S. Johnstone brought up a request by chamber member to "censor Director Fred Mantegani for his circulation of a petition protesting the opening of a liquor store in downtown Tiburon." The five members present declined to act, because of a lack of a quorum.

Auto Stolen

Student Officer

Marilyn Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bryson, 170 Helens Lane, Mill Valley, is newly elected officer of the Christian Student Union at Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore., where she is a senior majoring in sociology. She was elected evening chairman.

Youth Tries To Bolt From Booking Desk

An 18-year-old youth from Humboldt County, caught last night on suspicion of drinking beer, tried to bolt from the Marin County Jail as he was about to be booked, sheriff's deputies reported.

Paul Edward Carneggie of Pepperwood was grabbed as he rounded the corner of the booking desk on his way toward the exit, Deputy Sheriff M. T. Novitski said. Carneggie was booked on suspicion of attempted escape.

Sheriff's Deputy Edward McKamey caught Carneggie and two companions in front of Graham Lumber Co. in San Rafael about 9:15 last night. The officef said the youths had three quarts of beer with them and two nearly empty bottles.

The other two are James Florian Franke Jr., 18, of Arcata, and Mardell Remus Oman, 18, of Fortuna. They claimed they are students at Santa Rosa Junior College.

Oman was being held in lieu of $525 bail. The other two were bailed out for $525 each. All three are scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon.

PT&T Awards Contract For Building

Christensen and Lyons of Oakland has been awarded the contract to build the new Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. equipment center in San Rafael, PT&T district manager J. E. Madrigali reported today.

The firm was the low bidder on the project. Pacific Telephone did not disclose the amount of the bid or the number of bidders.

Madrigali said the new facility—land, building and equipment—will cost about $2,400,000.

The center will extend direct distance dialing and provide toll equipment for most of Marin County. It is scheduled for completion by early 1962.

Tomorrow's ceremonies will begin with a breakfast at 7:30 at Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield. Groundbreaking will start about 9 a.m.

Esposti made his own ice cream of which he was very proud.

He retired from active work four years ago.

Esposti was a member of American Legion, Mill Valley Post 284, and of the Marin Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn.

He is survived by his wife, Kathleen; three sons, Delmo of Larkspur, Dino and Giulio of Mill Valley; two brothers, Ettore of Sonoma and Giovanni Esposti of South San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Amadea Ferrarese of San Rafael, and two grandchildren.

ACTRESS GREETS HER CHILDREN

Elizabeth Taylor holds the face of her son, Christopher, 5, as she and her husband, Eddie Fisher, greet her three children at an airport in Los Angeles as the three children arrive from London. Fisher holds Liza, 3. Christopher and a third child, Michael, 8, are her children by actor Michael Wilding, and Lisa, her daughter by her third husband, the late Mike Todd. The children were left behind in London when Miss Taylor and Fisher came to the United States recently after she suffered a serious bout with pneumonia. (AP Wirephoto)

Novato Sets Meeting To Speed Annexation

Novato city councilmen last night set a special meeting for Monday to speed annexation of some 1,200 acres of land to the city.

Councilmen at the last night's meeting approved introduction of an ordinance which would annex 46 acres of land to the city owned by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Schwartz and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwartz of San Rafael. The land is on the northern edge of the city, south and west of the intersection of Atherton Avenue and Bugeia Lane.

Councilmen set 5:15 p.m. Monday for a second reading and expected passage, following a hearing last night at which there was no protest against annexation.

The 46 acres in turn will open the way to annexation of almost 1,200 acres—about 1,100 expected for residential development by Andrew B. Talbot, San Francisco, and the 94 acres of the Marin Memorial Gardens cemetery.

Mayor Wayne Womack noted that Talbot was "anxious" to bring his land within the city and councilmen agreed to speed procedures on annexation of the saller parcel.

The Schwartz property will make possible road-strip annexation of the Talbot property and cemetery. It is possible only if the connecting road, Atherton Avenue and Bugeia Lane, are less than a half mile from the city limits.

In other business last night, councilmen:

1. Approved mailing a letter to presidents of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western Telephone Co. and State Public Utilities Commission, asking that action on dial, no-toll service between the companies be expedited. Both companies now serve the city, with different exchanges.

2. Approved calling for bids for a station wagon for use by Charles Joseph, newly appointed public works director.

3. Approved 4-1 renting a car until Joseph's vehicle is purchased. Dissenter was M. E. (Babe) Silva.

4. Approved appointment of Mrs. Wayne Isaacson, Novato, as relief police clerk.

Mumps Leading List Of Marin Diseases

Mumps will 11 cases reported lead other communicable diseases reported to the Marin County Health Department last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Measles and strep infection were next with five cases reported for each. There were four cases of gonorrhea and three of syphilis reported.

The people of California own one of the finest systems of State Parks in the United States.

Novato Votes More City Street Lights

Novato will be lighter and brighter at night beginning in about a morth.

City councilmen last night approved a report from a council committee recommending addition of about 100 lights on city streets and change in position or brighter lights for 13 existing lights.

Lee Wise, manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office in Novato, said work would begin in about a month, starting first in areas most needing lights.

The committee report by councilmen Everett Pozzi and M. E. (Babe) Silva resulted in stiff necks, Pozzi said last night, from nights of riding around the city with police chief Roy McLaren, looking up at lights.

Their report was on lighting specifically asked of the city by residents and included nearly all requests. It will cost the city an additional $4,203 yearly, on top of the approximately $26,000 paid to PG&E for maintenance, repair, installation and use of lights yearly.

Councilmen also sent to committee a more complete report which projects the probable city lighting needs for the next 8-10 years.

Tam Valley Flood Unit May Be Closed Soon

The Marin County Board of Supervisors indicated yesterday that affairs of the Tamalpais Valley Flood Control Assessment District will be closed and some money refunded soon.

The supervisors also received notice from the Corps of Army Engineers that no further study will be made of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio channel improvements. Though work on the lower channel seems economically justified, local residents have indicated inability to make the required contribution, the army engineers wrote.

That nothing was likely to eventuate in the Tamalpais Valley project had been apparent for several months, since the army engineering revealed rising costs which made it impossible for Marin County to meet its share. But some hope had been entertained that another federal approach might develop.

Bruce J. Gillette of 407 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, yesterday asked that the district be dissolved and assessments refunded, saying the district had been set up more than 26 months ago but no work done.

"I hope you will consider the propriety of reimbursing all that has been exacted from us," he said. "There should be an accounting of money spent."

Chairman William D. Fusselman and the supervisor from Gillette's district, J. Walter Blair, expressed sympathy. Fusselman said he would arrange a meeting of officials, commenting "undeniably you should have a disbursement." Blair said "something should be done to get your money back."

Assistant Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said that $24,756 was raised by bond sale and assessments of which nearly $20,000 was finally put out at interest. "In effect there has been a 20 per cent loss against each property owner" by outlays including $2,150 for engineering and $1,639 for legal services, he said.

Gillette promised to get signatures of Tamalpais Valley businessmen to a petition for action. He said all deadlines have been passed for implementation of any sort of flood control plan.

State Education Aid Proposal Is Trimmed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An Assembly Education Subcommittee has stripped away the major portion of the Department of Education's proposal to boost the state's aid to public schools by 53 million dollars.

Assemblyman Gordon Winton Jr. (D-Merced) cut 39.1 million dollars from the department bill he introduced because the countywide school tax which was supposed to help finance the boost appears dead politically.

The countywide tax was designed to free 21 million dollars of state aid money for other programs.

The 39.1 million dollars was to have gone to increasing the foundation program $10 for each public school student, based on average daily attendance.

The fate of other funds in the measure—such as transportation, driver education and special education—also are in doubt, a subcommittee member said.

Dibble lugged a portable transmitter rig to the hospital to broadcast the news of his new offspring. At the request of a fellow ham, he put the baby on for a brief statement.

Breeding Disease

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—A geneticist at the University of Connecticut is one of two scientists in the country engaged in a singular project — breeding chickens with muscular dystrophy.

Each year some two dozen of his chickens are sent to research laboratories around the country where scientists can study the wasting away of animal tissue and muscle.

The dystrophic chickens are bred, the geneticist says, by crossing two carriers possessing the muscular dystrophy gene. One-quarter of the offspring will contract the disease, he reports.

Merger Of San Jose, Novato District Agreed By Hopefuls

Seven candidates for San Jose Elementary School District board agreed last night that their district should be merged with the Novato Unified School District, but otherwise the seven split pretty much into two camps.

No difference developed between aspirant Edith W. Painter and the three incumbents seeking re-election next Tuesday: Mrs. Jean A. Ansley, Alan M. Swabacker and William H. Vandergriff. Calling in general for stricter discipline and greater emphasis on basic subjects were candidates Douglas R. Horton, J. F. Kallmayer and Ethan A Papineau. The eighth candidate, Robert W. Dodson, was absent from the candidates' forum, which attracted about 40 spectators to Lynwood School.

Much of the two and one-half hour meeting, moderated by Mrs. Harry Cole, Lynwood Parent-Teacher Assn. president, developed into a debate between Kallmayer and the three incumbents, with Papineau drawn in briefly. Mrs. Painter limited herself to a brief statement, which she read, Horton made an initial speech but responded to only one question.

The incumbents and Mrs. Painter came out for the Novato-San Jose School district merger in their initial presentations. Horton, Kallmayer and Papineau endorsed the merger in replying to a question from the audience.

Most prolonged discussion was between Kallmayer (at length joined by Papineau) and the incumbents over discipline, which Kallmayer charged is "uneven" in the district's classrooms. He insisted (seconded by Papineau) that better discipline can be enforced if the school board lays down ground rules and makes sure they are understood "by everyone down to the pupils."

The incumbents held that disciplinary problems arise naturally from unfortunate home environments and that the San Jose schools are handling them in the best way possible.

In brief, the candidates said:

MRS. ANSLEY: The rapid growth of the district keeps the board "busy just trying to keep a roof over the children's heads and desks for them to put their feet under." She declared for "a broad quality education . . . based on the three Rs." San Jose schools are giving it now, she said, citing a recent standard achievement test at one school (unnamed) in which 92 per cent of the children were found to be at or above grade level.

HORTON: "I believe more emphasis should be placed" on the three Rs. . . "It's up to us to make" facilities adequate and to hire better teachers, but "we're going to have to dig deep in our pockets" to do it.

KALLMAYER: Most important concerns are "the three Rs, discipline, competition among young people in school, and what is the school board's purpose?" . . . "The reason they're goin to school is to get the fundamentals with which to think . . . We have to get into more depth in our curriculum that we are today." . . Children "must learn to control themselves" and must be taught where their rights begin and other children's rights end."

Competition is necessary, said Kallmayer: "You can't shelter your children from competition all through school, then suddenly open the door and expect them to be able to compete."

The school board, he said, "should guide the school program prior to the time decisions are made" and should be closely concerned with curriculum planning.

MRS. PAINTER: The San Jose program "needs broadening at the seventh and eighth grade levels." She declared: "Establishment of school curriculum should be left to the superintendent and his aides."

The job of the school board is to inform the administration of the wishes of parents and inform parents of the action taken.

PAPINEAU: "I believe in very conservative and basic principles of education . . . I am most concerned with having schools provide not only the three Rs but also the importance of American ideals." Professionals need school board guidance. "I don't think too much of this word 'professional.' . . . I think when we use this word we're trying to make ourselves a little more powerful than we really are and a little more expert than we really are." There is "too much stress on the group" rather than individual attainment.

SWABACKER: The San Jose schools have a school day 60 minutes longer than the state requires and devote 240 minutes per day to basic courses. "What was good enough for us . . . is not good enough for our children. . . "We have added to the three Rs." Methods, rather than curriculum, are of prime importance. San Jose students make good at San Rafael High School. "We have the best superintendent in Marin County, if not in the state of California." (Later, during the question period, Swabacker said he would have given Supt. Philip W. Schneider a 10-year contract "if it had been up to me.")

VANDERGRIFF: The job of running the school district "requires teamwork" of superintendent, principals, and down through the staff. "I know we now have that teamwork." He said "we all believe in the three R's" but not in old-fashioned ways of teaching them.

Vandergriff cited functional planning of school buildings and introduction of a summer school as evidences of advances by the present board.

Placed on each seat was a pamphlet put out jointly by Kallmayer and Horton, who said they found they largely agree on what the schools need.

Rev. Clapham Accepts Post In San Carlos

Rev. Robert C. Clapham last night resigned as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo at a meeting of church officers.

Rev. Clapham announced he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of San Carlos, and will probably assume duties there early in June.

He took over the San Anselmo pastorate eight years ago after graduation from the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

When Rev. Clapham took over the pastorate, the church —established in 1897—had 450 members and met for worship in Montgomery Chapel on the seminary campus. Now the church has 1,050 members and a $230,000 sanctuary.

Man Accused Of Shooting At Wife Due To Make Plea

San Francisco metal dealer William Harms Asher, 34, accused of firing five bullets at his sleeping wife in Sleepy Hollow, was scheduled to enter his plea this afternoon.

Inspector William Bradley of the sheriff's office reported, Mrs. Asher said her husband broke into the home and fired a rifle at point-blank range while she lay in bed reading. All five bullets missed her and drilled holes in the bedroom wall.

Inspector Bradley said Asher told investigators he had no intention of hitting his wife when he fired.

Mrs. Asher had filed for divorce, and the couple had been separated for about a month. He lives in San Francisco.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court set his bail at $2,625.

Japanese Welcome Stanford In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Stanford University officially arrived in Japan today, and the Japanese responded with a surprise award for its president, plenty of welcoming speeches and the Stanford hymn sung in Japanese.

The occasion was the opening of Stanford's center for Japanese studies.

Speechmaking at Wakeijuku Auditorium was interrupted for Education Minister Masuo Araki top resent the Second Degree of the Order of the Rising Sun to President J. E. Wallace Sterling.

Presentation of the Imperial award was a surprise to Dr. Sterling and a mystery to many of the 450 guests. The presentation speech was in Japanese and was not translated.

The Japan Women's University chorus pleased the onlookers, many of them Stanford grads, with a Japanese rendition of the Stanford hymn.

Later, a reception was held in the dining hall and demonstrations in the traditional tea ceremony and flower arranging were given. There was to have been a garden party but rain canceled that.

Five Seeking Finance Post

The field of applicants for Mill Valley finance director, which dropped from five to one March 27, has bobbed back up to five.

Oral examinations will be given Monday

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said today it was impossible to comply with council policy that he choose a director from the top three taking the exam when only one person was eligible. The council gave Almcrants permission, he said, to accept the one application on hand, another which had been filed late by Arthur E. Lang of Tiburon, an accountant in the Mill Valley fiscal department, and three applications which arrived late.

Exec Facing Felony Charge Of Hit-Run

Advertising executive Henry Bishop Grandin Jr., 33, of Ross faces a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court next Tuesday on a felony hit-run charge.

He appeared before Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday with his attorney, C. John Bernt, and pleaded innocent to the charge.

Sausalito police arrested Grandin last Saturday on a complaint of three young men that Grandin's car had knocked them down on Bridgeway Boulevard.

Africa Group Seeking Backing On Aid Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Twenty-four African nations today sought U.N. support for a broad plan designed to develop Africa's resources with aid from the United States and other affluent nations.

The plan was drawn up in answer to the Kennedy administration's promise to give financial aid if the African nations seized the initiative and worked out their own long-range development program "by, of and for Africa."

The resolution was submitted to the U.N.'s main political committee yesterday by Jaja Wachuku, Nigerian economics minister.

The African plan, worked out in consultation with the U. S. delegation, calls for creation of a special development bank and a new agency to train manpower to carry out the wide-ranging improvement program.

It also calls for increased technical assistance and financial aid from the more developed countries to be funneled through international agencies with no strings attached.

It urges the Economic and Social Council, the Economic Commission for Africa, the U.N. Special Fund and other agencies to gives pecial attention to African development problems.

Board Votes Use Permit For Hospital

A use permit for establishment of a 24-bed convalescent hospital in Santa Venetia was approved with two conditions by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The applicant, Doreen M. Nelson, has been operating a rest home on Pacheco Street in San Rafael but wishes to operate on San Pablo Road adjacent to the Tarrant Building and opposite the Tarrant Court intersection.

Conditions required architectural supervision for location, appearance, landscaping and other features, and maintenance of 12 parking places.

The supervisors approved final maps for the Bellucci subdivision outside Novato and Paradise Acres on the Tiburon Peninsula, and tentative maps for the 4.7-acre Marinero Knolls subdivision and the 8.4-acre Francisco Vista subdivision, both in the Tiburon area.

The supervisors also:

1. Held for budget time a request from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, to whom it gave $3,500 last year, to boost this to $5,000 for 1961-62.
2. Accepted bids of Ames Ford Sales for a "walk-in-cab truck" for the county communications department, price minus trade-in and plus tax $3,469.03, and a four-door sedan for the district attorney, net price $2,044.91. Ames' bid was lowest of three in each category.
3. Postponed to next week consideration of a proposed amendment to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District Act, framed by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire "to give means to annex property into an existing zone rather than create a new zone."
4. Approved a mutually agreed annexation of a small area by Mill Valley because of road needs.
5. Asked Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle to present next week his revised cost figures on the county hospital. De Lisle said they were ready yesterday.

It's Second Guessing Time Again; Dark's 'Percentage' Game A Flop

CONNOLLY

Just in a spirit of friendly and constructive criticism, I'll have to report Alvin Dark, the Giants' new rookie manager, pulled his first boo-boo of the 1961 season yesterday while losing the opener to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 7.

All spring the serious-minded and conscientious Dark maintained he was not going to play baseball along "percentage" lines. He was going to play it differently. His own way. He announced that there were only two pitchers on his staff he would not use in relief roles. One was Juan Marichal.

Dark also stated he wasn't adverse to putting the winning run on the paths, if he thought it might save a ball game. In fact he did it in the spring to prove his way of thinking.

Yet in the season's opener against his strongest adversary, the Pirates, our bold and brave rookie manager of the Giants outfumbled himself.

To begin with he used McCormick, the sturdy southpaw, in a relief role. And allowed him to pitch to Bill Virdon, one of the Pirates' steadiest hitters, who hits either right or lefthand pitching. There was a base open at the time and had Alvin played his spring hunch, he would have walked Virdon and allowed McCormick to go after less powerful batters who followed Virdon.

SO I SAY Dark's boo-boo culminated a series of boo-boos committed by the not too alert Giants in the opener.

The first miscue, and in my mind the turning point of the ball game, came in the fourth inning. Up to that moment Sam Jones hadn't allowed a hit. Virdon and Dick Groat, however, opened the barrage with back to back singles. Then Bob Skinner singled sharply to right-center and Willie Mays gobbled up the ball on the first hop and threw to where the cut-off Giant infielder was supposed to be. But nobody thought to cut-off Mays throw to the infield and this boo-boo gave the Pirates two of the three runs they scored in that frame.

Cut-off plays were rehearsed heavily in the spring camp. And yet in the first actual league game of the season all the "larning" went out the window. It wasn't Mays' throw that was bad; it wasn't catcher Tom Haller's fault that he didn't leave home plate unguarded. It was just that either Willie McCovey or Eddie Bressoud, the head cut-off men, were napping. So nobody was there to catch Mays' throw-in and the ball flipped into the Pirate dugout.

AS I SAY this criticism is meant to be constructive. It also illustrates that a rookie manager can go berserk in order to win the opener. I think that is what happened to rookie manager Dark yesterday.

Stu Miller, who relieved Sam Jones and pitched magnificently from the sixth on, deserved a better fate. He had two Pirates out in the first half of the ninth and was leading 7 to 5. Pinch hitter Dick Schofield doubled and Stu worked hard to make Dick Stuart, another Pirate heavy hitter, offer at a bad pitch and lost him, Stuart walking.

Miller has been a victim of managerial boo-boos during Bill Rigney's reign of terror and I guess when he saw rookie manager Dark calling for Mike McCormick, ole Stu just up and walked away.

McCORMICK'S first pitch was a home run throw that Virdon whacked high over the rightfield wall and put the game on ice for the Pirates.

Why did Dark yank Miller?

Why couldn't Stu have been given orders to walk Virdon as Dark preached so often in the spring and taken his chances with other Pirate batters, not so heafty as Virdon?

Aside from these few boo-boos the unveiling of the new Giant of 1961 was worth every dime anyone paid to get in.

You saw McCovey light up his comeback trail with a scorching two-bagger to drive in the first Giant run and you saw him clout the longest hit of the day, a home run just to the left of the scoreboard. You saw Harvey Kuenn deliver up to snuff; you saw Orlando Cepeda whack a tremendous home run into the centerfield enclosure, following immediately after McCovey's smash.

WHATEVER you saw at Candlestick Park yesterday you have to admit it is a vast improvement on the 1960 play. And it strikes me that all rookie manager Dark has to do is have some more blackboard talks and the powerful hitting and pitching of the Giants will take care of the rest.

Mental mistakes have been one of the well known reasons for the flip flop of the Giants in 1958, 1959 and 1960. Let's hope it isn't allowed to become cancerous this year.

Giants Impressive Despite Bad Pitch

McCormick, the San Francisco Giants' ace southpaw, was called in to relieve with two out in the ninth inning yesterday against the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bill Virdon blasted McCormick's first pitch 350 feet down the right field line for a three-run homer and the ball game, 8-7, before 41,423 fans at San Francisco's Candlestick Park opener.

The Giants looked fine until McCormick threw that high curve ball to Virdon.

"They outplayed us for eight innings," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said.

Orlando Cepeda, with a homer and a single, knocked in three runs.

Harvey Kuenn got a double, scored two runs and was impressive at third base.

ROOKIES IMPRESS

The Giants' rookie starters—second baseman Charlie Hiller and catcher Tom Haller—impressed both managers and pulled off a sparkling hit-and-run play, a maneuver the Giants haven't used much in the past.

Three straight Pirate singles chased Jones in the sixth and brought in Stu Miller, who allowed just three hits and one walk in 2⅔ innings.

McCormick was charged with the loss. Roy Face, who worked the seventh and eighth for Pittsburgh, got the victory.

Billy Loes, who hasn't started a game since he was with Baltimore in 1959, was picked to start today against Pittsburgh's Vern Law.

Law was 20-9 last year. Loes worked only 46 innings in 37 games last season for a 3-2 record, but he's been one of the most improved pitchers in the San Francisco camp this spring.

Dodgers Show Speed In Coliseum Opener

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers, a speedy bunch of kids who may lack power but who could run everybody ragged in the National League race, are off a-flying, making runs out of singles, sacrifice bunts and infield hits.

It was that sequence that did the damage last night when the Dodgers opened the season with a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and hustled to join the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds in a knot at the top of the standings.

Duke Snider, one of the Dodgers' older greyhounds, opened a three-run seventh inning with a single and galloped to third on a sacrifice and an infield out. Snider came in with the tie-breaking run when Charlie Neal smashed an infield single off the leg of losing pitcher Robin Roberts.

In the other N.L. openers, all afternoon contests, the Pirates were back in the old groove, coming from behind on Bill Virdon's three-run homer with two out in the ninth for an 8-7 victory at San Francisco. St. Louis defeated Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 2-1 on Daryl Spencer's solo home run in the 10th inning, and Cincinnati, rolling on homers by Frank Robinson and Wally Post, walloped Chicago's Cubs 7-1.

BLANKS YANKS

In the American League, the Minnesota Twins rocked the defending champion New York Yankees 6-0 on the three-hit pitching of Pedro Ramos, and the new Los Angeles Angels surprised the Baltimore Orioles 7-2 as Eli Grba turned back the Birds with a six-hitter. Cleveland rapped Detroit 9-5, and the Kansas City A's defeated Boston 5-2. Chicago's White Sox and Washington were idle.

Roberts, setting a N.L. record with his 12th opening day assignment for the Phils, wound up with a 5-6 record for inaugurals after the three-run Dodger seventh. Pinch-hitter Ron Fairly capped that rally with a two-run double, and rookie Carl Warwick drove in the final run with a pinch single, following two walks by Phillie reliever Ken Lehman, in the eighth.

FAST START

The Dodgers started fast, scoring in the first inning when speedster Maury Wills singled, went to second on a sacrifice and then scampered home on a single by Tommy Davis. Wally Moon homered in the second, but Johnny Callison then squared it for the Phils with a two-run homer in the third inning off winner Don Drysdale.

The Cardinals, blanked on two hits for seven innings, scored the tying run in the eighth off Spahn on Hal Smith's triple and a pinch single by Bob Nieman. Spencer's shot then put it away, leaving Spahnie, who allowed six hits, still a dozen victories shy of 300. Lindy McDaniel pitched three hitless innings and gained the decision in relief of Ernie Broglio, who gave up four hits, one Ed Mathews' fourth-inning home run.

Cincinnati collected 14 hits off loser Glen Hobbie and three relievers with Post's three-run homer breaking a 1-1 tie in the third. Jim O'Toole was the winner with a four-hitter.

TAM EDGES OUT CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The Tamalpais High baseball nine edged out Washington High 6-5 Monday in a game played in San Francisco.

Bill Daniels went the route for the winners, giving up but four hits. His teammates collected eight. Dave Perlis belted a triple and single, and Steve Long and Russ Adams each collected a double and a single.

The line score:

Tamalpais	002	003	1—6	8	3
Washington	201	020	0—5	4	3

PREP SPORTS ROUNDUP

Drake's Champs Roll Along; S.R. Ace Twirls One-Hitter

By JIM GILMARTIN

Drake High's Pirates looked like the champions they are yesterday by blasting out an 8-2 victory over El Cerrito in a practice game on a busy Marin sports schedule.

Fresh off their championship triumph in the Marin Athletic League's tournament last weekend, the Pirates combined steady pitching, good defense and timely hitting as they prepared to open the league's round-robin schedule next week.

Big blows came from the bats of starting pitcher Nino Geminiani with a two-run triple, shortstop Jerry Ard's two-run double, Vince Pallavicini's two hits and two runs batted in and Mike Bresnan's three safeties.

Geminiani pitched four hitless inning and Pat Windrick and Stan Chapman finished up on the mound. Windrick gave up one hit in one inning of work and Chapman gave up two hits in two frames.

BECKER'S ONE-HITTER

Elsewhere on the baseball front, San Rafael's Ken Becker pitched a fine one-hitter as the Bulldogs shut out Washington High 9-0.

Becker struck out six and walked two in his masterpiece, showing he'll be tough to beat in league play.

Becker aided his own cause with a double following a similar two-bagger by Tim Kerrigan in a big third inning.

NOVATO SHADED

Novato's Hornets suffered a tough 5-4 loss to Petaluma in eight innings.

Novato's Lu Haas clouted a home run and had three runs batted in to his credit, but Petaluma rallied for two runs in the bottom of the eighth to grab the win. Sam Young pitched the whole game for Novato, striking out seven and walking two. Novato, however, committed four errors.

SWIMMING SCENE

On the swimming scene, Tamalpais lost a narrow 50-45 count to the outstanding Las Lomas High Team, Drake nipped Harry Ells 48-47 in a thriller and Redwood downed Montgomery 53-40.

Las Lomas broke five pool records at Tam, but the Indians salvaged some glory with Rick Snow's victory in the 400 freestyle in 4:52.9 and Tam's sweep of both relay races. It was only Tam's second loss of the season.

DRAKE WINS

Drake's narrow tank victory was decided on the final event of the meet when Bob Pringle, Pat Meherin, Denny Smith and Jim Dawson stroked to victory in the freestyle relay.

Drake's other winners were Jim Zell in the 100 back, 1:09.8; Jim Dawson, 100 free, 58.7; Dennis Smith, 200 free, 2:09.8; and Martin Overstreet in diving.

Drake won the B division, 72-13, with Terry Poletti winning the backstroke and individual medley, Bill Kelsey copping the 50 and 100 free races, John Mulder taking the 50 butterfly in the school record time of 29.6 and John Detweiler winning the 100 breaststroke.

CHAMBERS STARS

Redwood's classy mermen were paced by double winner Dick Chambers along with Ken Frost, Lorin Vogel and John Osborne. Chambers won the 400 in 4:30.3 and the 200 in 2:08.2 Frost clipped off a 1:06.5 clocking in the 100 breast, Vogel took the 100 back in 1:10.6 and Osborne was winner in the individual medley.

Montgomery eked out a 46-38 Class B victory. Redwood had five first, including two by Chris Coombs in the 100 free and 100 individual medley and one each by Don Keller, Larry Herst and Rom Kalder.

Tennis and golf competition opened in the Marin League, with Novato's linksters and San Rafael's and Tam's netters getting impressive starts.

On the Indian Valley links in Novato, the host school defeated Tam five matches to one. Best card of the nine-hole competition was by Novato's Bob McBride, a 39. Fred O'Bannon and Robbie Shultz each scored 40, Barry Hachmyer had a 43 and Al Walters a 47 for the victors. Tam's lone victory, with a card of 40, was scored by Tim Dreyfus.

STOCKTON ABSENT

San Rafael's tennis team enjoyed a 4-1 victory over Redwood, even without the services of ace singles man Steve Stockton, sidelined with a foot injury.

Results of the matches:

Harvey Klyce (S.R.) d. Sam Mercer (R), 6-1, 6-2; Bill Clarke (S.R.) d. Pete Ragan (R), 6-0, 6-0; Greg Parkerson (S.R.) d. Hillard Witt (R), 8-6, 6-3; Charles Cauldwell-Chris Lewis (R) d. Harry Miller-Mike Calder (SR), 8-6, 6-2 (forfeit); Ron Klyce-Warren DeGraff (S.R.) d. Ned Griffith-Dave Lindsey (R), 6-4, 6-2.

Tam's racqueteers had a breeze in a 5-0 win over Novato with Dennis Langhoff, Jim Christian and Mike Zifcak winning singles and doubles teams Bill Turney-Barney Hope and Stoye-Dewees downing Novato's tandems.

Hickey Happy With Schedule

"The tough part of our traveling will be over early," observed Hickey.

"After our seventh league game with the Steelers at Pittsburgh Oct. 29, we'll be home for the rest of the season except for an overnight trip to Los Angeles and a three-day journey to Baltimore."

The 49ers will be visting Pittsburgh this year for the first time since 1954 and also play the Washington Redskins in a league game for the first time since 1955.

The 49ers' schedule of league games:

Tiger Smith Defeats Tombstone Smith

SANTA CRUZ (AP)—Charlie "Tiger" Smith out-pointed former California welterweight champion Charlie "Tombstone" Smith last night and immediately announced he wants a crack at present title holder Lyle Mackin.

The 150-pound Tiger of San Francisco won a 7-3 referee's decision over Tombstone, 147 of Los Angeles.

There were no knockdowns.

Tam Track Squad Defeats Redwood; Bulldogs Triumph

Tamalpais High School's track and field team, still smarting from the jolting upset by Novato two weeks ago, vented some steam yesterday by overpowering Redwood's Giants in a Marin Athletic League dual meet.

Tam won all three divisions, 68-45 in varsity, 77½-30½ in Class B and 48-27 in Class C.

Leading the victory in varsity were Jim Mitchelle and Lonnie Carter, each capturing two firsts. Mitchelle won the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.5 seconds and the broad jump at 20 feet, 1½ inch. Carter won both sprints, 10.3 in the 100 and 23.5 in the 20.

Varsity first places—120 H. H., Mitchelle (T), 16.5; 880, Keller (R), 2:10.3; 100, Carter (T), 10.3; 440, Lundall (T), 55.2; 180 L. Pirates Boss Murtaugh Feels Almost 'Stand Pat' Club Will Win Again

HANLEY

CANDLESTICK PARK — Most managers in the National League will tell you that "no club can stand pat and be a winner in this league."

Danny Murtaugh of the world champion Pirates doesn't look at it precisely that way even though the champs did make a winter addition in southpaw reliever Bobby Shantz.

"We were good enough to win last year," said Murtaugh, "and we're good enough to make a run for it again this season."

The black-bearded, tobacco-chewing leader of the Buccos concedes that it will be tougher this season than in 1960 "because it looks like you could throw a blanket over my own club, the Dodgers, Braves, Giants and Cardinals — they're bunched that close."

Murtaugh said he wasn't being polite in rating the Giants among the top five just because his Pirates were Candlestick Park guests in the current opening series.

"I've known Al Dark for a long time," said Murtaugh. "Fourteen years ago we were the keystone combination for the old Milwaukee Brewers in the American Association. I played second. Al was short. He was a leader right from his first year in baseball in 1947.

"I KNOW he isn't going to let an old friendship stop him from beating me and I'm sure he knows we'll beat him every time we can."

Murtaugh and all of his Pirates, with the possible exception of San Carlos' Dick Stuart, speak softly now and with the calm confidence and assurance that goes with being a champion. There's no reason for them to put on any false front. Even Stuart, no shrinking violet, speaks softer nowadays.

Last season they were the "never say die" Pirates who gave Pittsburgh its first title in 33 years. This year they're the champs who definitely convey the feeling they are going to stay champs.

WHEN IT was pointed out to Dick Groat and Don Hoak that the law of averages was against the Pirates winning 23 games again this year in their last time at bat, the infield leaders merely smiled.

Pittsburgh never was off the pace by more than two games at any time last year. The Pirates lost two of their first three as the seasoned opened. After six games they were an even 3-3. Then they began to move, winning nine in a row from April 20 to May 1 when they led by two games.

It looked like they might fold during the period May 2-9 when they dropped six of seven games, falling into second place 1½ games behind the Giants. But it was Bill Rigney's men who folded not Murtaugh's men.

FROM MAY 30 on, with the exception of one day, the Pirates led the league and seldom were in any serious trouble. Milwaukee made a run at them in July, ousting them from first place but Bob Friend pitched them right back into the lead the next day.

Pittsburgh led Milwaukee by only two games on August 1 but by August 7 had lengthened it to 5½. Then the Cardinals made their run at the pennant bound Bucs, moving to within three games tof the pace setters on August 12. The Pirates again met the challenge and by August 16 were 7½ games ahead of both the Cardinals and Braves.

And thereafter their lead never was less than five games despite the loss of Groat on September 6 with a broken wrist. Dick Schofield took over the MVP's spot at short and he didn't make everyone forget about Groat but he sure didn't make them miss him.

Celts Called Greatest Team In History

BOSTON (AP) — The old pro Boston Celtics — schoolboy happy and professionally proud —today reign from the high position they have held for three years, champions of the National Basketball Assn.

"Fantastic, fabulous," Coach Red Auerbach beamed at his champions after their 121-112 victory over St. Louis last night eliminated the gallant Hawks four games to one in the best of seven final playoff.

"We're the greatest," Auerbach shouted into the confusion of the steaming, crowded dressing room. "The 1961 Boston Celtics are the greatest ever. There never was anyone like us."

As usual, it was a team effort. But as usual, it was keyed by the great Bill Russell and the incomparable Bob Cousy.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 post man and the league's most valuable player, scored 30 points —22 of them in the first half as Boston struggled to a 62-61 intermission lead—and hauled down 38 rebounds.

MR. BASKETBALL

Cousy, the veteran backcourt man who wears the label "Mr. Basketball," scored 18 points, 13 of them in Boston's third-quarter burst that broke open the game, and contributed 12 assists.

The Cooz, who played 42 minutes on the dead run in Boston's lung-straining fast break, collapsed after the game and took no part in the victory celebration. "Russell was fantastic," St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour said. "He kept them alive in that first half. He gave them life. Thirty-eight rebounds. And then that third quarter. That did it."

The third-quarter spurt, in which Boston outscored St. Louis 37-23, gave the Celtics a 15-point lead and apparently put it out of reach. But the Hawks came clawing back.

Moved by the scoring prowess of Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit, who had 26 and 24 points respectively, St. Louis closed to within five points before Cousy, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and Sam Jones finished the job.

Bakery Owner Scores Ace

Mrs. Ted Weitzel, co-owner of the Lady Baltimore Bakeries in Marin County, yesterday shot a hole-in-one at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

The club's assistant pro Ted Trammel said Mrs. Weitzel was so excited, she not only couldn't speak, but forgot to pay her caddy. She had a right to be excited. Not only is she now in a select "club" of golfers, but she won $150 worth of merchandise for her single five iron stroke on the 11th hole. The merchandise award is redeemable in the Meadow Club's pro shop, said Trammell.

Mrs. Weitzel is a resident of 14 Canyon Road, Fairfax. The last hole-in-one was made last month at the club's fifth hole by Marin road contractor Lee Ceccotti of 5750 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Candlestick Climb Fatal To L.A. Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Donald Durbin, 45, Los Angeles, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack yesterday after complaining of chest pains on the pedestrian ramp at Candlestick Park.

It was the eighth fatal heart attack at the park since the San Francisco Giants began playing there last year.

Player Threatens Palmer's Record

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Gary Player, a young South African who amazed the golfing world by winning the Masters at Augusta, Ga., Monday, is riding a financial crest which may threaten Arnold Palmer's existing record.

Player's $20,000 for winning the Masters brings his official earnings this year to $44,185.33. This is more than Player made on the rugged tournament trail for the combined years 1957-60.

However, Palmer, of Ligonier, Pa., is still threatening. His tie for second in the Masters brought his total earnings up to $31,725.00.

Official figures released by the Professional Golfers Assn. headquarters showed Player has competed in 13 tournaments, won three and placed in the upper five brackets (including his three wins) eight times.

New Vikings To Start In NFL's West Division

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New Minnesota Vikings will start play in the National Football League as a member of the Western Conference and the Dallas Cowboys will shift to the Eastern Division, commissioner Pete Rozelle announced today.

In releasing the expanded schedule for 1961, Rozelle announced that each club in the league will play a home-and-home series with each of the six other teams in its division, plus two games against teams from the opposite division.

Each team will play a 14-game schedule starting Sept. 17, making a total of 98 games. This will mean one additional home game and another on the road for each club.

FEARED 'SWING' TEAMS

With the addition of the Vikings as the 14th club in the N. F. L., it was feared at last December's league meeting that both Minnesota and Dallas would have to compete as "swing" teams in 1961, that is, they would have to play every other club in the league once.

Both the Vikings and the Cowboys preferred to be assigned to a conference and play home-and-home series, just as the other clubs do.

The more desirable home-and-home arrangement was made possible because of the increased availability of ball parks early in the season, particularly in New York, Washington and Dallas.

The baseball New York Yankees for the first time permitted the New York Football Giants to schedule a game in Yankee Stadium prior to World Series time. It also was learned that the stadium under construction in Washington will be completed by Oct. 1, a few weeks earlier than had been expected.

EARLIEST IN HISTORY

As a result, the Giants will open their home schedule at the earliest date in their history, meeting the St. Louis Cardinals Sept. 17.

That same Sunday the San Francisco Forty-Niners will be at home against the Washington Redskins; the champion Philadelphia Eagles will be at home against the Cleveland Browns; the Cowboys will be host to the Pittsburgh Steelers; the Western Division champion Green Bay Packers will entertain the Detroit Lions; the Vikings will begin their schedule at home against the Chicago Bears, and the Baltimore Colts will be host to the Los Angeles Rams.

Casey Sees L.A. Opener As A Fan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For the first time in more than two decades, Casey Stengel watched the opening of a baseball season as a fan instead of a manager.

The transition didn't seem to bother him, particularly when he learned the New York Yankees got shut out 6-0 in their opener by the Minnesota Twins.

"You never miss those kind," said Casey.

284,732 Attended League Openers

Major league baseball's nine-game, two-day opening drew 284,732 fans with the top crowd, 50,665, sitting in on last night's game between the Philadelphia Phillies and Dodgers at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Bolstered by the Los Angeles throng, the National League's four openers attracted 154,128. The American League, after drawing 26,725 at Monday's presidential opener in Washington, added 103,879 in four games yesterday despite poor weather for a total of 129,604.

Last year, when the majors also counted nine-games on their opening schedules, the crowds totaled 370,435.

8 Kentucky Derby Winners Will Go At Golden Gate

ALBANY (UPI)—Nine 3-year-olds—including eight Kentucky Derby hopefuls—are scheduled to go postward Saturday at Golden Gate Fields in the 46th running of the California Derby.

The mile and an eighth classic is expected to have a gross value of $61,000, with $38,000 to the victor.

Almost certain favorite is the Alberta entry of Flutterby and Big Smoky, especially since Pappa's All will not run in the Derby.

Pappa's All came out of a derby trial a week ago Saturday with a sprained ligament in his left foreleg. His condition is "much improved," but trainer Buddy Leavitt says he will not be up to Saturday's exacting test.

Desert Squirrel Likes To Sleep

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It would be nice if humans could be like the Mojave ground squirrel and just go to sleep when there is no more food to eat.

Dr. Jack Hudson, UCLA zoologist, says that the little dessert squirrel sleeps lots of the time—and for eight months at a stretch. Apparently he's without food much of the time.

"The relatively mild winters of this ground squirrel's Southern California desert habitat pose no temperature problem," said Hudson. "But his food and water, which he obtains by eating insects and succulent plants, are adequate only in spring and early summer."

He sleeps the rest of the time.

Crab Salad, Butter Snaps Are To Be Offered At Antique Show

Crab Salad and Butter Snaps will be among the special delicacies featured at the ninth annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale opening April 20 at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

CRAB SALAD

Method:

Pick 1½ pounds fresh crab meat in big pieces, reserving claw meat for garnishing. Put the mounded crab meat on a bed of fresh lettuce and top with claw meat. Rice 6 hard-cooked eggs and sprinkle them and chopped chives around the crab. Border the plate with slices of avocado and large black olives.

Serve well chilled with a dressing made of 1 cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup tarragon French dressing, ½ cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, 1 teaspoon each horseradish and Worcestershire sauce, salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste. As a variation chopped pickle relish and chopped pimento may be added to the dressing.

BUTTER SNAPS

Mrs. Isabel Jensen of Mill Valley will make these for the Antiques Show and Sale for their snack bar and dining room. She reports, "When I was a child in England, 50 years ago, we children were always excited when a visiting 'fair' or carnival came to our town because of the wild animals and 'merry-go-rounds,' but best of all were the Buttersnaps we bought by the bag, from the vendors. We ate them like children today eat popcorn—my father used to tell us that when he was a small boy and was taken to these 'fairs' he also bought these same cookies."

¾ c molasses (mild)
2 level dessert spoons butter
1 c brown sugar
1 c sifted flour
2 level tsp. ginger

Heat butter and molasses in saucepan just enough to melt the butter—cool. Mix together: flour, sugar, ginger, and stir into butter and molasses. Beat well. Batter will be sticky. Drop from tips of spoon on lightly greased inverted pan 3 inches apart. Bake only 6 or 8 at a time for easier handling. Bake at 300 for 10 or 15 minutes. After baking cool just enough to roll over wooden spoon handle; shape like cornucopia. As they cool they crisp.

Note: If cookies become too brittle to remove from ccokie sheet or to roll, return to oven for 30 seconds to soften. To avoid this it is advisable to bake 6 to 8 at a time.

Quick Breads Are Handiest Edibles

Call them tea breads or quick loaves, by either name they're one of the handiest edibles a cook can have around the house.

Sliced thin and buttered, or made into cream-cheese sandwiches, they're perfect for morning coffees or afternoon teas. They're fine to pack into lunch boxes and youngsters usually welcome them as an after-school snack.

These quick loaves are leavened with baking powder or baking soda, or a combination of the two. Their base may be flour or flour plus cereal. We prefer brown sugar to white in many of these breads and usually they benefit from the addition of nuts and fruit, or both. When the breads are made with white sugar, you'll find grated orange rind an excellent flavoring.

A crack in the top is considered characteristic of quick loaves, and nothing to worry about. Nevertheless, some cooks cherish the idea of the smooth top! If you're one of these, you'll be interested in the following recipe because it produces a tea bread with nary a crack.

In this rule, flour and rolled oats are used for the batter's base, dark brown sugar for the sweetening, buttermilk for the leavening. An egg goes in but no shortening is called for. A reasonable portion of nuts and a generous number of raisins help give excellent flavor.

When the loaf comes out of the oven, cool it thoroughly on a wire rack. Then wrap it tightly in transparent plastic film and store it in a tightly-covered tin box for 24 hours before slicing. This way it will cut beautifully thin; the texture will be moist and the flavors blended. After that, you may wish to store the loaf, in its plastic film wrap, in the refrigerator. We do this when we plan to have the loaf on hand for about a week. When the loaf is down to its very last slices, try toasting them.

RAISIN NUT QUICK BREAD

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 egg
½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water, drained and dried)
½ cup coarsely broken walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; add rolled oats. Beat egg slightly; gradually beat in brown sugar; continue beating until thick and smooth; add buttermilk and beat to combine. Add four-oats mixture, raisins and nuts. Stir just until all dry ingredients are moistened. (Mixture will be thinner than the usual quick bread). Turn into greased loaf pan (8 by 4 by 2½ inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; cool. Store, tightly covered, for 24 hours before slicing.

All Plastic Jugs, 4 Gallon Chests Are Picnic Boon

NEW YORK (UPI)—New all-plastic jugs and portable chests will lighten the load for summer picnickers.

Both inner shell and outer liner of the jugs and chests are plastic, providing insulation to keep food and beverages hot or cold for at least 12 hours.

A half-gallon jug weighs only 8 ounces, features a pour spout cap and a swing-handle. A one gallon size comes with plastic faucet and turn-in handle. Other models include a plain cap unit and a shoulder spout design.

A 4½-gallon capacity chest, which doubles as a shopping basket for frozen foods, weighs only one pound. Other chests have 9½ and 6½-gallon capacity. Aluminum picnic chests also are available with plastic liners that increase insulation and durability.

New Recipe Of Asparagus Sandwiches

A recipe to set the hostess' mind at ease and please discriminating guests, California's Asparagus Souffle Sandwiches are tempting persuaders for a luncheon affair. Serve these delicious open-face sandwiches with a spiced fruit compote and a choice of perfectly brewed coffee, or other beverage, as desired.

ASPARAGUS SOUFFLE SANDWICHES
(Makes 6 servings)

2 two-pound bunches fresh asparagus
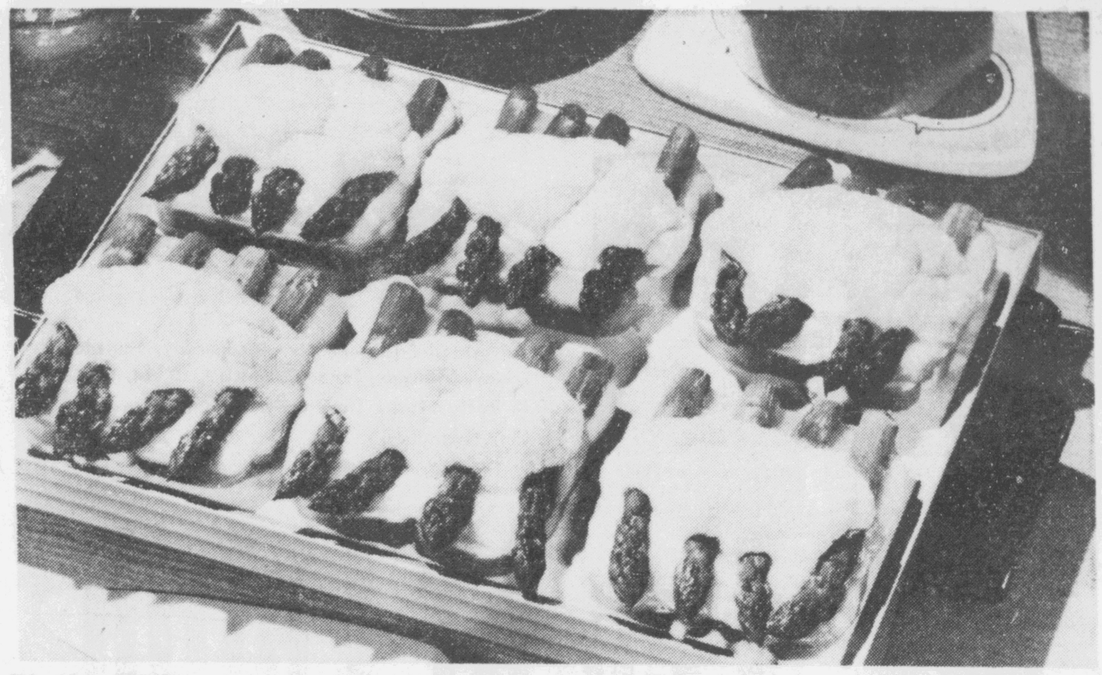
6 slices cheese
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspon salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of Worcestershire sauce

Wash and trim asparagus to even lengths. Cook, covered, in 1 inch boiling, salted water for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lower parts of stalks are barely tender when tested with a fork. Drain thoroughly. Place a slice of cheese on the untoasted side of the bread. Beat the egg yolks; add the mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Continued to beat until thick. Beat the egg whites and salt until firm peaks form. Fold the egg whites into the egg yolk mixture. Arrange 4 to 5 spears of asparagus on top of the cheese. Spoon the mixture evenly on tops of the asparagus and bake on a cookie sheet in a 350 degree F. oven about 15 minutes. Serve immediately.



IN ALL THEIR springtime glory, its difficult to surpass tender spears of fresh California asparagus in flavor and appetite appeal. One tempting recipe for luncheons are Asparague Souffle Sandwiches.

Trelease-Gaspar Vows Traded At Christ Episcopal, Sausalito

On Saturday, at 4:30 in the afternoon, Mariette Gaspar became the bride of Rev. Murray L. Trelease at Christ Church, Episcopal, Sausalito.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Murray's father, Dr. Richard M. Trelease, a retired Episcopal minister of Kansas City, and Dr. John C. Leffler, Dean of Seattle's Cathedral. The lovely little church was decorated with spring flowers, white lilac, stock and snapdragon.

Mariette, a daughter of Mrs. Louis Gaspar and the late Dr. Gaspar of Honolulu, was given in marriage by her brother, Louis, of San Francisco. Her gown was of white eyelet embroidery, made with long, simple lines. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

Jill Gaspar was maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were another sister, Margaret, and Jennifer and Alice Merrill of Sausalito. All the attendants wore identical dresses of yellow and white, the bodice fitted and the skirt, full. They carried sprays of mixed, yellow spring flowers.

Charles H. Merrill Jr. of Sausalito was best man and the ushers were Bruce Gunn of Sausalito and James Roush of Bellevue, Wash.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Gaspar, came from her temporary residence in Switzerland to attend her daughter's wedding. She wore a blue print frock, white flowered hat and white camellias. Mrs. Trelease wore a beige jacket ensemble and her flowers were orchids.

At a reception for 200 at the Sausalito Woman's Club, potted trees were used throughout for decoration. Japanese maple and fruit bearing plum were predominant. The refreshment tables were embellished with orchids flown from the gardens of the Gaspar residence in Honolulu. The Vanda variety surrounded the punch bowl, cymbidiums were used on the tea table and the multi-tiered wedding cake was circled with white catalayas.

Leaving by car for her wedding trip, the bride wore a two-piece white wool with a yellow and white plaid coat. The couple will live at Fort Yukon, Alaska, where the Rev. Trelease is Missioner for the Yukon Valley. He was graduated from Kansas University and the Church Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley. His brother is Rev. Richard M. Trelease of Wilmington, Dela.

Mariette attended the Punahou School in Honolulu, Endicott Junior College and the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

The engagement of the couple was announced in January. During the week before the wedding, the Charles Merrills gave a dinner party honoring the couple and the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding was given by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Wiper at their Sausalito residence.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD TO HOLD ANNUAL HOUSE TOUR ON MAY 11

Members of St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere discussed plans for their 11th annual house tour this afternoon at a tea at the home of Mrs. George Stephens in Keil Cove.

Mrs. Edward M. Shelton, general chairman for the affair which will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 11, described the homes which will be included in this year's tour.

They are: "Landfall," the charming Belvedere Island home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Manning. Built in 1898, the home affords a charming view of the harbor through trees and an interesting terraced garden. The house for many years was owned by Miss Marian Huntington of the railroad clan.

An unusual combination of Georgian and contemporary, the Wallace E. Scott home will be shown. This home is on the Lagoon and has a generous deck which is the starting point for lagoon races.

Also on the Lagoon is the Robert Rodden house. This is contemporary in style with panelled walls and mahogany ceilings.

Perched like an eagle's nest on Belvedere's west cliff is the William Steen house which will also be shown. A bachelor, Steen finds the house perfect for a single person or couple. A large deck is generously planted with shrubs, trees and flowers and the house commands a sweeping view of San Francisco and Sausalito.

The last house is the Peter Mantegani home on Corinthian Island. Two years in the planning, the house includes tile imported from Italy for the floors and bathrooms, black marble fireplace and dark wood walls and floors. The house is secured to a 60 degree slope with cement piers. Heavy timbers support its two-tory weight.

Good Housekeeping Guarantees*
New Stepped-Up Detergent
for Automatic Dishwashers

America's leading chemical laboratory for automatic dishwasher products has made a remarkable discovery. Here, scientists have found a combination of two costly chemicals that work together as "perfect partners" to end spotting and filming of glasses.

FINISH, the only dishwasher detergent containing this new combination of chemicals, was submitted to Good Housekeeping. It was checked every which way, from chemical analysis to performance under the combat conditions of Good Housekeeping Institute's home service center. Thus, Good Housekeeping satisfied itself that stepped-up FINISH is a quality product living up to its claims and proudly granted it the Good Housekeeping Seal.

This same stepped-up FINISH is now available in stores everywhere. There is no increase in price. Try it. You'll agree, you've never seen glasses so clean before.

Variety Of Styles Are Shown At 'Informally Yours' Show

The "Longitude and Latitude" of fashion was evident in the scope and variety of styles shown at the recent Informally Yours fashion-luncheon when the Newcomers Club was welcomed as beneficiary group at Bob's of Marin.

Hostesses of the day were the Newcomers of Welcome Wagon Inc., a social group whose purpose is to acquaint newcomers to the county with one another and to become integrated into the community life of their new locale.

Mrs. William LaValley was chairman of the benefit luncheon which featured budget beauties of fine fashion correctly accessorized by Sara Campbell for country living, all from a San Rafael women's apparel shop.

A figure-flattering black eyelet sheath with scoop neckline, cap sleeves and black velvet bow-back belt on fashionable Mrs. Franklin De Foe, Welcome Wagon's own model.

The applause-provoking blue and white lace over taffeta cocktail dress with satin cummerbund, fitted bodice, belle skirt and the femininity of Mrs. George Keywan, Newcomer member, who modeled the gown.

Petite Mrs. John Hackney Jr., Mannequin League model, slim as a shaft of sunlight promenading in a gold sailcloth cabin pantaloon coordinate with overblouse and a jaunty straw hat.

Regal Corky Jones, also of Mannequin League, in a dress and jacket of purse silk in a vibrant Dior blue, the detail of the gown an intricatae frontal drape.

Cute Mrs. George Coburn, League member, parading grey and white seersucker culottes (so wonderful for Marin) with matching tailored sleeveless blouse trimmed in hot pink.

Sunny Hills will benefit from the Wednesday, April 19, luncheon fashion show when the Madera Guild sponsors the event at Bob's of Marin.

Reservations for the Informally Yours luncheon on April 19 may be made with Bob's of Marin.

Novato Guild Of Museum Plans Events

The Novato Guild of the Junior Museum of Marin met Friday to formulate plans for fund-raising and volunteer service, with Mrs. George A. Metcalfe of Kentfield, chairman of the 26 Marin County guilds, and Mrs. Kurt Rupke, San Anselmo, second vice president of the board of trustees of the museum.

Mrs. Ray Monson will represent the Novato group at the presidents' council luncheon Wednesday, April 12, at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. The first meeting of the Novato guild was held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Diefendorf, Novato.

Seventeen active members have formed the Novato guild with an additional number signed for inactive membership. Active members are: Mesdames Homer H. Odom, Earl Marshall, John K. McBeath, Allen Johnson, Donald Hoy, James Robinson, Ray Monson, Lyle Johnson, John Olsen, Hiram Dustman, Harry V. Reynolds, Gilbert Guerin, J. E. Diefendorf, Paul Herriott, Beth Nelson, W. F. Groves and M. H. Crabtree.

The local guild will have a yearly fund-raising project and assist in one county-wide project. One day each month members will take turns staffing the museum in San Rafael.

The guilds throughout the county were launched at a tea recently held at the Roger Kent estate in Kent Woodlands. There will be 25 active members in each guild and as many inactive as desired. The museum serves about 45,000 young people and adults each year.

Rabbi To Review Book At Luncheon

Rabbi Morton Hoffman will review "The Last of the Just," a book by Andre Schwarz-Bart, at tomorrow's luncheon meeting of the Congregation Rodef Sholom Women's Auxiliary at Sabella's on Highway 101.

A business meeting will precede the review.

A small jar of mixed fruit peels in the house? Use the peels, along with nutmeats, in a quick bread.

Nursery School Has Open House

The San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School held its annual Open House on Thursday morning. On hand to greet the guests were the President, Mrs. Richard Kahn; the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. R. P. Brown, and other nursery school mothers.

The school director is Mrs. Ernest Egenberger, who has guided the school program for 10 years. Mrs. M. A. McConnell is the assistant director. The nursery school is under the auspices of the San Rafael High School District.

Guests viewed all facilities and handicraft available to the children and were delighted by the displays of the children's endeavors. Visiting pre-schoolers enjoyed the use of the sundry equipment and crafts.

Refreshments were served to all Open House guests.

Officers' Wives To Hear Editor

Party editor for House Beautiful magazine, Mrs. Robert Stanton, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's luncheon sponsored by the Hamilton Officers' Wives Club of the Sixth Reserve Region.

There will be a "table decoration" show by Mrs. Stanton who has done hundreds of table settings for color photography and has been responsible for several of House Beautiful's covers.

The sherry hour starts at 1 p.m. and the luncheon at 1:30 p.m.

District P-TA Studies TV, Movie Effects On Morals Of Children

Most of the 24,857 P-TA members in the Fourteenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, are concerned over the vast amount of unsuitable entertainment offered their children via local television channels and movie screens. This subject was a recurring theme throughout the annual reports presented by P-TA Council presidents and out-of-council units of Marin and Sonoma counties at the annual meeting held at Villa Chanticleer in Healdsburg, celebrating 25 years of operation for Fourteenth District.

The 114 units in the district are trying to solve the problem by making information available to parents concerning motion picture and TV programs being presented in their area. One of the district projects planned for the coming year by the motion picture and television chairman, Mrs. W. E. Vernon of San Rafael, is the consolidation of local efforts on a district-wide basis.

Program for the anniversary meeting was titled "Facing Forward—Help Wanted." It was a panel discussion of the kinds of help available to emotionally disturbed children and their families. The panel included Dr. John Boyle, director of Health Services for Sonoma County Schools, as moderator, and Jack Danielson of Marin County, school guidance consultant; Ray Patrick, social service worker, and William Mulligan, probation officer, both of Sonoma County. The panel members later answered questions from the audience

Mrs. Malcolm Finley of San Rafael, president of Fourteenth District, conducted the business meeting, a main feature of which was a special exhibit on the effect of audio-visual aids on assimilation and retention of knowledge, organized by John King, principal of Lucas Valley School, and audio-visual chairman for Fourteenth District, and presented by Clarence Spencer, director of Audio-Visual Materials for the County of Marin. The exhibit illustrated the fact that various studies which have been made on the subject indicate a high correlation between audio-visual aids and learning.

Elected to serve two-year terms as district officers were Mrs. Edmond Gross of Mill Valley, director of education; Mrs. Leo Buchignani of Healdsburg, director of health; Mrs. John Coulter of Novato, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Dunn of San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. Gregori of San Rafael, treasurer; Mrs. Tom Hooper of Petaluma, historian, and Mrs. Sidney Diehl of San Rafael, parliamentarian. Installation followed.

During luncheon, the delegates and guests were serenaded by the combined bands of the Fitch Mountain and Healdsburg elementary schools, under the leadership of George Izzett, director of instrumental music for the two schools.

In closing, Mrs. Finley announced that an Honorary Life Membership in California Congress of Parents and Teachers had been conferred by Fourteenth District on Vera Schultz, former member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, at a recent testimonial dinner in her honor. The distinction was bestowed in consideration of her outstanding service to children and youth in her community.

Women's Group Of Dental Assn. Meets April 17

The seventh annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the California Dental Association will be held on Monday, April 17, in the Conquistador Room of the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.

Election and installation of officers will be the order of the day. The delegates from this area will be Mrs. Frank Rossman, president of the Marin County auxiliary this past year, and Mrs. James Rideout, who has served as president-elect to the Marin group and as recording secretary at the state level. Mrs. Rossman will report the activities of the Marin County auxiliary for the past year.

Following the meeting will be the annual luncheon fashion show, held at noon in the Peacock Court of the Mark Hopkins Hotel. Jet Holiday, the fashion show theme, will be presented by Ruth Redell, fashion coordinator and commentator. Models have been selected from the seven counties surrounding the Bay Area, and Marin County will be represented by Mrs. Ted Schuster and Mrs. Bernie Holman.

The Marin County auxiliary has been busy presenting puppet shows to Marin schools as a part of its dental health education program, and the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, has been selected as the setting for its May luncheon and installation of officers meeting.

Religious Topic For Women's Fellowship

"The World at Worship" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Frederick King of Berkeley at a recent meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon.

Mrs. King gave thumbnail sketches of the principal religions throughout the world, including Hinduism, Buddhism, Shintoism, Judaism, Mohammedanism and Christianity.

Her talk was illustrated with colored slides of the areas where these religious are practiced, which Mrs. King had taken on a trip around the world. On her itinerary were Japan, Hong-kong, Singapore, Bangkok, Angkor Wat, the Islands of Penang and Ceylon; India, Egypt, Greece, Lebanon and the Holy Land.

The luncheon meeting was held at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Herbert Spilman, program chairman for the group. Luncheon was served in the garden. Devotionals were given by Mrs. Benton S. Gaskell.

First Son For Bakers

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rifkind (Joyce Baker) of San Rafael are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, born at Marin General Hospital on April 1. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Baker of Sleepy Hollow and Edward Rifkind of San Francisco.

Hartzell P-TA Meet On Recreation Program

Oliver Hartzell Parent-Teachers Assn. will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m.

A representative from San Rafael's Recreation and Parks Department will show slides of last year's activities. He will also give a resume of the activities planned for this summer, particularly in the Hartzell and Terra Linda High School area. He will also explain the planned operation of the new high school swimming pool.

The new officers for the coming year will also be elected and installed during this meeting.

Day Camp Program Listed For Marin Camp Fire Girls

"Camping is Fun" is the statement read recently in Camp Fire Girl homes all over the county. The Camp Bulletin was sent to all members with information on the Day Camp Program in the county and the resident Camp Kilowana on the northern slopes of Mt. St. Helena in Napa County.

This is the 16th camp season at Kilowana and during the past years thousands of girls have enjoyed and formed happy memories of their good times at camp — new friendships, cookouts, treasure hunts and Council Fires.

The Day Camp schedule for Blue Birds is: Phoenix Lake, Ross, June 26-29, July 3, 5, 6, 7; Stafford Dam, Novato, July 10-13, 17-20; Paradise Park, Tiburon, July 17-20, 24-27. These are all eight-day sessions and run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

The day camps are planned and carried out by a committee of volunteer women, under chairman Mrs. Vincent Yoder. These women, mothers and group leaders, are trained and supervised by the Day Camp Coordinator. There will be a trained adult counselor for each group of 6 to 8 girls and a Program Aide (a high school girl) to assist each counselor.

A Camp Fire Girls Overnite at Camp Taylor is planned for Aug. 8 at 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. the next day.

The schedule for Camp Kilowana is: One week sessions 1, 2, 3 and 4, July 7-14, July 14-21, July 21-28 and July 28- Aug. 4. Session 3A, a two-week session, runs from July 21 to Aug. 4 and Session 5 is a 10-day camping treat from Aug. 4-14.

Camp Kilowana will be staffed by Director Laura Warren of the Camp Fire Girls professional staff and counselors gleaned from Colleges near and far, people who are going into teaching or youth work when they graduate.

Registrations for both Resident and Day Camps are now being taken and may be made either in person or by mail. The Resident Camp program is open to non-Camp Fire Girls also, at a small additional nonmember fee. For additional information, please call Marin County Camp Fire Girls, 739 A Street, San Rafael.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

To Get Kind Of Schools You Want, Elect Right Trustees

Just a couple of weeks ago in this space, we praised the many fine men and women who were offering their services to the cause of good government by agreeing to run for office.

It is disappointing, therefore, to have to report now that the general public doesn't seem to appreciate their efforts. In fact, the general public has apparently taken a "don't-give-a-darn" attitude about the whole thing.

This year for the first time, every school district in the county holds its trustee elections next Tuesday, except San Rafael which combined its city council elections and school board last Monday.

Has this fact and races in most school districts increased public interest? It has not.

Candidates nights have been sparsely attended. One had nearly as many candidates present as spectators. The appearance of San Rafael council candidates, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and highly publicized and advertised, drew only about 50 persons.

In the face of such voter apathy, it is no wonder the voter turnout in San Rafael was a mere 30 per cent.

A candidate in a Southern Marin school district tells us that in his house-to-house campaigning he has discovered the major question the voters want answered. It has nothing to do with curriculum, cost of school construction, programs for the gifted children. No, the big question is, "Who else is running?"

The San Rafael voters have made a miserable showing of their interest in their schools and city. Voters in the rest of the county, however, still have a few days in which to do some digging, find out more about the candidate, and make a determination as to who are the best to carry out the type of school program they'd like to see.

Most residents of Marin live in three school districts; some in just two, or even one. Every voter should participate. The schools spend more than half of your tax dollar. They should be the kind of schools you want — and are willing to pay for.

The candidates have offered themselves. It's now up to you. Tuesday is election day.

The Joys Of Dining Out

When Mama gets tired of turning out the casseroles and working miracles with the left-overs, its time to try dining out.

Some of Marin's happiest families are those who try a different restaurant each week and share the adventures of new foods and new tastes.

Marin offers a tremendous variety of the foods of the world for a non-metropolitan. Everything from smorgasbord to tacos, with chicken chow mein and veal scallopini thrown in. There are restaurants to please every palate.

By JAMES KELLER

WORK IS NOBLE

"Hard work is necessary if we are to succeed" said lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle at a meeting of 1,000 key scientists in Los Angeles.

Claiming that "we as a nation have had it too good for too long," the retired general, chairman of Space Technology Laboratories, warned, "I'm afraid that we have almost lost our past willingness to work hard and our ability to think clearly."

Modern comforts and labor saving devices can ease one's pilgrimage through life and help promote a fuller and more creative existence.

Or else the "good things of this life" may have a demoralizing effect and set a person in futile pursuit of more and more time to do less and less.

Those who take such a dim view of honest labor usually spend more fuss and fret avoiding work than if they faced up to their responsibilities.

Since God expects each of us to struggle for heaven, we will have little sense of fulfillment if we fail to see the nobility of work.

"If any man will not work, neither let him eat."

(2 Thessalonians 3:10)

Help me to learn, O Master, that only through work can I achieve greatness both here and hereafter.

Here Is An Easy Way To Find Out If You Are A Great Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you a success?

There are many ways to measure success, but the chances are that you've done pretty well in life—at least in the eyes of your neighbors—if:

You have been living at a rate of only $1,000 a year over your income for the last five years, and your credit is still good.

The boss, instead of pushing a buzzer when he wants you, strolls out to your desk to ask advice.

The barber can tell you in complete honesty, "Nope, it isn't getting any thinner on top."

None of your children has been sent to reform school.

All your brothers-in-law have steady jobs.

You can play pool instead of golf and still keep your standing in the community.

Your home has one more bathroom than it does bedrooms—and the garage has a door that opens automatically.

Both the minister and the postman call you by your first name, but the bank president addresses you as "mister" with a note of firm respect.

The family dog is too old to have any more pups, and the family cat is still too young to have kittens.

She trusts you absolutely—but still gets a bit upset if you talk more than 10 minutes to a strange blonde at a party.

A letter arrives from the Internal Revenue Service, and when you fearfully open it you find inside a message congratulating you on the detailed accuracy of your last income tax return.

You are able to take martinis or leave them alone, and you prove it—by letting them alone.

In any given years your church and charitable contributions total more than your medical costs.

THE DOCTOR ENVIES you because he's on a diet—and you can still eat anything you want to.

You don't have to worry about your job at the office. Nobody else wants it.

YOU CAN STILL bend over—knees stiff—and touch the ground 15 times without puffing or bragging, on some days.

Two Candidates For School Bonds

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The April 7 edition of the Independent-Journal carried a story on the appearances of some of the candidates for the Tamalpais Union High School District Board of Trustees before a gathering sponsored by the League of Women Voters in Mill Valley. Your reporter commented that candidates Siemens and Wolfson did not commit themselves on their position regarding the "3 million dollar bond issue."

The undersigned are desirous of correcting any erroneous impression that this remark may have left in the minds of the voters. Both Dr. Siemens and Mr. Wolfson are unequivocally in favor of the passage of the present bond issue. Failure to pass these bonds will not only result in continuing the overcrowded conditions at Redwood but must of necessity impair the quality of education and further burden the inadequate facilities at all three high schools . . .

Step Backward In School History

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wonder whether your readers realize that unless Tamalpais High School District bonds pass on April 18, the district will be unable to offer an adequate college preparatory program.

Double sessions would limit the school day to five periods, one of which, by state law, must be devoted to physical education. The four periods remaining are inadequate to cover the program now required by most colleges including the University of California.

I think that the day when children will have to be sent to private schools in order to qualify for college will be a great step backward in the history of our country.

Don't Encourage Marine Sampling

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a recent visitor in Marin County I would like to commend you on your Marin Magazine and especially an article in the April 1 issue concerning the marine life on the county's shores.

However, as a zoologist and conservationist I would like to point out the fallacy in encouraging hobbyists to take specimens unless they are to be used for a specific reason and not just out of curiosity.

Too many visitors to the beach take specimens home, find that they die shortly and then discard them. It is virtually impossible to keep marine life alive without a circulating fresh sea water environment.

It is much wiser for people interested in sea shore life to observe it there and leave it for the next person. This will insure the future of the sea shore life against extinction in the future and ecological unbalance at the present.

As plentiful as the sea shore life is, it is still subject to man's waste. Let us learn from our past mistakes.

Hospital Staff Was Wonderful

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For 10 months I was a patient in Ross General Hospital. I was in the part named "The Terrace." The reason I emphasize the word Terrace is because this letter is about the people who work in The Terrace.

This is one way that I can try to express my thanks to some wonderful people. This includes the nurses, maids, dietary staff, orderlies, nurses aides and doctors.

Kinder people would be hard to find. The care goes further than just routine treatment. They go out of their way to make a patient feel more like they are home, instead of a hospital.

Ross Hospital has a motto "The Hospitality Hospital" which is quote apropos. Again my most heartfelt thanks to all the wonderful people of Ross General Hospital Terrace. The hospital should be very, very proud of them.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Charles R. Reilley of Point Reyes Station became Marin County fire chief when, after long wrangling, Camillo Mello, chief since September of 1948, was fired by the board of supervisors. This came after Asst. Chief Jimmy Nettro complained Mello had discharged him without board authorization.

A 14-inch dawn redwood tree from China was planted on Angel Island by Dr. Ralph Chaney, paleontology professor of the University of California. He said the island was chosen as an earlier "first port of call" in this country for Chinese immigrants.

20 YEARS AGO

Miss Georgia Wintringham of the San Rafael Tree Committee announced that a letter has been sent to state highway engineers asking a program of replacement of 200 trees cut to clear the route for the new highway through San Rafael.

Closing of all Shoreline Highway traffic to all traffic between Stinson Beach and Muir Beach junction caused bitter protest of residents to the California Highway Commission, which took a dim view of hazards created by overhanging rock menaced by slides.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Zsa Zsa Gabor, the maverick of the TV circuit, was asked if it was the proper thing for a girl to return the ring after she broke an engagement. "Definitely," pronounced Zsa Zsa without hesitation. "She should return the ring immediately, but keep the diamond, of course."

Goody Ace, probably the highest paid script writer in TV (something like $8500 a week), once toiled for peanuts in a network's radio department—and was overpaid at that, because they seldom accepted a line he had written. "If ever an atom bomb falls on this town," he blurted suddenly, "It's me for the 18th floor of that outfit. That's ONE place there's never any radioactivity!"

Goody, who likes horse racing, once named the warm weather months as June, July, August and Aqueduct. Persuaded to bet one day on a hopeless long shot, he told his wife Jane later, "I got a tip this nag would walk in, and I must say he tried to."

Joe E. Lewis ran into an old punch-drunk fighter pal who's struck it rich. He now can afford to wash his ears with Hollandaise sauce.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

It's Easy To Tell When Spring Arrives By Knowing What To Watch

Spring has been confusing mankind for a long time. Womankind has been both confused and confusing in that respect.

On San Rafael's Fourth Street I beheld a uniformed meter maid, wistfully gazing into a display window filled with gorgeous frocks.

(Maybe it was still another sign of Spring that I thought she looked might pretty in her uniform—better, maybe, than in a frock.)

This incident happened a couple of weeks or so back, just after a cold spell had pretty well sold me on the idea that Marin County has a winter.

UP TO THEN I had been sort of romantic about our climate. I tended to insist that yes, we had a rainy season like Manila, but nothing fit to be termed "winter"; not if you'd lived in Minnesota, Montana or Colorado.

My trouble is that I've lived all over, more or less. Instead of giving me a balanced point of view, this has merely mixed me up.

Because I like Marin and have happy recollections of pre-Kaiser Honolulu, I got to thinking Marin was Hawaii. Actually Marin isn't near as much improved as Hawaii. They started there with a level climate and ever since, they have been leveling everything else.

AMONG THE THINGS I hope we don't bulldoze is our climate. This does have something remotely describable as Winter, which leads into Spring.

Winter in Marin has, as a rule, no snow or ice. But there is enough rain and chill to make it fun to stay indoors and drink your martinis in front of an open fire.

When it gets to be fun to go outdoors under the California live oaks and drink your cocktails in the fresh air, then it is Spring.

Hawaii really falls flat on its sunburned kisser when it comes to Spring. There ain't any.

Checking over the various spots where I have found Spring, and vice versa, let me especially skip Tasmania. What I found in Hobart, was a snowstorm. When it should be spring down there, winter is just coming in.

All in all I award special honors to Japan as a place where Spring is fun, and properly welcomed by local inhabitants.

ONE GOOD REASON why the Japanese enjoy Spring so much is that they are the most northerly of the tropical people. Cold weather is always a big annual surprise to them.

By the time Spring hits Japan, the Japanese are ready for it. And so was I. They couldn't celebrate any more heartily than the way I felt.

One cherry blossom looks just like any other, except that the first one all alone looks like nothing much. I couldn't see why they didn't print the same picture every year.

But so far as I could make out everybody was honorable about it all.

Spring does bring out the best in one. Or does it?

Well, I still think the eye I cast on that pretty meter maid on San Rafael's Fourth Street was benevolent, indulgent, paternal, and in every way loaded with the finest aspects of Spring in Marin County.

No Sign Of Good News Coming Out Of Geneva Test Ban Talks

WASHINGTON—We should be ready for bleak news on test-ban and disarmament negotiations with the Soviets.

The Russians are now backing away from any inspectable treaty to end the testing of nuclear weapons.

Such news from Geneva can only mean that the Soviets do not want to negotiate a test-ban agreement which has any element of secure enforcement. Naturally they do not say so. That would be bad propaganda.

BUT THEIR ACTIONS reveal their intentions:

1—The United States and Britain have made seven significant concessions to Soviet views on inspection. The Russians offer nothing in return.

2—Actually the Soviet delegate not only makes no return concessions, but he has withdrawn approval of one of the most important agreements already reached in previous Geneva meetings — that a single neutral administrator be in charge of the test-ban control commission.

3—In place of a single neutral administrator, Moscow now says it will only accept a three-man committee on which, at all points, each would have to agree before any inspection was authorized.

4—This means that the Soviet Union is demanding a total veto over any system of inspection designed to verify the test ban.

NO WONDER Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, after conferring with the American negotiators at Geneva, warned that the U. S. will not be lured into a treaty "just for the sake of a treaty" and will not accept a veto-locked inspection system.

It is quite possible that the Soviets have decided that the value of a test-ban is not equal to the amount of inspection needed to make it work. Or, they might have decided that they can get the U. S. to continue the moratorium on testing without any inspection agreement at all.

Whatever their reasons, the Soviet demand for a veto-laden control commission makes the outlook for any kind of disarmament agreement nearly hopeless.

IT NOW SEEMS clear that the Kremlin is insisting upon a veto over any international agency which could affect the Soviet Union.

Their demand at Geneva for a "committee secretariat" to run the test-ban control commission is exactly what Premier Khrushchev has been demanding at the U. N. — a committee to run the secretariat of the United Nations with a Soviet veto over any action.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 12, the 102nd day of the year with 263 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1777, Henry Clay, American statesman and orator was born.

In 1861, civil war came to the United States as confederate forces opened fire on Fort Sumter, the Federal citadel in the Harbor of Charleston, South Carolina.

In 1865, General Robert E. Lee wrote to the president of the Confederacy, advising him that the army of northern Virginia had been surrendered to Gen. Ulysses Grant.

In 1945, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in Warm Springs, Ga.

A thought for today: Jean Baptist Moliere said: The more we love our friends, the less we flatter them; it is by excusing nothing that pure love shows itself."

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHARD BARBOUR, Ph. D.

It's Important Small Child Show, Proper Respect For His Parents

Do you have a small child at home? A youngster of 2, 3, or 4? I'm writing to you today.

You love your little one, play and have fun with him. It's good that you do. But I hope you don't relax to the extent that he can hit you in anger. Don't let him be openly defiant. Make him show a decent respect for you.

Why? Because you are his parent who must guide and discipline him. You must teach what is right, and what is wrong. You must be able to say "no," and make it stick. If you're on an equal level with him you can't do that. He must look up to you.

Does that make sense? It should. Here are two illustrations:

I used to watch little "Billy" kick his daddy. Billy was 3. He'd kick hard, and yell rudely. His father didn't stop him, he thought it was cute. Now Billy is 15. He is delinquent. When his father tries to control him, Billy sneers for he has no respect whatever for his Dad.

At 4, Maria used to scream insults at her mother. Then she'd run and yank her hair. "I'll hurt you, mommy," she'd say, "because you hurt me." Her mother felt that was fair. So she didn't stop her. Now? Now Marie is 14. She stays out until 5 or 6 in the morning. She is promiscuous and refuses to listen to anyone.

Maria's mother meant well. So did Billy's dad. But they put themselves on the wrong level by not demanding respect. Now their kids are incorrigible.

I repeat: Have fun with your little one but also make him show a decent amount of respect for you.

(A) The ratio of juvenile delinquency is dropping consistently. Good news, isn't it?

San Rafael Post Office To Add Men

Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster, said today two employees will be added to the San Rafael Post Office by July 1, as a result of Postmaster General J. Edward Day's announced plans to limit the hours substitute employees can work.

This will bring the number of employees for the San Rafael office from 130 to 132, Williams said. The new policy is expected to add 1,281 employees in California and 10,000 nationwide.

Substitute workers will be limited to 40 to 44 hours a week, effective July 1, according to Day. Regular career employees are limited to an 80-hour biweekly paycheck.

Day said some substitutes have been working so many extra hours their paychecks have been double-sized.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Globe-Trotting Drake Students Tells Of Trip

John Hendry, a 1960 Drake graduate, has spent the past year globe-trotting with the International School of America. While at Drake, he was second in his class and a champion swimmer. He is a son of Col. John E. Hendry Jr. of 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

Highlights of his travels in the Orient and Near East were given in a long detailed account mailed from Athens, Greece.

The gold, gaudy temples of Bangkok, Thailand, were in contrast to the Japanese buildings which blended with nature, Hendry observed. Millions in gold bullion is plastered all over the temples, he reported.

In India, he visited Ganges River spots where the bathers come to wash and perform ancient Hindu rites. He saw snake charmers, watched pythons dance, and saw mongooses fight snakes to death.

In Aghra he found the highlight of his trip to India. He rose early so that he could see the famous Taj Mahal by moonlight, sunrise and daylight.

Gopal Gandhi, grandson of Mohandas K. Gandhi, was his host while he staved in Delhi, India. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru held a reception for the traveling American students in his home.

A tour of the Near East landed Hendry in Bethlehem in time to attend Christmas services in the Church of the Nativity. New Year's was celebrated on ex-king Farouk's yacht at Luxor on the Nile.

Saving the antiquities of Egypt did not concern Hendry too much. He expressed doubt if the high dam at Aswan would be built. The original engineering on the dam was done by the Germans who turned the plans over to the Russians, he wrote. Hendry said that test drillings at the site show there is 500 feet of sand and clay with no adequate bedrock to support the dam.

From Egypt the young Marin Marco traveled to Greece where he saw the ancient ruins.

Construction Starts On Catholic Home

Construction has started on the one-million-dollar Nararеth House for the aged on Nova Albion Way in Terra Linda, Mother Mary Lewis Bertrand, of the Sisters of Nazareth, announced today.

Completion date for the 100-residence home is scheduled for December.

The seven-and-one-half-acre site has been leveled and drainage has been installed, Mother Bertrand said. F. P. Lathrop Construction Co., of Berkeley is the general contractor. Vincent Buckley of San Francisco is the architect.

Louis G. Freitas of San Rafael is the chairman of an advisory committee of laymen. A Nazareth House auxiliary of Bay Area women is under leadership of Mrs. Clifford F. Elder of Corte Madera.

The new home will be Spanish style with one-story quarters for the residents. Rooms will accommodate married couples as well as single men and women. Each room will have a door leading to the street and also to the recreation patio. There will be three recreational and hobby rooms, the chapel and infirmary.

Bayside Church On Plan Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing Monday on application of the Presbytery of the Redwoods to establish a church in Bayside Acres, East San Rafael.

The property is located at Point San Pedro Road and Bay View Drive. The matter is 19th on an agenda of about 30 items to be heard starting at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue.

Public hearings also are scheduled Monday on amendments to the Red Hill Master Plan, the Crescent Heights Master Plan, and Marinwood Master Plan.

A public hearing also is scheduled on the tentative map of Sleepy Hollow Unit 9 on about 13 acres. The area is proposed for division into 22 lots.

Engineering Loan Fund Established

An engineering student loan fund in memory of Thomas J. Bates, former College of Marin graduate killed last week near San Jose, was established yesterday at the college.

Bates, 28, who graduated from College of Marin in 1957, was run over by a tractor while working as a soils engineer on April 4. A native of Corte Madera, Bates was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Bates of 16 Corte Madera Avenue.

The loan fund was established by the family and friends of Bates, according to Stephen E. Epler, director of the college. Contributions may be made through the dean's office, Epler said. The fund is available to all engineering students.

Play Will Benefit National Foundation

"Robin Hood," the Mountain Play Assn.'s production scheduled for the top of Mt. Tamalpais on May 14 and 21, will benefit the National Foundation of the New March of Dimes, it was announced by Robert Flanigan, president of the Mountain Play Assn., and Mrs. E. D. Lederman, special events chairman for the National Foundation in Marin County.

The original script, written and directed by Dan Totheroh, calls for village dances, sword fighting, archery conflicts and the antics of the men in Lincoln green. It has a cast of 200.

Continuous Filament Nylon Carpet Producing Great Customer Interest

About half the people in the market for carpeting are now showing interest in continuous filament nylon, according to rug merchant John J. Mahoney. Mahoney and his partner Stan E. Merkel are celebrating their 10th anniversary in business as Carpets Unlimited in San Rafael.

The recently developed material has both excellent wearing and cleaning properties, Mahoney claims, and is giving wool a close run for quality and per dollar value.

Mahoney and Merkel opened Carpets Unlimited on April 1, 1951, after many years in the wholesale end of the business with the Bigelow Carpet Co. The firm handles all types of wool and synthetic carpet weaves.

ALLSTATE INSURANCE COMPANIES have recently opened an office at 1531 South Novato Boulevard in the Nave Shopping Center, Novato in order to service northern Marin policy holders. Bob Hall who has been representing Allstate in San Rafael will be in charge.

The insurance organization is a totally owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. and is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

GEORGE TIAFFAY of San Anselmo who has taken over the meat, fish and poultry department at the Santa Venetia Supermarket is holding his grand opening today. The department was formerly operated by Keith Buchignani.

George has lived in the county about four years and will be remembered by many for his service in the meat department at the Safeway Store in San Rafael. This is his first venture in top command.

The market is located at the corner of San Pablo and San Pedro Roads in Santa Venetia.

FREDERICK MEHRTEN, owner of the San Rafael Mortgage Co., was recently awarded the M.A.I. designation by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The institute is a professional organization founded in 1932. In addition to setting up standards of certification and a code of professional conduct it is active in real estate education in cooperation with colleges and universities.

Mehrten is also managing partner of the William Mehrten Ranch Co. and has been a real estate appraiser for 13 years. He lives with his family in Terra Linda.

GINO J. CARALLI, Ignacio resident and manager and buyer of the produce department for Marin Products Co., San Rafael for the past five years, is leaving the firm to strike out on his own. He has bought an interest in the Sebastopol Produce Co. of Santa Rosa and will switch his business activities to Sonoma County.

THE NORTH BAY INDUSTRY Lighting Show, featuring displays and talks on garden, residential, school, office, street and industrial lighting is being held this week at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa, Thursday through Saturday—hours 1 to 10 p.m.

It is the North Bay's first affair of this kind and 30 exhibitors will have displays. The show is open to the general public.

ON THE GO AGAIN. Man continually on the run is Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president and manager of the Marin County Savings and Loan Association, who probably holds the record for attending or officiating at more functions than anyone in the county.

He served today as a panelist at the symposium of the Federal Home Loan Bank District in San Francisco and immediately whished away to another conference in Phoenix for the U.S. Savings and Loan League where he'll be until the end of the week. Next week on his return he's scheduled for an address before the Junior League of San Francisco.

Theft Suspect Caught In East

Suspected embezzler James Stuart Page, 40, who disappeared from his Marinwood home on March 20, was arrested Monday in Paterson, N. J., Inspector William Bradley of the Marin sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Inspector Bradley said Page is suspected of embezzling about $3,000 from his company, Appliance Professional Assn. Page, who was liaison man for the company, operated from his home at 285 Johnstone Drive, Marinwood. His job was to sign up new members for the association, collecting their dues and membership fees.

Suicide are most common in the month of April and spring is the season of greatest frequency.

Redwood High Has 'Partner' In Germany

Redwood High School has gone into international partnership with a school in Germany.

The partner school is the Volksobershule Preetz, 40 miles northeast of Hamburg. The partnership was arranged by the school affiliates service of the Society of Friends.

It wasn't easy, according to language teacher Robert J. Mautner, who is adviser for Redwood's International Club, sponsor of the project.

A first task is to find schools which are comparable. In Europe it's difficult to find a comprehensive, coeducational high school, Mautner said.

Volksobershule Preetz combines Germany's two basic kinds of high school: The terminal program of the 10th year and the college preparatory, or "gymnasium" program. Enrollment is 1,300, and the school is coeducational.

That's comparable to Redwood's comprehensive coeducational program. Redwood has an enrollment of 1,400.

So far the exchange in the partnership has been largely that of material. The German school has sent its annual report, a literary magazine, and a student's term paper in mathematics. The term paper is being used in classes by Redwood teacher Charles Kurtz.

Redwood has sent a collection of student papers in algebra, last year's huge report on school accreditation, literary magazines, yearbooks, and other Tamalpais Union High School District printed materials. Members of the club get the materials together.

SCRAPBOOK STORY

Redwood students are preparing a collection of student art, a scrapbook telling the Redwood story, a California history scrapbook, and tape recordings of assemblies, band concerts and classroom activities. Material exchanged is discussed by letter and utilized in the Redwood and Preetz classes.

Eventually the exchange of materials is planned to embrace English, history, geography, music, art, science, mathematics an d school activity programs, Mautner said.

Eventually, also, a Redwood student and a Redwood teacher hope to spend a year at Preetz. Concurrently, a Preetz teacher and student would be at Redwood. The 1962-63 school year may see this materialize.

"Most of the exchange of ideas is readily understandable," Mautner says. "But we have trouble explaining such abstractions as school spirit or the complexities of the seagull problem on campus—especially among students who drive cars to school."

Licensed Drivers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California had 7,971,447 licensed drivers on Feb. 1, the State Department of Motor Vehicles has reported.

PAPERS FOR A PARTNER—Robert J. Mautner, language teacher at Redwood High, looks over materials prepared by students in the school's International Club for Redwood's "partner school" in Germany, the beginnings of an extensive exchange program which involves people, ideas and material.

The "Konzertanz" is a combination concert and dance sponsored by the Tamalpais music department under band director Robert Greenwood. Music will be provided by the Tam High band and by the Mill Valley Elementary School band directed by David Reed.

Ed Knuth, music coordinator at San Francisco State College, will evaluate the Tam High band and tape-record his comments for Greenwood.

Lose Licenses

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Some 8,222 California drivers lost their driving privileges during February, Director Robert McCarthy of the State Department of Motor Vehicles reported. Of those, 325 licenses were canceled. 2,656 were revoked and 5,241 were suspended, he said.

Tam High Honor T Initiation Tomorrow

Tamalpais High School will hold its Honor T initiation at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Ruby Scott Auditorium. California scholarship federation awards will also be made.

The program will include selections by the Tamalpais orchestra, choir and string ensemble.

Tumbling Teeners Find Old Caves

NERJA, Spain (UPI) — Few contrasts could better emphasize man's evolution than the drastic difference between a modern ballerina, pirouetting before footlights, and a skin-clad caveman hunched over a smokey fire in a dark cavern.

In the world's history, that change from near-beast to beauty took untold centuries.

But in the recently discovered Caves of Nerja it happened almost overnight — or so it seems.

One day, roughly 6,000 years ago according to scientific estimates, the earth trembled here and sent tons of rock crushing down on the entrance of the caves.

The primitive men who lived in them were either trapped inside and perished, or were caught outside and forever cut off from cavemates and family.

The tumbling rocks did more than that. They blotted out human contact with the caves for 60 centuries and ended act one of their history.

Then, in quick succession, came the next two acts in the underground drama.

On Jan. 12, 1959, five Spanish boys stumbled onto the long-hidden entry to the caves, and history resumed.

Early this year, after months of archaeological study which turned up major finds, including pre-historic paintings which rank with the world's finest, the caves were thrown open to the public.

The opening was celebratbrated by a modern dance festival — the first time that the ballet has been performed in a pre-historic cave.

Artists from the Le Tour de Paris company danced Tchaikovsky, Drigo, and Moussorgsky amid stalactites and stalagmites that had once measured the domain of primitive man.

The 20th Century history of the caves began when five teenagers from this village on the Mediterranean coast stole into a rarely visited ravine to share one cigarette.

As they puffed, the earth beside them cracked slighly, a startled bat flew up and warm air rose from the ground.

Francisco Navas Montesinos, the 19-year-old leader of the group, squeezed into the cavity from which the long pent-up warmth was escaping. He carried a small flashlight.

His four rfiends — Jose Torres Cardenas, 16, Jose Luis Barbero, 15, and Manuel and Miguel Munoz, 18 and 14—followed, enlarging the hole as they crawled through.

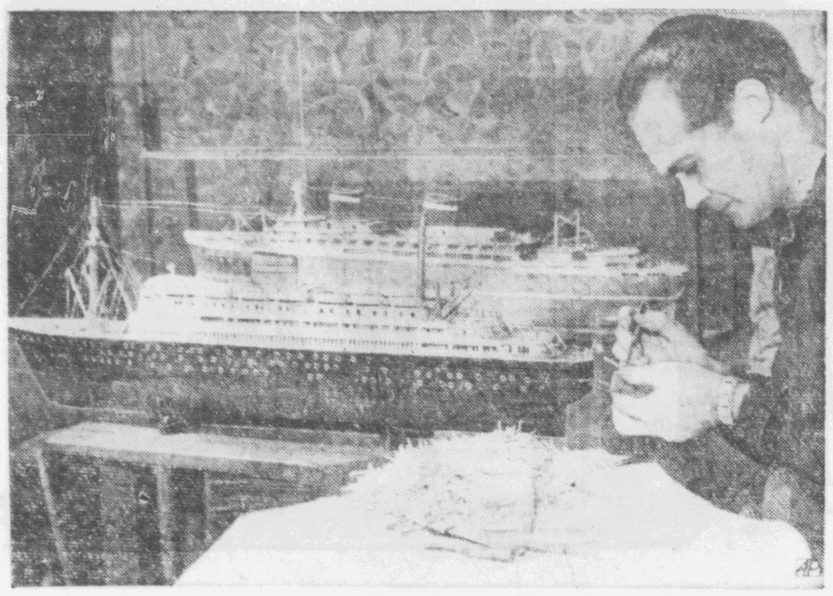
That night they told school teacher Carlos Saura Garre what they had found. Saura Garre drove to Malaga, 30 miles away, and reported to provincial officials, who organized the first of many expeditions to the site.

Scientists worked for a year studying wall paintings and turning up stone weapons, bones belonging to long-extinct animals and an early-edition silo heaped with wheat, pottery and other material typical of primitive man's dwellings.

As the scientists moved inside, plans were made to let tourists visit the caves.

Early this year, lighting was installed and five huge halls were opened to the public.

They are — the "Hall of the Elephant Tusk," where archaeologists found a fossil imbedded in a wall; "The Hall of the Cascade," where giant stalactites drop from a 90-foot high dome to form a petrified waterfall; "The Hall of the Ghosts," where nature twisted stone into fantastic shapes; "The Hall of the Throne," in which thrusting stalagmites form a regal seat; and "The Hall of the Cataclism," where order was crushed and broken by some internal upheaval.



MADE OF MATCHES

Hans Sorensen adds finishing touches to his match model of Norwegian liner Bergensfjord at Alborg, Denmark. In background is his model of the liner United States. It took 35,000 matches and 18 months to complete the two models.

Biggest Ice Pick

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Chicago engineering firm has designed and built the world's largest ice pick to probe the mysteries of polar glaciers.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers received delivery of a 23-foot-long thermal drill that melts its way into a solid glacier and brings up 10-foot ice cores for study.

It can probe 12,000 feet down, deeper than man has ever penetrated ice before.

The drill is now being used in Greenland to obtain facts that will be useful for the construction of military outposts in polar regions.

No Cussing, Please

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — State Representative William Denman, a Democrat from Des Moines, has a "no-cuss-word" campaign going in the Iowa House of Representatives. He said his move was the result of several instances of profanity in debate on the House floor.

Piano Prince Likes The Business But Says, 'We'll Never Get Rich'

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're a member of the family, they'll take you down to the basement at the office, under the steampipes. A traveling man may be invited home to dinner, to play with the kids and talk and eat the kind of food you don't find in restaurants.

And it's also quite a business for the fourth generation of piano-making Steinways.

The friends who have been treated like family range through history from Ignace Paderewski to Van Cliburn. They have been, and are, in large part the concert pianists whose programs carry the familiar legend "Piano by Steinway."

Their work, for the four brothers and one cousin now operating the firm is a pleasant blend of friendliness and art and a sharing of two worlds.

"We'll never be rich in the piano business," said Frederick Steinway, 39, head of the Concert and Artist Department. "But we like it."

The family relations with artists began back in the 1870s when grandfather William Steinway decided his pianos needed some talented fingers to show off their true qualities. He went into the concert business, importing first the famed Anton Rubinstein (no relation to today's noted pianist Artur Rubinstein, also a family friend).

Paderewski's contract for his first American appearance included a provision that he play "no beer halls," the grandson recalled.

The concert business was a short-lived sideline. The Steinways were happy to turn it over to the budding impresarios who had picked up the idea. But the relationship—both business and social—remained.

Frederick, known as Fritz, remembers playing fan-tan after his bedtime with Mr. and Mrs. Serge Rachmaninoff. His own three young sons have been rough-housing with Cliburn since before the young pianist shot to fame with his Moscow prize. And the family has even provided handy storage room for the trophies he brought back—some are displayed in glass cases in the firm's 57th Street showroom, others are packed in the basement with the pianos.

This undecorated basement, with a redwood block floor to bear the weight, is chockablock with concert grands—pick your own, if you're a concert pianist. This is the service provided for the "Piano by Steinway" label on the program—an instrument in perfect shape provided for every concert with no charge except transportation, which is up to the artist. Artur Rubinstein once paid for airplane fare to Buenos Aires for his second favorite instrument, Steinway recalled, when his first choice became strikebound aboard a ship. More usually a piano can be supplied through one of the 165 or 170 retail outlets which store concert grands for the purpose; others are stored in busy concert halls themselves.

A concert grand, which takes 11 months to make, lasts through 8 to 12 years of this pulling and hauling. But the long-lived family piano really cuts into the, market, Steinway said.

"Your grandmother's wedding present piano is undoubtedly in good condition today," he said. "It's disgusting! We can't sell a new one."

His annoyance is feigned. The Steinways are proud of the enduring quality of their $1,400 to $7,000 pianos. Their sales are about 3 per cent of the 200,000 to 220,000 pianos sold in the United States each year.

Since 1853, when recently immigrated German cabinet maker Heinrich Steinweg, set up his first piano factory in Long Island City, N. Y., it's been hard to keep the Steinway boys out of the business.

"My father tried to encourage one of us to become a lawyer," Fritz said. "Perhaps one of the next generation will. We all learned to make pianos. My wife says what we need is a good obstetrician!"

Coke Oven By-products Used For Many Things

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A thick, brown smoke which used to curl out of the coke ovens of the steel industry has made it possible to glue broken bones, put moths on a starvation diet and reduce inflight collisions of aircraft.

By-product coke ovens, which replace the old "behive" ovens used to convert coal into coke, are transforming the brown smoke into about 145 pounds of coal chemicals per ton of coal. The chemicals are used in over 200,000 products.

Some of the chemicals, such as ammonium sulfate, a nitrogen fertilizer, and creosote are sold directly to the agricultural industry. Others like benzene, toluene, xylene, naphthalene, phenol and pyridine are converted by the pharmaceutical paint, plastics and other industries into such products as aspirin, DDT, explosives, nylon, plastics, dyes, paints, inks, perfumes and cosmetics.

A special bone glue already has been used to mend over 350 serious fractures. Still being tested, it is a strong plastic foam and a derivative of toluene. Poured into the fracture, it hardens so quickly the patient may move the repaired limb within a few hours.

Several experimental products derived from pyridine closely resemble vitamin B nutrients which are needed by moth larvae. Studies show promise that the larvae will either ignore fabrics treated with the chemicals or will nibble sparingly and eventually die of starvation.

The use of fluorescent paints, having coal chemical components, cut in-air collisions of the Air Training Command of the Air Force from nine in one year to only two the next year. Neither crash involved fluorescent-painted craft.

Germany Can't Kill Out Idea Of Giving Tip

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —It's the little things that count — particularly when you're tipping a porter, waiter, barber or garbage collector.

'West Germany, which prides itself on being largely a "no tipping" country—most restaurants and hotels add a 10 per cent service charge to bill with the idea of avoiding tipping—is finding out that a tip is something you just can't abolish.

Everyone seems to have his hand out—even if the practice is not so blatant as in some other countries.

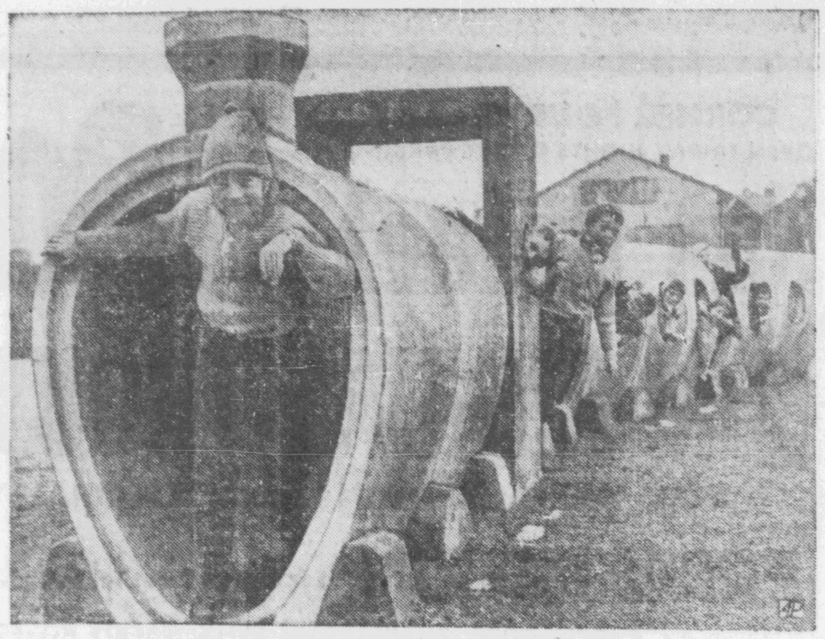
Waiters, as in almost all other countries, are experts at searching their pockets vainly for change until the embarrassed diner mumbles, "Keep it." Barbers, too, never seem to have change for any bill or coin under one mark (25 cents).

But there is no end to the list: Taxidrivers, expressmailmen, porters, hat check girls, mailmen bringing money orders, chambermaids, tourist guides, theater ushers, parking lot guards, shoeshine boys and cigarette vendors in hotels—in fact almost everybody except yourself is an aspirant for a tip, or to translate the German word literally, "Drinking money."

Besides those expecting a daily tip, there are professions that are entitled at least to an annual tip: Garbage collectors, cleaning women, the newspaperboy, the mailman, and—most important of all—the chimney sweep. They all stop by to congratulate you the first of January

The tip, drinking money, obviously is not for what its name might indicate. Otherwise there would be no sober waiter, taxidriver, hairdresser or mailman.

The dictionary says it is a token of money in small coins, but it is by far more than the definition says—it is a bargain price for the sympathy of those performing personal services for you.



DOESN'T CHUG CHUG — These youngsters have to imagine the chug-chug and choo-choo when they play on this concrete model railroad train in a playground in Offenbach, Germany. In turn the passengers become engineer or fireman on the play train.

Major Reference Work Completed For Blind

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ten-year-old Michael Esserman of Great Neck, N. Y., could read many books in Braille. And he could do his arithmetic in Braille.

But when he wanted to look up something in a reference work, he had to ask someone to do it for him.

So did all his blind schoolmates.

Michael and his blind friends attending public schools in the Great Neck area had no major reference works in Braille because there weren't any available, except for a 35-volume Webster's Dictionary.

Michael's mother, Mrs. Howard Esserman, and 95 other Great Neck women decided to do something about it.

Children in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, N. Y., had plenty of textbooks and flashcards transcribed by volunteers of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth El. They even had three-dimensional picture books made with paper, fur, fabric and leather, a project developed by Mrs. Esserman. The Three Bears sported real fur coats.

The women, under their chairman, Mrs. Dorothea Wahrburg, decided to rewrite an encyclopedia in Braille. Their goal, after years of hand printing, was to be a single encyclopedia set.

Three years later, the first of about 300 Braille encyclopedia sets are to be finished at the non-profit American Printing House for the Blind at Louisville, Ky.

The first major reference work for the blind, the giant, 145-volume sets are the answer to a letter written by Mrs. Esserman to Field Enterprises Educational Corp., Chicago, which publishes the "World Book Encyclopedia."

"Youngsters have only one source of information, their textbooks," Mrs. Esserman wrote March 17, 1958. "Our Braille group . . . wants to transcribe the 'World Book' into Braille.

"Can your firm put at our disposal a complete set of encyclopedia?" she asked. "We will work as fast and as accurately as possible."

Bailey K. Howard, president of Field Enterprises Educational Corp., talked with the women at a luncheon in New York. Then he assigned Dr. William H. Nault, director of educational research for the encyclopedia, to investigate the possibility of publishing a Braille edition.

"Educators of the blind unanimously endorsed the idea," said Nault, a native of Battle Creek, Mich., a former school administrator at Ridgewood, N. J. "But they felt it was impossible."

The Field Foundation, headed by now United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, contributed $60,000 and Field Enterprises added another $55,500, Nault said. The funds were sent to the American Printing House for the Blind, the biggest Braille book producer in the world.

Editing the encyclopedia for transcription into Braille turned into a 15-month job. The Braille publication contains some hand-tooled diagrams and line drawings. But all reference to maps and other illustrations had to be rewritten.

Marjorie S. Hooper, chief editor of the printing house, took charge of rewriting and such baffling problems as a Braille article on color.

"That was a corker," said Nault, who passed on the final result.

Rewriting also became a chore in dealing with such topics as geography, without maps; bird watching, without pictures, and crystallization, without complex diagrams.

Storage space also was a problem. But that was solved by shipping out each volume as it was completed.

The regular edition of the encyclopedia, 20 volumes, takes about 30 inches of shelf space, Nault said. The Braille edition fills 43 feet and weighs about 700 pounds.

Nault said distribution of the Braille volumes by the Louisville printing house was expected to cover much of the English-speaking world. He said all blind institutions in the United States and Canada were told of the project as well as others in the Commonwealth nations.

NO TRAFFIC AROUND

Moscow's Machines, Men Defeat Snowfalls

Of course, two reasons are apparent to foreigners why Moscow can shrug off snow while New York, for instance, flounders.

First, Moscow still does not have heavy traffic.

Second, the Socialist system is like a gigantic WPA, furnishing an army of cheap labor to whisk practically every last snowflake from the streets.

Moscow's anti-snow maneuvers are like a highly organized army campaign. When snow first begins to fall over the city's golden church spires, new apartment houses and old traditional brown wooden buildings, the news is flashed to five snow machine garages around the city.

Next, 600 snow machines automatically scoop snow in assembly line style into 1,700 dump trucks. The trucks dump their loads in fields outside the city or over a brick wall into the Moscow River.

Scalding hot water also is pumped into the river to keep the snow melted.

Later, 80 other machines drop a mixture of sand and rock salt on the streets to prevent ice formation and to help keep cars from skidding.

In the meantime, 4,000 workers march to their posts to battle the snow on sidewalks, even in the middle of the night.

The workers are elderly women in boots and with heavy shawls wrapped around their heads. Many prefer to work with bare hands.

With curved twig brooms or modern shovels, they relentlessly remove snow and chip ice from the sidewalks.

Apartment houses also employ persons to shovel snow from sidewalks and streets and the sound of scraping shovels periodically awakens residents during the night.

The workers make as little as five new rubles (roughly $5.50) monthly for the part-time seasonal work.

Since there are few private cars in this country, the fight against snow is not impeded by cars parked in side streets as in New York.

During the night only a few taxis are on the street to hamper the snow machines.

In 1959, 600 small machines to clean sidewalks were added to the battalion.

Other workers also regularly knock snow from roofs to prevent water leaking into the buildings or the snow, laced with icicles, cascading over passersby.

As private cars are discouraged from the Soviet Union, it is doubtful if Moscow ever will have the paralyzer traffic of a New York snowfall.

One official concerned with snow removal in the Moscow area said the snow machines are on duty from about Nov. 1 to April 15.

"The idea is to get the snow off the streets before it packs down and is hardened," he explained. "Twenty-four hours after the end of a snowfall, we usually have streets and sidewalks dry and clean."

He sympathizes with New York's problem, adding:

"Well, they have lots of paper on the streets to add to the problem. Here we educate the people to be neat."

The official said the city removed nine million cubic meters of snow in 1960.

Young Mechanic

NEW VERNON, N.J. (AP) — Five years before he becomes eligible for a driver's license, 12-year-old George Emory buzzes around the family property on a custom-built motor scooter. It's the sixth midget motor vehicle the youngster has built in four years.

"I got the idea from a magazine," the seventh-grader says, "but most of it is my design."

The one-horsepower lawnmower engine has seen service on several of his homemade gasoline carts. He gathered other materials from junkpiles and helpful neighbors.

History Of Angel Island Marked By 'Living Ghosts'

Relics Of Army's Past Sharp Contrast To Now

On the highest point of the island gleams the electronic eye of a modern Nike site, while only a few hundred yards below it, on the west side, lies the ghost of old Camp Reynolds. Nestled in a verdant valley, it looks out on Sausalito and the Golden Gate, its life span having extended from 1863 to 1946.

Over 20 buildings of Camp Reynolds continue to defy the elements and the passage of years. Except for glassless windows, they appear as solid as the day they were built. But the little graveyard on a steep hill nearby marked by a white picket fence has only empty hollows to show where 131 bodies rested. These were moved by the Army to the Golden Gate National Cemetery in 1947.

So steep was the cemetery that the post historian, Dr. Bentley, in 1869 complained that "the occupant of a sepulchre here . . . is forced to assume the posture of appearing to stand on his head, while in a few yards a fine level space is available."

One of the largest buildings of brick and huge redwood beams is today in excellent condition. Used for headquarters storage, it is close to the skeleton of the big wharf where ships docked to unload their cargoes. The massive beams reveal no rot or deterioration. It can be easily seen from Marin County, the Golden Gate Bridge and the Marina of San Francisco.

Some of the officers' row dwellings just south of the parade ground are slowly being submerged by junglelike growth. Others look amazingly as if the colonel and his lady had just stepped across the parade ground to shop at the post traders.

Camp Reynolds, known later as the West Garrison and about 1900 as Fort McDowell, had wigwams outside its gates during the 1860s and '70s when Indian prisoners captured in the Arizona campaign had the freedom of the island.

Everett Schell told a union meeting that "for two cents" he'd help start a program of cutting children's hair free at the school and hospital for retarded children in nearby Selah.

Now, every sixth Monday, all 81 union members go to the institution to trim the hair of 200 children.

The post was actually constructed on ancient Coast Miwok Indian ancestral grounds, as numerous utensils and artifacts were discovered in excavating. On the ridge connecting Point Stewart with the hill above the parade ground, where the hospital is located, a large 200-foot Indian shell mound was destroyed during construction of the post.

Camp Reynolds came into existence when the Civil War broke out. The need for adequate San Francisco harbor defenses became urgent. The strategic spot on the western shore of Angel Island overlooking the Golden Gate entrance assumed increasing importance from the standpoint of adequate harbor defenses.

Brig. Gen. George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, worried over the possibility of a bombardment of San Francisco. He requested Army engineers to draw up a plan of defense "against a large fleet . . ." Having no funds, the general attempted unsuccessfully to have the State of California foot the bill.

Late in 1862, San Franciscans feared that Confederate cruisers, particularly the Alabama, might slip into the harbor at night or in fog. Maneuvering beyond the gun range of

Los Angeles Coliseum Madhouse For Manager

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The troubles that beset most landlords can't begin to compare with the problems facing Bill Nicholas, whose tenants ostentatiously rip up the lawn, unthinkingly lose equipment and then have the gall to demand immediate structural changes.

Nicholas isn't in charge of a madhouse — though sometimes it surely must seem that way. He is general manager of the huge Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

His occupants include almost everything and everyone. Last year, for instance, the 101,573 seat stadium was home to gigantic professional football players and tiny bantamweight boxers, dignified religious services and rollicking western rodeos.

Nicholas has run the Coliseum since 1946, but it is only recently that he has begun to feel like an apartment house manager cramming people in. Before 1958 he only had to worry about getting in the Los Angeles Rams, UCLA and Southern California during the football season and a few other events during the spring and summer.

Then came the Dodgers. Walter O'Malley decided his team would take up temporary residence in the stadium. So the Coliseum got 77 more playing dates and a much maligned 40-foot-high left field screen.

During 1960 a chauvinistic Coliseum spectator could have seen 42 football games (not including pee-wee tilts at halftime), 77 baseball games, the Mary's Hour religious program, Coliseum Relays, sportsmen's and vacation shows, a rodeo, July 4th fireworks, two championship boxing bouts, and, of course, President Kennedy proclaiming the "new frontier" at the Democratic National Convention in July.

Needless to say, the many events keep the groundkeepers and work crews on the run. In a weekend in early fall, when the Dodgers are still playing and the Rams and Chargers have started their exhibition seasons, the Coliseum face changes almost daily.

On a Friday evening the screen and backstop may be up. Saturday—no more screen. The baseball structures have been replaced by goal posts and football striping is on the grass. Sunday afternoon after another hectic switch the field is again ready for baseball.

It takes two work crews of seven men each a total of eight hours and costs about $1,000 every time the screen and backstop go up or down.

By November the field is a groundskeeper's nightmare. There is nothing left in the middle of the gridiron but a few straggly roots and plenty of dirt—which sometimes is sneakily dyed green to fool the players and fans into thinking it is grass. According to Nicholas, not even the broncos and Brahma bulls at the rodeo tear up the turf like football players.

Angel Island Has Relics Of The Past

A War Department directive to General Wright hastened fortification plans for Points Blunt and Stewart on Angel Island.

Battery B, Third Artillery, under command of Lt. John L. Tierson, proceeded to the island Sept. 9, 1863. Three days later, the young lieutenant formally took possession of Angel Island for the United States. Setting up a rough camp, he named it Camp Reynolds in honor of Maj. Gen. John Fulton Reynolds, a former officer in the Third Artillery, who was killed at Gettysburg on July 1 of that year.

The camp quickly became what was undoubtedly the cleanest Army post in the country. It was said of it that a laundress was available for every inhabitant. This is substantiated by the building record of a laundry building 25 by 80 feet and another containing 20 rooms. Some of the houses even had washing and ironing cabins in the rear.

By the end of July 1864, the Army engineers had completed two batteries: Battery 1 at Point Stewart mounted three 32-pounders and one 10-inch howitzer, while Battery 2 at Point Knox mounted 10 guns—seven 32-pounders, two 10-inch Rodmans and one 8-inch Rodman. In addition, Major Andrews, commander of the Third Artillery, placed five 32-pounders at the head of the main wharf.

In 1867 a non-military incident enhanced the morale of Angel Island and Camp Reynolds, according to the post chronicler. A seven-room house near Point Blunt, called Camp Rafferty after the nearby lot where volunteer troops were stationed, "having become the shelter of uncertain parties of both sexes became the subject of conflagration without detriment to the morale of the locality."

A more accepted morale builder in these years for both the soldiers of Camp Reynolds and the people from the mainland was the hectic search for buried treasure supposedly left behind by robbers and smugglers who once inhabited Angel Island. Innumerable holes testified to the gold mania that swept the island. Digging even went on all night, but only a handful of Spanish coins was unearthed as a reward for the zeal put forth.

The post was used successively as a recruiting depot for soldiers from the Far East; as headquarters for the 12th Infantry (numbering 196 men in 1876), and for the First Infantry, which departed in 1896 and was replaced by the Third Artillery once more.

Some time before 1905, the old battery positions were leveled and new ones constructed.

The picturesque old station began to fade away after construction of the East and North Garrisons around the turn of the century. Even the name Camp Reynolds became erased from official records when the entire island was named Fort McDowell. Used as an overflow activity for the grander and larger East Garrison, the name still held on tenaciously.

It took World War II to breath a bit more life into Camp Reynolds, or West Garrison, as it was then called. Remodeling of antique structures brought them up to date. Bathrooms and electricity gave officers' row, the barracks and administrative buildings a "new look," as noncommissioned officers moved in from the overcrowded East Garrison.

When the conflict ended, Camp Reynolds sank into the junglelike growth which smothers it today, its century of quiet glory and band music and parading companies gone forever. Only the eye of an artist or an enthusiast of bygone eras can bring it to life again.

STILL IN GOOD SHAPE — The largest building still standing in what was Camp Reynolds on Angel Island is this storage structure, its redwood beams and brick still in good condition. (Army photos)

1st Planes Will Take Flight In June At New Los Angeles Air Terminal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles' new $50 million International Airport passenger terminal, believed by many to be the most modern in the world, is nearing completion with the first planes scheduled to use its facilities by June of this year.

The terminal, financed by a municipal bond issue, covers 265 acres, and was designed with an eye to the future. The many buildings are being constructed around the perimeter of a 5,000-car parking lot that is 14 feet below the surface. In event of expansion in years to come, it will be only a simple matter of adding a roof to double the parking capacity.

Each of the major airlines will have its own satellite building and its own ticket building.

Whereas the satellite system has been used at many of the world's larger airports, the airlines have done the construction themselves with an obvious difference in styles.

Six satellite buildings are included in the first construction plans, with space available for two additional buildings.

Each satellite building is being constructed with four levels. Each will contain 108,000 square feet of floor space. The public level of each, above the ground level, will have a lobby, restaurant, coffee shop, cocktail lounge and gift-newsstands. It is from this floor that passengers will board their airplanes by means of telescoping metal covered ramps to give protection from the weather and reduce jet blast noise.

The other floors will contain baggage handling facilities, offices for airline operations and rooms for crews. Many of the major airlines, which have their own private clubs, will locate these in their satellite buildings.

Each satellite will have facilities to load or unload 10 jet transports.

One satellite will be for international flights and contain customs, public health and immigration quarters. Another will be for the joint use of the regional carriers.

Each satellite building will have its own separate ticketing building located at the edge of the parking lot. From the ticket building the satellite can be reached by an underground passageway.

Directly in the center of the parking section stands the $2.2 million Theme Building. In the shape of a huge 135-foot high parabolic arch, the Theme Building is symbolic of the futuristic plan of the international terminal.

At the 70-foot level of the Theme Building there will be a restaurant with an observation deck 10 feet higher. Other facilities in the Theme Building will be an employe cafeteria and central kitchens and commissary for restaurants located in each of the satellite buildings.

Nerve center of the terminal will be the 12-story Administrative Building and its control tower on top. Much of the space in this building already has been occupied by airport administration, Federal Aviation Agency and control equipment. Airport control will be shifted to the new control tower in March. This building cost $1.4 million.

The address of the new International Airport Passenger Terminal will be No. 1 World Way, the name of the drive around the parking area.

For an ultra-modern novelty as well as utilitarian means of inter-terminal transportation a monorail will be installed around the entire perimeter of the terminal. Passenger-carrying cars will travel under a rail suspended above road traffic between the Theme Building and all airline ticketing buildings.

To operate these horizontal elevators the rider will step aboard, drop a quarter in a slot and push a button with the name of the airline office he desires. The car will leave when he closes the door, circle the terminal and comes to a stop at the desired building.

Attack Stops Train

The engineer of the southbound "International" from Vancouver, B.C., braked his train to a stop. Minutes passed. A train crewman was sent ahead.

He found bridgetender Ole O. Brokken, 63, of Marysville, fatally stricken

Brokken had opened the bridge for a passing boat on a slough north of here. He was unable to close it completely, and the automatic "red block" signal stopped all trains.

White Woman Aide To Sand Painters

SANTA FE, N. M. (UPI)—Modern Navajo medicine men wishing to brush up on their sand painting technique often travel 200 miles east of the reservation to view a collection of paintings made by a white woman.

The two-story structure is considered a holy building as well as a museum. It is sometimes called the Navajo house of prayer or mecca. Built in the shape of an Indian hogan, it contains the most complete record of Navajo sand paintings, chants, myths, legends and rites in the world.

It is a monument to a New England woman, Mary Cabot Wheelwright, a descendant of the Boston Cabots, and a medicine man, Hasteen Klah, one of the Navajo's most noted religious leaders.

"The People," as the Navajos call themselves, have a saying that when the last sand painting has been forgotten, the last Navajo will disappear from the earth.

Without an organized priesthood, church or written language, medicine men had orally passed the secrets of the religious rites from generation to generation for hundreds of years.

It is important that every mark on the eight-foot paintings and every word of the myths and chants be unchanged or, the Indians believe, the ceremony will bring evil instead of good. Some of the ceremonies are nine-days long.

Also the Navajos believe it is dangerous to draw or photograph an actual painting when it is completed. Klah was trying to weave them into rugs when he met Miss Wheelwright.

She came to New Mexico in the early 1920's on vacations. On a pack trip to the Navajo country, she met Klah through a trader, whose wife had been making water color sketches of sand paintings from memory.

She memorized and drew some 400 sand paintings before her death in 1958 and collected healing chants, writing hundreds of the songs in longhand. Others contributed to the collection.

The museum-shrine now contains more than 1,500 reproductions of sand paintings; 2,000 recordings of chants; 300 unpublished manuscripts of myths, legends and rites and 12 color films of ceremonies none of which can be exhibited commercially.

Klah dedicated the museum in 1937 and died later that same year at 70. He is buried near the east entrance.

Most of the 85,000 Navajos retain their basic traditional beliefs, based on harmony with nature. They visit the museum from New Mexico, Arizona and Utah.

Teacher Gets Fullbright

Patricia A. Pendergast, Redwood High School history teacher, will spend the summer studying in Brazil on a Fullbright grant, it was announced today.

Miss Pendergast, the third Tamalpais Union High School District teacher to receive such an award for 1961, will attend the summer seminar for American teachers at the University of Brazil in Rio de Janeiro.

Two Sir Francis Drake High School teachers announced earlier as Fullbright grantees were Charles A. Simonds, who will study and travel in India, and Edward W. Hornby, who will be at the University of Paris, Francis.

Miss Pendergast, a resident of San Francisco, is a graduate of Portland University where she majored in history and journalism. She began teaching at Redwood in 1959. Her classes include world history and Latin American history.

Lisbon Ready To Spill Over Tagus River

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Historic Lisbon, for centuries having prospered on the right bank of the River Tagus, has growing pains that are pushing it across the waterway.

The main problem in the picturesque Portuguese capital is the steadily increasing traffic. The city's 1-year-old subway presently is being extended in all directions, but the real answer to the problem is a bridge across the Tagus.

Work on it is expected to begin next year by a group of companies headed by the U.S. Steel Corp.

The bridge will be of the high level suspension type. Its span will be 3,317 feet long. Five other spans will be 1,540 feet each. The main towers will rise 603 feet above the water and the central span will have a vertical clearance of 238 feet for ships.

Thirteen miles of approach roads will be constructed along with the bridge. The bridge will have four lanes for highway traffic and a central mall which will be converted into a fifth lane when necessary.

This usually easy going coastal city, where spring is more yearly than seasonal, is bustling with activity to cope with the transportation problem.

Underneath the Rossio and Restauradores Squares in the center of town, work is progressing on the subway. To avoid the shallow sub-soil of the Praco do Comercio river front, the subway will go from Rossio into the hilly crust area to the southwest, coming as close to the Tagus as is possible at that point. The northward route is roughly parallel to the one already in existence. A circular route eventually will link up the various lines.

Construction in Lisbon today is not limited to the utilitarian. An impressive new statue of Christ towers over the Tagus estuary from a hilltop opposite the capital. The steel and concrete structure stands 357 feet high. The figure of Christ is 91 feet high and set on top of a 266-foot-high pedestal.

African Fish 'Planted' To Eat Aquatic Plants

Moss is especially prevalent in impounded waters in the southern part of the United States.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Department has experimented with various management techniques, including the use of chemicals. To date, no satisfactory solution has been found.

The department's fisheries division is now trying another approach — the use of fish themselves.

The department has acquired a large number of fish known as African bream from a private hatchery in Tampa, Fla. They have been stocked in Lake Catherine, near Hot Springs.

Andrew Hulsey, chief of the Fisheries Division, said the fish feed heavily on aquatic plants.

Hulsey said the African bream is a tropical species and is prolific. In a year's time, he said, they will weigh one pound and are an excellent food fish.

The question is, however, how well will they survive the cold Arkansas winters.

Hulsey said if the fish help control the moss, and if they should die of the cold, the department will restock them, each spring in other Arkansas lakes.

Pressure Of TV Aerials, Jets Cited

CONCORD, N. H. (UPI)—Television aerials and the thunder of jet engines are among the 20th Century pressures which can ruin a community if they are left uncontrolled.

That's the opinion of Richard Preston, executive director of the New Hampshire Planning and Development Commissions, who believes that the key to survival is community planning.

He compared these economic pressures to fire.

"Planned use of fire is fundamental to human existance," he said. "In like manner, it takes only common sense to harness . . . economic pressures which can overwhelm us today if left to their own devices."

Preston said that you do not have to look far to find these pressures.

"They are everywhere evident: The ever-increasing car and truck traffic, the crowded school busses; the television aerials, the weekend vacation, the thunder of jet engines.

"These pressures overwhelm our communities, dissipate our resources and occasion overwhelming fiscal burdens," he said.

Planning is the way to make these "pressures" profit the community, he explained.

Preston said uncontrolled residential, commercial, industrial or recreational expansion "has brought many a community to its fiscal knees."

He warned that "a balance must be arrived at and maintained."

"This process is called financial planning or capital budgeting, but whatever its technical name, it is just plain common sense," he said.

"It certainly is not to man's best interests if his life and livelihood are threatened by fire, flood, drought, plague or by the forces of progress.

Britain Has Witches But They're Harmless

LONDON (UPI) — Britons beware! That pretty girl you have your eye on might turn out to be a witch.

After a year of research, Rev. Joseph Christie, S.J., a Roman Catholic priest, says he is convinced there are practicing witches in Britain.

"People who think the cult of witchcraft died here centuries ago are quite wrong," said Father Christie. "But these days, no self-respecting witch would wish to be associated with evil."

Father Christie said witches could generally be defined as persons who believe in the power of charms and incantations to influence persons or events. For example, he said, the witches of Britain believe that during World War II, one of their mass incantations forced Adolf Hitler to alter his plans to invade England.

In his research, he said, he did not find any evidence that witches were attempting to use whatever powers they thought they had for evil purposes.

The priest said the gathering of witches today were more like social events devoted to such harmless matters as the chanting of fertility rites and ritual dances.

Father Christie said consorting with the devil is demonology, rather than witchcraft, and he found no evidence that witches were involved in such a practice.

When asked by newsmen what the 20th century witch looks like, Father Christie smiled and said: "They certainly are not all old and ugly. Often they are attractive young people."

The priest said he started his inquiry with a background of 25 years of interest in the occult matters simply to satisfy himself whether the practices of witchcraft and black magic still persist in Britain.

Once word of his interest got around, he found that the confidence generated by the knowledge he could be trusted with secrets brought to him a great deal of material from university graduates and country folk alike.

"I received so much that I am preparing a series of television programs on my investigation," Father Christie said. "Of course, I have promised not to reveal names or places. But there does not seem to be much doubt witchcraft exists."

Father Christie said he had also come across verified reports of black magic. In some rural areas he found a lingering belief that curses can be "put upon" people.

Britain was one of the centers for witches in the heydey of the 17th century witch-hunts—when the Salen trials were under way across the Atlantic in Massachusetts.

Professional "witch-finders" roamed England at that time. One of them, Matthew Hopkins, with a team of six apprentices, tortured at least 200 persons to make them confess they were witches.

Manufacturer Digs Up Facts About Sleeping

CHICAGO (UPI) — Charles Dickens would sleep in a bed only if the headboard were pointed due north, and E. W. Howe, the Kansas editor, once remarked: "There is only one thing people like that is good for them: a good night's sleep."

These and other oddities concerning famous people and beds were collected recently by the Northern Electric Company, blanket manufacturers, in compiling "A Sleep Reader for Insomniacs."

They also discovered:

—The early Egyptians are credited with putting beds on legs in an attempt to get the snakes to go under, not over, them while they were asleep.

—The famous Bed of Ware accommodated 68 sleepers. It belonged to King Edward IV of England who could fit 34 or more persons in the trundle bed which slipped underneath.

—Benjamin Franklin was of the opinion that women needed more sleep than men. He advocated "six hours for a man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool."

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Cornelius T. Canavan posted bail of $75 in City Court when arraigned on a charge of failing to pay for parking tickets—41 of them.

Police said Canavan had allowed the tickets to pile up over a period of time they described as "considerable."

Oil Derrick Ships May Drill In Gulf

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—The economic gamble of oil exploration in the submerged lands of the Gulf of Mexico may soon be solved by drilling ships topped with oil derricks.

Already there are a dozen or so drilling ships operating in the gulf, and industry leaders believe the new operation will be the answer to future offshore drilling operations.

Since 1945 the companies have spent some $3 billion on gulf drilling and have produced gas and oil worth only $725 million. The annual income currently is about $200 million an dthe companies pour $250 million back in reinvestment.

The American Petroleum Institute (API) notes that the drilling ships will provide a great attraction for oilmen. The ships will bring drillers into areas too deep for conventional off-shore platform wells and they will mean that many saltwater areas can be explored and developed.

The API also points out that the ships permit well completion without the conventional drilling platform, which in the gulf can easily cost several million dollars.

Currently two types of drilling ships are being used. One is the over-the-side rig that permits well completion above the water level, and the other is the centership rig that utilizes undersea completion devices.

Both have to be towed to a drilling site, but maritime authorities often require a captain and several able-bodied seamen to be aboard.

Workers aboard the drilling ships learn to speak a mixture of roughneck and old salt. Terms like "windjammer" and "crow's nest" are heard along with oilfield expressions like "monkey board" and "mousetrap."

And just like sailors, the drillers learn to watch the skies for weather signs that can make a deep sea oil hunt a treacherous operation.

In the gulf, several mobile platforms have been capsized by silt bottoms.

The biggest threat is from hurricanes with high velocity winds and giant waves backed by swift currents.

The drilling ship's future in the oil business depends upon its ability to overcome the economic and oceanographic obstacles the API points out.

The industry must be able to realize a reasonable profit on its investment before the off-shore oil hunt can be pushed to deep waters, and this means the drilling ship must demonstrate that it can save money in submerged lands, where drilling and equipment mosts continue to increase.

TO REDUCE PILFERING

Business May Use Lie-detector Tests

The reason? American business is adopting the scientific interrogation technique to reduce embezzlement and pilferage losses which last year reached an all-time high of $1.5 billion.

Lincoln M. Zonn, a commercial examiner who has run many more tests on housewives than murderers, reports that non-criminal cases account today for 95 per cent of all lie detector interrogations.

"Screening is most in demand by supermarkets, warehouses, department stores and banks, all with staffs handling large amounts of merchandise or cash," Zonn said.

"It's a safe bet that around 20,000 firms have screened one or more employes. Within the next two years this number will probably double."

Zonn noted that business uses the lie detector primarily when specific wrongdoing is uncovered, as is the case in the criminal investigation field. But where a signed confession usually leads to prosecution in criminal cases, business prefers to handle its wrongdoers outside of the courts, he said.

"Bonding companies make restitution based on the confession plus other proof of loss," he explained.

In more than half of the cases uncovered, pilferers are either reemployed or the bonding company finds other employment for them in order to get back money paid on the bond. Money can't be recouped when a man sits in prison.

"Of course, the man is screened carefully to determine the likelihood of further wrongdoing, and in almost every case he is required to sign an agreement to sit for periodic lie detector examination.

Pre-employment interrogation has gained favor with many companies, Zonn said. He noted that a truthful answer to the question of intention to remain on the job in Florida after the winter season can determine the success of an entire training program.

A former intelligence officer, Zonn reported a management trend to screen new executive trend to screen new executives who might be potential undercover operatives for competitor firms.

"To prevent these after-shave-lotion-scented Mata Haris from walking off with a new car design or product innovation, all it takes is an answer to the man's intent to divulge company information," he said.

"The truth here is worth a fortune."

Bay Home Building Boom Is Noted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Residential construction in the San Francisco Bay Area in 1960 was the second highest in the history of the nine-county region, Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co. reported today.

Last year 46,094 dwelling units were built, compared to the record of 49,355 in 1959 and the 10-year average of 37,800.

Santa Clara accounted for 36 per cent and Alameda County for 22 per cent.

Multiple dwellings continued to increase, accounting for almost 44 per cent. They reached 56 per cent in the first two months of 1961, the bank said.

Swim Pools Of Future May Clean Themselves

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Swimming pools of tomorrow will clean and maintain themselves, according to Everett Landon of the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Landon noted that millions of dollars are being spent on pool safety, including electronic warning and safety devices designed to prevent accidents.

"Warning devices already are available that give instant alarm when any object falls into the water," Landon said "Closed circuit television surveillance systems for pools have been developed by electronic leaders."

But more than that, Landon said, is development of "the self-cleaning pool."

He pointed out that cleaning a pool now costs an average owner more than $20 a month, using long-handled vacuum cleaners and drainage.

According to Landon, a new device that "looks something like a miniature flying saucer" will solve this by automatically cleaning the pool floor and walls "with nothing more than the flow of incoming water."

Landon said the device, which already has passed tests, will "cost so little it will pay for itself in less than a summer's operation."

Russian Astronaut 'Feels Fine' After Pioneer Trip In Space

World Hails Feat; Moscow Jubilant

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet air force Maj. Yuri A. Gagarin, a big grin on his face, said today he felt fine and suffered no injuries on the historic orbit around earth that made him the world's first spaceman.

Russians danced for joy in the streets at the feat of Soviet rocketry and the flight of the stocky, 27-year-old cosmonaut in his silvery space suit. From all over the world came praise that compared the son of a carpenter to Columbus, Magellan and Lindbergh. Automatically, he became not only the first man in space but also the world's fastest man—traveling at speeds in excess of 25,000 m.p.h.

Stepping from his space cabin somewhere in the Soviet Union, Gagarin reported the earth looked light blue to him during his flight and the skies around him were very dark.

"I feel well," he said. "I have no injuries or bruises."

Scientists and physicians took him off for intensive examination.

On the basis of their findings will come the next step. Russian delegates to a space convention in Florence, Italy, said the goal now is to send a man to the moon.

"The battle of space is half won," said a jubilant Soviet scientist.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, vacationing in Sochi on the Black Sea, talked to Gagarin by phone and sent him a cable saying, "I hug you. See you soon in Moscow."

Sources indicated there had been a Soviet attempt last Friday to launch a spaceman but that it failed. There were no other details, although it was reported in Moscow Monday that a man-in-space attempt had been made Friday.

Tens of thousands of Muscovites snaked through the streets cheering Gagarin's name. There has not been such excitement in the Soviet capital since V-E day.

The five-ton space ship named Vostov (east) blasted off at 9:07 a.m. Moscow time today.

A multi-stage rocket such as the ones used to launch and return Soviet animals from orbit hurled it out of the earth's atmosphere and into egg-shaped orbit.

Maximum altitude (apogee) was 187¾ miles. Minimum altitude (perigee) was 109½ miles. The ship passed over South America and South Africa.

Total time in orbit was 89.1 minutes, time for approximately one revolution of earth cruising at speeds in excess of 17,000 m.p.h.

Best estimate was that Gagarin spent another 19 minutes approaching orbit and returning to earth from orbit for a total time off the ground of about one hour, 48 minutes.

The spaceship was under control of scientists on the ground. Retro-rockets were fired and at 10:55 a.m., the spaceship was back on earth with Gagarin apparently safe and sound.

By radio he described the sensation of weightlessness as he hurtled through the void of space.

"I withstand well the state of weightlessness," he reported.

One of the first messages Gagarin was said to have sent on landing was:

"Please report to the (Communist) party and the

No Atonement, Lawyer Tells Israel Court

Prosecutor Gives Nine-Hour Speech In Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Chief Israeli prosecutor Gideon Hausner told an impassive Adolf Eichmann today there can be no atonement, no forgiveness and no forgetting the man who tried to exterminate the Jewish people.

Hausner, in a nine-hour speech, rejected a plea by Eichmann's German lawyer Robert Servatius that Israel has no right to try the one-time S.S. colonel because the court is biased and its operations illegal.

MORAL, LEGAL

The trial is both moral and legal, Hausner said, adding that if Israel did not try Eichmann the greatest mass murderer in history might go scott free.

"I request that this court decide its authority to sit in judgment for these crimes," he said.

NO COURT TOMORROW

The court does not sit tomorrow. Tomorrow is the day when Israel commemorates the slaughter of those six million Jews by the Nazis. It is "holocaust day," inaugurated by a two-minute silence at 8 a.m.

When the court adjourned until tomorrow, Hausner said he would require another hour to complete his arguments to prove Israel's right to try Eichmann.

Servatius, the German lawyer who defended Nazi war criminals at Nuernberg, said he would require about half on hours to give his answer. The court then is expected to retire to weigh a decision on Servatius' demands Eichmann be tried by an international court.

SAME SUIT

Eichmann betrayed no signs of emotion today as he heard the chief prosecutor denounce him as a mass murderer and warn that there can be no forgiveness and no forgetting the mass slaughter of Jews.

Wearing the same dark grey suit he had worn on the opening day yesterday, Eichmann sat most of the day slumped in his chair with head phones clamped on his ears, listening to the German translation. Most of the time his eyes were on Judge Moshe Landau, president of the court.

The attorney general droned on hour after hour in a high-pitched monotonous voice that seemed at times to bore even the judges.

G.M. Charged By U.S. With Diesel Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Motors Corp. was charged in a criminal indictment today with using its vast economic power illegally to monopolize the production and sale of diesel locomotives.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the indictment, voted by a federal grand jury at New York City after more than two years of investigation of GM, the world's largest single industrial enterprise.

The indictment said that as a result of policies pursued by G.M. it has captured 84.1 per cent of the railroad locomotive zusiness, two "substantial competitors" have been driven out of the market and others have been reduced to small percentages of the railroads' business.

The violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act charged by the grand jury carries a maximum penalty of a $50,000 fine.

Kennedy, Adenauer Discuss How To Strengthen NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy and West Gerhany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today discussed ways of achieving greater unity in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The president and Adenauer conferred for 90 minutes at the White House. Also at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and West Germany's foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano.

After the session, the first of what is to be a series of conferences, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen:

"The chancellor and the president had a personal discussion for about an hour and a half's duration on the problems of NATO and on ways to achieve greater unity in NATO.

"The talks this morning were in general a continuation of discussions held between the chancellor and Dean Acheson in Germany."

Adenauer arrived here last night.

Rainy Skies Clear, But They'll Return

Marin's rainy skies were expected to clear tomorrow morning, but return later in the day and continue through Sunday, the Weather Bureau said today.

Small amounts of rain fell in the county. San Rafael had .01 of an inch; Foodacre, .08; Tamalpais Valley, .07; Belvedere, a trace, and Sausalito, .02.

Tonight's low temperature will be 44 to 49, with west to northwest winds.

Mishaps Snarl Traffic At Commute Rush

Two cars overturned without injury to anybody, several others were involved in a series of crashes, and Highway 101 southbound traffic was jammed up from the Waldo Grade back to the Alto interchange around the 8 a.m. rush hour today.

Misty rain was blamed, although the California Highway Patrol said human nature played a big part. The accidents were in the northbound lanes but the traffic bottleneck was due to "rubbernecking" of San Francisco-bound commuters.

The first accident was at 7:45 a.m., when a car driven by 3/C Richard M. Flower of Hamilton Air Force Base went into a skid and overturned 500 feet north of Sausalito's Monte Mar Drive.

Patrolman J. J. Flynn hastened to set out warning flares, but traffic refused to slow until drivers could see the accident. This caused a succession of unscheduled braking maneuvers on wet pavement.

An unidentified woman driver put her car into a broadside near Spencer Avenue, south of the first upset, at 8 a.m.

Close behind her, William Arthur Johnson, San Francisco fireman, braked sharply because of the excitement ahead. His car also broadsided and struck the divider at the left, overturning partly onto the divider area. Patrolman James Dukes went into action in an effort to keep other traffic away from the second wreck and normal flow was soon restored.

'THE FIRST TO DARE'

Spaceman's Portrait: 'Kind, Russian Face'

LONDON (AP)—Moscow television presented a picture of the Soviet Union's first spaceman today, describing him as a man with "a good, honest smile."

"For those who did not see this picture we should like to give a description of this splendid man.

"On the screen appears the image of a man aged about 25-28 with a kind, Russian face, eyes set well apart, fine bushy brows and high forehead.

"He wears a flying helmet, a light overall suit. He smiles a good, honest smile. And is there any need to add that this man who has been the first to dare to fly to space, to reach for the stars, to look down on our earth, is a man of very great and very real character. This is evident in his smile, in the intelligent, fine eyes."

Gagarin was 27 just a month ago.

He is married to Valentina Gagarina, 26, a medical school graduate.

They have two daughters, Yelena, 2, and Galya, a month old.

Gagarin was born March 9, 1934, in the Gzhatsk district of the Smolensk area. When he was 7, he and his family experienced the Nazi invasion and fled into the hinterlands.

At the end of the war the family returned to Gzhatsk to a collective farm. Gagarin resumed his schooling and in 1951 was graduated with distinction from a vocational school.

He qualified as a moulder. Simultaneously, he attended evening classes for working youths and then was sent to an industrial college at Saratov on the Volga.

At Saratov, Gagarin took training in aviation and after graduation attended an air school at Orenburg. He has been a Soviet airman since 1957, a member of the Communist Party since last year.

Europe Bus Tours Dig For Americans

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Paul Revere were still racing about, he'd have a new British movement into the onetime colonies to herald. But he'd have to figure out a lamp signal to designate "motor coach."

Actually the movement is into nothing more than the potential American travel market —and the motor coaches are all overseas, and will stay there.

Providing the leadership for the invasion is affable Lord Mancroft, a former member of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet and chairman of Global Tours, London.

The 260 tour buses operated on the European continent by Lord Mancroft's organization carried some 65,000 vacationers last year on tours ranging from five to 49 days. Only a small number of the patrons were Americans.

Until a year ago the few Americans who took Global tour heard about them and purchased their tickets through a Canadian agent. But an affiliate office was then opened in New York to go after American business in earnest.

Lord Mancroft, in the U.S. on a short visit, said his organization hopes to raise the number of American customers to 5,000 this year—a five-fold increase over the first year of going after the U.S. market.

The tours operate out of London, with passengers boarding their continental tour buses at either Ostend, Belgium, or Calais, France. The all-inclusive fare from London (including transportation, first class hotels, meals and tips) averaging $12 a day has won grudging admiration even from some competitors. Pressed as to whether the European countries could be done for that tariff, Lord Mancroft smilingly noted:

What type people take the tours which range over most of the European countries and down into Turkey and the Holy Land. Lord Mancroft put them into four categories:

—The fairly comfortably off financially.

—The middle aged and older who prefer someone handling arrangements for them while traveling.

—The first-time visitor abroad. (Those on third and fourth trips tend to drive themselves.)

—The professional and white collar classes.

"It's a jolly good way to go," he said. "If any mistakes are going to be made, you aren't going to be the one to make them."

Lord Mancroft said despite the fact that Europe seems saturated with Americans during the summer season, there still are numerous virtually untapped vacation areas, such as Portugal, Malta and even the Italian Riviera.

But for one in the United States to follow up the beginning of a concerted advertising and promotion campaign to lure Americans onto tour buses abroad, Lord Mancroft was quite outspoken on his desire to see more Europeans "repay the compliment you have been paying us for 25 years" and come to the U.S. for a visit.

"People over here don't realize there's quite a lot of money knocking around in Europe," Lord Mancroft said. "We must break down the idea that the U.S. is not a travel area."

He said that of his 65,000 customers last year, at least 1,000 took tours in a price range that could have sent them to the United States instead of around Europe on a Global bus.

Americans Are Playing More Games

NEW YORK (UPI) — From pre-schoolers squealing delightedly in a game of Three Little Pigs to adults engrossed over a Scrabble board, Americans these days are playing games.

They plunked down more than $6 million last year for board games alone—the classics such as checkers and chess, Monopoly, parchesi and Scrabble, and for the latest games based on topics of the times—the stock market, space, politics.

Some 50 or 60 companies manufacture board games. Many of these have experts armed with years of accumulated experience working full-time on game ideas. Nevertheless, some of the best games have been thought up by amateurs; many an inventive school teacher, doctor, lawyer, housewife has earned enviable returns for his ideas.

Along with the encouragement it points out some hard facts that face the inventor. The company manufactures Scrabble, one of the most successful games ever introduced.

Scrabble is the brainchild of Alfred M. Butts, an architect, who worked out his "crossword puzzle game" during idle time in the depression years. For ten years he worked to perfect it and to market it but could arouse no interest among manufacturers in a word game. Even crossword puzzle popularity had waned. Games involving money were more timely, filling people's need to feel prosperous.

In 1948 James Brunot, a friend who had been intrigued by the game, determined to make a fresh effort to launch it and negotiated an agreement to pick up where Butts had left off. For five years he carried on the struggle, producing and selling the game himself, with Selchow & Righter manufacturing the board for him—a courtesy which was to to be repaid many times over. In 1952 the game finally caught fire "overnight," and Selchow & Righter was successful bidder for rights to manufacture and distribute Scrabble.

The big market today is for games that can be played by the entire family; games for only two opponents rarely attain great volume sales. Games must be of their time. Today the emphasis is on accomplishment and learning. People want to know. They want to excel.

Games have to be challenging and knowledge-testing as well as diverting. However, an educational game that is not also fun will not sell.

There are no completely new games, just as there are no completely new story plots. The experts said all games fall into five categories: board games, card games, action games, chess or checkers types and the modern quiz or word games. What makes a new game different is the ther nd the accessories used to carry it out—the board, pawns, tiles, blocks, cards (standard playing cards should not be used since special expensive stock and taxes will add to manufacturing cost).

As a final bit of advice, the firm emphasized the importance of offering the game to a reputable manufacturer and selling it on a royalty basis instead of outright.

FACES ON CALL

Show Of Authority

HEARNE, Tex. (AP)—The city of Hearne fired all its six policemen—and hired them all back 30 minutes later.

The move, said Mayor H. C. Kelly, was to establish the city manager's authority over the police department.

Russian Astronaut Turns A Momentous Page In History

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — In an awesome, daring and thrilling ride, a Soviet astronaut has just turned a momentous page in human history.

For, says Moscow, he has realized the ancient human dream of vaulting into space and safely back home again.

Still ahead, but closer now, lies the goals of leaping to the moon or Mars, or beyond, in the space ocean of so many tantalizing mysteries.

Human exploration of space may well reap untold and surprising new benefits for all people. Or space could become, perhaps, just an extended arena for the political-military testings of men since history began.

The Soviet Union is first, apparently as the result of a careful five-year-plan calculated to seize this prize.

It is another triumph in rapid-fire reachings which have skimmed much of the glory of firsts in the young space age.

This is the first toe-step, by a doughty pioneer. But space beckons many more Russian, American and other space astronauts, to till a fertile new field which now lies open.

The world will read with interest Maj. Yuri Gagarin's eyewitness account of what he felt, what he may have seen of the earth rolling beneath him, or perhaps stars in diamond brilliance in the blackness of space.

Upon his experience depends, partly, the question how soon other men go up, and how far. Is space perhaps too hazardous—are there dangers which had not been foreseen?

The Soviets gave clear notice of their push for manned flight in November, 1957, with Sputnik II. It carried up the dog, Laika. She perished, with no attempt made to recover her.

But this was the first testing whether a living body could withstand the unknowns of crushing, increased weight of rocket takeoff, and the weightlessness of floating in space. And whether life truly could be supported against the hazards of radiation and streaking meteors.

To these questions, Laika answered "yes."

Some space experts think the Soviet Union had started a good two years earlier in preparing the way for man into space, and other exploits.

All give her unquestionably the advantage of tremendously powerful booster rockets to lift heavy, and roomy, satellites.

Some say the Soviet Union was quicker to realize the potential for war—and space—of rockets developed by the Germans in World War II.

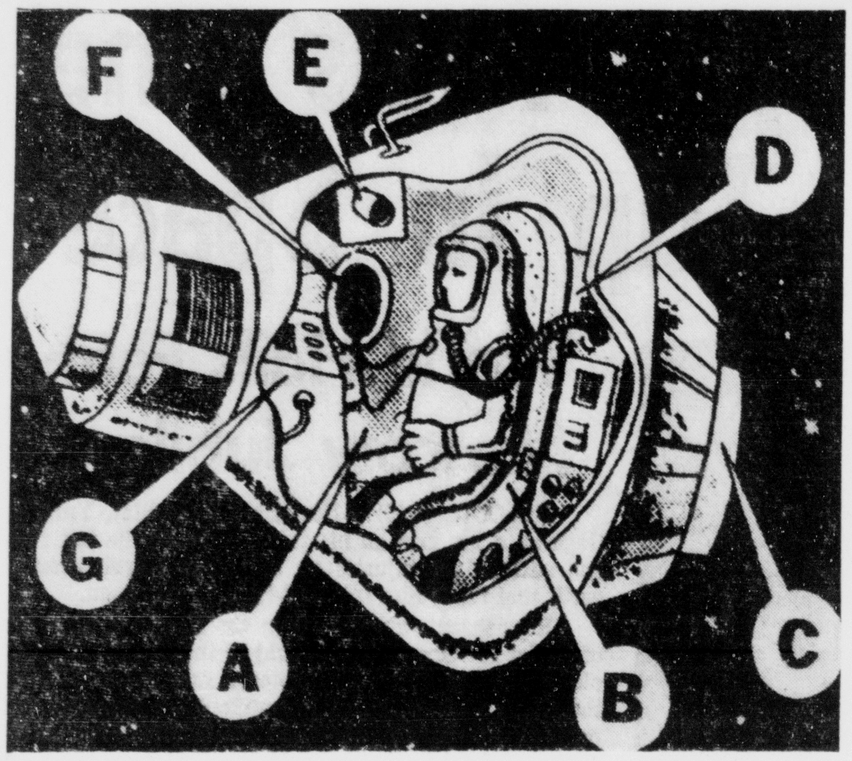
Others credit the Soviets' rapid advances also to faster development of excellent guidance systems, and to concentration upon a few main goals.

The first three Sputniks circled near the earth—testing the problems of near-earth space. Then, abruptly, the Soviets shot for the moon, hitting it, photographing its backside. Then they sent a rocket into orbit around the sun.

Then, starting last year, came the launching of huge five-ton and seven-ton spacecraft around the earth. These carried dogs and other life, preparatory to man.

A hitch developed, apparently, last December when a mistake caused the spacecraft to go amiss and burn up in the atmosphere.

It was a rare admission of any failure.



SPACE CAPSULE — This is a drawing that appeared in the London Daily Worker. It is a Daily Worker artist's sketch of the Soviet capsule that carried a man into space. The paper identified the parts as: A—pressurized cabin; B—foam-padded seat to relieve pressure on takeoff; C—parachutes to slow speed of capsule on descent; D—air supply; E—television cameras, microphone for relaying back to earth; F—porthole; G—instrument panel. Russ Rocket Payloads Are Bigger

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's success in putting a man into earth orbit has given it a running lead in the race to control space.

Before 1961 is over the Soviet may give the United States additional cause to feel a sense of angry frustration.

There is not much doubt anymore that the Soviets have developed far more powerful rockets than the United States and hence have a greater capability in space activities.

TIMETABLE

Indeed the Soviets appear to be working to a space timetable and solving the problems encountered along the way on schedule.

But even if the Soviets are not in position to gain control of space uncontested, the facts remains that a successful man orbit will damage the image of the United States once more as the world's most advanced nation technologically.

Measured by the reported Soviet astronaut shot, the first U. S. effort to send a man on a ballistic trajectory will be scientifically primitive.

The first blow to U. S. scientific pride came on Oct. 4, 1957, when the Soviet Union became the first nation to put an artificial earth satellite into orbit.

38 IN ORBIT

While the United States has since put 38 satellites into orbit (22 are still there), the Soviets have had but 13 successful launchings. But the Soviet payloads have been larger, indicating their rocket boosters are far more advanced than those of the United States.

On Feb. 4, for example, the Soviets put seven tons of animal-carrying satellite into orbit and reported that the capsule had been returned to earth safely.

The United States has never been able to match the Soviet payloads pound for pound.

U.S. SPACEMEN SLEEP THROUGH RUSSIAN FEAT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lt. Col. John Powers, press officer for the U. S. astronauts, was unimpressed when a reporter told him today that Russia had a man in space.

"It's 3 a.m. in the morning, you jerk," Powers shouted into the telephone from Langley Air Force Base, Va.

The reporter suggested that Russia didn't put a man in space as a regular thing and wondered whether Powers might be able to get the views of the American astronauts on the Russian success.

"If you're wanting something from us, the answer is we are all asleep," the press officer snapped.

Soviets Get Praise Of President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today congratulated Soviet scientists and engineers for their feat in putting a man in space and returning him safely.

"The exploration of our solar system," Kennedy said, "is an ambition which we and all mankind share with the Soviet Union and this is an important step toward that goal."

The president, in a statement issued by the White House, said that America's mercury man-in-space program "is directed toward that same end."

Kennedy said "the achievement by the USSR in orbiting a man and returning him safely to ground is an outstanding technical accomplishment."

"We congratulate the Soviet scientists and engineers who made this feat possible," he said.

Moscow Denies Any Russians Died In Space

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

No, Soviet officials insist.

But some Western sources say they believe one or a few Russians did perish in unsuccessful attempts. Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger, head of the medical section of the U.S. Air Force astronaut selection and training program, says he thinks so.

"Utter fabrication," is the Soviet reply.

Space Leader Lauds Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's success in putting a man into earth orbit was praised today as a "splendid achievement" by James E. Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Webb said the feat "is a significant event in terms of the Soviets' own timetable."

He expressed the hope the Soviets will make available to the scientific community the information gained from the experiment.

Closest Date For America Is April 28

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Redstone rocket which the United States had hoped would boost the first man into space stands on a launching pad here. The Soviet Union beat its firing date by at least two weeks.

"So close, yet so far," commented a technician who is helping groom the Redstone to send one of America's astronauts on a short suborbital flight, hopefully late this month or early in May.

HAD TROUBLES

"If we hadn't had those troubles last fall and on the chimp and Little Joe shots this year, we might have made it," the technician said.

"But you have to give the Russian scientists credit. They have accomplished a remarkable break-through."

Project Mercury officials had hoped to achieve a manned Redstone flight last December or January. A series of launch mishaps necessitated additional launchings to qualify the system.

On Nov. 8, a space capsule failed to separate from a Little Joe rocket fired from Wallops Island, Va., in a test of the escape system.

FAULTY CONNECTION

Two weeks later, a Redstone fizzled because of a faulty connection which caused the escape tower to fire, leaving the rocket and capsule on the pad. This test had to be repeated before Ham the space chimpanzee was sent up on a short trip Jan. 31.

An engine thrust regulator stuck on the chimp shot, creating excessive thrust which lofted the chimp, Ham, higher and farther than intended. Another Redstone was fired to prove out corrections made in the regulator, again delaying the manned trip.

TEST FIZZLES

Another setback occurred March 18 when a repeat of the Little Joe escape test fizzled. Another try is set for about April 20 and must succeed before the Redstone now on the pad hurls aloft an astronaut.

Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee in Washington yesterday that the earliest possible date for the manned launching is about April 28.

Birch Leader Asserts U.S. Leaders Duped

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Robert Welch, head of the controversial John Birch Society, said last night the American people and government leaders have been duped into thinking they were fighting communism, when actually they were playing into the hands of Soviet Russia.

Welch, 61, a retired Belmont, Mass., candy maker, spoke for an hour and a half before an enthusiastic capacity crowd of 6,000 persons who paid a dollar apiece to get into Shrine Auditorium to hear him.

"For years," he said, "we have been taken steadily down the road to communism by steps supposedly designed, and presented to the American people, as ways of fighting communism. The whole foreign aid program is an excellent example."

Welch outlined what he described as the Communist "principle or reversal" as their main weapon.

"By the 'liberation' of a country, for instance, such as Cuba," he said, "the Communists mean the imposing on Cuba of a tyrannical Communist dictatorship."

Pickets from the local Socialist Party paraded in front of the auditorium before Welch spoke. He did not see them because he entered the auditorium through the stage door around the corner.

ROBERT WELCH
'Down the road'

In his dessertation on the Communist principle of reversal, Welch mentioned the name of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and drew prolonged applause.

After his formal address Welch stood on the stage for half an hour answering questions from the audience. But he banned any questions from newsmen and refused to hold a press conference.

'MISUNDERSTANDING'

Powers' Wife Has No Word For His Release

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—The wife of imprisoned U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers said today that reports of her husband's impending release and decision to remain in the Soviet Union "were all a misunderstanding."

"I have heard nothing officially. I haven't heard one word that would lead me to believe such a thing," said Mrs. Powers in a telephone interview from her mother's home here.

The London Daily Mail said yesterday that Powers would be freed from a Soviet prison May 1—exactly a year after his reconnaissance plane was shot down over the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Powers conceded that she had talked with a reporter from the Mail, but denied telling him that her husband was to be released.

"I have read that in some instances a prisoner in Russia is permitted to have his family join him when he is transferred from prison to a work camp," she said. "As you know Gary's original sentence was three years in prison and seven years in a work camp.

"Neither my husband nor I have ever been notified whether he is in the classification eligible for the work camp. And even if he were, he would still have to serve two more years in prison before I could join him."

Big Thrust

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A massive 1.64 million pounds of thrust was developed recently in a test of the nation's most powerful single-chamber rocket engine.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said yesterday Rocketdyne's F-1 liquid propellant rocket engine fired at that level for 13 seconds on April 6.

The engine is designed to operate at a thrust level of 1.5 million pounds. This is the same thrust developed by the eight-engine cluster rocket being developed for the Saturn space vehicle.

Businessmen Don't See The Kind Of Japanese The Tourists See

TOKYO (UPI)—There are two Japans and two races living in this country. One country the tourists see, and they rave about the charming countryside and polite Japanese. The other the foreign businessmen see, and they throw up their arms in dismay.

A new book written by Boye de Mente, American editor of a Tokyo trade journal, is a guidebook to Japan for the businessman who has to deal with the Japanese. He makes it out to be a formidable task, not for the faint of heart.

This book, "Japanese Manners and Ethics in Business," might make many foreign companies think twice before they even undertake to do business in Japan. For it relates that the Japanese businessman first of all is not too interested in business, at least in the western sense, and secondly that it's necessary to do battle with many incompetents before any agreement can be signed. And even after the signing, the American businessman may go home and never get the goods he contracted for.

De Mente, who has spent nine years in Japan, says "the Japanese have always been willing and eager to adopt foreign technological methods, but they have either ignored or resisted the philosophy and conduct of business that grew up with these methods."

Some of the frustrating situations in doing business with the Japanese are outlined in short and easy-to-read paragraphs, to wit:

Americans of the tourist variety think the Japanese are polite. This is not found in business where even an American who has traveled to Japan will find it difficult, if not impossible, to meet the "right man" in the company he wants to do business with. And the Japanese invariably fail to answer letters of inquiry.

The Japanese idea of telling the truth has never been based on moral sanctity but is a relative consideration that depends upon obligations. The most common untruths are the small, habitual ones that come naturally and are not intended primarily to deceive, although if one isn't used to the system, they often result in outright deception.

Japan has a "shame" culture, American a "guilt" culture. One of the most dreaded things that can happen to a Japanese is to be shamed, to fail in any kind of competition or be revealed as inferior or less capable than anyone else. Because of their dreadful fear of competition the Japanese have become geniuses in ways of avoiding it.

Being a businessman in "old Japan" was the lowest of the low "professions." It also was forbidden to engage in trade between the prefectures as each wanted to remain a self-contained unit.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Mistake In Return? File Again Soon

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Have you filed your 1960 federal income tax return and now find that an error has been made?

Peter J. Wikel

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find that you have made a mistake, you should then immediately file an amended return. Claim the refund due because of the mistake, or pay the additional tax you owe. Don't feel bad about making a mistake. Lots of people make mistakes.

If there is any additional tax due for 1960, and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by Monday, April 17, no penalty will accrue.

If you find after you have filed your return that you would have done better to itemize your deductions rather than having filed under the standard deduction — you can still amend your return. If you filed on form 1040A or elected to take the standard deduction for 1958, 1959 or 1960, you can now go back and change your election. You can file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is an additional amount to be refunded, the filing of an amended return will result in your receiving the additional refund.

You can file an amended return at any time, where additional tax is due, and pay the additional tax and interest and penalties.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds at any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax—whichever is the longer period.

The last year for which you can file an amended return claiming an additional refund is 1957. This return was due April 15, 1958. An amended return for 1957 would have to be filed by Monday, April 17.

Some 770,000 boys and girls serve in the nation's school traffic safety patrols.

San Anselmo Awards Contract For Ball Park

A new ball park behind Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo will be built for $1,960 by San Anselmo contractor John Komo Jr.

He was the only bidder on the project as deadline for bids arrived last night. San Anselmo city councilmen said the bid is about $200 more than the engineer's estimate, but since the baseball field will be needed right away, they awarded the job to Komo.

The contract calls for construction of a baseball diamond, including backstop and dugout. Work should be completed in 25 days.

In other actions last night, the San Anselmo council:

1. Approved rezoning of 23 and 29 Belle Avenue from one-family residential to multiple residential. Owners are Anselm Ferrero and Gertrude McKnew.
2. Approved hiring two firemen for vacation relief for May and June at a cost of $1,660. Vacation relief for July and August will be considered in the new budget.
3. Asked Administrator Douglas Flautt to study the salaries of the fire chief and police chief and their assistants and present recommendations on April 25. The chiefs now get $676 per month, and their assistants $55 less. Fire Chief Nello Marcucci has been getting $75 additional in his role as superintendent of streets. However, with the hiring of the city public works director, this question arises: Should the fire chief continue to get the $75 additional?
4. Authorized payment of $9,912 to buy parcel five of Donald Perry's property, which is the old railroad right of way between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and San Anselmo Avenue. Three more parcels of Perry's land remain to be purchased for eventual widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.
5. Asked the administrator to look around for an inexpensive car that can be purchased as surplus property for the use of the city mechanic, who is now using his own pickup truck.
6. Paid $42,019 in monthly claims, plus $8,316 as progress payment on the library addition.

Boy, 8, On Bike Is Struck Down

An 8-year-old boy on a bicycle suffered minor injuries when struck by a slowly moving car on Beach Drive near San Pedro Road, East San Rafael, yesterday afternoon.

David Lewis Baker, 17-year-old College of Marin student of 6 Beach Drive, told the California Highway Patrol he had just crested a hill after turning off San Pedro Road and it was difficult to see close to the ground when little Charles Walter Tobener of 26 Beach Drive suddenly pedaled into the middle of the road and was struck by Baker's car. Marin General Hospital treated him for a cut over the left eye and a hip bruise.

Baker was not cited.

KEEP LIBRARY PROCEDURE

Hub City To Silence Noisy Street Sweeper

San Anselmo is taking pains to silence its noisy street sweeper so residents won't be rousted out of bed each morning.

However, the city council last night decided not to interfere with the city library card procedure, another point that has raised the wrath of some citizens.

San Anselmo is the only city in the county which requires that a property owner have another property owner as guarantor before a library card is issued.

Administrator Douglas Flautt said he took this matter up with the library board, which voted 3-to-2 to retain the present policy. Flautt said the library board feels there is not enough of a problem to change a policy that has been in effect for years.

Councilman William Franchini reported the librarian told him 17 books were lost last year, and if a co-signer is required, the book borrower will be extra careful in returning books because he does not want to embarrass the co-signer.

The council voted 4-to-1 to uphold the library board's policy. Mayor Carleton G. E. Little said he would like to support the library board, but in this case he would have to vote "no."

Criticism of the library board procedure came to the council's attention two weeks ago, with a complaint from Richard Steinheimer of 8 Sunny Drive. Last night, Bill Stevens of 60 Tamalpais Avenue added his complaint. He said he has owned property for two years, and no one in his family has a library card.

Stevens said he may be "cutting off my nose to spite my face" but he will not go to the extent of asking for a neighboring property owner to sign his library card.

Councilmen suggested that he appear before the library board to discuss the matter. The next meeting of the library board is May 8.

The city administrator reported that the problem of the noisy street sweeper is being licked. The city mechanic has changed oil, checked hydraulic parts, and changed the fan blade. If these do not cut down the noise, the mechanic feels he can try several other things.

Fire Chief Nello Marcucci reported that yesterday morning was the first time he had not heard the street sweeper, and the change in fan blade seems to be working.

Fort Mason Employees Given Honor Rating

Marin City Rides Offered In Vote

A door-to-door campaign started today in Marin City to get out the vote for the Tamalpais Union High School District three million dollar bond issue.

Rides will be arranged for persons who cannot get to the polls for the Tuesday election, said committee chairman Mrs. Thurman Barnes. Persons wishing rides may notify Mrs. Barnes at House 102.

Little Named Mayor Of San Anselmo

Little, who has been on the city council for three years, was nominated by Franchini and elected by a 3-to-1 vote. Councilman Arthur W. Smith opposed Little, and Little himself abstained from voting.

Smith explained his ideas have been "poles apart" from those of Councilman Little and therefore "I couldn't support him." Smith nominated Councilman John M. Reichmuth for mayor. Reichmuth thanked Smith for the nomination but declined the honor and seconded the nomination of Little.

On motion of Smith, Reichmuth was then elected vice mayor by unanimous vote.

The election was in accordance with the city council's announced practice of rotating the mayoralty among the five councilmen.

The council last night also passed an ordinance providing two regular meeting each month instead of one. The meetings are set for the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

HUB COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS DISMISSALS

San Anselmo's new mayor, Carleton G. E. Little, announced last night that an executive session of the council will be held next Tuesday night to discuss possible dismissal of a city employee or employees.

The meeting, closed to the public, is set for 8 p.m. at the city hall.

For several months, city fathers have expressed dissatisfaction over confusion in the city's bookkeeping. Two weeks ago, they hired an auditing firm from San Francisco to go over the entire fiscal procedure of the city. The results of that survey have not been announced as yet.

Harrisburg, Pa., was laid out in 1785 by John Harris Jr., whose father first opened a trading post on the site in 1710.

Parking Is Restricted On Narrow Hub Street

No parking will be permitted hereafter on the south of Florence Avenue in San Anselmo, the city council decided last night on recommendation of the city administrator and chief of police.

Chief Raymond R. Buchignani reported that when cars are parked on both sides of the street, traffic cannot go through the narrow street.

The city council also voted to replace existing lights on San Anselmo Avenue between Center Boulevard and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard with new 2,500-lumen lights. Existing lights are 1,000 lumens. The electric bill will go up from $1.90 per month per light at present to $2.95 per month for each new light.

City Administrator Douglas Flautt reported that a new light pole will be erected temporarily in front of the city hall to try out a new ball-type light on top of a 30-foot pole. The city council is trying to decide whether to buy these new lights or the conventional type for use in re-lighting the downtown area.

Sausalito Planners To Meet Tonight

The Sausalito Planning Commission tonight will hear requests by Douglas Lange Corp. for three variances to permit construction of a 49-room hotel with restaurant on Bridgeway near the Village Fair.

A request by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) for a variance to permit a directional sign (already erected) also will be heard at the 8 p.m. meeting in the Sausalito City Hall.

Honorable Mention

A water color by Belvedere artist Dale Conrad, entitled "Nude Study," won honorable mention at a Society of Western Artists exhibit at M. H. deYoung Musem in Golden Park, San Francisco. Conrad's work is among 122 exhibits which will be on public display from April 19 through May 21.

Views of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, already on record as opposed to a large-area Point Reyes National Seashore, nevertheless have been requested by Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) on the apparent assumption that it's bound to happen.

A letter read to the board yesterday said Miller feels that House committee hearings indicate establishment of the seashore "will have a beneficial effect on the economy of the county" but would like the supervisors' ideas about possible federal payment in lieu of taxes immediately lost if the government takes the area.

Any thoughts advanced by the board on this, Miller promised, will be put before the chairman of the interior committee.

Miller said he believed the federal government should insure that the county's ad valorem taxpayers "do not carry any additional burden, even temporarily, because of establishment" of a seashore.

He noted an estimate by Marin Assessor Bert W. Broemmel of $60,000 tax loss if the 53,000-acre project materializes and said there is precedent for asking some sort of temporary compensation.

Miller also wanted an expression on the zoning of approaches and adjacent areas to prevent "honky-tonk development" near park entrances.

He closed on a wistful note, expressing "hope that the majority of the board and I will be in closer agreement." But the board had no comment.

School Attendance Pact Is Delayed

The San Rafael Board of Education deferred action last night on a proposal to let present San Jose School District eighth graders attend Novato High School next year—if they want to—under an inter-district attendance agreement.

The San Jose district is now part of the San Rafael High School District. A movement is under way to merge San Jose and the Novato Unified School District into a new unified district.

San Rafael Supt. Frank L. Lucas told the board that an election on the proposed merger could not be held until late August or September. If approved, the merger could not become effective until 1962.

Proponents of the merger have asked the Novato and San Rafael boards to consider granting inter-district attendance agreements to allow eighth graders to choose whether want to attend Novato or San Rafael High their freshman year.

Such an agreement would be made with the understanding that all would go to Novato the following year if the merger is approved, or all would return to San Rafael if it fails.

A survey of the San Jose eighth graders indicates about 75 would like to start at Novato next fall, Lucas said.

The superintendent said that from a financial standpoint, it would be of little consequence to San Rafael. It would cost the district less to send the students to Novato than educate them here, he said.

He noted, however, that any decision on the freshmen must be reached by the end of the month, to avoid hiring more staff than will be needed in San Rafael.

Lucas reported a "considerable amount of enthusiasm" in the San Jose district for the merger—enthusiasm that was not present in two previous elections when the proposal failed to pass.

Board member Willard Vernon said approving the inter-district agreements was "just asking for trouble." Member Rex Silvernale said that it was "making children a pawn in something we have no control over here."

Silvernale added that after the trustee election Tuesday he would like to know the position of the new San Jose board.

FINALLY MADE IT

New School Building Scheduled To Start

By ELLEN BRY

With luck, construction is expected to start this week on a seventh and eighth grade school for the San Jose School District.

Rains and red tape have already delayed construction for more than two months. Trustees of the district have faced so many delays that they now just ruefully shake their heads in a "what next?" attitude when talking about the school.

The problems began in November, when site work started. Piombo Brothers of San Rafael had the contract for grading the 17½ acre site.

In a calculated gamble, grading was started before the district had received a state loan for construction and before construction contracts had been awarded. The gamble was aimed at having the 14-classroom school, designed by Reid, Rockwell, Banwell and Taries of San Francisco, ready for occupancy next September, to house the burgeoning school population which last September numbered 1,851 students and now stands at 2,234. About 2,250 students are expected by next fall.

Piombo Brothers started grading the acreage at San Jose Boulevard and Sunset Parkway. School officials went to the state allocations board for the funds for the school.

Funds are allocated according to district need. San Jose officials found other districts had even greater need for funds. They tried again and again to reach the top of the money list with enough "priority points."

Finally they made it. Then the state "ran out of money" for school construction. Gov. Edmund G. Brown in February signed special legislation making nearly 30 million dollars in state funds available for school construction loans. San Jose picked up a maximum of $583,300 for the building.

Construction bids were opened in February. Low bid was $455,717 by Reynolds Construction Co., Santa Rosa. But trustees were happy that there was a minor snafu in the bid, later cleared up after a slight delay. School officials were no longer in a rush to begin the construction.

"The rains came," Supt. Philip Schneider says succinctly. They washed at the grading site so that Piombo Brothers could not get the required amount of compaction of earth. No compaction, no construction.

The state slightly lowered its requirements on compaction. The rains stopped for a few days, started again, stopped, started.

Then the graders hit underground water.

Springs flowed on the site with springtime abandon. Soil engineers from Woodward-Clyde-Sherard and Associates in Oakland conferred with district trustees. Provisions probably will have to be made for added drainage facilities which may cost an additional $3,000 to $4,000.

Schneider said that when soil tests were made prior to grading, there was no water running in underground springs and that such springs are almost impossible to detect.

Contractor Ray Piombo could make no definite estimate of how much his company has lost by having men and equipment sidelined at the site, waiting for rains and springs to cease, but remarked wryly, "it's not doing us any good."

It is not a unique problem in the district. Pacheco School still has a "nice" spring which sprouts each spring, Schneider says. Two springs at the Loma Verde School are diverted underground and the school is built on pilings, the deepest about 35 feet because of unstable soil.

Construction contractors and school officials are to meet this week, with the district hoping to work out a crash program which just maybe ("put it in capital letters," Schneider said) will get the 14 classrooms up by September. Administration offices and library-material center would be left until last.

If the school is completed, the district can make it next term without double session classes, Schneider said.

One other thing worries Schneider: the district, in seven construction projects since 1953, has never completed one without having had it delayed by strike.

U.S. Grant III Drubbed At War Fete

New Jersey delegates called for removal of the chairman, Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III (ret.), for sponsoring a Southern speaker "who grossly insulted us."

The threat to try to depose the 80-year-old grandson of the famed Union general came at the height of the three-day round of centennial luncheons, banquets, receptions and ceremonies.

FIRST BATTLE

The firing on Fort Sumter, first battle of the Civil War 100 years ago, will be re-enacted tonight.

The first oratorical bomb in the verbal civil war was exploded unexpectedly by Charleston-born Ashley Halsey, an associate editor of the Saturday Evening Post.

Halsey's claim that New Jersey practices racial discrimination led to a New Jersey protest at the national commission's banquet last night.

Vice chairman Joseph Dempsey of the New Jersey Centennial Commission said he wanted to ask the national commission "to determine who is responsible for this pathetic mismanagement and ask the president of the United States to remove him."

WINS APPLAUSE

Grant won applause when he adjourned the banquet without yielding the floor to the New Jersey chairman, Donald Flamm. Dempsey said the protest would be put in a formal resolution to the commission's business session today.

The New Jersey delegation, whose Negro member caused President John F. Kennedy to order national sessions held at the integrated Charleston naval base, charged earlier "there is ample evidence" that Grant should not be running the program of the congressionally created national commission.

Jaycees Win Waiver On License Fees

The Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce won city council approval last night of a waiver of business license fees for two commercial shows during its annual Western Weekend celebration June 16-18.

A financial statement from the Jaycees showed $2,711 was grossed at last year's celebration and that there was $2,221 in expenses.

Of the $490 surplus, $200 went to a student scholarship, the remainder for jaycee projects, President David G. Douglass reported.

This year, the chamber plans a carnival June 14-18 from which the chamber would receive $1,000 or 20 per cent of the gross, whichever is greater.

The junior chamber must guarantee $2,000 for a group of Indian dancers who also will set up an Indian "village" in the city.

Councilmen shook their heads over the business aspects of the $2,000 guarantee. "That $2,000 worries me," Mayor Wayne Womack said.

"It worries us, too," Douglass replied.

"How's your rain insurance," asked Councilman Everett Pozzi.

Felon Admitted For Execution

Robert Green Hughes, 27, will be the 34th inmate now in the prison awaiting execution. There are 32 cells in Death Row and all are full.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the isolation cells across from the Death Row cells are now being used to house condemned men.

California farmers annually use more than two million tons of plant foods and agricultural minerals.

HAZARDS CITED

No Action Is Taken On Highway Overpass

A pedestrian overpass from Coleman School to Lincoln Avenue over Highway 101 would reduce the physical hazards for children going to the school and save about 60 youngsters a half mile walk, Supt. Frank L. Lucas told the San Rafael Board of Education last night.

Lucas said about 180 pupils attending Coleman live west of the highway, and about 60 of these are in the area immediately across from the school.

The California Division of Highways has reported the overpass will cost about $100,000, Lucas said. The school district can submit a report and evidence to substantiate a request for the overpass, he noted.

The City of San Rafael has asked for immediate consideration of the overpass, Lucas said.

The board took no action.

The board deferred until the next regular meeting, when the two board members elected yesterday take office, a proposal that the elementary district again take service of KQED, the educational television station, next year.

Lucas said grades 4-6 now use the programs on mathematics and Spanish. Some other classes also use the Spanish and French programs. Grades 6-8 use the social science and science programs, and the primary grades have a language arts program available, the superintendent said.

The cost for district membership is 60 cents per child.

The board also postponed action on a proposal to give extra compensation above the salary schedule to the two elementary district librarians. Lucas said the district's salary schedule does not permit granting credit for work done before the California credential is received.

Both librarians, who have had previous experience in private school and public libraries, are planning to leave the district because they get no credit for such work, Lucas said.

He pointed out that the elementary librarians serve more than one school, and also have the duty of conducting training programs for teachers and parents who help in the libraries.

The superintendent said he would like the board to consider extra compensation for all employees who have the job of training teachers.

Education Board Adopts Calendar

Classes for pupils in San Rafael city schools will begin Sept. 5 for the 1961-62 year.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night adopted a 182-day calendar, running through June 15, 1962.

Administrators' meetings are scheduled Aug. 28 and 29, and new teachers' orientation Aug. 30. Faculty meetings or workshops are planned Sept. 1.

Christmas holidays extend from Dec. 18 through Jan. 2. Easter vacation will be April 16-20, 1962.

The board, in other business:

1. Approved appointment of Mrs. Carol A. Thompson as social studies teacher at Terra Linda High School.
2. Noted the resignation of Mrs. Aileen Hansen, secretary to the assistant superintendent for elementary instruction, effective April 30.
3. Received a letter from the Marin County Labor Council urging the board to consider adequate compensation for classroom teachers.
4. Received a report that construction of the addition to Terra Linda High School started officially April 3.
5. Noted that the sixth grade student involved in a drinking incident reported at the last meeting has been transferred to another school.
6. Voted to oppose an Assembly bill which grants tenure to all teachers in all districts, and is specifically aimed at teachers in districts with under 900 average daily attendance, who are now granted tenure.
7. Comended San Rafael High students and faculty for their work in beautifying the school grounds during Easter vacation.
8. Expressed appreciation to members Harold Fulkerson and Willard Vernon attending their final meeting for their work on the board.
9. Adjourned to 5:30 p.m. Friday to open bids for Laurel Dell Intermediate School.

Fifer Park Zoning Is Approved

Over the objection of Lawrence Livingston Jr., Corte Madera planning consultant, the town planning commission Monday night approved rezoning of eight lots in Fifer Industrial Park from highway commercial to shopping center commercial.

Commissioner Harold B. Wagstaff voted against the change. Chairman Walter Ehlers did not vote. Final action on the matter will be taken at a public hearing of the town council on April 17 at 8:30 p.m.

In his recommendation to deny the appeal by Edward H. and May Marion Fifer, Livingston noted that he was in favor of the original industrial zoning of the entire park and had opposed periodic zoning changes during the past few years.

Representing the Fifers was Frank Deimel. There was no opposition to the change from the floor. The new zoning would permit a shopping center.

Driver Gets Drive-In Service At Firehouse

A San Rafael housewife drove up to the rear of San Rafael's Firehouse 2 yesterday with the back seat of her car aflame.

Mrs. Merryn L. Cohn of 309 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, jumped out of the car while firemen put out the fire with a garden hose. Firemen estimated the damage at about $30.

Dixie Candidates Stress Higher Training Level

Better classroom training for the children was stressed by four of the six candidates for the Dixie Elementary School District board last night at a candidates' night at Santa Margarita School, attended by about 45 residents.

Six candidates are running for three positions on the board in next Tuesday's election.

The two incumbents called for better transfer of information from the board to the parents for better understanding.

The candidates were introduced in alphabetical order by Mrs. Elaine Koel, president of the Santa Margarita Teacher-Parent Assn.

Mrs. Dorothy C. Brown, incumbent completing four years on the board, saw "a need for the transfer of information from the board to the parents." She said the board has been holding extra sessions to evaluate the curriculum.

She said that Dixie was one of the first districts in the county to offer summer school. Dixie district was also a leader in hiring an extra teacher for each school to assist in remedial and advanced student teaching. "Another first for Dixie is the six-week summer workshop for teachers," Mrs. Brown said.

John R. Christofferson stated that with his background as a civil engineer he would be very helpful to the district in its building program.

He called for a greater stress on study in the schools. "With the great strides Russia is making ahead of us," Christofferson said, "we must emphasize mathematics and science in the elementary grades."

Lawrence L. Kramer Jr., said he takes special interest in the area of curriculum development.

"The elementary schools lay the foundation stone for all the children's education," he said, but emphasis has been placed on the buildings. Kramer wants to place "emphasis on the study in the buildings."

"The Dixie District has a big resource of human knowledge in its residents," Kramer stated, "and I would like to see that resource used, without charge, to help the teachers in the schools."

Charles H. Roach declared the school board has three responsibilities: "Equipping a plant, staffing it with teachers, and setting up a curriculum that challenges students."

"The board had built a fine physical plant, Roach said, "but I am not sure whether they have equipped it with adequately trained teachers. The board has done a poor job on the curriculum . . . The State of California minimum requirement for teaching basic subjects is 200 minutes per day, and Dixie just barely meets the minimum with 205 minutes per day in the second grade where I have a child." He called for a lengthening the school day and strengthening teacher qualifications. He asked for approval of borrowing four million dollars from the state —a proposal that will be on next Tuesday's ballot.

John A. Starkweather said he feels that the Dixie District must meet "the individual needs of the children."

Robert S. Winniford who was appointed to the board last September said he is running for re-election on a platform of two planks: "the best possible job in the classrooms for all of the students" and "improved communications between the community and the schools."

Video Profile On Park Slated

Conservation for the Bay Area in general and the Point Reyes Peninsula in particular will be the subject of tomorrow's "Profile: Bay Area" program at 9:30 p.m. on television station KQED.

Representing the conservationists in the debate will be David Brower, executive secretary of the Sierra Club, and Sigurd F. Olson, former president of the National Parks Assn.

Opposing them will be George A. Craig, secretary-manager of the Western Lumber Manufacturers Inc., and Norman Livermore Jr., treasurer of the Pacific Lumber Co.

Caspar W. Weinberger, San Francisco attorney and former assemblyman, is the moderator for the show.

Recreation Plan Protested In Belvedere

Belvedere recreation commissioners last night heard a contingent of San Rafael Avenue residents, led by Ralph Elliott, protest the commission's request for city funds for study of recreational development of a proposed marina on San Rafael Avenue.

The request is now before the city council, but was tabled at the last meeting until a full council could be present.

Commissioners "endorsed the aims of the Belvedere-Tiburon conservation league" and appointed commissioner David D. Ross as liaison. Dr. Albertine Nash, league member asked the commission for "cooperation in keeping Belvedere and Tiburon waterfront areas open.

Commissioner Beverly Bastian recommended that the Northwestern Pacific railroad yards, when vacated, be the site of the Tiburon peninsula high school. Commissioners took no action.

Mrs. Bastian gave as some of her reasons: Access to public transportation and main thoroughfares, preservation of "the heart of the peninsula" for public use, ideal climatic conditions, use as a public and civic center for adult education, etc, and its contribution as a buffer zone and parking facilities.

Council To Meet On Harbor Plan

The Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall to attempt to clarify the city's position regarding acquisition of a small craft harbor.

Owners of property bordering the Saucelito Canal, which must be dredged before the city can qualify for a $300,000 loan, are expected to attend the meeting, as well as city and county officials.

Negotiations are going on between the city and property owners to try to get the channel dredged, to retain a $300,000 state allocation which may be reconsidered at a meeting of the State Small Craft Harbors Commission Monday in Berkeley.

Plans Approved

The Tiburon Sanitary District board of directors last night approved engineering plans for the upland Tiburon area sewer assessment district, according to Robert A. Sterling, secretary.

Reed District Hoping For School Completion

Trustees of Reed Union School District hope to learn on April 25 whether there will be a chance to complete the Del Mar School in time for opening of the fall school semester.

On that date, trustees will open the second set of bids on the eight-classroom school, they decided at last night's meeting. The first set had to be rejected as too costly.

The second bids will include alternates which trustees hope will bring the total construction price down to that approved for state aid. If one is acceptable, it will be "within the range of possibility, but very doubtful and difficult" for the school to be opened in September, acting chairman David D. Ring said.

Trustees heard a report by curriculum director George C. Gregg, recommending a four-week summer in-service teacher workshop in arithmetic. He suggested that three units of college credit be given for the 60 hours of work. Trustees deferred action but agreed informally that it was a good idea.

Trustees approved the preliminary plan for a summer school, June 26 - July 21, at Reed School. Leland Spencer is to be principal. Total cost was estimated at $6,143.

Approval of a $4,700 estimate for remodeling Belvedere school during the summer was given. Resignations were accepted from teachers Mrs. Lois Malone, Patricia Murphy and Mrs. Frances C. Dougherty.

The subject of re-employment of 35 teachers, 11 with tenure, was taken up in executive session following the board meeting. Ring said decisions woudl be announced before Friday.

Trustees employed Teresa King to teach Bel Aire second grade; Jane Ledden, Del Mar second grade; Mrs. Joanne Wyley, Tiburon kindergarten; Patricia Foley, Bel Aire kindergarten, and Jane Groniger, Bel Aire sixth grade.

The board authorized Supt. Paul R. Stouffer to order the vacating of the arts and crafts house on the Reed School property by Aug. 1 for its renovation for use in September.

A discussion of maternity leave policy was deferred for further study.

TOUR MIXUP

Thundering Herd Greets Housewife

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Robert Murch, in a burst of patriotism, hoisted his American flag before he went to work yesterday.

By coincidence, the St. Louis Priory Mother's Club had scheduled a house tour in St. Louis County and marked each house to be visited with an American flag. About 1,000 tickets were sold. Two houses on the tour appeared to be only a few blocks from the Murch home.

Mrs. Murch isn't a club member but she likes house tours. She bought 60 tickets, sold them and chartered a bus for the group. Each person brought a lunch and her group planned to eat lunch at the Murch home during the tour.

Much to Mrs. Murch's chagrin, swarms of women began trooping through her house. Each time she opened the door in poured more guests, some invited, most not.

Mrs. Murch finally got matters straightened out. Murch promised that from now on, he will check out the neighborhood program before he raises the flag.

POPULATION CENTER — If you're vacationing in Illinois and want to boast that you've visited the nation's center of population, here's where to go: Centralia, marked A on the map. The 1960 census reveals the center has shifted since 1950 from Olney, marked B.

Recital Scheduled At Baptist School

Mrs. Jerry Casey, soprano, will give a recital presented by the church music department of Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Broadus Hall at the seminary, Strawberry Point.

Mrs. George Suffern of Mill Valley will be the accompanist. Mrs. Casey is a student of Dr. Carlyle Bennett of Belvedere. She has degrees from Texas State College for Women and Golden Gate Seminary.

Juvenile Hall Work 90 Per Cent Completed

Architect Rolland B. Hammond told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that construction work on juvenile hall additions was 90 per cent complete on April 1, the contract completion date, and that it should be "substantially completed about May 1."

Zollner Construction Co. of Ross, the contractor, received an extension of 30 calendar days because of "unforeseen conditions and inclement weather."

Hammond took occasion to sum up that instead of his original 5 per cent estimate for possible changes these had been kept within three per cent for a total of $7,128.80, bringing the all-over total cost of the work to $298,859.80.

Clerk George S. Jones told the board he had information the grand jury was well started on a requested investigation of juvenile hall as well as of space allocation at the civic center.

Meanwhile the board ran into problems of juvenile hall in considering appointments and promotions, discovering that its finance committee had refused to recommend some for the hall.

"They don't give us any information," complained Supervisor J. Walter Blair, finance committee chairman. But after discussion, his committee colleague, George Ludy, said the juvenile hall names should go through. And everybody, including Blair, voted for all the appointments:

Beverly Lucas as deputy clerk of court at $335, Miriam Horn as branch library assistant at $50 part-time, and Frederic Letty and James Catrina both in first-step positions as group counselor at juvenile hall at $420.

David Fogel, hall superintendent, was granted an annual boost raising him from $638 to $669.

Two group counsellors at the hall — Charles Moore and Lucinda Michel—were up for six-month increases. These were held up pending further investigation in keeping with the board's recent feeling that too many county employees are being advanced too rapidly.

Man, 21, Charged With Indecency

A 21-year-old unemployed Manteca man was arrested at 5 a.m. today in Sausalito on a charge of indecent exposure in the presence of two airline hostesses in front of their apartment at 15 Second Street.

Foser Lewis Wright was also charged with vagrancy. He was placed in the county jail.

Senior Recital Is Scheduled At Dominican

Dominican College's department of music will present a senior recital next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the San Rafael campus.

Three music majors, Joan McDonald of Vallejo, Lucia Schwedhelm of Stockton and Patricia Slayton of San Rafael, wil join in a varied program which is given in partial fulfillment of the seniors' comprehensive examination.

Joan McDonald, student body president, will open the program with a group of pieces for the organ. Lucia Schwedhelm, pianist, will play Beethoven's sonata in E major, Op. 14, No. 1, and selections by Debussy and Chopin.

The program will be concluded with Bach's double concerto in C minor, with Misses McDonald and Schwedhelm at the two pianos accompanied by the Dominican College String Orchestra with Philip Ienni conducting.

The three graduates plan to follow the teaching profession. Miss Schwedhelm will receive her general elementary credential this spring and plans to teach in Marin County. Miss McDonald plans to go to Stanford for the general secondary credential, and Miss Slayton will return to Dominican College for her general elementary credential with plans to marry in January.

12 Teachers Approved In Larkspur

Twelve new teachers were approved last night by Larkspur School District trustees for employment next school year.

They are Kathleen Bales of Corte Madera, Wilmut Fitch of Corte Madera, Claire Mosconi of Larkspur, Darla Nuckolls of Mill Valley, Elizabeth Richmond of Greenbrae, Marsha Hanscom of Long Beach, Diane Marquis of San Mateo, Walter Matthews of Turlock, Mary Ann Minenna, Joanne Mitchell, Xenia Rotter and Wilma House of San Francisco.

With the exception of Miss Bales, who will teach vocal music throughout the district, no classroom assignments were given.

Re-employment of 13 probationary teachers and five who are eligible for tenure next year will be discussed April 25.

Resignations were accepted from Judy Davis, second grade teacher at Larkspur-Corte Madera School, and from Jewell Trimble, fourth grade teacher at Neil Cummins School.

The board was told by Burton L. Rockwell, architect of the new San Clemente School, that the school plans would be submitted to the State Department of Architecture by next week.

Subdivision Maps Passed In Larkspur

There was no opposition to approval of the Greenbrae unit, consisting of 43 lots and requested by Niels Schultz Jr. About 10 residents of the Piedmont Terrace area opposed the eight-lot subdivision sought by Russel Lauterwasser. The lots are south of Piedmont Avenue off Ridge View.

Planners said they were approving the Piedmont Terrace map inasmuch as all subdivision requirements were met. Commissioner S. W. (Bub) Eason was absent. The matter will come before the city council May 3.

Also approved was a variance for a Bon Air Subdivision, requested by Schultz, which would allow construction of apartments to a greater density than permitted under the zoning ordinance.

Planners said that Schultz compensated for the density by leaving ample open space within the remainder of the subdivision which would not be built on.

THERE'S LIMIT TO POWERS OF A JUDGE

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A judge who has removed many an evil doer from society denies that he also has power to remove warts.

An unidentified elementary school principal called the office of Criminal Court Judge L. A. Grayson yesterday. She said a boy in her school had warts all over him and that two nurses at Tampa General Hospital had informed her Grayson had occult powers—that all he had to do was look at the warts and they would disappear.

The judge sent word to the principal that if he had such powers "I wouldn't be doing what I am now — I'd be out removing warts."

Church Plans Forum On School Bonds

The Methodist Church of Mill Valley will hold an open forum Sunday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss issues in the Mill Valley and Tamalpais Union High School districts bond elections Tuesday.

Speakers for and against the bonds have been invited to present their sides and answer questions. Cliff Badger, representing the Mill Valley committee on classrooms, and Dr. John C. Siemens, representing the citizens committee for bonds in the Tamalpais district, will speak in favor of the bonds. P. J. Rowland of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. will speak against both bond issues.

The public meeting will be held in fellowship hall of the church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue.

Novato Agrees To Explore Merger Idea

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night agreed to explore all forms of merger possibilities with the San Jose district but took no stand on unification of the two districts.

The second study meeting of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization on the merger proposed is set for 8 o'clock tonight at Meadow Park School in the San Jose district. The school is inside the main gate at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Novato trustees generally agreed that the unification move, favored by the San Jose board, was moving too fast for full consideration of all aspects of unification.

They noted that unification would put the two districts out of business and cause formation of a new district with a newly elected board of trustees.

As proposed, in tentative form, the new district would have seven trustees elected from trustee districts. Novato board members said this might limit the number of persons running for the board. They also noted financial, curriculum and personnel problems in combining the districts.

As to interdistrict permits for San Jose students who prefer Novato High School to San Rafael High School, board members generally agreed there would not be a satisfactory long-range solution if the districts do not merge.

'Fair Condition'

Owen H. Dittmore of 36 Glenaire Drive, San Rafael, remained "fair condition" at Franklin Hospital, San Francisco, with injuries suffered in a 30-foot fall Monday from a scaffold on the Golden Gate Bridge. He is a bridge painter.

AT NOVATO HIGH

Plans Are Approved For Expanded Library

Trustees of the Novato Unified School District last night gave the go-ahead to plans for expansion of the night school library and addition of a second gymnasium.

They also heard long-range plans for more than doubling the school capacity.

The immediate additions would mean more than doubling the size of the library and an additional gym, showers and exercise rooms. Contracts already have been let on a six-classroom addition to the school which may be completed by fall.

Architect Richard Banwell outlined plans for an 1,800-student high school. That attendance figure is expected to be reached by 1966. Present capacity is 875 students, with about 820 in actual attendance. The six-room addition will up the capacity to 1,055.

The long-range plans call for an addition of 63,808 square feet of floor space to the present 84,769 square feet. Major construction would be a hall for lectures, music and theater seating up to 250 persons. A separate building would be constructed for arts, crafts and publications center. Seventeen classrooms would be added to the present 19 classrooms.

Other proposals were for two more additional arts rooms in addition to the present four; conversion of an existing classroom to a mechanical drawing room; expansion and possible change in location of the language laboratory; addition of one or two science laboratories to the present five; conversion of a room to business education use, in addition to the present four rooms.

The growth figures projected to 1966 do not include growth which would result if the Novato district and San Jose district were unified, Supt. W. J. J. Smith pointed out.

Terra Linda Group Names Police Aide

A police commissioner and his assistant were appointed last night by Terra Linda Community Services District directors, meeting for the first time in the Community Building.

William N. Cothran of 720 Montecillo Road, was named police commissioner. Donovan McClure of 640 Bamboo Terrace was made his assistant.

Cothran is news director of KRON-TV in San Francisco. McClure is a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle.

The directors also voted to add another commissioner to the district setup. The new commissioner will be a legislative coordinator, according to Robert Brownne, director. He will have charge of reporting on other meetings, such as those of school boards and other districts, which affect the Terra Linda district. No one was appointed to the new position last night.

The board voted to support the Dixie School District's request for a four million dollar state loan for school construction, which will be up to the voters next Tuesday.

Two English surveyors, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, worked from 1763 to 1767 to set up the Mason-Dixon Line, which ended a boundary dispute between the Calverts of Maryland and the Penns of Pennsylvania.

WANTS CORRECTIVE ACTION

Councilman Presses Drive Against 'Trash' Reading

Mill Valley City Councilman George D. Monardo, apparently stymied in an effort to legislate against what he terms "trash" magazines, today expressed hope the operator of the newsstand in the city-owned bus depot will herself remove such journals from its shelves.

Declared Monardo in a written statement:

"Mill Valley, a city which does so much for its children through library facilities, recreational programs and the like should be equally vigorous in discouraging the sale of books and magazines of less than acceptable standards."

He expressed confidence that Maggie Grant, the bus depot newsstand operator, "will take the necessary action to correct the situation which may well have occurred through inadvertentness (sic)."

Meanwhile, the State Assembly in Sacramento yesterday unanimously passed and sent to the Senate a bill designed to prevent magazine distributors from forcing "smut" on newsstand operators.

The measure, by Assemblyman Tom Bane (D-Tujunga) outlaws "tie-in-sales" in which a dealer must buy certain books or magazines to get others. It would make such a sale a misdemeanor.

"This eliminates the possibility of a retailer saying he had to buy pornography to get other magazine," Bane said.

Group Meeting In Sacramento On Fair Funds

A Marin group was making an effort in Sacramento this afternoon for a workable way of financing county fairgrounds construction at the civic center.

The state tentatively has committeed itself to providing more than $100,000 a year for a five-year period. The delegation seeks a half-million dollars at once.

Theory behind this move, which has been discussed several times by the board of supervisors, is that construction of this sort can't be done efficiently or economically on a piecemeal basis.

Host for the party was state finance director John F. Carr. With him at his office was to be Marin's Sen. John F. McCarthy, who set up the meeting.

Burner Firm Up For Sale

Land, buildings and equipment of the H. C. Little Burner Co. at Woodland Avenue and Du Bois Street, San Rafael went up for auction today, commencing at 10:30 a.m.

By 10:30 a.m. about 300 bidders had gathered, many from out of town. Some came from as far away as Seattle.

The land and buildings were listed to go up for sale at 1 p.m. Upon completion of sale of the real estate and improvements, auctioneer Max Rouse said he would return to auctioning off stock and equipment until everything was sold. Successful bidders will be allowed to remove their purchases commencing tomorrow.

Garety To Speak

Marin Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety will be principal speaker at graduation exercises for the San Francisco Police Academy at 8 p.m. tomorrow at A. P. Giannini Junior High School in San Francisco.

Street Widening Plan In Fairfax Told Residents

Charles M. Thornton, Fairfax street superintendent, last night told about 50 Fairfax residents that a portion of Willow Avenue will be widened by seven feet.

The area of Willow Avenue which will be improved, Thornton said, is from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard 200 feet up Willow. He did not state when the widening would be done, however.

Many of the residents of Willow Avenue asked that the entire block of Willow Avenue from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Maple Avenue be widened but were told the City of Fairfax would not pay for it. Thornton said that if the entire street were to be widened, the property owners would have to pay.

Thornton pointed out the drainage problem is the largest of those which present themselves. Other problems, he said, are curbing and the replacing of utility poles.

Clyde McKinney, Fairfax street commissioner, was also present at the meeting of the Ridgeway Park Improvement Club.

Thornton said which side of Willow Avenue will be widened will be determined by City Engineer Albert H. Siemer.

Planner To Quit In Mill Valley

Lew Tyrrell, who has served on the Mill Valley Planning Commission since 1958, submitted his resignation last night, pleading pressure of business.

Tyrrell said the commission has received greater and greater amounts of work and that meeting often run to 2 a.m. This, on top of his regular work as partner in Tyrrell's at 124 Throckmorton Avenue and his photography work, has made him decide to resign. His resignation will become effective upon his replacement, he said.

Tyrrell's term was to have ended in December, 1962.

New Moisturizing Colonaid Stops
CONSTIPATION DUE TO DEHYDRATION
without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital-proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation overnight. So, for positive relief from constipation, get amazing, moisturizing new COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

SUZANNE BATY
Seeks school board spot

Four Seeking West Marin School Posts

(This is the 12th in a series of stories introducing candidates for school boards in next Tuesday's election.)

Two are incumbents seeking re-election; two are after their first terms on the board. One is a woman. If elected, she will be the only woman member of the board which governs schools in Inverness and Point Reyes Station.

Here is a rundown on the candidates:

GUS KOVATS, 45, of Point Reyes Station, is a radio technician at the RCA Communications overseas station at Bolinas. He is active in 4-H Club and amateur radio circles and is a member of the West Marin Lions Club and of the Druids. He served in Europe in World War II in a civilian capacity.

Kovats and his wife, Adele, have a son and daughter in school.

JOHN DUNCAN GRAY, 40, of Sea Haven, Inverness, is also an RCA radio technician at Bolinas. He has served on the West Marin School District board since 1953.

Gray was born in Sydney, Australia and grew up in New Mexico and Texas, completing his education at Amarillo College. He was an ensign in the Maritime Service during World War II, serving as radio operator aboard merchant ships. He and his wife, Enid, have two sons in school.

SUZANNE BATY, 30, is the wife of David R. Baty of Point Reyes Station, who is judge of the Northwest Marin Judicial District and has a law office in San Rafael. They have two sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Baty is active in the YMCA and a member of the San Francisco Junior League. She was born in New York City, holds a B.A. degree from Mount Holyoke College at South Hadley, Mass., and took post-graduate work at Stanford University. She has taught at Dominican Upper and Lower Schools in San Rafael and at Katharine Branson School in Ross.

Dixie Schools Concert Slated

Appointment of a principal for Don Timoteo School is scheduled at the Dixie School District board meeting at 8 p.m. today at the district office at 4775 Redwood Highway.

The board will also accept resignations of five teachers and will contract with 12 teachers for the coming school year.

An agreement with the Marinwood Boys Club for work to be done by the club on the Mary E. Silveira School will come up for discussion. The board will hear reports on the summer school, team teaching, multi-graded classes and ungraded classes.

UNIFORM SUGGESTION

Air Force Blue-Pencils Idea Of White Shirts

Reserve Maj. Philip Hiaring of San Anselmo is determined that Air Force officers and non-commissioned officers should wear white shirts for "heightened status."

Air Force headquarters has replied that it likes its blue shirts which make all men equal, saying that the white shirt would "set apart one class from another."

Hiaring came up with his suggestion during an active duty stint earlier this year at Hamilton Air Force Base. He is assigned to the 9081st Reserve Squadron at Fort Miley.

Hiaring wrote Air Force headquarters that white shirts would be a "morale builder" for non-commissioned officers and officers and result in "more motivation" for enlisted men to work toward NCO rank. He noted that the present blue shirt varies in shade from manufacturer to manufacturer and wash to wash and that the Air Force man is surrounded by blue.

Air Defense Headquarters at Colorado Springs passed on the suggestion. But Hiaring said today he has received a "not accepted", report from headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Not blue over the turndown, Hiaring plans to resubmit his "white paper," changing it to provide that all Air Force personnel could wear white shirts.

Panel To Discuss Tam Bond Issue

The much-discussed three-million-dollar bond issue sought by Tamalpais Union High School District will be discussed again on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Speaking in favor of the issue will be Dr. Joseph A. Guthrie, chairman of precinct workers on behalf of the bond issue, and Edward W. Colthurst, chairman of the citizen bond committee. Opposing it will be Leonard Bjorklund, Mill Valley attorney, and Mrs. Evelyn McDougall of Mill Valley.

Questions telephoned by listeners will be directed to the panel members by moderator Kitty Oppenheimer. A taped recording of the program will be broadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Novato Sanitary District Annexes

There are approximately 20 homes in the area.

Annexation of about an acre of land owned by Stephen Bruff will be considered at the May 8 meeting.

Historical Society To Fete Longtime Twin Cities Folk

Longtime residents of Larkspur and Corte Madera will be honored at the 8 o'clock meeting of Marin County Historical Society tomorrow at E Street School, San Rafael.

Accompanying Mrs. Raymond Robson, who will be a member of the speakers' panel on the background of the Twin Cities, will be Edward Dell Mahood and Lulu Horne. The former was a telegrapher for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and later station agent. He was one of the first merchants in the area and the early postoffice was in his store. Mrs. Horne was a caretaker of the beautiful estate, "Owlswood," owned by Frank Pixley, grand-uncle of Mrs. Robson.

Also invited are other pioneers of Larkspur and Corte Madera as well as those interested in its history. In addition to Mrs. Robson, on the panel will be Dan Allen, member of Larkspur City Council; Mrs. Helen Wilson, Larkspur librarian, and Roy Graves, an authority on early Marin transportation.

government and personally to Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev that the landing was normal."

Gagarin apparently had duties to perform while in space flight, although scientists said there were ground-controlled automatic devices aboard to guide and operate the spaceship and "take care of the man himself."

But for the first time, an earth-bound man had left the enveloping atmosphere of his planet and soared beyond it into the still only lightly probed unknown.

Planners Delete Sentence From Proposed Ordinance

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night deleted from a proposed architectural control ordinance a sentence to which the city council last week objected.

The amended ordinance will go back to the council. No change was made except to eliminate the single sentence, which read: "Any sturcture or building plans coming under the provision of this section shall be considered by the planning commission only and by no other body.'

The ordinance would extend architectural control to apartment buildings throughout San Rafael. Such control now exists for apartments in East San Rafael and on Nova Albion Way.

The "planning commission only" sentence was inserted at an earlier meeting on suggestion of Commissioner Orlando Conti, who objected to a proposal that the city create an architectural advisory commission.

The city council last week refused the ordinance as written, pointing out that the provision would remove the right of appeal to the council in case of planning commission rejection of a building's design.

Pack Of Dogs Injures Sheep

The sheep is not expected to live, reported Mrs. Thomas Keena af 1012 Second Street, Novato. The McClay Road ranch is owned jointly by the McNern and Keena families.

Early Saturday, another sheep on the ranch was so badly mauled by dogs that it had to be shot, Mrs. Keena reported.

Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou went to the McNern home about 5:30 a.m. today and found the sheep with wool and flesh torn from the throat and shoulder area. McNern told the officer he and his brothers saw the dogs and fired some shots as the marauders ran up the hill.

Salesman Says He Dumped Clothes

The mystery of the "floating clothing" that washed ashore at Santa Venetia yesterday was explained today with a report from a salesman that he had disposed of old items by dumping them in the bay.

Joseph Kenny of 311 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, told sheriff's deputies he dumped several cartons of old clothing samples which he uses in his job as salesman. When the items get old, soiled or discolored from the sun, Kenny said, his company does not allow him to give them away.

Kenny admitted he should not have dumped them in the bay.

Early yesterday morning, Joe Nerviani of Joe's Landing called the sheriff in alarm when children's clothing and lingerie began floating ashore. Sheriff's deputies recovered several cartons full of water-soaked items, thinking they stolen goods.

U.S. Aides Deny Spaceship Contact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space agency officials reported today they have no information that any U.S. tracking station ever made contact with the spaceship in which Moscow says a man orbited the earth, but the White House relayed different word from another source.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that since this morning they had been tracking an object in the approximate path of that vehicle but it presumably was the burned-out rocket casing.

But Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said he had a report of contact at a time just after the space vehicle had passed over the Asian land mass.

Tam Candidates To Speak Tonight

Candidates for the Tamalpais Union High School District and Mill Valley School District trustees in next Monday's election will speak at 8 p.m. today at the Almonte Improvement Clubhouse at Almonte Boulevard and Wisteria Way .

It was announced erroneously in yesterday's Independent-Journal that the meeting was to be last night.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed sharply lower today in heavy trading.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.9 million shares compared with 5.23 million yesterday.

Steels still kept a ragged upside edge but nonferrous metals, chemicals, airlines and drugs were mainly lower. Motors, oils, electrical equipments and rubbers were mixed. Aircraft-missiles were up a bit on balance.

Dixie School Loan Approval Has A String

The State Department of Education yesterday granted Dixie School District a building loan with an important string attached.

The string, said Dixie Supt. Dennie B. Willis, is that the district can't get the loan unless voters next Tuesday vote "yes" on a ballot proposal to allow the district to borrow up to four million dollars from the state. Two-thirds approval is required for passage.

The loan authorized yesterday is for $141,361 to add a multi-use room at Mary E. Silveira School. But Willis said the district has only $20,000 remaining in a $3,250,000 state loan authorization approved by voters a few years ago. So, if Tuesday's measure fails passage, the $141,361 allocation will be withdrawn.

Arrow Is Found In Clothing

Mrs. Genevieve Sorich of 500 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, went out to her clothes line this morning and for one fleeting moment had visions of the old wild West.

Imbedded in the clothes line post was a hunting arrow. She called the sheriff's office at 9:05 a.m. for fear that some careless bowman might hurt someone.

In Tamalpais Valley, Mrs. Mary Eskes of 538 Northern Avenue reported that vandals had mangled her mail box sometime last night.

In Kentfield, a dog attacked Russell Zerbe, 21, of 2323 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, biting him behind the knee yesterday afternoon, he told sheriff's deputies. Officers notified the Marin County Humane Society.

Action Is Postponed On Apartments Plan

Second public hearing on rezoning of the area between Bayo Vista Way and Scenic Avenue, as requested by Spero Spiliotis, was held by the San Rafael planning commission last night, but action on it was postponed until April 25 for a complete final map of the area.

Spiliotis seeks rezoning of portions of the area from single-family dwelling to duplex and garden apartments.

The commission granted the request of Joanne Wing to hold a real estate school in a cottage at the rear of 1420 Lincoln Avenue. The commission put six conditions on the permit. They are that the upper floor be sealed off, that two means of egress be provided to each classroom, the maximum occupancy load be posted by the fire and building inspector; off-street parking for 15 cars be provided and only one sign should be erected.

The planners tentatively approved rezoning from single family to duplex on Irwin Street near Hazel Court, requested by Henry Ghilotti, with the restrictions that the lot be 10,000 square feet with 75-foot frontage. The first public hearing on it was held last night with the second scheduled for April 25.

The commission granted J. B. Williams permission for a two-lot subdivision on Jewell Street subject to decision by commissioners Gene O'Connor and Nicholas Dollwet on width of sidewalks necessary.

The commissioners learned that Pyramid Homes had erected signs and flags at the entrance to a development in Glenwood, without a permit.

The planners postponed for 30 days a request by Robert Chang for a boat sales business at Francisco Boulevard at Irwin Street. They approved request by D. H. Hudelson for six boat berths at 19 Third Street on the San Rafael Canal; granted Mission Quary Co. permission to use property on Francisco Boulevard for storage of equipment.

May 9 and 23 were set as the dates for the public hearings on precise zoning of the area east of Highway 101 and north of Terra Linda interchange, including the Marin Professional Center and Commonwealth Light Industrial Subdivision. Some of the area has not been zoned since annexation to the city.

Parking Plan Is Approved In Mill Valley

The Mill Valley Planning Commission last night approved a resubdivision and parking plan request of E. L. Egger and Herbert Shapiro for the construction of a shopping center at Miller and La Gohma Avenues on property adjacent to Egger and Son Nurseries and the Jolly Market.

Also approved was a use permit for Shapiro to locate a service station over the creek, to have an entrance at 395 Miller Avenue.

The commission recommended approval to the city council of a portion of the Mill Valley general drainage plan in the marshland area.

Commissioners approved plans for a new sales building to be built by Larry Brink at 447 Miller Avenue, denied Manuel Gomez a variance to permit construction of a four-unit apartment house at Miller Avenue and Gomez Way, and approved plans for addition of classrooms to the First Methodist Church at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue.

Review Requested On Belvedere Plan Of Annexation

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided to ask the Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council to review the Belvedere annexation study at its public meeting Friday which was scheduled for discussion only of the study of Tiburon incorporation.

Chamber members were warned by Secretary Fred C. Hannahs of the "threat of Belvedere taking in the business district, which would effectively block forever self-government in this area.

Chamber President William S. Johnstone brought up a request by chamber member to "censor Director Fred Mantegani for his circulation of a petition protesting the opening of a liquor store in downtown Tiburon." The five members present declined to act, because of a lack of a quorum.

Auto Stolen

Lyle Johnson, manager of the R and S Chevron Service Station in Belvedere, reported to police at 5 p.m. yesterday that his 1952 sedan was stolen yesterday morning from in front of his station on Tiburon highway at the Boardwalk. Johnson lives at 14 Sonora Way, Corte Madera.

Marilyn Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bryson, 170 Helens Lane, Mill Valley, is newly elected officer of the Christian Student Union at Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore., where she is a senior majoring in sociology. She was elected evening chairman.

Youth Tries To Bolt From Booking Desk

An 18-year-old youth from Humboldt County, caught last night on suspicion of drinking beer, tried to bolt from the Marin County Jail as he was about to be booked, sheriff's deputies reported.

Paul Edward Carneggie of Pepperwood was grabbed as he rounded the corner of the booking desk on his way toward the exit, Deputy Sheriff M. T. Novitski said. Carneggie was booked on suspicion of attempted escape.

Sheriff's Deputy Edward McKamey caught Carneggie and two companions in front of Graham Lumber Co. in San Rafael about 9:15 last night. The officer said the youths had three quarts of beer with them and two nearly empty bottles.

The other two are James Florian Franke Jr., 18, of Arcata, and Mardell Remus Oman, 18, of Fortuna. They claimed they are students at Santa Rosa Junior College.

Oman was being held in lieu of $525 bail. The other two were bailed out for $525 each. All three are scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon.

PT&T Awards Contract For Building

Christensen and Lyons of Oakland has been awarded the contract to build the new Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. equipment center in San Rafael, PT&T district manager J. E. Madrigali reported today.

The firm was the low bidder on the project. Pacific Telephone did not disclose the amount of the bid or the number of bidders.

Madrigali said the new facility—land, building and equipment—will cost about $2,400,000.

The center will extend direct distance dialing and provide toll equipment for most of Marin County. It is scheduled for completion by early 1962.

Tomorrow's ceremonies will begin with a breakfast at 7:30 at Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield. Groundbreaking will start about 9 a.m.

Esposti made his own ice cream of which he was very proud.

He retired from active work four years ago.

Esposti was a member of American Legion, Mill Valley Post 284, and of the Marin Restaurant and Tavern Owners Assn.

He is survived by his wife, Kathleen; three sons, Delmo of Larkspur, Dino and Giulio of Mill Valley; two brothers, Ettore of Sonoma and Giovanni Esposti of South San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Amadea Ferrarese of San Rafael, and two grandchildren.

The commission also will hold a public hearing on a request for rezoning about 95 acres of land on the west side of Highway 101, opposite the Marin County-Novato Airport, from limited agricultural and light industrial with certain highway frontage regulations or planned industrial.

A public hearing will be held on a request from David R. Baty for rezoning about 2.3 acres of land on the west side of State Route 1 in the Olema area from limited agricultural to heavy industrial district.

Fisher holds Liza, 3. Christopher and a third child, Michael, 8, are her children by actor Michael Wilding, and Lisa, her daughter by her third husband, the late Mike Todd. The children were left behind in London when Miss Taylor and Fisher came to the United States recently after she suffered a serious bout with pneumonia. (AP Wirephoto)

Novato Sets Meeting To Speed Annexation

Novato city councilmen last night set a special meeting for Monday to speed annexation of some 1,200 acres of land to the city.

Councilmen at the last night's meeting approved introduction of an ordinance which would annex 46 acres of land to the city owned by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Schwartz and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwartz of San Rafael. The land is on the northern edge of the city, south and west of the intersection of Atherton Avenue and Bugeia Lane.

Councilmen set 5:15 p.m. Monday for a second reading and expected passage, following a hearing last night at which there was no protest against annexation.

The 46 acres in turn will open the way to annexation of almost 1,200 acres—about 1,100 expected for residential development by Andrew B. Talbot, San Francisco, and the 94 acres of the Marin Memorial Gardens cemetery.

Mayor Wayne Womack noted that Talbot was "anxious" to bring his land within the city and councilmen agreed to speed procedures on annexation of the saller parcel.

The Schwartz property will make possible road-strip annexation of the Talbot property and cemetery. It is possible only if the connecting road, Atherton Avenue and Bugeia Lane, are less than a half mile from the city limits.

In other business last night, councilmen:

1. Approved mailing a letter to presidents of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western Telephone Co. and State Public Utilities Commission, asking that action on dial, no-toll service between the companies be expedited. Both companies now serve the city, with different exchanges.

2. Approved calling for bids for a station wagon for use by Charles Joseph, newly appointed public works director.

3. Approved 4-1 renting a car until Joseph's vehicle is purchased. Dissenter was M. E. (Babe) Silva.

4. Approved appointment of Mrs. Wayne Isaacson, Novato, as relief police clerk.

Mumps Leading List Of Marin Diseases

Mumps will 11 cases reported lead other communicable diseases reported to the Marin County Health Department last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Measles and strep infection were next with five cases reported for each. There were four cases of gonorrhea and three of syphilis reported.

The people of California own one of the finest systems of State Parks in the United States.

Novato Votes More City Street Lights

Novato will be lighter and brighter at night beginning in about a morth.

City councilmen last night approved a report from a council committee recommending addition of about 100 lights on city streets and change in position or brighter lights for 13 existing lights.

Lee Wise, manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office in Novato, said work would begin in about a month, starting first in areas most needing lights.

The committee report by councilmen Everett Pozzi and M. E. (Babe) Silva resulted in stiff necks, Pozzi said last night, from nights of riding around the city with police chief Roy McLaren, looking up at lights.

Their report was on lighting specifically asked of the city by residents and included nearly all requests. It will cost the city an additional $4,203 yearly, on top of the approximately $26,000 paid to PG&E for maintenance, repair, installation and use of lights yearly.

Councilmen also sent to committee a more complete report which projects the probable city lighting needs for the next 8-10 years.

Tam Valley Flood Unit May Be Closed Soon

The Marin County Board of Supervisors indicated yesterday that affairs of the Tamalpais Valley Flood Control Assessment District will be closed and some money refunded soon.

The supervisors also received notice from the Corps of Army Engineers that no further study will be made of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio channel improvements. Though work on the lower channel seems economically justified, local residents have indicated inability to make the required contribution, the army engineers wrote.

That nothing was likely to eventuate in the Tamalpais Valley project had been apparent for several months, since the army engineering revealed rising costs which made it impossible for Marin County to meet its share. But some hope had been entertained that another federal approach might develop.

Bruce J. Gillette of 407 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, yesterday asked that the district be dissolved and assessments refunded, saying the district had been set up more than 26 months ago but no work done.

"I hope you will consider the propriety of reimbursing all that has been exacted from us," he said. "There should be an accounting of money spent."

Chairman William D. Fusselman and the supervisor from Gillette's district, J. Walter Blair, expressed sympathy. Fusselman said he would arrange a meeting of officials, commenting "undeniably you should have a disbursement." Blair said "something should be done to get your money back."

Assistant Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said that $24,756 was raised by bond sale and assessments of which nearly $20,000 was finally put out at interest. "In effect there has been a 20 per cent loss against each property owner" by outlays including $2,150 for engineering and $1,639 for legal services, he said.

Gillette promised to get signatures of Tamalpais Valley businessmen to a petition for action. He said all deadlines have been passed for implementation of any sort of flood control plan.

State Education Aid Proposal Is Trimmed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—An Assembly Education Subcommittee has stripped away the major portion of the Department of Education's proposal to boost the state's aid to public schools by 53 million dollars.

Assemblyman Gordon Winton Jr. (D-Merced) cut 39.1 million dollars from the department bill he introduced because the countywide school tax which was supposed to help finance the boost appears dead politically.

The countywide tax was designed to free 21 million dollars of state aid money for other programs.

The 39.1 million dollars was to have gone to increasing the foundation program $10 for each public school student, based on average daily attendance.

The fate of other funds in the measure—such as transportation, driver education and special education—also are in doubt, a subcommittee member said.

Dibble lugged a portable transmitter rig to the hospital to broadcast the news of his new offspring. At the request of a fellow ham, he put the baby on for a brief statement.

Breeding Disease

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—A geneticist at the University of Connecticut is one of two scientists in the country engaged in a singular project — breeding chickens with muscular dystrophy.

Each year some two dozen of his chickens are sent to research laboratories around the country where scientists can study the wasting away of animal tissue and muscle.

The dystrophic chickens are bred, the geneticist says, by crossing two carriers possessing the muscular dystrophy gene. One-quarter of the offspring will contract the disease, he reports.

Merger Of San Jose, Novato District Agreed By Hopefuls

Seven candidates for San Jose Elementary School District board agreed last night that their district should be merged with the Novato Unified School District, but otherwise the seven split pretty much into two camps.

No difference developed between aspirant Edith W. Painter and the three incumbents seeking re-election next Tuesday: Mrs. Jean A. Ansley, Alan M. Swabacker and William H. Vandergriff. Calling in general for stricter discipline and greater emphasis on basic subjects were candidates Douglas R. Horton, J. F. Kallmayer and Ethan A Papineau. The eighth candidate, Robert W. Dodson, was absent from the candidates' forum, which attracted about 40 spectators to Lynwood School.

Much of the two and one-half hour meeting, moderated by Mrs. Harry Cole, Lynwood Parent-Teacher Assn. president, developed into a debate between Kallmayer and the three incumbents, with Papineau drawn in briefly. Mrs. Painter limited herself to a brief statement, which she read. Horton made an initial speech but responded to only one question.

The incumbents and Mrs. Painter came out for the Novato-San Jose School district merger in their initial presentations. Horton, Kallmayer and Papineau endorsed the merger in replying to a question from the audience.

Most prolonged discussion was between Kallmayer (at length joined by Papineau) and the incumbents over discipline, which Kallmayer charged is "uneven" in the district's classrooms. He insisted (seconded by Papineau) that better discipline can be enforced if the school board lays down ground rules and makes sure they are understood "by everyone down to the pupils."

The incumbents held that disciplinary problems arise naturally from unfortunate home environments and that the San Jose schools are handling them in the best way possible.

In brief, the candidates said:

MRS. ANSLEY: The rapid growth of the district keeps the board "busy just trying to keep a roof over the children's heads and desks for them to put their feet under." She declared for "a broad quality education . . . based on the three Rs." San Jose schools are giving it now, she said, citing a recent standard achievement test at one school (unnamed) in which 92 per cent of the children were found to be at or above grade level.

HORTON: "I believe more emphasis should be placed" on the three Rs. . . "It's up to us to make" facilities adequate and to hire better teachers, but "we're going to have to dig deep in our pockets" to do it.

KALLMAYER: Most important concerns are "the three Rs, discipline, competition among young people in school, and what is the school board's purpose?" . . . "The reason they're goin to school is to get the fundamentals with which to think . . . We have to get into more depth in our curriculum that we are today." . . Children "must learn to control themselves" and must be taught where their rights begin and other children's rights end."

Competition is necessary, said Kallmayer: "You can't shelter your children from competition all through school, then suddenly open the door and expect them to be able to compete."

The school board, he said, "should guide the school program prior to the time decisions are made" and should be closely concerned with curriculum planning.

MRS. PAINTER: The San Jose program "needs broadening at the seventh and eighth grade levels." She declared: "Establishment of school curriculum should be left to the superintendent and his aides."

The job of the school board is to inform the administration of the wishes of parents and inform parents of the action taken.

PAPINEAU: "I believe in very conservative and basic principles of education . . . I am most concerned with having schools provide not only the three Rs but also the importance of American ideals." Professionals need school board guidance. "I don't think too much of this word 'professional.' . . . I think when we use this word we're trying to make ourselves a little more powerful than we really are and a little more expert than we really are." There is "too much stress on the group" rather than individual attainment.

SWABACKER: The San Jose schools have a school day 60 minutes longer than the state requires and devote 240 minutes per day to basic courses. "What was good enough for us . . . is not good enough for our children. . . "We have added to the three Rs." Methods, rather than curriculum, are of prime importance. San Jose students make good at San Rafael High School. "We have the best superintendent in Marin County, if not in the state of California." (Later, during the question period, Swabacker said he would have given Supt. Philip W. Schneider a 10-year contract "if it had been up to me.")

VANDERGRIFF: The job of running the school district "requires teamwork" of superintendent, principals, and down through the staff. "I know we now have that teamwork." He said "we all believe in the three R's" but not in old-fashioned ways of teaching them.

Vandergriff cited functional planning of school buildings and introduction of a summer school as evidences of advances by the present board.

Placed on each seat was a pamphlet put out jointly by Kallmayer and Horton, who said they found they largely agree on what the schools need.

Rev. Clapham Accepts Post In San Carlos

REV. ROBERT CLAPHAM
To leave Marin

Rev. Robert C. Clapham last night resigned as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo at a meeting of church officers.

Rev. Clapham announced he has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of San Carlos, and will probably assume duties there early in June.

He took over the San Anselmo pastorate eight years ago after graduation from the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

When Rev. Clapham took over the pastorate, the church —established in 1897—had 450 members and met for worship in Montgomery Chapel on the seminary campus. Now the church has 1,050 members and a $230,000 sanctuary.

Man Accused Of Shooting At Wife Due To Make Plea

Inspector William Bradley of the sheriff's office reported, Mrs. Asher said her husband broke into the home and fired a rifle at point-blank range while she lay in bed reading. All five bullets missed her and drilled holes in the bedroom wall.

Inspector Bradley said Asher told investigators he had no intention of hitting his wife when he fired.

Mrs. Asher had filed for divorce, and the couple had been separated for about a month. He lives in San Francisco.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court set his bail at $2,625.

Japanese Welcome Stanford In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Stanford University officially arrived in Japan today, and the Japanese responded with a surprise award for its president, plenty of welcoming speeches and the Stanford hymn sung in Japanese.

The occasion was the opening of Stanford's center for Japanese studies.

Speechmaking at Wakeijuku Auditorium was interrupted for Education Minister Masuo Araki top resent the Second Degree of the Order of the Rising Sun to President J. E. Wallace Sterling.

Presentation of the Imperial award was a surprise to Dr. Sterling and a mystery to many of the 450 guests. The presentation speech was in Japanese and was not translated.

The Japan Women's University chorus pleased the onlookers, many of them Stanford grads, with a Japanese rendition of the Stanford hymn.

Later, a reception was held in the dining hall and demonstrations in the traditional tea ceremony and flower arranging were given. There was to have been a garden party but rain canceled that.

Five Seeking Finance Post

The field of applicants for Mill Valley finance director, which dropped from five to one March 27, has bobbed back up to five.

Oral examinations will be given Monday

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said today it was impossible to comply with council policy that he choose a director from the top three taking the exam when only one person was eligible. The council gave Almcrants permission, he said, to accept the one application on hand, another which had been filed late by Arthur E. Lang of Tiburon, an accountant in the Mill Valley fiscal department, and three applications which arrived late.

AUSTRALIA — Colored motion pictures of Australian wildlife will be shown by Patricia Bailey Witherspoon of Denver at 8 p.m. Friday at Olney Hall of College Marin, sponsored by the Marin Audubon Society and the college.

Exec Facing Felony Charge Of Hit-Run

Advertising executive Henry Bishop Grandin Jr., 33, of Ross faces a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court next Tuesday on a felony hit-run charge.

He appeared before Judge Joseph G. Wilson yesterday with his attorney, C. John Bernt, and pleaded innocent to the charge.

Sausalito police arrested Grandin last Saturday on a complaint of three young men that Grandin's car had knocked them down on Bridgeway Boulevard.

Africa Group Seeking Backing On Aid Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Twenty-four African nations today sought U.N. support for a broad plan designed to develop Africa's resources with aid from the United States and other affluent nations.

The plan was drawn up in answer to the Kennedy administration's promise to give financial aid if the African nations seized the initiative and worked out their own long-range development program "by, of and for Africa."

The resolution was submitted to the U.N.'s main political committee yesterday by Jaja Wachuku, Nigerian economics minister.

The African plan, worked out in consultation with the U. S. delegation, calls for creation of a special development bank and a new agency to train manpower to carry out the wide-ranging improvement program.

It also calls for increased technical assistance and financial aid from the more developed countries to be funneled through international agencies with no strings attached.

It urges the Economic and Social Council, the Economic Commission for Africa, the U.N. Special Fund and other agencies to gives pecial attention to African development problems.

Board Votes Use Permit For Hospital

A use permit for establishment of a 24-bed convalescent hospital in Santa Venetia was approved with two conditions by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The applicant, Doreen M. Nelson, has been operating a rest home on Pacheco Street in San Rafael but wishes to operate on San Pablo Road adjacent to the Tarrant Building and opposite the Tarrant Court intersection.

Conditions required architectural supervision for location, appearance, landscaping and other features, and maintenance of 12 parking places.

The supervisors approved final maps for the Bellucci subdivision outside Novato and Paradise Acres on the Tiburon Peninsula, and tentative maps for the 4.7-acre Marinero Knolls subdivision and the 8.4-acre Francisco Vista subdivision, both in the Tiburon area.

The supervisors also:

1. Held for budget time a request from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, to whom it gave $3,500 last year, to boost this to $5,000 for 1961-62.

2. Accepted bids of Ames Ford Sales for a "walk-in-cab truck" for the county communications department, price minus trade-in and plus tax $3,469.03, and a four-door sedan for the district attorney, net price $2,044.91. Ames' bid was lowest of three in each category.

3. Postponed to next week consideration of a proposed amendment to the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District Act, framed by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire "to give means to annex property into an existing zone rather than create a new zone."

4. Approved a mutually agreed annexation of a small area by Mill Valley because of road needs.

5. Asked Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle to present next week his revised cost figures on the county hospital. De Lisle said they were ready yesterday.

It's Second Guessing Time Again; Dark's 'Percentage' Game A Flop

CONNOLLY

Just in a spirit of friendly and constructive criticism, I'll have to report Alvin Dark, the Giants' new rookie manager, pulled his first boo-boo of the 1961 season yesterday while losing the opener to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 7.

All spring the serious-minded and conscientious Dark maintained he was not going to play baseball along "percentage" lines. He was going to play it differently. His own way. He announced that there were only two pitchers on his staff he would not use in relief roles. One was Juan Marichal.

Dark also stated he wasn't adverse to putting the winning run on the paths, if he thought it might save a ball game. In fact he did it in the spring to prove his way of thinking.

Yet in the season's opener against his strongest adversary, the Pirates, our bold and brave rookie manager of the Giants outfumbled himself.

To begin with he used McCormick, the sturdy southpaw, in a relief role. And allowed him to pitch to Bill Virdon, one of the Pirates' steadiest hitters, who hits either right or lefthand pitching. There was a base open at the time and had Alvin played his spring hunch, he would have walked Virdon and allowed McCormick to go after less powerful batters who followed Virdon.

SO I SAY Dark's boo-boo culminated a series of boo-boos committed by the not too alert Giants in the opener.

The first miscue, and in my mind the turning point of the ball game, came in the fourth inning. Up to that moment Sam Jones hadn't allowed a hit. Virdon and Dick Groat, however, opened the barrage with back to back singles. Then Bob Skinner singled sharply to right-center and Willie Mays gobbled up the ball on the first hop and threw to where the cut-off Giant infielder was supposed to be. But nobody thought to cut-off Mays throw to the infield and this boo-boo gave the Pirates two of the three runs they scored in that frame.

Cut-off plays were rehearsed heavily in the spring camp. And yet in the first actual league game of the season all the "larning" went out the window. It wasn't Mays' throw that was bad; it wasn't catcher Tom Haller's fault that he didn't leave home plate unguarded. It was just that either Willie McCovey or Eddie Bressoud, the head cut-off men, were napping. So nobody was there to catch Mays' throw-in and the ball flipped into the Pirate dugout.

AS I SAY this criticism is meant to be constructive. It also illustrates that a rookie manager can go berserk in order to win the opener. I think that is what happened to rookie manager Dark yesterday.

Stu Miller, who relieved Sam Jones and pitched magnificently from the sixth on, deserved a better fate. He had two Pirates out in the first half of the ninth and was leading 7 to 5. Pinch hitter Dick Schofield doubled and Stu worked hard to make Dick Stuart, another Pirate heavy hitter, offer at a bad pitch and lost him, Stuart walking.

Miller has been a victim of managerial boo-boos during Bill Rigney's reign of terror and I guess when he saw rookie manager Dark calling for Mike McCormick, ole Stu just up and walked away.

McCORMICK'S first pitch was a home run throw that Virdon whacked high over the rightfield wall and put the game on ice for the Pirates.

Why did Dark yank Miller?

Why couldn't Stu have been given orders to walk Virdon as Dark preached so often in the spring and taken his chances with other Pirate batters, not so heafty as Virdon?

You saw McCovey light up his comeback trail with a scorching two-bagger to drive in the first Giant run and you saw him clout the longest hit of the day, a home run just to the left of the scoreboard. You saw Harvey Kuenn deliver up to snuff; you saw Orlando Cepeda whack a tremendous home run into the centerfield enclosure, following immediately after McCovey's smash.

WHATEVER you saw at Candlestick Park yesterday you have to admit it is a vast improvement on the 1960 play. And it strikes me that all rookie manager Dark has to do is have some more blackboard talks and the powerful hitting and pitching of the Giants will take care of the rest.

Mental mistakes have been one of the well known reasons for the flip flop of the Giants in 1958, 1959 and 1960. Let's hope it isn't allowed to become cancerous this year.

Giants Impressive Despite Bad Pitch

McCormick, the San Francisco Giants' ace southpaw, was called in to relieve with two out in the ninth inning yesterday against the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bill Virdon blasted McCormick's first pitch 350 feet down the right field line for a three-run homer and the ball game, 8-7, before 41,423 fans at San Francisco's Candlestick Park opener.

The Giants looked fine until McCormick threw that high curve ball to Virdon.

"They outplayed us for eight innings," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said.

Orlando Cepeda, with a homer and a single, knocked in three runs.

Harvey Kuenn got a double, scored two runs and was impressive at third base.

ROOKIES IMPRESS

The Giants' rookie starters—second baseman Charlie Hiller and catcher Tom Haller—impressed both managers and pulled off a sparkling hit-and-run play, a maneuver the Giants haven't used much in the past.

Three straight Pirate singles chased Jones in the sixth and brought in Stu Miller, who allowed just three hits and one walk in 2⅔ innings.

McCormick was charged with the loss. Roy Face, who worked the seventh and eighth fo Pittsburgh, got the victory.

Billy Loes, who hasn't start ed a game since he was wit Baltimore in 1959, was picke to start today against Pitts burgh's Vern Law.

Law was 20-9 last year. Loe worked only 46 innings in 3 games last season for a 3- record, but he's been one o the most improved pitchers i the San Francisco camp thi spring.

PREP SPORTS ROUNDUP

Drake's Champs Roll Along; S.R. Ace Twirls One-Hitter

By JIM GILMARTIN

Drake High's Pirates looked like the champions they are yesterday by blasting out an 8-2 victory over El Cerrito in a practice game on a busy Marin sports schedule.

Fresh off their championship triumph in the Marin Athletic League's tournament last weekend, the Pirates combined steady pitching, good defense and timely hitting as they prepared to open the league's round-robin schedule next week.

Big blows came from the bats of starting pitcher Nino Geminiani with a two-run triple, shortstop Jerry Ard's two-run double, Vince Pallavicini's two hits and two runs batted in and Mike Bresnan's three safeties.

Geminiani pitched four hitless inning and Pat Windrick and Stan Chapman finished up on the mound. Windrick gave up one hit in one inning of work and Chapman gave up two hits in two frames.

BECKER'S ONE-HITTER

Elsewhere on the baseball front, San Rafael's Ken Becker pitched a fine one-hitter as the Bulldogs shut out Washington High 9-0.

Becker struck out six and walked two in his masterpiece, showing he'll be tough to beat in league play.

Becker aided his own cause with a double following a similar two-bagger by Tim Kerrigan in a big third inning.

NOVATO SHADED

Novato's Hornets suffered a tough 5-4 loss to Petaluma in eight innings.

Novato's Lu Haas clouted a home run and had three runs batted in to his credit, but Petaluma rallied for two runs in the bottom of the eighth to grab the win. Sam Young pitched the whole game for Novato, striking out seven and walking two. Novato, however, committed four errors.

SWIMMING SCENE

On the swimming scene, Tamalpais lost a narrow 50-45 count to the outstanding Las Lomas High Team, Drake nipped Harry Ells 48-47 in a thriller and Redwood downed Montgomery 53-40.

Las Lomas broke five pool records at Tam, but the Indians salvaged some glory with Rick Snow's victory in the 400 freestyle in 4:52.9 and Tam's sweep of both relay races. It was only Tam's second loss of the season.

DRAKE WINS

Drake's narrow tank victory was decided on the final event of the meet when Bob Pringle, Pat Meherin, Denny Smith and Jim Dawson stroked to victory in the freestyle relay.

Drake's other winners were Jim Zell in the 100 back, 1:09.8; Jim Dawson, 100 free, 58.7; Dennis Smith, 200 free, 2:09.8; and Martin Overstreet in diving.

Drake won the B division, 72-13, with Terry Poletti winning the backstroke and individual medley, Bill Kelsey copping the 50 and 100 free races, John Mulder taking the 50 butterfly in the school record time of 29.6 and John Detweiler winning the 100 breaststroke.

CHAMBERS STARS

Redwood's classy mermen were paced by double winner Dick Chambers along with Ken Frost, Lorin Vogel and John Osborne. Chambers won the 400 in 4:30.3 and the 200 in 2:08.2 Frost clipped off a 1:06.5 clocking in the 100 breast, Vogel took the 100 back in 1:10.6 and Osborne was winner in the individual medley.

Montgomery eked out a 46-38 Class B victory. Redwood had five first, including two by Chris Coombs in the 100 free and 100 individual medley and one each by Don Keller, Larry Herst and Rom Kalder.

Tennis and golf competition opened in the Marin League, with Novato's linksters and San Rafael's and Tam's netters getting impressive starts.

On the Indian Valley links in Novato, the host school defeated Tam five matches to one. Best card of the nine-hole competition was by Novato's Bob McBride, a 39. Fred O'Bannon and Robbie Shultz each scored 40, Barry Hachmyer had a 43 and Al Walters a 47 for the victors. Tam's lone victory, with a card of 40, was scored by Tim Dreyfus.

STOCKTON ABSENT

San Rafael's tennis team enjoyed a 4-1 victory over Redwood, even without the services of ace singles man Steve Stockton, sidelined with a foot injury.

Results of the matches:

Harvey Klyce (S.R.) d. Sam Mercer (R), 6-1, 6-2; Bill Clarke (S.R.) d. Pete Ragan (R), 6-0, 6-0; Greg Parkerson (S.R.) d. Hillard Witt (R), 8-6, 6-3; Charles Cauldwell-Chris Lewis (R) d. Harry Miller-Mike Calder (SR), 8-6, 6-2 (forfeit); Ron Klyce-Warren DeGraff (S.R.) d. Ned Griffith-Dave Lindsey (R), 6-4, 6-2.

Tam's racqueteers had a breeze in a 5-0 win over Novato with Dennis Langhoff, Jim Christian and Mike Zifcak winning singles and doubles teams Bill Turney-Barney Hope and Stoye-Dewees downing Novato's tandems.

Dodgers Show Speed In Coliseum Opener

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers, a speedy bunch of kids who may lack power but who could run everybody ragged in the National League race, are off a flying, making runs out of singles, sacrifice bunts and infield hits.

It was that sequence that did the damage last night when the Dodgers opened the season with a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and hustled to join the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds in a knot at the top of the standings.

Duke Snider, one of the Dodgers' older greyhounds, opened a three-run seventh inning with a single and galloped to third on a sacrifice and an infield out. Snider came in with the tie-breaking run when Charlie Neal smashed an infield single off the leg of losing pitcher Robin Roberts.

In the other N.L. openers, all afternoon contests, the Pirates were back in the old groove, coming from behind on Bill Virdon's three-run homer with two out in the ninth for an 8-7 victory at San Francisco. St. Louis defeated Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 2-1 on Daryl Spencer's solo home run in the 10th inning, and Cincinnati, rolling on homers by Frank Robinson and Wally Post, walloped Chicago's Cubs 7-1.

BLANKS YANKS

In the American League, the Minnesota Twins rocked the defending champion New York Yankees 6-0 on the three-hit pitching of Pedro Ramos, and the new Los Angeles Angels surprised the Baltimore Orioles 7-2 as Eli Grba turned back the Birds with a six-hitter. Cleveland rapped Detroit 9-5, and the Kansas City A's defeated Boston 5-2. Chicago's White Sox and Washington were idle.

Roberts, setting a N.L. record with his 12th opening day assignment for the Phils, wound up with a 5-6 record for inaugurals after the three-run Dodger seventh. Pinch-hitter Ron Fairly capped that rally with a two-run double, and rookie Carl Warwick drove in the final run with a pinch single, following two walks by Phillie reliever Ken Lehman, in the eighth.

FAST START

The Dodgers started fast, scoring in the first inning when speedster Maury Wills singled, went to second on a sacrifice and then scampered home on a single by Tommy Davis. Wally Moon homered in the second, but Johnny Callison then squared it for the Phils with a two-run homer in the third inning off winner Don Drysdale.

The Cardinals, blanked on two hits for seven innings, scored the tying run in the eighth off Spahn on Hal Smith's triple and a pinch single by Bob Nieman. Spencer's shot then put it away, leaving Spahnie, who allowed six hits, still a dozen victories shy of 300. Lindy McDaniel pitched three hitless innings and gained the decision in relief of Ernie Broglio, who gave up four hits, one Ed Mathews' fourth-inning home run.

Cincinnati collected 14 hits off loser Glen Hobbie and three relievers with Post's three-run homer breaking a 1-1 tie in the third. Jim O'Toole was the winner with a four-hitter.

TAM EDGES OUT CITY HIGH SCHOOL

The Tamalpais High baseball nine edged out Washington High 6-5 Monday in a game played in San Francisco.

Bill Daniels went the route for the winners, giving up but four hits. His teammates collected eight. Dave Perlis belted a triple and single, and Steve Long and Russ Adams each collected a double and a single.

The line score:

Tamalpais	002	003	1—6 8 3
Washington	201	020	0—5 4 3

Pirates Boss Murtaugh Feels Almost 'Stand Pat' Club Will Win Again

HANLEY

CANDLESTICK PARK — Most managers in the National League will tell you that "no club can stand pat and be a winner in this league."

Danny Murtaugh of the world champion Pirates doesn't look at it precisely that way even though the champs did make a winter addition in southpaw reliever Bobby Shantz.

"We were good enough to win last year," said Murtaugh, "and we're good enough to make a run for it again this season."

The black-bearded, tobacco-chewing leader of the Buccos concedes that it will be tougher this season than in 1960 "because it looks like you could throw a blanket over my own club, the Dodgers, Braves, Giants and Cardinals — they're bunched that close."

Murtaugh said he wasn't being polite in rating the Giants among the top five just because his Pirates were Candlestick Park guests in the current opening series.

"I've known Al Dark for a long time," said Murtaugh. "Fourteen years ago we were the keystone combination for the old Milwaukee Brewers in the American Association. I played second. Al was short. He was a leader right from his first year in baseball in 1947.

"I KNOW he isn't going to let an old friendship stop him from beating me and I'm sure he knows we'll beat him every time we can."

Murtaugh and all of his Pirates, with the possible exception of San Carlos' Dick Stuart, speak softly now and with the calm confidence and assurance that goes with being a champion. There's no reason for them to put on any false front. Even Stuart, no shrinking violet, speaks softer nowadays.

Last season they were the "never say die" Pirates who gave Pittsburgh its first title in 33 years. This year they're the champs who definitely convey the feeling they are going to stay champs.

WHEN IT was pointed out to Dick Groat and Don Hoak that the law of averages was against the Pirates winning 23 games again this year in their last time at bat, the infield leaders merely smiled.

Pittsburgh never was off the pace by more than two games at any time last year. The Pirates lost two of their first three as the seasoned opened. After six games they were an even 3-3. Then they began to move, winning nine in a row from April 20 to May 1 when they led by two games.

It looked like they might fold during the period May 2-9 when they dropped six of seven games, falling into second place 1½ games behind the Giants. But it was Bill Rigney's men who folded not Murtaugh's men.

FROM MAY 30 on, with the exception of one day, the Pirates led the league and seldom were in any serious trouble. Milwaukee made a run at them in July, ousting them from first place but Bob Friend pitched them right back into the lead the next day.

Pittsburgh led Milwaukee by only two games on August 1 but by August 7 had lengthened it to 5½. Then the Cardinals made their run at the pennant bound Bucs, moving to within three games tof the pace setters on August 12. The Pirates again met the challenge and by August 16 were 7½ games ahead of both the Cardinals and Braves.

And thereafter their lead never was less than five games despite the loss of Groat on September 6 with a broken wrist. Dick Schofield took over the MVP's spot at short and he didn't make everyone forget about Groat but he sure didn't make them miss him.

New Vikings To Start In NFL's West Division

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New Minnesota Vikings will start play in the National Football League as a member of the Western Conference and the Dallas Cowboys will shift to the Eastern Division, commissioner Pete Rozelle announced today.

In releasing the expanded schedule for 1961, Rozelle announced that each club in the league will play a home-and-home series with each of the six other teams in its division, plus two games against teams from the opposite division.

Each team will play a 14-game schedule starting Sept. 17, making a total of 98 games. This will mean one additional home game and another on the road for each club.

FEARED 'SWING' TEAMS

With the addition of the Vikings as the 14th club in the N. F. L., it was feared at last December's league meeting that both Minnesota and Dallas would have to compete as "swing" teams in 1961, that is, they would have to play every other club in the league once.

Both the Vikings and the Cowboys preferred to be assigned to a conference and play home-and-home series, just as the other clubs do.

The more desirable home-and-home arrangement was made possible because of the increased availability of ball parks early in the season, particularly in New York, Washington and Dallas.

The baseball New York Yankees for the first time permitted the New York Football Giants to schedule a game in Yankee Stadium prior to World Series time. It also was learned that the stadium under construction in Washington will be completed by Oct. 1, a few weeks earlier than had been expected.

EARLIEST IN HISTORY

As a result, the Giants will open their home schedule at the earliest date in their history, meeting the St. Louis Cardinals Sept. 17.

That same Sunday the San Francisco Forty-Niners will be at home against the Washington Redskins; the champion Philadelphia Eagles will be at home against the Cleveland Browns; the Cowboys will be host to the Pittsburgh Steelers; the Western Division champion Green Bay Packers will entertain the Detroit Lions; the Vikings will begin their schedule at home against the Chicago Bears, and the Baltimore Colts will be host to the Los Angeles Rams.

Casey Sees L.A. Opener As A Fan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For the first time in more than two decades, Casey Stengel watched the opening of a baseball season as a fan instead of a manager.

The transition didn't seem to bother him, particularly when he learned the New York Yankees got shut out 6-0 in their opener by the Minnesota Twins.

"You never miss those kind," said Casey.

Stengel, fired by the Yanks last fall after his 10th first-place finish in 12 seasons, showed up at the Coliseum last night to watch the Dodgers open against Philadelphia.

284,732 Attended League Openers

Major league baseball's nine-game, two-day opening drew 284,732 fans with the top crowd, 50,665, sitting in on last night's game between the Philadelphia Phillies and Dodgers at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Bolstered by the Los Angeles throng, the National League's four openers attracted 154,128. The American League, after drawing 26,725 at Monday's presidential opener in Washington, added 103,879 in four games yesterday despite poor weather for a total of 129,604.

Last year, when the majors also counted nine-games on their opening schedules, the crowds totaled 370,435.

Celts Called Greatest Team In History

BOSTON (AP) — The old pro Boston Celtics — schoolboy happy and professionally proud —today reign from the high position they have held for three years, champions of the National Basketball Assn.

"Fantastic, fabulous," Coach Red Auerbach beamed at his champions after their 121-112 victory over St. Louis last night eliminated the gallant Hawks four games to one in the best of seven final playoff.

"We're the greatest," Auerbach shouted into the confusion of the steaming, crowded dressing room. "The 1961 Boston Celtics are the greatest ever. There never was anyone like us."

As usual, it was a team effort. But as usual, it was keyed by the great Bill Russell and the incomparable Bob Cousy.

Russell, the 6-foot-10 post man and the league's most valuable player, scored 30 points —22 of them in the first half as Boston struggled to a 62-61 intermission lead—and hauled down 38 rebounds.

MR. BASKETBALL

Cousy, the veteran backcourt man who wears the label "Mr. Basketball," scored 18 points, 13 of them in Boston's third-quarter burst that broke open the game, and contributed 12 assists.

The Cooz, who played 42 minutes on the dead run in Boston's lung-straining fast break, collapsed after the game and took no part in the victory celebration. "Russell was fantastic," St. Louis Coach Paul Seymour said. "He kept them alive in that first half. He gave them life. Thirty-eight rebounds. And then that third quarter. That did it."

The third-quarter spurt, in which Boston outscored St. Louis 37-23, gave the Celtics a 15-point lead and apparently put it out of reach. But the Hawks came clawing back.

Moved by the scoring prowess of Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit, who had 26 and 24 points respectively, St. Louis closed to within five points before Cousy, Tommy Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey and Sam Jones finished the job.

8 Kentucky Derby Winners Will Go At Golden Gate

ALBANY (UPI)—Nine 3-year-olds—including eight Kentucky Derby hopefuls—are scheduled to go postward Saturday at Golden Gate Fields in the 46th running of the California Derby.

The mile and an eighth classic is expected to have a gross value of $61,000, with $38,000 to the victor.

Almost certain favorite is the Alberta entry of Flutterby and Big Smoky, especially since Pappa's All will not run in the Derby.

Pappa's All came out of a derby trial a week ago Saturday with a sprained ligament in his left foreleg. His condition is "much improved," but trainer Buddy Leavitt says he will not be up to Saturday's exacting test.

Desert Squirrel Likes To Sleep

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It would be nice if humans could be like the Mojave ground squirrel and just go to sleep when there is no more food to eat.

Dr. Jack Hudson, UCLA zoologist, says that the little dessert squirrel sleeps lots of the time—and for eight months at a stretch. Apparently he's without food much of the time.

"The relatively mild winters of this ground squirrel's Southern California desert habitat pose no temperature problem," said Hudson. "But his food and water, which he obtains by eating insects and succulent plants, are adequate only in spring and early summer."

He sleeps the rest of the time.

Fights Last Night

SANTA CRUZ—Charlie "Tiger" Smith, 150, San Francisco, outpointed Charlie "Tombstone" Smith, 147, Los Angeles, 10.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Frankie Duran, 115, Austin, knocked out Tommy Draper, 116, Oklahoma City, 4.

McKEES ROCKS, Pa.—Freddy Martinovich, 137, Pittsburgh, outpointed Lee Bohles, 137½, Buffalo, N.Y., 8.

FIRST OF YEAR—Giants' Willie McCovey uncorks a double in first inning of yesterday's opener to score Harvey Kuenn with season's first run. McCovey later hit first homer of year, but Pittsburgh rallied in the ninth inning to ruin the San Francisco debut, 8-7. (AP Wirephoto)

Player Threatens Palmer's Record

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Gary Player, a young South African who amazed the golfing world by winning the Masters at Augusta, Ga., Monday, is riding a financial crest which may threaten Arnold Palmer's existing record.

Player's $20,000 for winning the Masters brings his official earnings this year to $44,185.33. This is more than Player made on the rugged tournament trail for the combined years 1957-60.

However, Palmer, of Ligonier, Pa., is still threatening. His tie for second in the Masters brought his total earnings up to $31,725.00.

Palmer broke the record last year by taking home more than $80,000.

Official figures released by the Professional Golfers Assn. headquarters showed Player has competed in 13 tournaments, won three and placed in the upper five brackets (including his three wins) eight times.

Bakery Owner Scores Ace

Mrs. Ted Weitzel, co-owner of the Lady Baltimore Bakeries in Marin County, yesterday shot a hole-in-one at the Meadow Club in Fairfax.

The club's assistant pro Ted Trammel said Mrs. Weitzel was so excited, she not only couldn't speak, but forgot to pay her caddy. She had a right to be excited. Not only is she now in a select "club" of golfers, but she won $150 worth of merchandise for her single five iron stroke on the 11th hole. The merchandise award is redeemable in the Meadow Club's pro shop, said Trammell.

Mrs. Weitzel is a resident of 14 Canyon Road, Fairfax. The last hole-in-one was made last month at the club's fifth hole by Marin road contractor Lee Ceccotti of 5750 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Candlestick Climb Fatal To L.A. Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Donald Durbin, 45, Los Angeles, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack yesterday after complaining of chest pains on the pedestrian ramp at Candlestick Park.

It was the eighth fatal heart attack at the park since the San Francisco Giants began playing there last year.

Crab Salad, Butter Snaps Are To Be Offered At Antique Show

Crab Salad and Butter Snaps will be among the special delicacies featured at the ninth annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale opening April 20 at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

CRAB SALAD

Method:

Pick 1½ pounds fresh crab meat in big pieces, reserving claw meat for garnishing. Put the mounded crab meat on a bed of fresh lettuce and top with claw meat. Rice 6 hard-cooked eggs and sprinkle them and chopped chives around the crab. Border the plate with slices of avocado and large black olives.

Serve well chilled with a dressing made of 1 cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup tarragon French dressing, ½ cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, 1 teaspoon each horseradish and Worcestershire sauce, salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste. As a variation chopped pickle relish and chopped pimento may be added to the dressing.

BUTTER SNAPS

Mrs. Isabel Jensen of Mill Valley will make these for the Antiques Show and Sale for their snack bar and dining room. She reports, "When I was a child in England, 50 years ago, we children were always excited when a visiting 'fair' or carnival came to our town because of the wild animals and 'merry-go-rounds,' but best of all were the Buttersnaps we bought by the bag, from the vendors. We ate them like children today eat popcorn—my father used to tell us that when he was a small boy and was taken to these 'fairs' he also bought these same cookies."

¾ c molasses (mild)
2 level dessert spoons butter
1 c brown sugar
1 c sifted flour
2 level tsp. ginger

Heat butter and molasses in saucepan just enough to melt the butter—cool. Mix together: flour, sugar, ginger, and stir into butter and molasses. Beat well. Batter will be sticky. Drop from tips of spoon on lightly greased inverted pan 3 inches apart. Bake only 6 or 8 at a time for easier handling. Bake at 300 for 10 or 15 minutes. After baking cool just enough to roll over wooden spoon handle; shape like cornucopia. As they cool they crisp.

Note: If cookies become too brittle to remove from cookie sheet or to roll, return to oven for 30 seconds to soften. To avoid this it is advisable to bake 6 to 8 at a time.

Quick Breads Are Handiest Edibles

Call them tea breads or quick loaves, by either name they're one of the handiest edibles a cook can have around the house.

Sliced thin and buttered, or made into cream-cheese sandwiches, they're perfect for morning coffees or afternoon teas. They're fine to pack into lunch boxes and youngsters usually welcome them as an after-school snack.

These quick loaves are leavened with baking powder or baking soda, or a combination of the two. Their base may be flour or flour plus cereal. We prefer brown sugar to white in many of these breads and usually they benefit from the addition of nuts and fruit, or both. When the breads are made with white sugar, you'll find grated orange rind an excellent flavoring.

A crack in the top is considered characteristic of quick loaves, and nothing to worry about. Nevertheless, some cooks cherish the idea of the smooth top! If you're one of these, you'll be interested in the following recipe because it produces a tea bread with nary a crack.

In this rule, flour and rolled oats are used for the batter's base, dark brown sugar for the sweetening, buttermilk for the leavening. An egg goes in but no shortening is called for. A reasonable portion of nuts and a generous number of raisins help give excellent flavor.

When the loaf comes out of the oven, cool it thoroughly on a wire rack. Then wrap it tightly in transparent plastic film and store it in a tightly-covered tin box for 24 hours before slicing. This way it will cut beautifully thin; the texture will be moist and the flavors blended. After that, you may wish to store the loaf, in its plastic film wrap, in the refrigerator. We do this when we plan to have the loaf on hand for about a week. When the loaf is down to its very last slices, try toasting them.

RAISIN NUT QUICK BREAD

1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 egg
½ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1 cup buttermilk
1 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water, drained and dried)
½ cup coarsely broken walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; add rolled oats. Beat egg slightly; gradually beat in brown sugar; continue beating until thick and smooth; add buttermilk and beat to combine. Add four-oats mixture, raisins and nuts. Stir just until all dry ingredients are moistened. (Mixture will be thinner than the usual quick bread). Turn into greased loaf pan (8 by 4 by 2½ inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on wire rack; cool. Store, tightly covered, for 24 hours before slicing.

All Plastic Jugs, 4 Gallon Chests Are Picnic Boon

NEW YORK (UPI)—New all-plastic jugs and portable chests will lighten the load for summer picnickers.

Both inner shell and outer liner of the jugs and chests are plastic, providing insulation to keep food and beverages hot or cold for at least 12 hours.

A half-gallon jug weighs only 8 ounces, features a pour spout cap and a swing-handle. A one gallon size comes with plastic faucet and turn-in handle. Other models include a plain cap unit and a shoulder spout design.

A 4½-gallon capacity chest, which doubles as a shopping basket for frozen foods, weighs only one pound. Other chests have 9½ and 6½-gallon capacity. Aluminum picnic chests also are available with plastic liners that increase insulation and durability.

New Recipe Of Asparagus Sandwiches

A recipe to set the hostess' mind at ease and please discriminating guests, California's Asparagus Souffle Sandwiches are tempting persuaders for a luncheon affair. Serve these delicious open-face sandwiches with a spiced fruit compote and a choice of perfectly brewed coffee, or other beverage, as desired.

ASPARAGUS SOUFFLE SANDWICHES
(Makes 6 servings)

2 two-pound bunches fresh asparagus
6 slices of breead, broiler toasted on one side only
6 slices cheese
3 eggs, separated
½ teaspon salt
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
Dash of Worcestershire sauce

Wash and trim asparagus to even lengths. Cook, covered, in 1 inch boiling, salted water for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lower parts of stalks are barely tender when tested with a fork. Drain thoroughly. Place a slice of cheese on the untoasted side of the bread. Beat the egg yolks; add the mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Continued to beat until thick. Beat the egg whites and salt until firm peaks form. Fold the egg whites into the egg yolk mixture. Arrange 4 to 5 spears of asparagus on top of the cheese. Spoon the mixture evenly on tops of the asparagus and bake on a cookie sheet in a 350 degree F. oven about 15 minutes. Serve immediately.

IN ALL THEIR springtime glory, its difficult to surpass tender spears of fresh California asparagus in flavor and appetite appeal. One tempting recipe for luncheons are Asparague Souffle Sandwiches.

Trelease-Gaspar Vows Traded At Christ Episcopal, Sausalito

On Saturday, at 4:30 in the afternoon, Mariette Gaspar became the bride of Rev. Murray L. Trelease at Christ Church, Episcopal, Sausalito.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony were Murray's father, Dr. Richard M. Trelease, a retired Episcopal minister of Kansas City, and Dr. John C. Leffler, Dean of Seattle's Cathedral. The lovely little church was decorated with spring flowers, white lilac, stock and snapdragon.

Mariette, a daughter of Mrs. Louis Gaspar and the late Dr. Gaspar of Honolulu, was given in marriage by her brother, Louis, of San Francisco. Her gown was of white eyelet embroidery, made with long, simple lines. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley.

Jill Gaspar was maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were another sister, Margaret, and Jennifer and Alice Merrill of Sausalito. All the attendants wore identical dresses of yellow and white, the bodice fitted and the skirt, full. They carried sprays of mixed, yellow spring flowers.

Charles H. Merrill Jr. of Sausalito was best man and the ushers were Bruce Gunn of Sausalito and James Roush of Bellevue, Wash.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Gaspar, came from her temporary residence in Switzerland to attend her daughter's wedding. She wore a blue print frock, white flowered hat and white camellias. Mrs. Trelease wore a beige jacket ensemble and her flowers were orchids.

At a reception for 200 at the Sausalito Woman's Club, potted trees were used throughout for decoration. Japanese maple and fruit bearing plum were predominant. The refreshment tables were embellished with orchids flown from the gardens of the Gaspar residence in Honolulu. The Vanda variety surrounded the punch bowl, cymbidiums were used on the tea table and the multi-tiered wedding cake was circled with white catalayas.

Leaving by car for her wedding trip, the bride wore a two-piece white wool with a yellow and white plaid coat. The couple will live at Fort Yukon, Alaska, where the Rev. Trelease is Missioner for the Yukon Valley. He was graduated from Kansas University and the Church Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley. His brother is Rev. Richard M. Trelease of Wilmington, Dela.

Mariette attended the Punahou School in Honolulu, Endicott Junior College and the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

The engagement of the couple was announced in January. During the week before the wedding, the Charles Merrills gave a dinner party honoring the couple and the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding was given by Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Wiper at their Sausalito residence.

ST. STEPHEN'S GUILD TO HOLD ANNUAL HOUSE TOUR ON MAY 11

Members of St. Stephen's Guild of Belvedere discussed plans for their 11th annual house tour this afternoon at a tea at the home of Mrs. George Stephens in Keil Cove.

Mrs. Edward M. Shelton, general chairman for the affair which will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 11, described the homes which will be included in this year's tour.

They are: "Landfall," the charming Belvedere Island home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Manning. Built in 1898, the home affords a charming view of the harbor through trees and an interesting terraced garden. The house for many years was owned by Miss Marian Huntington of the railroad clan.

An unusual combination of Georgian and contemporary, the Wallace E. Scott home will be shown. This home is on the Lagoon and has a generous deck which is the starting point for lagoon races.

Also on the Lagoon is the Robert Rodden house. This is contemporary in style with panelled walls and mahogany ceilings.

Perched like an eagle's nest on Belvedere's west cliff is the William Steen house which will also be shown. A bachelor, Steen finds the house perfect for a single person or couple. A large deck is generously planted with shrubs, trees and flowers and the house commands a sweeping view of San Francisco and Sausalito.

The last house is the Peter Mantegani home on Corinthian Island. Two years in the planning, the house includes tile imported from Italy for the floors and bathrooms, black marble fireplace and dark wood walls and floors. The house is secured to a 60 degree slope with cement piers. Heavy timbers support its two-tory weight.

Good Housekeeping Guarantees*

New Stepped-Up Detergent for Automatic Dishwashers

America's leading chemical laboratory for automatic dishwasher products has made a remarkable discovery. Here, scientists have found a combination of two costly chemicals that work together as "perfect partners" to end spotting and filming of glasses.

FINISH, the only dishwasher detergent containing this new combination of chemicals, was submitted to Good Housekeeping. It was checked every which way, from chemical analysis to performance under the combat conditions of Good Housekeeping Institute's home service center. Thus, Good Housekeeping satisfied itself that stepped-up FINISH is a quality product living up to its claims and proudly granted it the Good Housekeeping Seal.

This same stepped-up FINISH is now available in stores everywhere. There is no increase in price. Try it. You'll agree, you've never seen glasses so clean before.

Variety Of Styles Are Shown At 'Informally Yours' Show

The "Longitude and Latitude" of fashion was evident in the scope and variety of styles shown at the recent Informally Yours fashion-luncheon when the Newcomers Club was welcomed as beneficiary group at Bob's of Marin.

Hostesses of the day were the Newcomers of Welcome Wagon Inc., a social group whose purpose is to acquaint newcomers to the county with one another and to become integrated into the community life of their new locale.

Mrs. William LaValley was chairman of the benefit luncheon which featured budget beauties of fine fashion correctly accessorized by Sara Campbell for country living, all from a San Rafael women's apparel shop.

A figure-flattering black eyelet sheath with scoop neckline, cap sleeves and black velvet bow-back belt on fashionable Mrs. Franklin De Foe, Welcome Wagon's own model.

The applause-provoking blue and white lace over taffeta cocktail dress with satin cummerbund, fitted bodice, belle skirt and the femininity of Mrs. George Keywan, Newcomer member, who modeled the gown.

Petite Mrs. John Hackney Jr., Mannequin League model, slim as a shaft of sunlight promenading in a gold sailcloth cabin pantaloon coordinate with overblouse and a jaunty straw hat.

Regal Corky Jones, also of Mannequin League, in a dress and jacket of purse silk in a vibrant Dior blue, the detail of the gown an intricatae frontal drape.

Cute Mrs. George Coburn, League member, parading grey and white seersucker culottes (so wonderful for Marin) with matching tailored sleeveless blouse trimmed in hot pink.

Vivid as a China Sea sunset, the Oriental coral silk dynasty shirtdress with matching jewelery worn by on of the Mannequin League's top models, Mrs. William Donohoe.

Sunny Hills will benefit from the Wednesday, April 19, luncheon fashion show when the Madera Guild sponsors the event at Bob's of Marin.

Reservations for the Informally Yours luncheon on April 19 may be made with Bob's of Marin.

THE FUTURE MRS. TRACY—Barbara Lee Benham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Benham of Oklahoma City, Okla., whose engagement to John Lauren Tracy has been announced. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lauren Tracy of Greenbrae.

John Tracy To Wed Oklahoman In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. David B. Benham of Oklahoma City, Okla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Lee Benham, to John Lauren Tracy of Greenbrae.

The engagement was announced during the spring holidays when Barbara was vacationing from Northwestern University and Larry was a guest at her home.

Barbara attended Goucher College, Baltimore, Md., for her freshman year and then transferred to Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., where she has majored in mathematics. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority and in 1959 made her debut at the Beaux Art Ball and the Bachelors Club Ball in Oklahoma City.

Novato Guild Of Museum Plans Events

The Novato Guild of the Junior Museum of Marin met Friday to formulate plans for fund-raising and volunteer service, with Mrs. George A. Metcalfe of Kentfield, chairman of the 26 Marin County guilds, and Mrs. Kurt Rupke, San Anselmo, second vice president of the board of trustees of the museum.

Mrs. Ray Monson will represent the Novato group at the presidents' council luncheon Wednesday, April 12, at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. The first meeting of the Novato guild was held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Diefendorf, Novato.

Seventeen active members have formed the Novato guild with an additional number signed for inactive membership. Active members are: Mesdames Homer H. Odom, Earl Marshall, John K. McBeath, Allen Johnson, Donald Hoy, James Robinson, Ray Monson, Lyle Johnson, John Olsen, Hiram Dustman, Harry V. Reynolds, Gilbert Guerin, J. E. Diefendorf, Paul Herriott, Beth Nelson, W. F. Groves and M. H. Crabtree.

The local guild will have a yearly fund-raising project and assist in one county-wide project. One day each month members will take turns staffing the museum in San Rafael.

The guilds throughout the county were launched at a tea recently held at the Roger Kent estate in Kent Woodlands. There will be 25 active members in each guild and as many inactive as desired. The museum serves about 45,000 young people and adults each year.

Rabbi To Review Book At Luncheon

Rabbi Morton Hoffman will review "The Last of the Just," a book by Andre Schwarz-Bart, at tomorrow's luncheon meeting of the Congregation Rodef Sholom Women's Auxiliary at Sabella's on Highway 101.

A business meeting will precede the review.

Nursery School Has Open House

The San Rafael Cooperative Nursery School held its annual Open House on Thursday morning. On hand to greet the guests were the President, Mrs. Richard Kahn; the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. R. P. Brown, and other nursery school mothers.

The school director is Mrs. Ernest Egenberger, who has guided the school program for 10 years. Mrs. M. A. McConnell is the assistant director. The nursery school is under the auspices of the San Rafael High School District.

Guests viewed all facilities and handicraft available to the children and were delighted by the displays of the children's endeavors. Visiting pre-schoolers enjoyed the use of the sundry equipment and crafts.

Refreshments were served to all Open House guests.

Officers' Wives To Hear Editor

Party editor for House Beautiful magazine, Mrs. Robert Stanton, will be guest speaker at tomorrow's luncheon sponsored by the Hamilton Officers' Wives Club of the Sixth Reserve Region.

There will be a "table decoration" show by Mrs. Stanton who has done hundreds of table settings for color photography and has been responsible for several of House Beautiful's covers.

The sherry hour starts at 1 p.m. and the luncheon at 1:30 p.m.

District P-TA Studies TV, Movie Effects On Morals Of Children

Most of the 24,857 P-TA members in the Fourteenth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, are concerned over the vast amount of unsuitable entertainment offered their children via local television channels and movie screens. This subject was a recurring theme throughout the annual reports presented by P-TA Council presidents and out-of-council units of Marin and Sonoma counties at the annual meeting held at Villa Chanticleer in Healdsburg, celebrating 25 years of operation for Fourteenth District.

The 114 units in the district are trying to solve the problem by making information available to parents concerning motion picture and TV programs being presented in their area. One of the district projects planned for the coming year by the motion picture and television chairman, Mrs. W. E. Vernon of San Rafael, is the consolidation of local efforts on a district-wide basis.

Program for the anniversary meeting was titled "Facing Forward—Help Wanted." It was a panel discussion of the kinds of help available to emotionally disturbed children and their families. The panel included Dr. John Boyle, director of Health Services for Sonoma County Schools, as moderator, and Jack Danielson of Marin County, school guidance consultant; Ray Patrick, social service worker, and William Mulligan, probation officer, both of Sonoma County. The panel members later answered questions from the audience

Mrs. Malcolm Finley of San Rafael, president of Fourteenth District, conducted the business meeting, a main feature of which was a special exhibit on the effect of audio-visual aids on assimilation and retention of knowledge, organized by John King, principal of Lucas Valley School, and audio-visual chairman for Fourteenth District, and presented by Clarence Spencer, director of Audio-Visual Materials for the County of Marin. The exhibit illustrated the fact that various studies which have been made on the subject indicate a high correlation between audio-visual aids and learning.

Elected to serve two-year terms as district officers were Mrs. Edmond Gross of Mill Valley, director of education; Mrs. Leo Buchignani of Healdsburg, director of health; Mrs. John Coulter of Novato, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Dunn of San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. Gregori of San Rafael, treasurer; Mrs. Tom Hooper of Petaluma, historian, and Mrs. Sidney Diehl of San Rafael, parliamentarian. Installation followed.

During luncheon, the delegates and guests were serenaded by the combined bands of the Fitch Mountain and Healdsburg elementary schools, under the leadership of George Izzett, director of instrumental music for the two schools.

In closing, Mrs. Finley announced that an Honorary Life Membership in California Congress of Parents and Teachers had been conferred by Fourteenth District on Vera Schultz, former member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, at a recent testimonial dinner in her honor. The distinction was bestowed in consideration of her outstanding service to children and youth in her community.

Women's Group Of Dental Assn. Meets April 17

The seventh annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the California Dental Association will be held on Monday, April 17, in the Conquistador Room of the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.

Election and installation of officers will be the order of the day. The delegates from this area will be Mrs. Frank Rossman, president of the Marin County auxiliary this past year, and Mrs. James Rideout, who has served as president-elect to the Marin group and as recording secretary at the state level. Mrs. Rossman will report the activities of the Marin County auxiliary for the past year.

Following the meeting will be the annual luncheon fashion show, held at noon in the Peacock Court of the Mark Hopkins Hotel. Jet Holiday, the fashion show theme, will be presented by Ruth Redell, fashion coordinator and commentator. Models have been selected from the seven counties surrounding the Bay Area, and Marin County will be represented by Mrs. Ted Schuster and Mrs. Bernie Holman.

The Marin County auxiliary has been busy presenting puppet shows to Marin schools as a part of its dental health education program, and the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito, has been selected as the setting for its May luncheon and installation of officers meeting.

Religious Topic For Women's Fellowship

"The World at Worship" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Frederick King of Berkeley at a recent meeting of the Women's Fellowship of the Community Congregational Church of Belvedere-Tiburon.

Mrs. King gave thumbnail sketches of the principal religions throughout the world, including Hinduism, Buddhism, Shintoism, Judaism, Mohammedanism and Christianity.

Her talk was illustrated with colored slides of the areas where these religious are practiced, which Mrs. King had taken on a trip around the world. On her itinerary were Japan, Hong-kong, Singapore, Bangkok, Angkor Wat, the Islands of Penang and Ceylon; India, Egypt, Greece, Lebanon and the Holy Land.

The luncheon meeting was held at the Belvedere home of Mrs. Herbert Spilman, program chairman for the group. Luncheon was served in the garden. Devotionals were given by Mrs. Benton S. Gaskell.

Day Camp Program Listed For Marin Camp Fire Girls

"Camping is Fun" is the statement read recently in Camp Fire Girl homes all over the county. The Camp Bulletin was sent to all members with information on the Day Camp Program in the county and the resident Camp Kilowana on the northern slopes of Mt. St. Helena in Napa County.

This is the 16th camp season at Kilowana and during the past years thousands of girls have enjoyed and formed happy memories of their good times at camp — new friendships, cookouts, treasure hunts and Council Fires.

The Day Camp schedule for Blue Birds is: Phoenix Lake, Ross, June 26-29, July 3, 5, 6, 7; Stafford Dam, Novato, July 10-13, 17-20; Paradise Park, Tiburon, July 17-20, 24-27. These are all eight-day sessions and run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

The day camps are planned and carried out by a committee of volunteer women, under chairman Mrs. Vincent Yoder. These women, mothers and group leaders, are trained and supervised by the Day Camp Coordinator. There will be a trained adult counselor for each group of 6 to 8 girls and a Program Aide (a high school girl) to assist each counselor.

A Camp Fire Girls Overnite at Camp Taylor is planned for Aug. 8 at 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. the next day.

The schedule for Camp Kilowana is: One week sessions 1, 2, 3 and 4, July 7-14, July 14-21, July 21-28 and July 28- Aug. 4. Session 3A, a two-week session, runs from July 21 to Aug. 4 and Session 5 is a 10-day camping treat from Aug. 4-14.

Camp Kilowana will be staffed by Director Laura Warren of the Camp Fire Girls professional staff and counselors gleaned from Colleges near and far, people who are going into teaching or youth work when they graduate.

Registrations for both Resident and Day Camps are now being taken and may be made either in person or by mail. The Resident Camp program is open to non-Camp Fire Girls also, at a small additional non-member fee. For additional information, please call Marin County Camp Fire Girls, 739 A Street, San Rafael.

Bethel 48 Hosts Visitation Meet

A breakfast was held at the Masonic Hall on April 9, cooked by the fathers. This was followed by a go-to-church Sunday.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

To Get Kind Of Schools You Want, Elect Right Trustees

Just a couple of weeks ago in this space, we praised the many fine men and women who were offering their services to the cause of good government by agreeing to run for office.

It is disappointing, therefore, to have to report now that the general public doesn't seem to appreciate their efforts. In fact, the general public has apparently taken a "don't-give-a-darn" attitude about the whole thing.

This year for the first time, every school district in the county holds its trustee elections next Tuesday, except San Rafael which combined its city council elections and school board last Monday.

Has this fact and races in most school districts increased public interest? It has not.

Candidates nights have been sparsely attended. One had nearly as many candidates present as spectators. The appearance of San Rafael council candidates, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and highly publicized and advertised, drew only about 50 persons.

In the face of such voter apathy, it is no wonder the voter turnout in San Rafael was a mere 30 per cent.

A candidate in a Southern Marin school district tells us that in his house-to-house campaigning he has discovered the major question the voters want answered. It has nothing to do with curriculum, cost of school construction, programs for the gifted children. No, the big question is, "Who else is running?"

The San Rafael voters have made a miserable showing of their interest in their schools and city. Voters in the rest of the county, however, still have a few days in which to do some digging, find out more about the candidate, and make a determination as to who are the best to carry out the type of school program they'd like to see.

Most residents of Marin live in three school districts; some in just two, or even one. Every voter should participate. The schools spend more than half of your tax dollar. They should be the kind of schools you want — and are willing to pay for.

The candidates have offered themselves. It's now up to you. Tuesday is election day.

The Joys Of Dining Out

When Mama gets tired of turning out the casseroles and working miracles with the left-overs, its time to try dining out.

Some of Marin's happiest families are those who try a different restaurant each week and share the adventures of new foods and new tastes.

Marin offers a tremendous variety of the foods of the world for a non-metropolitan. Everything from smorgasbord to tacos, with chicken chow mein and veal scallopini thrown in. There are restaurants to please every palate.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

WORK IS NOBLE

"Hard work is necessary if we are to succeed" said lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle at a meeting of 1,000 key scientists in Los Angeles.

Claiming that "we as a nation have had it too good for too long," the retired general, chairman of Space Technology Laboratories, warned, "I'm afraid that we have almost lost our past willingness to work hard and our ability to think clearly."

Modern comforts and labor saving devices can ease one's pilgrimage through life and help promote a fuller and more creative existence.

Or else the "good things of this life" may have a demoralizing effect and set a person in futile pursuit of more and more time to do less and less.

Those who take such a dim view of honest labor usually spend more fuss and fret avoiding work than if they faced up to their responsibilities.

Since God expects each of us to struggle for heaven, we will have little sense of fulfillment if we fail to see the nobility of work.

"If any man will not work, neither let him eat."

(2 Thessalonians 3:10)

Help me to learn, O Master, that only through work can I achieve greatness both here and hereafter.

Here Is An Easy Way To Find Out If You Are A Great Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you a success?

There are many ways to measure success, but the chances are that you've done pretty well in life—at least in the eyes of your neighbors—if:

You have been living at a rate of only $1,000 a year over your income for the last five years, and your credit is still good.

The boss, instead of pushing a buzzer when he wants you, strolls out to your desk to ask advice.

The barber can tell you in complete honesty, "Nope, it isn't getting any thinner on top."

None of your children has been sent to reform school.

All your brothers-in-law have steady jobs.

You can play pool instead of golf and still keep your standing in the community.

Your home has one more bathroom than it does bedrooms—and the garage has a door that opens automatically.

Both the minister and the postman call you by your first name, but the bank president addresses you as "mister" with a note of firm respect.

The family dog is too old to have any more pups, and the family cat is still too young to have kittens.

She trusts you absolutely—but still gets a bit upset if you talk more than 10 minutes to a strange blonde at a party.

A letter arrives from the Internal Revenue Service, and when you fearfully open it you find inside a message congratulating you on the detailed accuracy of your last income tax return.

You are able to take martinis or leave them alone, and you prove it—by letting them alone.

In any given years your church and charitable contributions total more than your medical costs.

You weigh no more than 10 pounds above what you tipped the scales in college.

THE DOCTOR ENVIES you because he's on a diet—and you can still eat anything you want to.

You don't have to worry about your job at the office. Nobody else wants it.

YOU CAN STILL bend over—knees stiff—and touch the ground 15 times without puffing or bragging, on some days.

Two Candidates For School Bonds

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The April 7 edition of the Independent-Journal carried a story on the appearances of some of the candidates for the Tamalpais Union High School District Board of Trustees before a gathering sponsored by the League of Women Voters in Mill Valley. Your reporter commented that candidates Siemens and Wolfson did not commit themselves on their position regarding the "3 million dollar bond issue."

The undersigned are desirous of correcting any erroneous impression that this remark may have left in the minds of the voters. Both Dr. Siemens and Mr. Wolfson are unequivocally in favor of the passage of the present bond issue. Failure to pass these bonds will not only result in continuing the overcrowded conditions at Redwood but must of necessity impair the quality of education and further burden the inadequate facilities at all three high schools . . .

Step Backward In School History

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wonder whether your readers realize that unless Tamalpais High School District bonds pass on April 18, the district will be unable to offer an adequate college preparatory program.

Double sessions would limit the school day to five periods, one of which, by state law, must be devoted to physical education. The four periods remaining are inadequate to cover the program now required by most colleges including the University of California.

I think that the day when children will have to be sent to private schools in order to qualify for college will be a great step backward in the history of our country.

Don't Encourage Marine Sampling

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a recent visitor in Marin County I would like to commend you on your Marin Magazine and especially an article in the April 1 issue concerning the marine life on the county's shores.

However, as a zoologist and conservationist I would like to point out the fallacy in encouraging hobbyists to take specimens unless they are to be used for a specific reason and not just out of curiosity.

Too many visitors to the beach take specimens home, find that they die shortly and then discard them. It is virtually impossible to keep marine life alive without a circulating fresh sea water environment.

It is much wiser for people interested in sea shore life to observe it there and leave it for the next person. This will insure the future of the sea shore life against extinction in the future and ecological unbalance at the present.

As plentiful as the sea shore life is, it is still subject to man's waste. Let us learn from our past mistakes.

Hospital Staff Was Wonderful

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

For 10 months I was a patient in Ross General Hospital. I was in the part named "The Terrace." The reason I emphasize the word Terrace is because this letter is about the people who work in The Terrace.

This is one way that I can try to express my thanks to some wonderful people. This includes the nurses, maids, dietary staff, orderlies, nurses aides and doctors.

Kinder people would be hard to find. The care goes further than just routine treatment. They go out of their way to make a patient feel more like they are home, instead of a hospital.

Ross Hospital has a motto "The Hospitality Hospital" which is quote apropos. Again my most heartfelt thanks to all the wonderful people of Ross General Hospital Terrace. The hospital should be very, very proud of them.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Charles R. Reilley of Point Reyes Station became Marin County fire chief when, after long wrangling, Camillo Mello, chief since September of 1948, was fired by the board of supervisors. This came after Asst. Chief Jimmy Nettro complained Mello had discharged him without board authorization.

A 14-inch dawn redwood tree from China was planted on Angel Island by Dr. Ralph Chaney, paleontology professor of the University of California. He said the island was chosen as an earlier "first port of call" in this country for Chinese immigrants.

20 YEARS AGO

Miss Georgia Wintringham of the San Rafael Tree Committee announced that a letter has been sent to state highway engineers asking a program of replacement of 200 trees cut to clear the route for the new highway through San Rafael.

Closing of all Shoreline Highway traffic to all traffic between Stinson Beach and Muir Beach junction caused bitter protest of residents to the California Highway Commission, which took a dim view of hazards created by overhanging rock menaced by slides.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Zsa Zsa Gabor, the maverick of the TV circuit, was asked if it was the proper thing for a girl to return the ring after she broke an engagement. "Definitely," pronounced Zsa Zsa without hesitation. "She should return the ring immediately, but keep the diamond, of course."

Goody Ace, probably the highest paid script writer in TV (something like $8500 a week), once toiled for peanuts in a network's radio department—and was overpaid at that, because they seldom accepted a line he had written. "If ever an atom bomb falls on this town," he blurted suddenly, "It's me for the 18th floor of that outfit. That's ONE place there's never any radioactivity!"

Goody, who likes horse racing, once named the warm weather months as June, July, August and Aqueduct. Persuaded to bet one day on a hopeless long shot, he told his wife Jane later, "I got a tip this nag would walk in, and I must say he tried to."

Joe E. Lewis ran into an old punch-drunk fighter pal who's struck it rich. He now can afford to wash his ears with Hollandaise sauce.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

It's Easy To Tell When Spring Arrives By Knowing What To Watch

Spring has been confusing mankind for a long time. Womankind has been both confused and confusing in that respect.

Here is how I knew Spring had reached Marin County this year:

On San Rafael's Fourth Street I beheld a uniformed meter maid, wistfully gazing into a display window filled with gorgeous frocks.

(Maybe it was still another sign of Spring that I thought she looked might pretty in her uniform—better, maybe, than in a frock.)

This incident happened a couple of weeks or so back, just after a cold spell had pretty well sold me on the idea that Marin County has a winter.

UP TO THEN I had been sort of romantic about our climate. I tended to insist that yes, we had a rainy season like Manila, but nothing fit to be termed "winter"; not if you'd lived in Minnesota, Montana or Colorado.

My trouble is that I've lived all over, more or less. Instead of giving me a balanced point of view, this has merely mixed me up.

Because I like Marin and have happy recollections of pre-Kaiser Honolulu, I got to thinking Marin was Hawaii. Actually Marin isn't near as much improved as Hawaii. They started there with a level climate and ever since, they have been leveling everything else.

AMONG THE THINGS I hope we don't bulldoze is our climate. This does have something remotely describable as Winter, which leads into Spring.

Winter in Marin has, as a rule, no snow or ice. But there is enough rain and chill to make it fun to stay indoors and drink your martinis in front of an open fire.

When it gets to be fun to go outdoors under the California live oaks and drink your cocktails in the fresh air, then it is Spring.

Hawaii really falls flat on its sunburned kisser when it comes to Spring. There ain't any.

Checking over the various spots where I have found Spring, and vice versa, let me especially skip Tasmania. What I found in Hobart, was a snowstorm. When it should be spring down there, winter is just coming in.

All in all I award special honors to Japan as a place where Spring is fun, and properly welcomed by local inhabitants.

ONE GOOD REASON why the Japanese enjoy Spring so much is that they are the most northerly of the tropical people. Cold weather is always a big annual surprise to them.

Their houses aren't built for it. Their garments tend to be drafty. Wintertime is a mighty uncomfortable mess.

By the time Spring hits Japan, the Japanese are ready for it. And so was I. They couldn't celebrate any more heartily than the way I felt.

One cherry blossom looks just like any other, except that the first one all alone looks like nothing much. I couldn't see why they didn't print the same picture every year.

But so far as I could make out everybody was honorable about it all.

Spring does bring out the best in one. Or does it?

Well, I still think the eye I cast on that pretty meter maid on San Rafael's Fourth Street was benevolent, indulgent, paternal, and in every way loaded with the finest aspects of Spring in Marin County.

No Sign Of Good News Coming Out Of Geneva Test Ban Talks

WASHINGTON—We should be ready for bleak news on test-ban and disarmament negotiations with the Soviets.

I suspect the real state of affairs will soon be out in the open at Geneva.

The Russians are now backing away from any inspectable treaty to end the testing of nuclear weapons.

Such news from Geneva can only mean that the Soviets do not want to negotiate a test-ban agreement which has any element of secure enforcement. Naturally they do not say so. That would be bad propaganda.

BUT THEIR ACTIONS reveal their intentions:

1—The United States and Britain have made seven significant concessions to Soviet views on inspection. The Russians offer nothing in return.

2—Actually the Soviet delegate not only makes no return concessions, but he has withdrawn approval of one of the most important agreements already reached in previous Geneva meetings — that a single neutral administrator be in charge of the test-ban control commission.

3—In place of a single neutral administrator, Moscow now says it will only accept a three-man committee on which, at all points, each would have to agree before any inspection was authorized.

4—This means that the Soviet Union is demanding a total veto over any system of inspection designed to verify the test ban.

NO WONDER Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, after conferring with the American negotiators at Geneva, warned that the U. S. will not be lured into a treaty "just for the sake of a treaty" and will not accept a veto-locked inspection system.

It is quite possible that the Soviets have decided that the value of a test-ban is not equal to the amount of inspection needed to make it work. Or, they might have decided that they can get the U. S. to continue the moratorium on testing without any inspection agreement at all.

Whatever their reasons, the Soviet demand for a veto-laden control commission makes the outlook for any kind of disarmament agreement nearly hopeless.

IT NOW SEEMS clear that the Kremlin is insisting upon a veto over any international agency which could affect the Soviet Union.

Their demand at Geneva for a "committee secretariat" to run the test-ban control commission is exactly what Premier Khrushchev has been demanding at the U. N. — a committee to run the secretariat of the United Nations with a Soviet veto over any action.

Today is Wednesday, April 12, the 102nd day of the year with 263 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1777, Henry Clay, American statesman and orator was born.

In 1861, civil war came to the United States as confederate forces opened fire on Fort Sumter, the Federal citadel in the Harbor of Charleston, South Carolina.,

In 1865, General Robert E. Lee wrote to the president of the Confederacy, advising him that the army of northern Virginia had been surrendered to Gen. Ulysses Grant.

In 1945, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in Warm Springs, Ga.

A thought for today: Jean Baptist Moliere said: The more we love our friends, the less we flatter them; it is by excusing nothing that pure love shows itself."

It's Important Small Child Show, Proper Respect For His Parents

Do you have a small child at home? A youngster of 2, 3, or 4? I'm writing to you today.

You love your little one, play and have fun with him. It's good that you do. But I hope you don't relax to the extent that he can hit you in anger. Don't let him be openly defiant. Make him show a decent respect for you.

Why? Because you are his parent who must guide and discipline him. You must teach what is right, and what is wrong. You must be able to say "no," and make it stick. If you're on an equal level with him you can't do that. He must look up to you.

Does that make sense? It should. Here are two illustrations:

I used to watch little "Billy" kick his daddy. Billy was 3. He'd kick hard, and yell rudely. His father didn't stop him, he thought it was cute. Now Billy is 15. He is delinquent. When his father tries to control him, Billy sneers for he has no respect whatever for his Dad.

At 4, Maria used to scream insults at her mother. Then she'd run and yank her hair. "I'll hurt you, mommy," she'd say, "because you hurt me." Her mother felt that was fair. So she didn't stop her. Now? Now Marie is 14. She stays out until 5 or 6 in the morning. She is promiscuous and refuses to listen to anyone.

Maria's mother meant well. So did Billy's dad. But they put themselves on the wrong level by not demanding respect. Now their kids are incorrigible.

I repeat: Have fun with your little one but also make him show a decent amount of respect for you.

San Rafael Post Office To Add Men

Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster, said today two employees will be added to the San Rafael Post Office by July 1, as a result of Postmaster General J. Edward Day's announced plans to limit the hours substitute employees can work.

This will bring the number of employees for the San Rafael office from 130 to 132, Williams said. The new policy is expected to add 1,281 employees in California and 10,000 nationwide.

Substitute workers will be limited to 40 to 44 hours a week, effective July 1, according to Day. Regular career employees are limited to an 80-hour biweekly paycheck.

Day said some substitutes have been working so many extra hours their paychecks have been double-sized.

Globe-Trotting Drake Students Tells Of Trip

John Hendry, a 1960 Drake graduate, has spent the past year globe-trotting with the International School of America. While at Drake, he was second in his class and a champion swimmer. He is a son of Col. John E. Hendry Jr. of 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

Highlights of his travels in the Orient and Near East were given in a long detailed account mailed from Athens, Greece.

The gold, gaudy temples of Bangkok, Thailand, were in contrast to the Japanese buildings which blended with nature, Hendry observed. Millions in gold bullion is plastered all over the temples, he reported.

In India, he visited Ganges River spots where the bathers come to wash and perform ancient Hindu rites. He saw snake charmers, watched pythons dance, and saw mongooses fight snakes to death.

In Aghra he found the highlight of his trip to India. He rose early so that he could see the famous Taj Mahal by moonlight, sunrise and daylight.

Gopal Gandhi, grandson of Mohandas K. Gandhi, was his host while he stayed in Delhi, India. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru held a reception for the traveling American students in his home.

A tour of the Near East landed Hendry in Bethlehem in time to attend Christmas services in the Church of the Nativity. New Year's was celebrated on ex-king Farouk's yacht at Luxor on the Nile.

Saving the antiquities of Egypt did not concern Hendry too much. He expressed doubt if the high dam at Aswan would be built. The original engineering on the dam was done by the Germans who turned the plans over to the Russians, he wrote. Hendry said that test drillings at the site show there is 500 feet of sand and clay with no adequate bedrock to support the dam.

From Egypt the young Marin Marco traveled to Greece where he saw the ancient ruins.

Construction Starts On Catholic Home

Construction has started on the one-million-dollar Nazareth House for the aged on Nova Albion Way in Terra Linda, Mother Mary Lewis Bertrand, of the Sisters of Nazareth, announced today.

Completion date for the 100-residence home is scheduled for December.

The seven-and-one-half-acre site has been leveled and drainage has been installed, Mother Bertrand said. F. P. Lathrop Construction Co., of Berkeley is the general contractor. Vincent Buckley of San Francisco is the architect.

Louis G. Freitas of San Rafael is the chairman of an advisory committee of laymen. A Nazareth House auxiliary of Bay Area women is under leadership of Mrs. Clifford F. Elder of Corte Madera.

The new home will be Spanish style with one-story quarters for the residents. Rooms will accommodate married couples as well as single men and women. Each room will have a door leading to the street and also to the recreation patio. There will be three recreational and hobby rooms, the chapel and infirmary.

Bayside Church On Plan Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing Monday on application of the Presbytery of the Redwoods to establish a church in Bayside Acres, East San Rafael.

The property is located at Point San Pedro Road and Bay View Drive. The matter is 19th on an agenda of about 30 items to be heard starting at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue.

Public hearings also are scheduled Monday on amendments to the Red Hill Master Plan, the Crescent Heights Master Plan, and Marinwood Master Plan.

A public hearing also is scheduled on the tentative map of Sleepy Hollow Unit 9 on about 13 acres. The area is proposed for division into 22 lots.

Housing Authority Meeting Scheduled

The Marin County Housing Authority will hold a special meeting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow to adopt a resolution approving application to the public housing administration for assistance in providing 300 low-rent public housing units for the elderly.

The board of supervisors voted 4-1 Monday, Walter R. Castro, dissenting, to apply for the federal housing units as a step toward solving the county hospital problem.

Engineering Loan Fund Established

An engineering student loan fund in memory of Thomas J. Bates, former College of Marin graduate killed last week near San Jose, was established yesterday at the college.

Bates, 28, who graduated from College of Marin in 1957, was run over by a tractor while working as a soils engineer on April 4. A native of Corte Madera, Bates was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Bates of 16 Corte Madera Avenue.

The loan fund was established by the family and friends of Bates, according to Stephen E. Epler, director of the college. Contributions may be made through the dean's office, Epler said. The fund is available to all engineering students.

Play Will Benefit National Foundation

"Robin Hood," the Mountain Play Assn.'s production scheduled for the top of Mt. Tamalpais on May 14 and 21, will benefit the National Foundation of the New March of Dimes, it was announced by Robert Flanigan, president of the Mountain Play Assn., and Mrs. E. D. Lederman, special events chairman for the National Foundation in Marin County.

The original script, written and directed by Dan Totheroh, calls for village dances, sword fighting, archery conflicts and the antics of the men in Lincoln green. It has a cast of 200.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Continuous Filament Nylon Carpet Producing Great Customer Interest

About half the people in the market for carpeting are now showing interest in continuous filament nylon, according to rug merchant John J. Mahoney. Mahoney and his partner Stan E. Merkel are celebrating their 10th anniversary in business as Carpets Unlimited in San Rafael.

The recently developed material has both excellent wearing and cleaning properties, Mahoney claims, and is giving wool a close run for quality and per dollar value.

Mahoney and Merkel opened Carpets Unlimited on April 1, 1951, after many years in the wholesale end of the business with the Bigelow Carpet Co. The firm handles all types of wool and synthetic carpet weaves.

ALLSTATE INSURANCE COMPANIES have recently opened an office at 1531 South Novato Boulevard in the Nave Shopping Center, Novato in order to service northern Marin policy holders. Bob Hall who has been representing Allstate in San Rafael will be in charge.

The insurance organization is a totally owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. and is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year.

GEORGE TIAFFAY of San Anselmo who has taken over the meat, fish and poultry department at the Santa Venetia Supermarket is holding his grand opening today. The department was formerly operated by Keith Buchignani.

George has lived in the county about four years and will be remembered by many for his service in the meat department at the Safeway Store in San Rafael. This is his first venture in top command.

The market is located at the corner of San Pablo and San Pedro Roads in Santa Venetia.

FREDERICK MEHRTEN, owner of the San Rafael Mortgage Co., was recently awarded the M.A.I. designation by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The institute is a professional organization founded in 1932. In addition to setting up standards of certification and a code of professional conduct it is active in real estate education in cooperation with colleges and universities.

Mehrten is also managing partner of the William Mehrten Ranch Co. and has been a real estate appraiser for 13 years. He lives with his family in Terra Linda.

GINO J. CARALLI, Ignacio resident and manager and buyer of the produce department for Marin Products Co., San Rafael for the past five years, is leaving the firm to strike out on his own. He has bought an interest in the Sebastopol Produce Co. of Santa Rosa and will switch his business activities to Sonoma County.

THE NORTH BAY INDUSTRY Lighting Show, featuring displays and talks on garden, residential, school, office, street and industrial lighting is being held this week at the Flamingo Hotel in Santa Rosa, Thursday through Saturday—hours 1 to 10 p.m.

It is the North Bay's first affair of this kind and 30 exhibitors will have displays. The show is open to the general public.

ON THE GO AGAIN, Man continually on the run is Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president and manager of the Marin County Savings and Loan Association, who probably holds the record for attending or officiating at more functions than anyone in the county.

He served today as a panelist at the symposium of the Federal Home Loan Bank District in San Francisco and immediately whished away to another conference in Phoenix for the U.S. Savings and Loan League where he'll be until the end of the week. Next week on his return he's scheduled for an address before the Junior League of San Francisco.

Redwood High Has 'Partner' In Germany

Redwood High School has gone into international partnership with a school in Germany.

The partner school is the Volksobershule Preetz, 40 miles northeast of Hamburg. The partnership was arranged by the school affiliates service of the Society of Friends.

It wasn't easy, according to language teacher Robert J. Mautner, who is adviser for Redwood's International Club, sponsor of the project.

A first task is to find schools which are comparable. In Europe it's difficult to find a comprehensive, coeducational high school, Mautner said.

Volksobershule Preetz combines Germany's two basic kinds of high school: The terminal program of the 10th year and the college preparatory, or "gymnasium" program. Enrollment is 1,300, and the school is coeducational.

That's comparable to Redwood's comprehensive coeducational program. Redwood has an enrollment of 1,400.

So far the exchange in the partnership has been largely that of material. The German school has sent its annual report, a literary magazine, and a student's term paper in mathematics. The term paper is being used in classes by Redwood teacher Charles Kurtz.

Redwood has sent a collection of student papers in algebra, last year's huge report on school accreditation, literary magazines, yearbooks, and other Tamalpais Union High School District printed materials. Members of the club get the materials together.

SCRAPBOOK STORY

Redwood students are preparing a collection of student art, a scrapbook telling the Redwood story, a California history scrapbook, and tape recordings of assemblies, band concerts and classroom activities. Material exchanged is discussed by letter and utilized in the Redwood and Preetz classes.

Eventually the exchange of materials is planned to embrace English, history, geography, music, art, science, mathematics an d school activity programs, Mautner said.

Eventually, also, a Redwood student and a Redwood teacher hope to spend a year at Preetz. Concurrently, a Preetz teacher and student would be at Redwood. The 1962-63 school year may see this materialize.

"Most of the exchange of ideas is readily understandable," Mautner says. "But we have trouble explaining such abstractions as school spirit or the complexities of the seagull problem on campus—especially among students who drive cars to school."

Tam High Honor T Initiation Tomorrow

Tamalpais High School will hold its Honor T initiation at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Ruby Scott Auditorium. California scholarship federation awards will also be made.

The program will include selections by the Tamalpais orchestra, choir and string ensemble.

Tumbling Teeners Find Old Caves

NERJA, Spain (UPI) — Few contrasts could better emphasize man's evolution than the drastic difference between a modern ballerina, pirouetting before footlights, and a skin-clad caveman hunched over a smokey fire in a dark cavern.

In the world's history, that change from near-beast to beauty took untold centuries.

But in the recently discovered Caves of Nerja it happened almost overnight — or so it seems.

One day, roughly 6,000 years ago according to scientific estimates, the earth trembled here and sent tons of rock crushing down on the entrance of the caves.

The primitive men who lived in them were either trapped inside and perished, or were caught outside and forever cut off from cavemates and family.

The tumbling rocks did more than that. They blotted out human contact with the caves for 60 centuries and ended act one of their history.

Then, in quick succession, came the next two acts in the underground drama.

On Jan. 12, 1959, five Spanish boys stumbled onto the long-hidden entry to the caves, and history resumed.

Early this year, after months of archaeological study which turned up major finds, including pre-historic paintings which rank with the world's finest, the caves were thrown open to the public.

The opening was celebrated by a modern dance festival — the first time that the ballet has been performed in a pre-historic cave.

Artists from the Le Tour de Paris company danced Tchaikovsky, Drigo, and Moussorgsky amid stalactites and stalagmites that had once measured the domain of primitive man.

The 20th Century history of the caves began when five teenagers from this village on the Mediterranean coast stole into a rarely visited ravine to share one cigarette.

As they puffed, the earth beside them cracked slighly, a startled bat flew up and warm air rose from the ground.

Francisco Navas Montesinos, the 19-year-old leader of the group, squeezed into the cavity from which the long pent-up warmth was escaping. He carried a small flashlight.

His four rfiends — Jose Torres Cardenas, 16, Jose Luis Barbero, 15, and Manuel and Miguel Munoz, 18 and 14—followed, enlarging the hole as they crawled through.

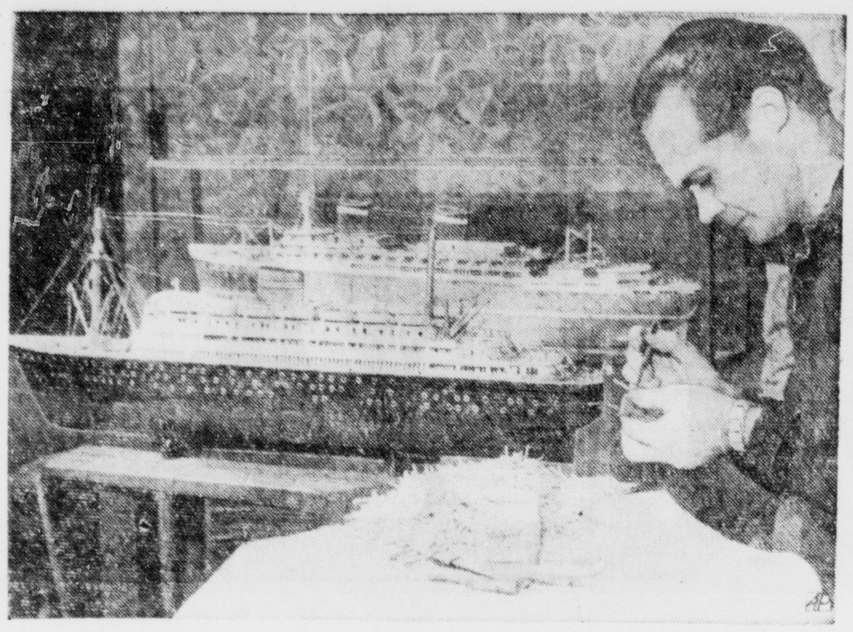
That night they told school teacher Carlos Saura Garre what they had found. Saura Garre drove to Malaga, 30 miles away, and reported to provincial officials, who organized the first of many expeditions to the site.

Scientists worked for a year studying wall paintings and turning up stone weapons, bones belonging to long-extinct animals and an early-edition silo heaped with wheat, pottery and other material typical of primitive man's dwellings.

As the scientists moved inside, plans were made to let tourists visit the caves.

Early this year, lighting was installed and five huge halls were opened to the public.

They are — the "Hall of the Elephant Tusk," where archaeologists found a fossil imbedded in a wall; "The Hall of the Cascade," where giant stalactites drop from a 90-foot high dome to form a petrified waterfall; "The Hall of the Ghosts," where nature twisted stone into fantastic shapes; "The Hall of the Throne," in which thrusting stalagmites form a regal seat; and "The Hall of the Cataclism," where order was crushed and broken by some internal upheaval.



MADE OF MATCHES

Hans Sorensen adds finishing touches to his match model of Norwegian liner Bergensfjord at Alborg, Denmark. In background is his model of the liner United States. It took 35,000 matches and 18 months to complete the two models.

Biggest Ice Pick

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Chicago engineering firm has designed and built the world's largest ice pick to probe the mysteries of polar glaciers.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers received delivery of a 23-foot-long thermal drill that melts its way into a solid glacier and brings up 10-foot ice cores for study.

It can probe 12,000 feet down, deeper than man has ever penetrated ice before.

The drill is now being used in Greenland to obtain facts that will be useful for the construction of military outposts in polar regions.

No Cussing, Please

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — State Representative William Denman, a Democrat from Des Moines, has a "no-cuss-word" campaign going in the Iowa House of Representatives. He said his move was the result of several instances of profanity in debate on the House floor.

Piano Prince Likes The Business But Says, 'We'll Never Get Rich'

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're a member of the family, they'll take you down to the basement at the office, under the steampipes. A traveling man may be invited home to dinner, to play with the kids and talk and eat the kind of food you don't find in restaurants.

And it's also quite a business for the fourth generation of piano-making Steinways.

The friends who have been treated like family range through history from Ignace Paderewski to Van Cliburn. They have been, and are, in large part the concert pianists whose programs carry the familiar legend "Piano by Steinway."

Their work, for the four brothers and one cousin now operating the firm is a pleasant blend of friendliness and art and a sharing of two worlds.

"We'll never be rich in the piano business," said Frederick Steinway, 39, head of the Concert and Artist Department. "But we like it."

The family relations with artists began back in the 1870s when grandfather William Steinway decided his pianos needed some talented fingers to show off their true qualities. He went into the concert business, importing first the famed Anton Rubinstein (no relation to today's noted pianist Artur Rubinstein, also a family friend).

Paderewski's contract for his first American appearance included a provision that he play "no beer halls," the grandson recalled.

The concert business was a short-lived sideline. The Steinways were happy to turn it over to the budding impresarios who had picked up the idea. But the relationship—both business and social—remained.

Frederick, known as Fritz, remembers playing fan-tan after his bedtime with Mr. and Mrs. Serge Rachmaninoff. His own three young sons have been rough-housing with Cliburn since before the young pianist shot to fame with his Moscow prize. And the family has even provided handy storage room for the trophies he brought back—some are displayed in glass cases in the firm's 57th Street showroom, others are packed in the basement with the pianos.

This undecorated basement, with a redwood block floor to bear the weight, is chockablock with concert grands—pick your own, if you're a concert pianist. This is the service provided for the "Piano by Steinway" label on the program—an instrument in perfect shape provided for every concert with no charge except transportation, which is up to the artist. Artur Rubinstein once paid for airplane fare to Buenos Aires for his second favorite instrument, Steinway recalled, when his first choice became strikebound aboard a ship. More usually a piano can be supplied through one of the 165 or 170 retail outlets which store concert grands for the purpose; others are stored in busy concert halls themselves.

A concert grand, which takes 11 months to make, lasts through 8 to 12 years of this pulling and hauling. But the long-lived family piano really cuts into the, market, Steinway said.

"Your grandmother's wedding present piano is undoubtedly in good condition today," he said. "It's disgusting! We can't sell a new one."

His annoyance is feigned. The Steinways are proud of the enduring quality of their $1,400 to $7,000 pianos. Their sales are about 3 per cent of the 200,000 to 220,000 pianos sold in the United States each year.

Since 1853, when recently immigrated German cabinet maker Heinrich Steinweg, set up his first piano factory in Long Island City, N. Y., it's been hard to keep the Steinway boys out of the business.

"My father tried to encourage one of us to become a lawyer," Fritz said. "Perhaps one of the next generation will. We all learned to make pianos. My wife says what we need is a good obstetrician!"

Coke Oven By-products Used For Many Things

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A thick, brown smoke which used to curl out of the coke ovens of the steel industry has made it possible to glue broken bones, put moths on a starvation diet and reduce inflight collisions of aircraft.

By-product coke ovens, which replace the old "behive" ovens used to convert coal into coke, are transforming the brown smoke into about 145 pounds of coal chemicals per ton of coal. The chemicals are used in over 200,000 products.

Some of the chemicals, such as ammonium sulfate, a nitrogen fertilizer, and creosote are sold directly to the agricultural industry. Others like benzene, toluene, xylene, naphthalene, phenol and pyridine are converted by the pharmaceutical paint, plastics and other industries into such products as aspirin, DDT, explosives, nylon, plastics, dyes, paints, inks, perfumes and cosmetics.

A special bone glue already has been used to mend over 350 serious fractures. Still being tested, it is a strong plastic foam and a derivative of toluene. Poured into the fracture, it hardens so quickly the patient may move the repaired limb within a few hours.

Several experimental products derived from pyridine closely resemble vitamin B nutrients which are needed by moth larvae. Studies show promise that the larvae will either ignore fabrics treated with the chemicals or will nibble sparingly and eventually die of starvation.

The use of fluorescent paints, having coal chemical components, cut in-air collisions of the Air Training Command of the Air Force from nine in one year to only two the next year. Neither crash involved fluorescent-painted craft.

Germany Can't Kill Out Idea Of Giving Tip

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —It's the little things that count — particularly when you're tipping a porter, waiter, barber or garbage collector.

'West Germany, which prides itself on being largely a "no tipping" country—most restaurants and hotels add a 10 per cent service charge to bill with the idea of avoiding tipping—is finding out that a tip is something you just can't abolish.

Everyone seems to have his hand out—even if the practice is not so blatant as in some other countries.

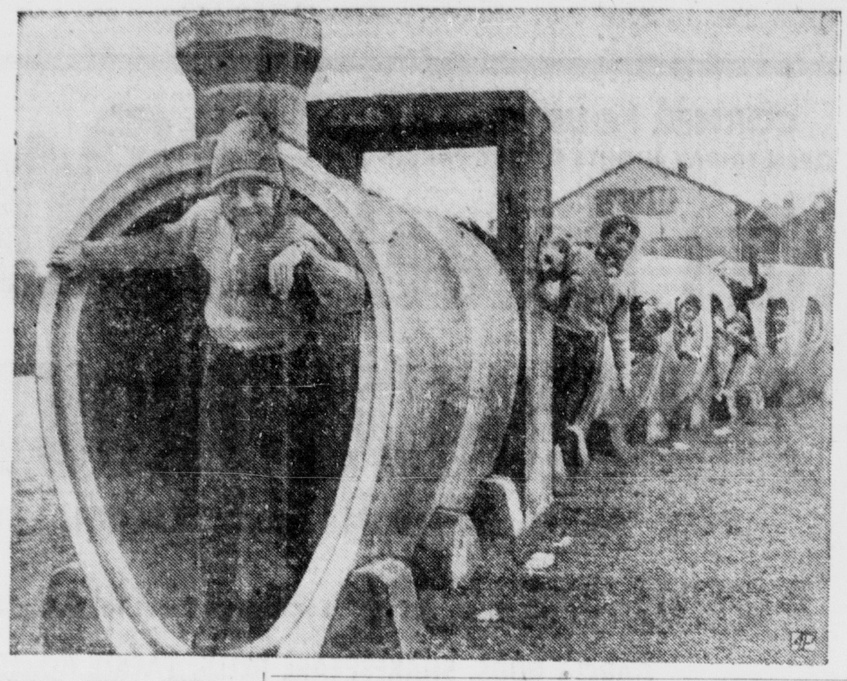
Waiters, as in almost all other countries, are experts at searching their pockets vainly for change until the embarrassed diner mumbles, "Keep it." Barbers, too, never seem to have change for any bill or coin under one mark (25 cents).

But there is no end to the list: Taxidrivers, expressmailmen, porters, hat check girls, mailmen bringing money orders, chambermaids, tourist guides, theater ushers, parking lot guards, shoeshine boys and cigarette vendors in hotels—in fact almost everybody except yourself is an aspirant for a tip, or to translate the German word literally, "Drinking money."

Besides those expecting a daily tip, there are professions that are entitled at least to an annual tip: Garbage collectors, cleaning women, the newspaperboy, the mailman, and—most important of all—the chimney sweep. They all stop by to congratulate you the first of January

The tip, drinking money, obviously is not for what its name might indicate. Otherwise there would be no sober waiter, taxidriver, hairdresser or mailman.

The dictionary says it is a token of money in small coins, but it is by far more than the definition says—it is a bargain price for the sympathy of those performing personal services for you.



DOESN'T CHUG CHUG — These youngsters have to imagine the chug-chug and choo-choo when they play on this concrete model railroad train in a playground in Offenbach, Germany. In turn the passengers become engineer or fireman on the play train.

Major Reference Work Completed For Blind

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ten-year-old Michael Esserman of Great Neck, N. Y., could read many books in Braille. And he could do his arithmetic in Braille.

But when he wanted to look up something in a reference work, he had to ask someone to do it for him.

So did all his blind schoolmates.

Michael and his blind friends attending public schools in the Great Neck area had no major reference works in Braille because there weren't any available, except for a 36-volume Webster's Dictionary.

Michael's mother, Mrs. Howard Esserman, and 95 other Great Neck women decided to do something about it.

Children in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, N. Y., had plenty of textbooks and flashcards transcribed by volunteers of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth El. They even had three-dimensional picture books made with paper, fur, fabric and leather, a project developed by Mrs. Esserman. The Three Bears sported real fur coats.

The women, under their chairman, Mrs. Dorothea Wahrburg, decided to rewrite an encyclopedia in Braille. Their goal, after years of hand printing, was to be a single encyclopedia set.

Three years later, the first of about 300 Braille encyclopedia sets are to be finished at the non-profit American Printing House for the Blind at Louisville, Ky.

The first major reference work for the blind, the giant, 145-volume sets are the answer to a letter written by Mrs. Esserman to Field Enterprises Educational Corp., Chicago, which publishes the "World Book Encyclopedia."

"Youngsters have only one source of information, their textbooks," Mrs. Esserman wrote March 17, 1958. "Our Braille group . . . wants to transcribe the 'World Book' into Braille.

"Can your firm put at our disposal a complete set of encyclopedia?" she asked. "We will work as fast and as accurately as possible."

Bailey K. Howard, president of Field Enterprises Educational Corp., talked with the women at a luncheon in New York. Then he assigned Dr. William H. Nault, director of educational research for the encyclopedia, to investigate the possibility of publishing a Braille edition.

"Educators of the blind unanimously endorsed the idea," said Nault, a native of Battle Creek, Mich., a former school administrator at Ridgewood, N. J. "But they felt it was impossible."

The Field Foundation, headed by now United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, contributed $60,000 and Field Enterprises added another $55,500, Nault said. The funds were sent to the American Printing House for the Blind, the biggest Braille book producer in the world.

Editing the encyclopedia for transcription into Braille turned into a 15-month job. The Braille publication contains some hand-tooled diagrams and line drawings. But all reference to maps and other illustrations had to be rewritten.

Marjorie S. Hooper, chief editor of the printing house, took charge of rewriting and such baffling problems as a Braille article on color.

"That was a corker," said Nault, who passed on the final result.

Rewriting also became a chore in dealing with such topics as geography, without maps; bird watching, without pictures, and crystallization, without complex diagrams.

Storage space also was a problem. But that was solved by shipping out each volume as it was completed.

The regular edition of the encyclopedia, 20 volumes, takes about 30 inches of shelf space, Nault said. The Braille edition fills 43 feet and weighs about 700 pounds.

Nault said distribution of the Braille volumes by the Louisville printing house was expected to cover much of the English-speaking world. He said all blind institutions in the United States and Canada were told of the project as well as others in the Commonwealth nations.

NO TRAFFIC AROUND

Moscow's Machines, Men Defeat Snowfalls

Of course, two reasons are apparent to foreigners why Moscow can shrug off snow while New York, for instance, flounders.

First, Moscow still does not have heavy traffic.

Second, the Socialist system is like a gigantic WPA, furnishing an army of cheap labor to whisk practically every last snowflake from the streets.

Moscow's anti-snow maneuvers are like a highly organized army campaign. When snow first begins to fall over the city's golden church spires, new apartment houses and old traditional brown wooden buildings, the news is flashed to five snow machine garages around the city.

Next, 600 snow machines automatically scoop snow in assembly line style into 1,700 dump trucks. The trucks dump their loads in fields outside the city or over a brick wall into the Moscow River.

Scalding hot water also is pumped into the river to keep the snow melted.

Later, 80 other machines drop a mixture of sand and rock salt on the streets to prevent ice formation and to help keep cars from skidding.

In the meantime, 4,000 workers march to their posts to battle the snow on sidewalks, even in the middle of the night.

The workers are elderly women in boots and with heavy shawls wrapped around their heads. Many prefer to work with bare hands.

With curved twig brooms or modern shovels, they relentlessly remove snow and chip ice from the sidewalks.

Apartment houses also employ persons to shovel snow from sidewalks and streets and the sound of scraping shovels periodically awakens residents during the night.

The workers make as little as five new rubles (roughly $5.50) monthly for the part-time seasonal work.

Since there are few private cars in this country, the fight against snow is not impeded by cars parked in side streets as in New York.

During the night only a few taxis are on the street to hamper the snow machines.

In 1959, 600 small machines to clean sidewalks were added to the battalion.

Other workers also regularly knock snow from roofs to prevent water leaking into the buildings or the snow, laced with icicles, cascading over passersby.

As private cars are discouraged from the Soviet Union, it is doubtful if Moscow ever will have the paralyzer traffic of a New York snowfall.

One official concerned with snow removal in the Moscow area said the snow machines are on duty from about Nov. 1 to April 15.

"The idea is to get the snow off the streets before it packs down and is hardened," he explained. "Twenty-four hours after the end of a snowfall, we usually have streets and sidewalks dry and clean."

He sympathizes with New York's problem, adding:

"Well, they have lots of paper on the streets to add to the problem. Here we educate the people to be neat."

The official said the city removed nine million cubic meters of snow in 1960.

Young Mechanic

NEW VERNON, N.J. (AP) — Five years before he becomes eligible for a driver's license, 12-year-old George Emory buzzes around the family property on a custom-built motor scooter. It's the sixth midget motor vehicle the youngster has built in four years.

"I got the idea from a magazine," the seventh-grader says, "but most of it is my design."

The one-horsepower lawnmower engine has seen service on several of his homemade gasoline carts. He gathered other materials from junkpiles and helpful neighbors.

History Of Angel Island Marked By 'Living Ghosts'

Relics Of Army's Past Sharp Contrast To Now

On the highest point of the island gleams the electronic eye of a modern Nike site, while only a few hundred yards below it, on the west side, lies the ghost of old Camp Reynolds. Nestled in a verdant valley, it looks out on Sausalito and the Golden Gate, its life span having extended from 1863 to 1946.

Over 20 buildings of Camp Reynolds continue to defy the elements and the passage of years. Except for glassless windows, they appear as solid as the day they were built. But the little graveyard on a steep hill nearby marked by a white picket fence has only empty hollows to show where 131 bodies rested. These were moved by the Army to the Golden Gate National Cemetery in 1947.

So steep was the cemetery that the post historian, Dr. Bentley, in 1869 complained that "the occupant of a sepulchre here . . . is forced to assume the posture of appearing to stand on his head, while in a few yards a fine level space is available."

One of the largest buildings of brick and huge redwood beams is today in excellent condition. Used for headquarters storage, it is close to the skeleton of the big wharf where ships docked to unload their cargoes. The massive beams reveal no rot or deterioration. It can be easily seen from Marin County, the Golden Gate Bridge and the Marina of San Francisco.

Some of the officers' row dwellings just south of the parade ground are slowly being submerged by junglelike growth. Others look amazingly as if the colonel and his lady had just stepped across the parade ground to shop at the post traders.

Camp Reynolds, known later as the West Garrison and about 1900 as Fort McDowell, had wigwams outside its gates dur-

Everett Schell told a union meeting that "for two cents" he'd help start a program of cutting children's hair free at the school and hospital for retarded children in nearby Selah.

Now, every sixth Monday, all 81 union members go to the institution to trim the hair of 200 children.

Angel Island Has Relics Of The Past

ing the 1860s and '70s when Indian prisoners captured in the Arizona campaign had the freedom of the island.

The post was actually constructed on ancient Coast Miwok Indian ancestral grounds, as numerous utensils and artifacts were discovered in excavating. On the ridge connecting Point Stewart with the hill above the parade ground, where the hospital is located, a large 200-foot Indian shell mound was destroyed during construction of the post.

Camp Reynolds came into existence when the Civil War broke out. The need for adequate San Francisco harbor defenses became urgent. The strategic spot on the western shore of Angel Island overlooking the Golden Gate entrance assumed increasing importance from the standpoint of adequate harbor defenses.

Brig. Gen. George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, worried over the possibility of a bombardment of San Francisco. He requested Army engineers to draw up a plan of defense "against a large fleet . . ." Having no funds, the general attempted unsuccessfully to have the State of California foot the bill.

Late in 1862, San Franciscans feared that Confederate cruisers, particularly the Alabama, might slip into the harbor at night or in fog. Maneuvering beyond the gun range of

Los Angeles Coliseum Madhouse For Manager

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The troubles that beset most landlords can't begin to compare with the problems facing Bill Nicholas, whose tenants ostentatiously rip up the lawn, unthinkingly lose equipment and then have the gall to demand immediate structural changes.

Nicholas isn't in charge of a madhouse — though sometimes it surely must seem that way. He is general manager of the huge Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

His occupants include almost everything and everyone. Last year, for instance, the 101,573 seat stadium was home to gigantic professional football players and tiny bantamweight boxers, dignified religious services and rollicking western rodeos.

Nicholas has run the Coliseum since 1946, but it is only recently that he has begun to feel like an apartment house manager cramming people in. Before 1958 he only had to worry about getting in the Los Angeles Rams, UCLA and Southern California during the football season and a few other events during the spring and summer.

Then came the Dodgers. Walter O'Malley decided his team would take up temporary residence in the stadium. So the Coliseum got 77 more playing dates and a much maligned 40-foot-high left field screen.

During 1960 a chauvinistic Coliseum spectator could have seen 42 football games (not including pee-wee tilts at halftime), 77 baseball games, the Mary's Hour religious program, Coliseum Relays, sportsmen's and vacation shows, a rodeo, July 4th fireworks, two championship boxing bouts, and, of course, President Kennedy proclaiming the "new frontier" at the Democratic National Convention in July.

Needless to say, the many events keep the groundkeepers and work crews on the run. In a weekend in early fall, when the Dodgers are still playing and the Rams and Chargers have started their exhibition seasons, the Coliseum face changes almost daily.

On a Friday evening the screen and backstop may be up. Saturday—no more screen. The baseball structures have been replaced by goal posts and football striping is on the grass. Sunday afternoon after another hectic switch the field is again ready for baseball.

It takes two work crews of seven men each a total of eight hours and costs about $1,000 every time the screen and backstop go up or down.

By November the field is a groundskeeper's nightmare. There is nothing left in the middle of the gridiron but a few straggly roots and plenty of dirt—which sometimes is sneakily dyed green to fool the players and fans into thinking it is grass. According to Nicholas, not even the broncos and Brahma bulls at the rodeo tear up the turf like football players.

Angel Island Has Relics Of The Past

A War Department directive to General Wright hastened fortification plans for Points Blunt and Stewart on Angel Island.

Battery B, Third Artillery, under command of Lt. John L. Tierson, proceeded to the island Sept. 9, 1863. Three days later, the young lieutenant formally took possession of Angel Island for the United States. Setting up a rough camp, he named it Camp Reynolds in honor of Maj. Gen. John Fulton Reynolds, a former officer in the Third Artillery, who was killed at Gettysburg on July 1 of that year.

The camp quickly became what was undoubtedly the cleanest Army post in the country. It was said of it that a laundress was available for every inhabitant. This is substantiated by the building record of a laundry building 25 by 80 feet and another containing 20 rooms. Some of the houses even had washing and ironing cabins in the rear.

By the end of July 1864, the Army engineers had completed two batteries: Battery 1 at Point Stewart mounted three 32-pounders and one 10-inch howitzer, while Battery 2 at Point Knox mounted 10 guns—seven 32-pounders, two 10-inch Rodmans and one 8-inch Rodman. In addition, Major Andrews, commander of the Third Artillery, placed five 32-pounders at the head of the main wharf.

In 1867 a non-military incident enhanced the morale of Angel Island and Camp Reynolds, according to the post chronicler. A seven-room house near Point Blunt, called Camp Rafferty after the nearby lot where volunteer troops were stationed, "having become the shelter of uncertain parties of both sexes became the subject of conflagration without detriment to the morale of the locality."

A more accepted morale builder in these years for both the soldiers of Camp Reynolds and the people from the mainland was the hectic search for buried treasure supposedly left behind by robbers and smugglers who once inhabited Angel Island. Innumerable holes testified to the gold mania that swept the island. Digging even went on all night, but only a handful of Spanish coins was unearthed as a reward for the zeal put forth.

The post was used successively as a recruiting depot for soldiers from the Far East; as headquarters for the 12th Infantry (numbering 196 men in 1876), and for the First Infantry, which departed in 1896 and was replaced by the Third Artillery once more.

Some time before 1905, the old battery positions were leveled and new ones constructed.

The picturesque old station began to fade away after construction of the East and North Garrisons around the turn of the century. Even the name Camp Reynolds became erased from official records when the entire island was named Fort McDowell. Used as an overflow activity for the grander and larger East Garrison, the name still held on tenaciously.

It took World War II to breath a bit more life into Camp Reynolds, or West Garrison, as it was then called. Remodeling of antique structures brought them up to date. Bathrooms and electricity gave officers' row, the barracks and administrative buildings a "new look," as noncommissioned officers moved in from the overcrowded East Garrison.

When the conflict ended, Camp Reynolds sank into the junglelike growth which smothers it today, its century of quiet glory and band music and parading companies gone forever. Only the eye of an artist or an enthusiast of bygone eras can bring it to life again.

STILL IN GOOD SHAPE — The largest building still standing in what was Camp Reynolds on Angel Island is this storage structure, its redwood beams and brick still in good condition. (Army photos)

1st Planes Will Take Flight In June At New Los Angeles Air Terminal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles' new $50 million International Airport passenger terminal, believed by many to be the most modern in the world, is nearing completion with the first planes scheduled to use its facilities by June of this year.

The terminal, financed by a municipal bond issue, covers 265 acres, and was designed with an eye to the future. The many buildings are being constructed around the perimeter of a 5,000-car parking lot that is 14 feet below the surface. In event of expansion in years to come, it will be only a simple matter of adding a roof to double the parking capacity.

Each of the major airlines will have its own satellite building and its own ticket building.

Whereas the satellite system has been used at many of the world's larger airports, the airlines have done the construction themselves with an obvious difference in styles.

Six satellite buildings are included in the first construction plans, with space available for two additional buildings.

Each satellite building is being constructed with four levels. Each will contain 108,000 square feet of floor space. The public level of each, above the ground level, will have a lobby, restaurant, coffee shop, cocktail lounge and gift-newsstands. It is from this floor that passengers will board their airplanes by means of telescoping metal covered ramps to give protection from the weather and reduce jet blast noise.

The other floors will contain baggage handling facilities, offices for airline operations and rooms for crews. Many of the major airlines, which have their own private clubs, will locate these in their satellite buildings.

Each satellite will have facilities to load or unload 10 jet transports.

One satellite will be for international flights and contain customs, public health and immigration quarters. Another will be for the joint use of the regional carriers.

Each satellite building will have its own separate ticketing building located at the edge of the parking lot. From the ticket building the satellite can be reached by an underground passageway.

Directly in the center of the parking section stands the $2.2 million Theme Building. In the shape of a huge 135-foot high parabolic arch, the Theme Building is symbolic of the futuristic plan of the international terminal.

At the 70-foot level of the Theme Building there will be a restaurant with an observation deck 10 feet higher. Other facilities in the Theme Building will be an employe cafeteria and central kitchens and commissary for restaurants located in each of the satellite buildings.

Nerve center of the terminal will be the 12-story Administrative Building and its control tower on top. Much of the space in this building already has been occupied by airport administration, Federal Aviation Agency and control equipment. Airport control will be shifted to the new control tower in March. This building cost $1.4 million.

The address of the new International Airport Passenger Terminal will be No. 1 World Way, the name of the drive around the parking area.

For an ultra-modern novelty as well as utilitarian means of inter-terminal transportation a monorail will be installed around the entire perimeter of the terminal. Passenger-carrying cars will travel under a rail suspended above road traffic between the Theme Building and all airline ticketing buildings.

To operate these horizontal elevators the rider will step aboard, drop a quarter in a slot and push a button with the name of the airline office he desires. The car will leave when he closes the door, circle the terminal and comes to a stop at the desired building.

Attack Stops Train

The engineer of the southbound "International" from Vancouver, B.C., braked his train to a stop. Minutes passed. A train crewman was sent ahead.

He found bridgetender Ole O. Brokken, 63, of Marysville, fatally stricken

Brokken had opened the bridge for a passing boat on a slough north of here. He was unable to close it completely, and the automatic "red block" signal stopped all trains.

White Woman Aide To Sand Painters

SANTA FE, N. M. (UPI)—Modern Navajo medicine men wishing to brush up on their sand painting technique often travel 200 miles east of the reservation to view a collection of paintings made by a white woman.

The two-story structure is considered a holy building as well as a museum. It is sometimes called the Navajo house of prayer or mecca. Built in the shape of an Indian hogan, it contains the most complete record of Navajo sand paintings, chants, myths, legends and rites in the world.

It is a monument to a New England woman, Mary Cabot Wheelwright, a descendant of the Boston Cabots, and a medicine man, Hasteen Klah, one of the Navajo's most noted religious leaders.

"The People," as the Navajos call themselves, have a saying that when the last sand painting has been forgotten, the last Navajo will disappear from the earth.

Without an organized priesthood, church or written language, medicine men had orally passed the secrets of the religious rites from generation to generation for hundreds of years.

It is important that every mark on the eight-foot paintings and every word of the myths and chants be unchanged or, the Indians believe, the ceremony will bring evil instead of good. Some of the ceremonies are nine-days long.

Also the Navajos believe it is dangerous to draw or photograph an actual painting when it is completed. Klah was trying to weave them into rugs when he met Miss Wheelwright.

She came to New Mexico in the early 1920's on vacations. On a pack trip to the Navajo country, she met Klah through a trader, whose wife had been making water color sketches of sand paintings from memory.

She memorized and drew some 400 sand paintings before her death in 1958 and collected healing chants, writing hundreds of the songs in longhand. Others contributed to the collection.

The museum-shrine now contains more than 1,500 reproductions of sand paintings; 2,000 recordings of chants; 300 unpublished manuscripts of myths, legends and rites and 12 color films of ceremonies none of which can be exhibited commercially.

Klah dedicated the museum in 1937 and died later that same year at 70. He is buried near the east entrance.

Most of the 85,000 Navajos retain their basic traditional beliefs, based on harmony with nature. They visit the museum from New Mexico, Arizona and Utah.

Teacher Gets Fullbright

Patricia A. Pendergast, Redwood High School history teacher, will spend the summer studying in Brazil on a Fullbright grant, it was announced today.

Miss Pendergast, the third Tamalpais Union High School District teacher to receive such an award for 1961, will attend the summer seminar for American teachers at the University of Brazil in Rio de Janeiro.

Two Sir Francis Drake High School teachers announced earlier as Fullbright grantees were Charles A. Simonds, who will study and travel in India, and Edward W. Hornby, who will be at the University of Paris, Francis.

Miss Pendergast, a resident of San Francisco, is a graduate of Portland University where she majored in history and journalism. She began teaching at Redwood in 1959. Her classes include world history and Latin American history.

Lisbon Ready To Spill Over Tagus River

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Historic Lisbon, for centuries having prospered on the right bank of the River Tagus, has growing pains that are pushing it across the waterway.

The main problem in the picturesque Portuguese capital is the steadily increasing traffic. The city's 1-year-old subway presently is being extended in all directions, but the real answer to the problem is a bridge across the Tagus.

Work on it is expected to begin next year by a group of companies headed by the U.S. Steel Corp.

The bridge will be of the high level suspension type. Its span will be 3,317 feet long. Five other spans will be 1,540 feet each. The main towers will rise 603 feet above the water and the central span will have a vertical clearance of 238 feet for ships.

Thirteen miles of approach roads will be constructed along with the bridge. The bridge will have four lanes for highway traffic and a central mall which will be converted into a fifth lane when necessary.

This usually easy going coastal city, where spring is more yearly than seasonal, is bustling with activity to cope with the transportation problem.

Underneath the Rossio and Restauradores Squares in the center of town, work is progressing on the subway. To avoid the shallow sub-soil of the Praco do Comercio river front, the subway will go from Rossio into the hilly crust area to the southwest, coming as close to the Tagus as is possible at that point. The northward route is roughly parallel to the one already in existence. A circular route eventually will link up the various lines.

Construction in Lisbon today is not limited to the utilitarian. An impressive new statue of Christ towers over the Tagus estuary from a hilltop opposite the capital. The steel and concrete structure stands 357 feet high. The figure of Christ is 91 feet high and set on top of a 266-foot-high pedestal.

African Fish 'Planted' To Eat Aquatic Plants

Moss is especially prevalent in impounded waters in the southern part of the United States.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Department has experimented with various management techniques, including the use of chemicals. To date, no satisfactory solution has been found.

The department's fisheries division is now trying another approach — the use of fish themselves.

The department has acquired a large number of fish known as African bream from a private hatchery in Tampa, Fla. They have been stocked in Lake Catherine, near Hot Springs.

Andrew Hulsey, chief of the Fisheries Division, said the fish feed heavily on aquatic plants.

Hulsey said the African bream is a tropical species and is prolific. In a year's time, he said, they will weigh one pound and are an excellent food fish.

The question is, however, how well will they survive the cold Arkansas winters.

Hulsey said if the fish help control the moss, and if they should die of the cold, the department will restock them, each spring in other Arkansas lakes.

Pressure Of TV Aerials, Jets Cited

CONCORD, N. H. (UPI)—Television aerials and the thunder of jet engines are among the 20th Century pressures which can ruin a community if they are left uncontrolled.

That's the opinion of Richard Preston, executive director of the New Hampshire Planning and Development Commissions, who believes that the key to survival is community planning.

He compared these economic pressures to fire.

"Planned use of fire is fundamental to human existance," he said. "In like manner, it takes only common sense to harness . . . economic pressures which can overwhelm us today if left to their own devices."

Preston said that you do not have to look far to find these pressures.

"They are everywhere evident: The ever-increasing car and truck traffic, the crowded school busses; the television aerials, the weekend vacation, the thunder of jet engines.

"These pressures overwhelm our communities, dissipate our resources and occasion overwhelming fiscal burdens," he said.

Planning is the way to make these "pressures" profit the community, he explained.

Preston said uncontrolled residential, commercial, industrial or recreational expansion "has brought many a community to its fiscal knees."

He warned that "a balance must be arrived at and maintained."

"This process is called financial planning or capital budgeting, but whatever its technical name, it is just plain common sense," he said.

"It certainly is not to man's best interests if his life and livelihood are threatened by fire, flood, drought, plague or by the forces of progress.

Britain Has Witches But They're Harmless

LONDON (UPI) — Britons beware! That pretty girl you have your eye on might turn out to be a witch.

After a year of research, Rev. Joseph Christie, S.J., a Roman Catholic priest, says he is convinced there are practicing witches in Britain.

"People who think the cult of witchcraft died here centuries ago are quite wrong," said Father Christie. "But these days, no self-respecting witch would wish to be associated with evil."

Father Christie said witches could generally be defined as persons who believe in the power of charms and incantations to influence persons or events. For example, he said, the witches of Britain believe that during World War II, one of their mass incantations forced Adolf Hitler to alter his plans to invade England.

In his research, he said, he did not find any evidence that witches were attempting to use whatever powers they thought they had for evil purposes.

The priest said the gathering of witches today were more like social events devoted to such harmless matters as the chanting of fertility rites and ritual dances.

Father Christie said consorting with the devil is demonology, rather than witchcraft, and he found no evidence that witches were involved in such a practice.

When asked by newsmen what the 20th century witch looks like, Father Christie smiled and said: "They certainly are not all old and ugly. Often they are attractive young people."

The priest said he started his inquiry with a background of 25 years of interest in the occult matters simply to satisfy himself whether the practices of witchcraft and black magic still persist in Britain.

Once word of his interest got around, he found that the confidence generated by the knowledge he could be trusted with secrets brought to him a great deal of material from university graduates and country folk alike.

"I received so much that I am preparing a series of television programs on my investigation," Father Christie said. "Of course, I have promised not to reveal names or places. But there does not seem to be much doubt witchcraft exists."

Father Christie said he had also come across verified reports of black magic. In some rural areas he found a lingering belief that curses can be "put upon" people.

Britain was one of the centers for witches in the heydey of the 17th century witch-hunts—when the Salen trials were under way across the Atlantic in Massachusetts.

Professional "witch-finders" roamed England at that time. One of them, Matthew Hopkins, with a team of six apprentices, tortured at least 200 persons to make them confess they were witches.

Manufacturer Digs Up Facts About Sleeping

CHICAGO (UPI) — Charles Dickens would sleep in a bed only if the headboard were pointed due north, and E. W. Howe, the Kansas editor, once remarked: "There is only one thing people like that is good for them: a good night's sleep."

These and other oddities concerning famous people and beds were collected recently by the Northern Electric Company, blanket manufacturers, in compiling "A Sleep Reader for Insomniacs."

They also discovered:

—The early Egyptians are credited with putting beds on legs in an attempt to get the snakes to go under, not over, them while they were asleep.

—The famous Bed of Ware accommodated 68 sleepers. It belonged to King Edward IV of England who could fit 34 or more persons in the trundle bed which slipped underneath.

—Benjamin Franklin was of the opinion that women needed more sleep than men. He advocated "six hours for a man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool."

They were policemen, who had assembled in the roll call room before going off duty, when a new lock on the door stuck.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Cornelius T. Canavan posted bail of $75 in City Court when arraigned on a charge of failing to pay for parking tickets—41 of them.

Police said Canavan had allowed the tickets to pile up over a period of time they described as "considerable."

Oil Derrick Ships May Drill In Gulf

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—The economic gamble of oil exploration in the submerged lands of the Gulf of Mexico may soon be solved by drilling ships topped with oil derricks.

Already there are a dozen or so drilling ships operating in the gulf, and industry leaders believe the new operation will be the answer to future offshore drilling operations.

Since 1945 the companies have spent some $3 billion on gulf drilling and have produced gas and oil worth only $725 million. The annual income currently is about $200 million an dthe companies pour $250 million back in reinvestment.

The American Petroleum Institute (API) notes that the drilling ships will provide a great attraction for oilmen. The ships will bring drillers into areas too deep for conventional off-shore platform wells and they will mean that many salt-water areas can be explored and developed.

The API also points out that the ships permit well completion without the conventional drilling platform, which in the gulf can easily cost several million dollars.

Currently two types of drilling ships are being used. One is the over-the-side rig that permits well completion above the water level, and the other is the centership rig that utilizes undersea completion devices.

Both have to be towed to a drilling site, but maritime authorities often require a captain and several able-bodied seamen to be aboard.

Workers aboard the drilling ships learn to speak a mixture of roughneck and old salt. Terms like "windjammer" and "crow's nest" are heard along with oilfield expressions like "monkey board" and "mousetrap."

And just like sailors, the drillers learn to watch the skies for weather signs that can make a deep sea oil hunt a treacherous operation.

In the gulf, several mobile platforms have been capsized by silt bottoms.

The biggest threat is from hurricanes with high velocity winds and giant waves backed by swift currents.

The drilling ship's future in the oil business depends upon its ability to overcome the economic and oceanographic obstacles the API points out.

The industry must be able to realize a reasonable profit on its investment before the off-shore oil hunt can be pushed to deep waters, and this means the drilling ship must demonstrate that it can save money in submerged lands, where drilling and equipment mosts continue to increase.

Seein's Believin'

MEMPHIS (UPI) — Charles Bramlett says he passed a local theater in Holly Springs, Miss., which had a sign in large letters: "Movie no good tonight. Save your money and come Saturday."

TO REDUCE PILFERING

Business May Use Lie-detector Tests

The reason? American business is adopting the scientific interrogation technique to reduce embezzlement and pilferage losses which last year reached an all-time high of $1.5 billion.

Lincoln M. Zonn, a commercial examiner who has run many more tests on housewives than murderers, reports that non-criminal cases account today for 95 per cent of all lie detector interrogations.

"Screening is most in demand by supermarkets, warehouses, department stores and banks, all with staffs handling large amounts of merchandise or cash," Zonn said.

"It's a safe bet that around 20,000 firms have screened one or more employes. Within the next two years this number will probably double."

Zonn noted that business uses the lie detector primarily when specific wrongdoing is uncovered, as is the case in the criminal investigation field. But where a signed confession usually leads to prosecution in criminal cases, business prefers to handle its wrongdoers outside of the courts, he said.

"Bonding companies make restitution based on the confession plus other proof of loss," he explained.

In more than half of the cases uncovered, pilferers are either reemployed or the bonding company finds other employment for them in order to get back money paid on the bond. Money can't be recouped when a man sits in prison.

"Of course, the man is screened carefully to determine the likelihood of further wrongdoing, and in almost every case he is required to sign an agreement to sit for periodic lie detector examination.

Pre-employment interrogation has gained favor with many companies, Zonn said. He noted that a truthful answer to the question of intention to remain on the job in Florida after the winter season can determine the success of an entire training program.

A former intelligence officer, Zonn reported a management trend to screen new executives who might be potential undercover operatives for competitor firms.

"To prevent these after-shave-lotion-scented Mata Haris from walking off with a new car design or product innovation, all it takes is an answer to the man's intent to divulge company information," he said.

"The truth here is worth a fortune."

Bay Home Building Boom Is Noted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Residential construction in the San Francisco Bay Area in 1960 was the second highest in the history of the nine-county region, Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Co. reported today.

Last year 46,094 dwelling units were built, compared to the record of 49,355 in 1959 and the 10-year average of 37,800.

Santa Clara accounted for 36 per cent and Alameda County for 22 per cent.

Multiple dwellings continued to increase, accounting for almost 44 per cent. They reached 56 per cent in the first two months of 1961, the bank said.

Ability Counts

BIXBY, Okla. (UPI) — The Bixby High School marching band, known in Oklahoma for fine, precision drill, is directed by Ed Earson, a polio victim who has walked only with braces and crutches since he was two years old.

Swim Pools Of Future May Clean Themselves

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Swimming pools of tomorrow will clean and maintain themselves, according to Everett Landon of the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Landon noted that millions of dollars are being spent on pool safety, including electronic warning and safety devices designed to prevent accidents.

"Warning devices already are available that give instant alarm when any object falls into the water," Landon said "Closed circuit television surveillance systems for pools have been developed by electronic leaders."

But more than that, Landon said, is development of "the self-cleaning pool."

He pointed out that cleaning a pool now costs an average owner more than $20 a month, using long-handled vacuum cleaners and drainage.

According to Landon, a new device that "looks something like a miniature flying saucer" will solve this by automatically cleaning the pool floor and walls "with nothing more than the flow of incoming water."

Landon said the device, which already has passed tests, will "cost so little it will pay for itself in less than a summer's operation."

Europe Bus Tours Dig For Americans

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Paul Revere were still racing about, he'd have a new British movement into the onetime colonies to herald. But he'd have to figure out a lamp signal to designate "motor coach."

Actually the movement is into nothing more than the potential American travel market —and the motor coaches are all overseas, and will stay there.

Providing the leadership for the invasion is affable Lord Mancroft, a former member of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet and chairman of Global Tours, London.

The 260 tour buses operated on the European continent by Lord Mancroft's organization carried some 65,000 vacationers last year on tours ranging from five to 49 days. Only a small number of the patrons were Americans.

Until a year ago the few Americans who took Global tour heard about them and purchased their tickets through a Canadian agent. But an affiliate office was then opened in New York to go after American business in earnest.

Lord Mancroft, in the U.S. on a short visit, said his organization hopes to raise the number of American customers to 5,000 this year—a five-fold increase over the first year of going after the U.S. market.

The tours operate out of London, with passengers boarding their continental tour buses at either Ostend, Belgium, or Calais, France. The all-inclusive fare from London (including transportation, first class hotels, meals and tips) averaging $12 a day has won grudging admiration even from some competitors. Pressed as to whether the European countries could be done for that tariff, Lord Mancroft smilingly noted:

What type people take the tours which range over most of the European countries and down into Turkey and the Holy Land. Lord Mancroft put them into four categories:

—The fairly comfortably off financially.

—The middle aged and older who prefer someone handling arrangements for them while traveling.

—The first-time visitor abroad. (Those on third and fourth trips tend to drive themselves.)

—The professional and white collar classes.

"It's a jolly good way to go," he said. "If any mistakes are going to be made, you aren't going to be the one to make them."

Lord Mancroft said despite the fact that Europe seems saturated with Americans during the summer season, there still are numerous virtually untapped vacation areas, such as Portugal, Malta and even the Italian Riviera.

But for one in the United States to follow up the beginning of a concerted advertising and promotion campaign to lure Americans onto tour buses abroad, Lord Mancroft was quite outspoken on his desire to see more Europeans "repay the compliment you have been paying us for 25 years" and come to the U.S. for a visit.

"People over here don't realize there's quite a lot of money knocking around in Europe," Lord Mancroft said. "We must break down the idea that the U.S. is not a travel area."

He said that of his 65,000 customers last year, at least 1,000 took tours in a price range that could have sent them to the United States instead of around Europe on a Global bus.

Americans Are Playing More Games

NEW YORK (UPI) — From pre-schoolers squealing delightedly in a game of Three Little Pigs to adults engrossed over a Scrabble board, Americans these days are playing games.

They plunked down more than $6 million last year for board games alone—the classics such as checkers and chess, Monopoly, parchesi and Scrabble, and for the latest games based on topics of the times—the stock market, space, politics.

Some 50 or 60 companies manufacture board games. Many of these have experts armed with years of accumulated experience working full-time on game ideas. Nevertheless, some of the best games have been thought up by amateurs; many an inventive school teacher, doctor, lawyer, housewife has earned enviable returns for his ideas.

Along with the encouragement it points out some hard facts that face the inventor. The company manufactures Scrabble, one of the most successful games ever introduced.

Scrabble is the brainchild of Alfred M. Butts, an architect, who worked out his "crossword puzzle game" during idle time in the depression years. For ten years he worked to perfect it and to market it but could arouse no interest among manufacturers in a word game. Even crossword puzzle popularity had waned. Games involving money were more timely, filling people's need to feel prosperous.

In 1948 James Brunot, a friend who had been intrigued by the game, determined to make a fresh effort to launch it and negotiated an agreement to pick up where Butts had left off. For five years he carried on the struggle, producing and selling the game himself, with Selchow & Righter manufacturing the board for him—a courtesy which was to to be repaid many times over. In 1952 the game finally caught fire "overnight," and Selchow & Righter was successful bidder for rights to manufacture and distribute Scrabble.

The big market today is for games that can be played by the entire family; games for only two opponents rarely attain great volume sales. Games must be of their time. Today the emphasis is on accomplishment and learning. People want to know. They want to excel.

Games have to be challenging and knowledge-testing as well as diverting. However, an educational game that is not also fun will not sell.

There are no completely new games, just as there are no completely new story plots. The experts said all games fall into five categories: board games, card games, action games, chess or checkers types and the modern quiz or word games. What makes a new game different is the theme and the accessories used to carry it out—the board, pawns, tiles, blocks, cards (standard playing cards should not be used since special expensive stock and taxes will add to manufacturing cost).

As a final bit of advice, the firm emphasized the importance of offering the game to a reputable manufacturer and selling it on a royalty basis instead of outright.

FACES ON CALL

Show Of Authority

HEARNE, Tex. (AP)—The city of Hearne fired all its six policemen—and hired them all back 30 minutes later.

The move, said Mayor H. C. Kelly, was to establish the city manager's authority over the police department.

Businessmen Don't See The Kind Of Japanese The Tourists See

TOKYO (UPI)—There are two Japans and two races living in this country. One country the tourists see, and they rave about the charming countryside and polite Japanese. The other the foreign businessmen see, and they throw up their arms in dismay.

A new book written by Boye de Mente, American editor of a Tokyo trade journal, is a guidebook to Japan for the businessman who has to deal with the Japanese. He makes it out to be a formidable task, not for the faint of heart.

This book, "Japanese Manners and Ethics in Business," might make many foreign companies think twice before they even undertake to do business in Japan. For it relates that the Japanese businessman first of all is not too interested in business, at least in the western sense, and secondly that it's necessary to do battle with many incompetents before any agreement can be signed. And even after the signing, the American businessman may go home and never get the goods he contracted for.

De Mente, who has spent nine years in Japan, says "the Japanese have always been willing and eager to adopt foreign technological methods, but they have either ignored or resisted the philosophy and conduct of business that grew up with these methods."

Some of the frustrating situations in doing business with the Japanese are outlined in short and easy-to-read paragraphs, to wit:

Americans of the tourist variety think the Japanese are polite. This is not found in business where even an American who has traveled to Japan will find it difficult, if not impossible, to meet the "right man" in the company he wants to do business with. And the Japanese invariably fail to answer letters of inquiry.

The Japanese idea of telling the truth has never been based on moral sanctity but is a relative consideration that depends upon obligations. The most common untruths are the small, habitual ones that come naturally and are not intended primarily to deceive, although if one isn't used to the system, they often result in outright deception.

Japan has a "shame" culture, American a "guilt" culture. One of the most dreaded things that can happen to a Japanese is to be shamed, to fail in any kind of competition or be revealed as inferior or less capable than anyone else. Because of their dreadful fear of competition the Japanese have become geniuses in ways of avoiding it.

Being a businessman in "old Japan" was the lowest of the low "professions." It also was forbidden to engage in trade between the prefectures as each wanted to remain a self-contained unit.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Mistake In Return? File Again Soon

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

Have you filed your 1960 federal income tax return and now find that an error has been made?

Peter J. Wikel

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find that you have made a mistake, you should then immediately file an amended return. Claim the refund due because of the mistake, or pay the additional tax you owe. Don't feel bad about making a mistake. Lots of people make mistakes.

If there is any additional tax due for 1960, and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by Monday, April 17, no penalty will accrue.

If you find after you have filed your return that you would have done better to itemize your deductions rather than having filed under the standard deduction — you can still amend your return. If you filed on form 1040A or elected to take the standard deduction for 1958, 1959 or 1960, you can now go back and change your election. You can file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is an additional amount to be refunded, the filing of an amended return will result in your receiving the additional refund.

You can file an amended return at any time, where additional tax is due, and pay the additional tax and interest and penalties.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds at any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax—whichever is the longer period.

The last year for which you can file an amended return claiming an additional refund is 1957. This return was due April 15, 1958. An amended return for 1957 would have to be filed by Monday, April 17.

Some 770,000 boys and girls serve in the nation's school traffic safety patrols.

Live Display

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fishermen who land large and unusual specimens can have them put on live display at the Columbus Zoo's aquarium.

Asst. Supt. Louis R. DiSabto says the zoo will credit the fisherman with a sign below the tank containing the fish.

Break For Motorists

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—Motorists in this western Pennsylvania town have found one bright side to the unusually cold winter there—free parking. Burgess Raynor Carroll reports parking meters frequently have been inoperative due to freezing.
